Only 1222 Enroll For Fall Semester

Registration figures show that 1222 students have enrolled at Northwestern for the fall semester. Of this number women students comprise the majority.

Approximately 125 nursing students who are completng their training in hospitals in Alexandria and Shreveport are not included in this figure released by the registrar early this week. Nether does the figure include the 250 air force men who are receiving schooling on the NSC campus.

The enrollment figures reveal a sharp decrease from the enrollment of last fall semester. The enrollment of last fall was 1571 and that of last spring was 1402.

Annual Frosh Party Held In Student Center Last Week

On Monday evening, September 10, the 1951 Freshman Class was welcomed to Northwestern with a party given in the Student Center by the college faculty and members of the Student Body. Mr. Havard of the NSC faculty welcomed the freshman guests and then Mr. Towns took charge and led the students in group singing.

When divided the Freshmen chose from their group the most beautiful girl, the ugliest Dog, a favorite song to be sung in competition with the other groups and to pick a talented person to represent them in a talent skit.

The entire group met for group singing and the talent shows. The next act on the program drew attention even from the upperclassmen, the picking of the ugliest dog. The contestant from the Green group, Flemnig Thomas of Ringgold won hands-down.

Last on the program was the beauty contest. Miss Lora Faye Kemper of Shreveport was selected Freshman Beauty with Miss Jolene Walters and Miss Mary Gunn placing second and third respectively.

Miss Kemper was Mardis Gras Queen at Fair Park High in 1951. She also participated in numerous club activities and wrote a column for the Fair Park Pow-Wow. Lora is five feet five inches tall and weighs 115 pounds and has brown eyes and blond hair.

Miss Jolene Walters, five feet three inches, second place winner is from Belcher and has brown hair and blue eyes. Jo was chosen most beautiful girl for three consecutive years at Belcher and was also cheerlader for three years. She was society editor of the Belcher Tattler, business manager of the high school annual and president of her FHA club.

Miss Mary Gunn, third place winner from Natchitoches attended St. Mary's High and was on the honor roll for four years. She was also vice-president of her class during all four of her high school years. Mary is five feet five inches tall, weighs 108 pounds and has brown hair and eyes.

NSC Band Begins Work This Week

The Northwestern State College band, under the direction of Dwight G. Davis, began practice this week on numbers for the 1951-52 marching season. So far, time has been alloted mainly to the organization of sections, distribution of instruments and issuing of uniforms. In the very near future preparations will be made for the band's first marching appearance at the Lamar Tech game September 29th.

Due to the fact that the half of the first foobtall game is dedicated to the traditional freshman shoe scramble, the band will play only in the stadium for the Central Oklahoma State affair.

Mr. Davis stated that the band is planning to make several out of town appearances with the football team this season including the traditional trip to the State Fair in Shreveport and the Central Fair in Alexandria.

Professor Davis also said that the band is still accepting students and will do so until the deadline set for September 26th. If you play an instrument, come out and join in on the fun, JOIN THE BAND.

NSC Student Council Inaugurated At First Wednesday Assembly

The new NSC Council members were inaugurated in the first Wednesday assembly, September 18. President Prather swore Jerry Fuller, new Chief-Justice of the Honor Court into office. Chief Justice Fuller then administered the oath of office to the following students:

Prior to the inauguration Dr. Kyser greeted an unusually large group of students at assembly with remarks on the ROTC and the first football game to be held tonight. Chuck Castaing,a member of last year's Student Council gave the purpose of the assembly.

President Prather spoke on the importance of student government and spheres of government in which the students should have complete authority with some assistance from the staff and faculty. He assured the students of cooperation from the faculty and staff in promoting a better institution of higher learning at Northwestern.

After the inauguration Don Jones and Leland Langridge gave reports on the National Studentt's Association which they attended this summer. Leland spoke on the advantages and disadvantages of the National Students' Association. Don brought out the point that the NSA helped in bringing about deferrment of students for the draft.

In a short talk, President Jones stressed the lack of interest in college plans on the part of the student body. He pointed out the fact that our school success depends on our interest in our school. He also outlined to the students the plans the Student Council has made for the student

Coaching School To Feature Allen

Basketball's "Man of the Year" for 1950, Dr. Forrest C. "Phog" Allen of the University of Kansas, will be the principal speaker at the 3rd annual Basketball Coaching School to be held on Northwestern State College's campus September 28 and 29.

The coaching school, the only one of its kind in the country, brings together some of the nation's top basketball figures. Last year Kentucky's Adolph Rupp attended the meet, preceded the year before by Cliff Wells of Tulane.

Reputed to be the nation's number one "cage personality," Dr. Allen, in his 41 years of coaching, has acquired a record that merits him that title. Only Harold Anderson, of Bowling Green; Hank Iba, th Iron Duke of Stillwater; and Adolph Rupp, one of the doctor's most apt pupils who attended the NSC coaching school last year, top Allen in the all-time percentage tables. Allen is shooting for the 700-win mark and none of these have yet won 500 contests.

Dr. Allen was one of the founders of the National Basketball Coaches Association and for many years he served as a member of the National Rules Commitee. One of his prime accomplishments was an almost single-handed effort in gaining basketball its first spot in the Olympic Games, at Berlin in 1936.

This third annual Basketball coaching School is sponsored by the Physical Education Major's Club and is done as a service to the PE majors and as an educational project for the coaches and PE instructors throughout the state.

Also to be featured at the coaching school will be four Louisiana high school coaches; Aubrey Cole of Kinder, Bill Lofton of Martin, R. L. Rupert of Meaux and Bill Baucum of Springhill.

NSC Film Program Continues in Fall

The Fountainhead, the first in the fall series of Thursday-night movies, was shown September 20 in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

This is the first time a program of this type has been scheduled for a fall semester. According to William Havard, assistant professor of government and chairman of the Film Committee, "the objective of the series is tto present, at a reasonable price, good films not shown at commercial theatres, and to provide better on campus entertainment."

The remainder of the films includes Casablanca, October 4; Farewell to Arms, October 18; and Sergeant York, November 29.

The Magnet, Operation Disaster, and Hamlet have been requested, but have not received final confirmation.

The price of single admission is 25 cents. Season tickets may be purchased $1.50, a 15 per cent reduction in tickets bought singlely.

Society

Really looks good to see all the old steadies back on the campus. Some of them you probably have noticed are Glyn Ellen Pennington and Bobbie Davis, Lelia Lenahan and Jack Moore; Ned Ma-Fouz and Liz Seegers, Marinee Cowgill and Gil Derouen; Buck Anderson and Mac Schoonover, Patsy Eason and Harold Abadie, Marie Tlleux and Houston Davis, Dick Traber and Marilyn Barnette; Betty Flo Few and Horace McCann; Fon Elliott and Paxton Willis, Dot Hewitt and Hamilton Prestridge.

Two well-known boys who have left recently for the service are Bobbie Leach and Jack Rogers.

Visitors this weekend were Anne Freeze, Emma Ruth Smith, and Pat Leone, who visited at the Pi Kaps; Pee Wee Patton who visited friends on the campus, and Dixie Willis, a Theta Sig. Mrs. Jean Harper Lee was also seen on the campus this week.

Seems as if the girls really got busy this summer and hustled up some husbands. Among the new Mr. and Mrs! are Martha Lou Craft and Johnny Zenter, Julia McBroom and Ponder Davis, Jenny Lou Ingram and Robert "Bo" Justiss, and Pat Holmes and Charles Willams.

Congratulations to Lora Faye Kemper, Jolene Walters and Mary Gunn who were chosen Freshmen beauties, and to Patsy Eason, who was elected the new president of Varnado Hall.

The girls in Varnado are very gald to have Mrs. M. E. Simmons as the new director for West.

It's good to see Ben Duhon, who has been away due to illness, back on the campus.

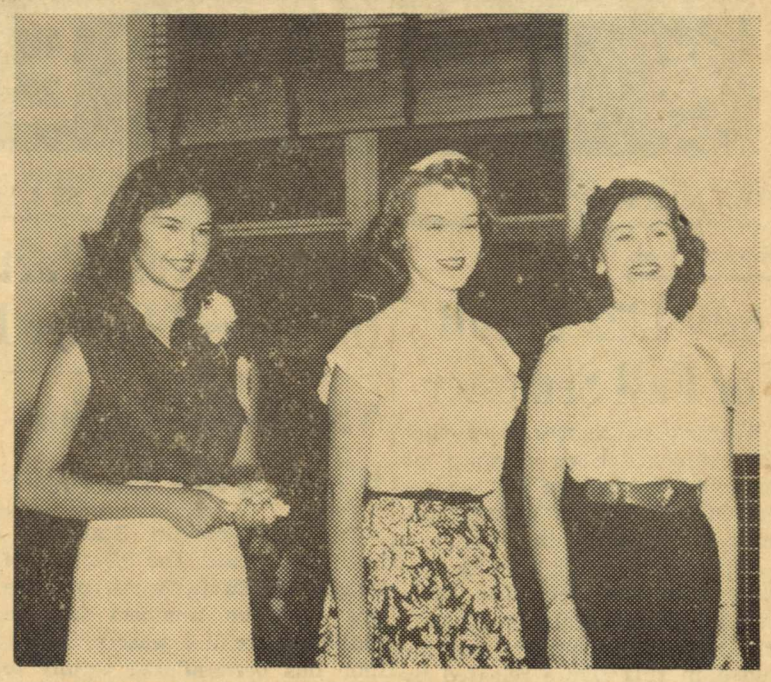

Methodist Give Gypsy Frolic

The Wesley Foundation held a Gypsy Frolic on Friday night September 14 in the church park of the Methodist Church. The main purpose was to meet and get acquainted with the freshmen. Throughout the party the gypsy theme was carried out by people dressed in gypsy fashion with peasant blouses, dangling earrings, loud colors, and brilliant silk scarfs. Many enjoyable games were played, and later refreshments were served.

To set the mood for the party, the group gathered around a camp fire. Burt Boone and Bob Parrot entertained the group with a song and dance number "Pearly Maude." Then a group fashioned as a gypsy band entertained. As a climax, a witch came riding her broom. Gazing into the fire she prophesied about members of the group. Then she told of the future of the Wesley Foundation, and the work it hoped to carry out on the Northwestern campus this school year. As the group stood and clasped hands, a prayer was given, as the finale.

Cars and Coal

It takes about 250 pounds of coal to outfit a car with rubber tires and tubes

THESE THREE LASSES are the Freshman beauties at Northwestern State College this year. They were chosen recently by their peers during opening days of school. First place went to Lora Faye Kemper, Shreveport (center), second place to Jolene Walters, Belcher (right), and third place to Mary Gunn, Natchitoches (leftt).

Demon Eleven to See Action With Oklahoma Broncos Tonight

Coach Turpin's gridsters, who have to replace ten lettermen lost to graduation and twenty-one more lost to the armed forces, open the season with Central Oklahoma State of Edmond Oklahoma here tonight. Last year's Demons disposed of this year's visitors 41-18, but this year the score is expected to be much closer.

Of the four returning lettermen linemen, Johnny Haynes, end, from Cullen is out with a shoulder injury, and may not make the opening game. Probable starters are Sid Morell, tackle, Shreveport; Jack Moore, center, Eunice; and George Pharis, end, Pineville.

In the backfield are Bobby Davis, halfback, Shreveport, Joe Price Lancaster, halfback, Springhill, Don Purser, halfback Opelousas, M. D. Ray, Quarterback, Haynesville, and Junior Turner, fullback, Springhill.

Bobby Davis, senior Shreveport back, will be seeing plenty of action on offense as well as defense this year, and judging from the past performances he should do very well.

body during the ensuing year.

These plans include Homecoming activities. Jones also stated that Northwestern was to have a Name band for homecoming this year.

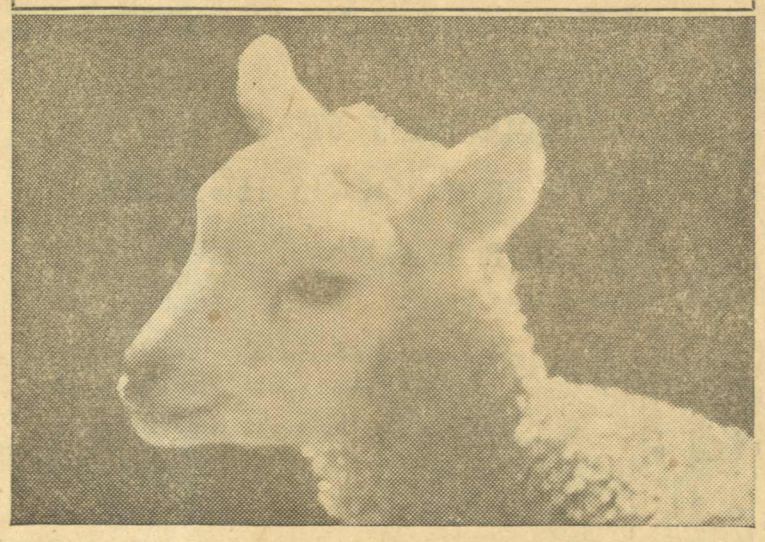

Other plans of the Student Council are the continuation of the film service. The film service will be under the direction of Mr. Havard. A student loan fund has been arranged through the combined efforts of the student council and the administration. Rudy Berlin will be Executive Treasurer and Mr. Robert Easley faculty advisor. An added fee at Registration for publications was also discussed. The council also passed a resolution to the effect that the Air Force Personnel on the campus would be ex-officio members of NSC and should pay Drama, Student Activity and Publication fees the same as regular students. The airmen will also have one non-voting member of the Student Council.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 22...THE WOODPECKER

Woodrow almost bit off more than he could chew when he tackled the cigarette tests! But he pecked away 'til he smoked out the truth: Such an important item as mildness can't be tossed off in a fleeting second! A "swift sniff" or a "perfunctory puff" proves practically nothing! He, like millions of smokers, found one test that doesn't leave you up a tree.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness tests...

Do You Want the Traditional Eight-Page Current Sauce?

. . . For this week's edition represents absolutely the largest paper which can be printed on a weekly basis under the present financial set-up! The same problem — that of finance — threatens to rather drastically alter the overall originality and quality of the 1952 POTPOURRI.

The facts are these: During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, the SAUCE fund built a deficit of over $1500, while the POTPOURRI, likewise went into the hole, its deficit for that period being slightly over $2500. In other words, the total deficit of the Publications Fund was above $4000.

The principal causes for these deficit operations lie in the increased costs of printing, photographic expenses and engraving charges. One has only to view the overall problems of publications of every kind in this country to realize that the question of financial stability is not only of grave import on our campus. During the past few years, these problems have resulted in an astounding number of consolidations and complete shut-downs of newspapers and other publications throughout the United States. The costs have simply increased here as everywhere, but no increase in income has been forthcoming.

However, it remains obvious that a further deficit must not and cannot occur this year to the detriment of the Student body and the entire college.

To the distress of some students, advertising has been and is now (even though this week's SAUCE was forced to carry only national ads in lieu of contracts that must be fulfilled) at a maximum. No additional revenue for either Student publication can be anticipated from this source; certainly there could not possibly be enough to even dent a $4000 deficit, if such were possible again.

The only other source of income which either the SAUCE or the POTPOURRI has is that portion of the registration fee which is allotted to them. This is obviously, then the place to correct the flimsy financial bases, if the student body wishes them corrected.

At the present time, $4 is alloted to the publications fund each semester, $1 to the SAUCE and $3 to the POTPOURRI. At our interim meeting this summer, the Student Council, together with the editors, business managers and the faculty adviser of the two publications, considered this problem of publication finance very thoroughly and realistically. The result was a unanimous vote by this group favoring the presentation of an amendment to the Student Body Constitution at the initial meeting of the Student Senate.

This has been done, the amendment has received approval by the Student Senate, and has been subsequently ratified by the Council. It is now to be referred to the Student body for approval or rejection.

The amendment would replace that sub-section in the Student Body Constitution (sub-section b, Section 1, Article III) which now covers the finance of publication and it reads as follows: "For the Spring semester of 1952 only, the publications fund shall consist of six dollars ($6) of each student's activity fee, with four dollars and thirty cents ($4.30) to be allocated to the Potpourri and one dollar and seventy cents ($1.70) to be allocated to the Current Sauce. Thereafter, this fund shall consist of five dollars ($5.) of each student's activity fee per semester, with three dollars and sixty-five cents ($3.65) to be allocated to the Potpourri and one dollar and thirty-five cents ($1.35) to the Current Sauce.

This amendment, then provided for a permanent increase of $1 in the publications allotment each semester, which further necessitates a permanent increase of that same amount in the registration fee, currently $11.25. For the spring semester the increase is $2, in order that the editors and staffs of this year's publications may be assured the necessary revenue for printing an eight-page SAUCE and a good yearbook.

If this amendment is passed when referred to the Student Body this coming Thursday, the SAUCE will immediately resume the editing of an eight-page paper upon approval of the increase in registration fee by the State Board of Education, to whom it will be presented by President Prather with his recommendation for adoption.

The choice, therefore, is now yours: Either the registration fee will be increased and the entire Student Body may again enjoy publications commensurate with, or surpassing, the quality of those in years past, or the SAUCE will continue operation on a four-page basis and the outcome of the POTPOURRI'S struggle can be everyone's fireside guessing game. We hope that you feel you know the facts on which you vote; if anyone should have a question, the Student government and publications staffs will be happy to clarify any misunderstandings.

Some of the tournaments planned for this year's team include the Abilene Christian Tournament at Abilene Texas, the Southeast Oklahoma Tournament at Ada Oklahoma, the Pi Kappa Delta Tournament, and the Milsaps College Tournament at Jackson, Mississippi. Many other trips have also been planned for the squad at later dates.

Demons Fall to Lamar 32 - 20 Despite Brilliant Passing

By LOUIS S. CUSACHS

An almost unstoppable Lamar Tech backfield piled up 404 yards through the Demon line for six touchdowns and a 32-20 win Saturday night in the NSC stadium.

The long runs of Sam Carpenter, Roy Lierman, and Roy Duke probably had Coach Turpin longing for his lettermen linemen now in the military service.

Although picking up only 111 yards running, and with Bobby Davis and Joe Price Lancaster picking up only 31 yards between them, the passing of M. S. Ray was good for a total of 129 yards and two of the Demon touchdowns. The return of Johnny Emmons to the campus was also evident on the field, where, instead of doing the passing, he amused himself by taking three of Ray's passes for 51 yards and a touchdown, and by picking up 54 yards and another touchdown running.

Dan Poole collected another one of Ray's passes for the first Demon score.

The Cardinals took an early lead, scoring the first time they got the ball, but NSC came right back marching to the Tech 27, where Ray passed to Poole for the score. Davis converted to tie the score at 7-7.

The visitors came back with two more touchdowns, but with seconds remaining before the half, Emmons went around end, and dived over for the second NSC score. Davis again kicked the extra point, narrowing the margin to 19-14 at the half.

The visitors took the third quarter kickoff, and marched down for their fourth score, and after a Demon drive stalled, moved across the field for their final touchdown.

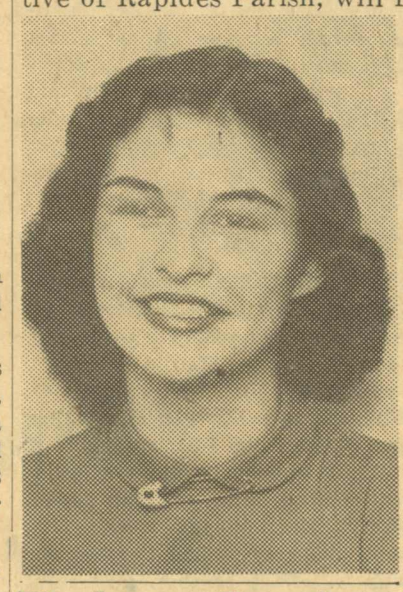

The Demon defense recovered to hold on downs at the 10, and Emmons picked up 22 yards, taking a pass from Ray for 28 more yards to give Northwestern a first down on the 44. Ray connected with Turner for 17 and then with Emmons again for the last 23 and the score.

A Cardinal drive was deep in Demon territory when the final whistle sounded.

The visitors' running attack was good for 19 of their 23 first downs, while the Demons collected a total of nine, but NSC did lead in the passing department with 8 completions out of 14 tries for 125 yards to the Cardinals' 63.

Miss Mary Gunn To Reign As Queen At CENLA Game

Miss Mary Gunn, of Natchitoches, was chosen as Northwestern State College's queen to reign at the third annual Central Louisiana Fair football game on October 13, 1951. Miss Rae Gremillion of Alexandria, representative of Rapides Parish, will reign as Maid of Honor.

Miss Dorothy Gillespie, Concordia; Miss Barbara Dickerson, Winn; Miss Nelda Madden, Red River; Miss Thelma Ruth Sephens, Vernon; Miss Jackie Funderburk, Sabine; Lollie Caskey, Catahoula; Jeanie Shaw, Grant; Bea Rumsey, Beauregard; Betty Roberts, La Salle; Marilyn Snoddy, Avoyelles; Linda Buck, Allen; and Lorraine Vaughn, Evangeline complete the court which has a representative from each parish of Central Louisiana.

Convertibles will be needed to carry the Queen and her court in the parade at Alexandria, and during the pre-game ceremonies. All students and faculty owning a convertible, or controlling the use of a convertible will please get in touch with A. L. Ducournau, office 310, Science Building. Some form of remuneration will be offered to those who will offer their car.

The queen and her court were chosen in the regular schduled assembly held Wednesday. Students from each parish were sent to a designated meeting place where they nominated three girls to represent their parish. The entire student body then selected one girl from the group nominated for each parish by means of an applause meter. The queen was chosen by use of the applause meter from the fourteen winners.

These girls, along with the court from Louisiana College, will be presented in ceremonies which will take place before the annual Northwestern State-La. College football game to be played at Bolton Stadium in Alexandria. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Highlighting the pre-game ceremonies will be the presentation of the 1951 Cen-La Queen, Miss Janie Guillory of Ville Platte.

Members of the Northwestern State ROTC unit will perform the flag raising ceremonies.

The Demon cavalcade will leave the power plant at 12:30 Saturday, October 13. Busses will take the band, demonettes and students. All students are urged to go in this cavalcade.

At 2 p.m. Saturday there will be a parade made up of the bands and marching groups of Northwestern and La. College.

Details for the half-time performance are not yet complete, but a good showing is promised by the bands from each college.

On Friday, prior to the game, there will be a pep rally held in the Fine Arts Auditorium. This program will be broadcast by station KWCJ, and possibly an Alexandria Station. The NSC Queen, President Prather, and Don Jones, student body president, will make brief remarks concerning the Saturday game.

NSC Students Vote Yes on Amendment

Thursday, September 27, the Northwestern State College student body voted "yes" to the publications amendment proposed by the Student Senate last week. Final returns of the election were "Yes," 412, "No," 339.

This was a special election for an amendment to Article VII, Section 1, Sub-section b of the Student Body constitution. As was, the section alloted $4.00 of each student's registration fee to publications, $3.00 of this to be used in publishing the "Potpourri" and $1.00 to issue the Current Sauce.

The amendment will provide $6.00 of each student's 1952 Spring Semester registration fee to be allocated to publications, $4.30 to be allocated to the Potpourri and $1.70 to be allocated to the Sauce. Thereafter, only $5.00 of each student's registration fee will be alloted to publications, $3.65 to the Potpourri and $1.35 to the Current Sauce. This will necessarily raise the 1952 spring semester registration fee $2.00. Thereafter, the raise in registration will be only $1.00. Before the amendment goes into effect it must pass the State Board of Education which convenes in the early part of October.

YWCA Honors Freshman Girls

On Sunday afternoon, September 16, from three until five, the freshman girls were honored with a tea given by the Y.W.C.A. in the drawing room of Varnado Hall.

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a special meeting in Mr. Fulton's office Tuesday, September 25, at 7:45 p.m. This meeting was called for the Council to act on a recommendation from the Student-Faculty Publications Committee.

It was also recommended that each of the two qualified candidates, Lucian Spataro and Winnie Dowden, present a trial issue of The Current Sauce before this election take place.

Beryl DeLoach moved that we accept the recommendation of the Publications Committee with the following modification: that the Committee consider any other applicant who should file prior to noon, Tuesday, October 2; and if any of these applications receive qualification by the Committee, each qualified applicant be permitted to edit a trial issue before the election. The vote was unanimous.

Rasbury, Brock To Lead Cheers

Freshmen Cheerleader tryouts were held in the Fine Arts Auditorium Thursday, September 20, at 6:30 P.M. Three girls, Alpha Leah Gremillion from Bunkie, Joyce Rasbury (Strawberry) of West Monroe and Jane Williams from Alexandria competed for the honor. An election held in each dormitory Friday determined the winner as Joyce (Strawberry) Rasbury, who received an overwhelming majority of votes.

One boy, Clay Brock, filed for the cheerleader position and was accepted by acclamation. The two new cheerleaders really did a fine job at the game the following Saturday night. These 1951 freshmen seem to have plenty of pep.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting concerning Intramural football in the Men's Gym at 6:30 Tuesday, October 2. Everyone interested in Intramurals should be present at this meeting.

Equipment may be checked out from the intramural office in the Men's Gym.

Lines, lines, lines. Even with the sharp drop in enrollment the lines seem to get no shorter. But there is just one good thing good about the bookstore line — at least one can sit while he waits.

Mary Gunn is back in the spotlight again this week, only this time it's for Cen-La Queen. Ray Gremillion with her sparkling smile was elected maid of honor.

"Strawberry" Rasbury and Clay Brock really livened things up at the Central Oklahoma game. The Freshmen cheerleaders have gotten off to a fine start.

Sammy Wilson, freshman from LeCompte, contributed quite a bit to the school spirit Saturday night. He, along with all the other freshmen, had a fine time at the game and showed real sportsmanship.

Among the visitors who were here for the game were Buster Keaton, Buddy Lancaster, Jodie Arrons, Betty Bryant, Lyn Fry, Janell Watson and Jocelyn Townsend.

A very distinguished visitor on the campus this week is a certain gentleman from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Glad to have Johnny Emmons back with us.

New Student Directors

Mrs. Myra Gullege of Meridian, Mississippi has recently been appointed as Baptist Student Union Director at Northwestern. Accepting the position in August, Miss Gullege arrived on the campus September 5 and assumed her duties as new Student Director at once. She accompanied the B.S.U. Council to their Annual Preschool Retreat on Sept. 7.

Miss Gullege received her B.A. Degree in Social Science at Mississippi College at Clinton and her M.R.E. Degree from Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth. Before coming to Northwestern, she served as Educational Director at Arcadia, Louisiana. She has also served on the Home Mission Board in California and Illinois.

Being very active in college and BSU work during her college career, Miss Gullege understands college students and is well suited to her position.

Miss Ann Adams, new director of the Wesley Foundation, came to us this fall from Fort Collins, Colorado, where she worked on the Colorado A & M campus as Associate Director of Wesley Foundation.

A Texan by birth, Miss Adams hails from Waco. She attended Baylor University and received her degree from Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas. She has done graduate work in the Chicago Theological Seminary at the University of Chicago.

Miss Adams has worked with students for six years, and was affiliated with Y.W.C.A. for 3 years.

Her opinions of our school are quite pleasing. She finds our campus beautiful, and the school, a beehive of activity. In her opinion, there are many keen, alert students who seem to be aware of current affairs, and who given opportunity, can develop into real leaders.

This classy campus caper-cutter got his snootful of cute cigarette tests. It didn't take him long to dig out the fact that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a mere single puff or quick-sniff experiment! IT'S THE SENSIBLE TEST ... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why ...

Demons Down Oklahoma Broncos 19-6 In First Home Football Game

Stellar performances were turned in by Demon backs Bobby Davis, Joe Price Lancaster, Don Purser and M. D. Ray, while Coach Ledet's lineman took care of the Central Oklahoma offense, and gave the Demons a 19-6 victory in the season opener.

In last Saturday's contest, Davis broke loose for 39 yards to give the Demons a lead that lasted until Howard Sutton went over from the 2 in the second period.

A 36 yard pass from Ray to Dan Poole set up the second Demon score, with Ray going over from the one yard line. Davis converted and Northwestern led at the half 13-6.

Joe Price Lancaster climaxed a sixty yard third quarter drive by going over from the five. The Demons ran into a spell of fumbleitis in the fourth quarter, but recovered in time for Mike Bellipanni to connect with Don Purser on a 51 yard pass play that ended on the visitors one yard line as the game ended.

Two FFA Stand-outs Attending NSC Will Attend National FFA Convention

Two of Louisiana's FFA stand-outs, are now attending Northwestern State College. They are Juanita Hartwell of Gueydan and Herman Taylor, Jr., of Natchitoches.

Juanita, a freshman majoring in business administration, is the immediate past "sweetheart of FFA" in the state. Taylor, a sophomore in agriculture, is state secretary of FFA.

Both students will attend the national FFA convention in Kansas City this October along with some 250 other Louisiana boys and girls. Miss Hartwell will go as sweetheart and Taylor as one of the two official delegates from Louisiana.

Miss Hartwell was graduated from Gueydan high school in the spring of '51. She is well known in FFA circles, having been active in the organization's affairs throughout the state.

Taylor is quite an FFA'er. He won the governor's award three consecutive years for livestock improvement; in 1950-51 he was "star state farmer." He won the state FFA public speaking contest last year and was champion showman, beef cattle division.

He is now actively engaged in raising brahma cattle and has bred some of the top brahmas in the nation.

Students! Make money writing Lucky Strike jingles!

MORE FUN, TOO!

No tricks! No gimmicks! Takes no time—no special talent! You can make $25.

Just write a simple four-line jingle based on the fact that

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

(or other qualities of Luckies such as those listed below.)

Write a Lucky Strike jingle, like those you see on this page, based on the fact that Luckies taste better than any other cigarette, or other qualities of Luckies such as those listed below. If your jingle is selected for possible use in Lucky Strike advertising, we will pay you $25 for the right to use it and your name in our advertising. Lucky Strike jingles will soon be running in your paper. Start today—send in as many jingles as you like. Be the first to write a jingle in your school!

Just made a great discovery
Which I announce with haste:
Folks go for Lucky Strike because
They like that better taste!

Before each class—and after too,
I do just what I like—
Relax—enjoy the better taste
Of good ol' Lucky Strike!

READ THESE SIMPLE INSTRUCTIONS

1. Write your Lucky Strike four-line jingle on a plain piece of paper or postcard and send it to Happy-Go-Lucky, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y. Be sure that your name, address, college and class are included—and that they are legible.

Frosh Spirit O.K.

Saturday night, September 22, was annual "dog" night at NSC for the first home football game. It has long been a custom at Northwestern to have the Freshmen girls dress in short skirts, pigtails and without make-up to proceed to the football stadium. Freshmen men paint their faces and don pajamas for the occasion. Parading up and down the gridiron Saturday night, the Freshman gave the upperclassmen an opportunity to see dogs at their lowliest.

The Freshmen had to do all of this at the insistence of zealous upperclassmen. But, what they did not have to do was to be such good sports about it all. Leading yells, racing up and down the football filed, dancing and skipping around for the amusement of the spectators and clambering over the railings to do upperclassmen's biddings, the freshmen presented a rare sportsmanship, indeed.

They entered into their clownish activities so whole-heartedly and with such zest, one would have thought the whole situation one of their choosing. What was intended to be a show for the entertainment of the upperclassmen turned out to be a frolic for everyone's enjoyment. Even the professors have commented on the great sportsmanship exhibited by the "dogs" during "dog night."

Welcome to "the hill" Frosh! You were put to the test and came out with flying colors.

To the Editor

Most of us have heard the saying, "I would be a rich man if it were not for a habit I acquired when I was young — that of eating." If things don't change around NSC we may all have to give up that habit.

It is common, sure, for students to complain about their meals. It happens everywhere. We realize that the food will not be as good as home cooking because of the quantity that has to be prepared.

Most every morning the only food served for breakfast that requires cooking is toast and coffee. With three dieticians it seems that we could at least have edible toast — not the rubberized bread toasted on one side that has been served every morning for the past week. Coffee??

Of course we have sausage once in a while. But why, in the name of John Doe's Paramecium, couldn't they let it cook just a little longer? The bacon that we had one morning was fine — no complaint.

Maybe the eggs will be eaten when cold weather arrives and we all catch cold and lose our sense of smell.

Food prices are high, so why waste our money on green oranges, or bruised bananas, presumably because they are cheaper. If we can't buy something edible, let's don't buy!

Perhaps if the officials of the dining hall would reduce the amount of sugar in each individual serving — hardly anyone ever uses this much suger — they would save enough money to buy milk. Oh, how we need more milk!

Perhaps some of the money saved could be used to buy better lettuce. We realize lettuce is necessary for healthy bodies, and we eat what is served us for this reason, but our minds would be more at ease if this vitamin grass looked a bit fresher. To those students who have worked in grocery stories, I imagine it reminds them of the trimmings they ordinarily throw out the door.

Something else that may help appetites, but does not concern the officials of the dining hall in the least bit . . . If we students would leave the tables a little neater — by this I mean why can't everyone pick up his cereal boxes, milk bottles, water glasses, and old napkins, and place them on his tray before turning it in — thereby leaving the students who eat after him a clear table in place of the usually cluttered table?

There are approximately one thousand students served in our dining hall each meal, and certainly there are enough workers behind the counter to serve them. We know this by the fact that there are always a few standing around with their hands on their hips doing nothing.

These workers could at least keep the servers supplied so as not to halt the entire line, which is usually wrapped completely around the interior of the building, until one of the colored workers from the kitchen can bring out a new supply of food. Who likes to spend all his spare time waiting to eat, if he can eat it.

But let's not be all critical. Some meals are good —and the music is better than ever.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The other night while watching our game with Central Oklahoma, I built up some genuine enthusiasm for the fine early season performance of our frosh members of the football squad. It should be remembered that this is just a good word for our frosh, and it is simply understood that the squad veterans already know of our good feeling for them.) Without detracting from other qualities, the spirit seemed to be what mattered most.

Whatever may be our balance of wins and losses this season, there is little doubt that the people on this campus and elsewhere will be fully agreed that this spirit will help greatly to make up for the very real loss of many "old heads." Although there has been no polling of opinion, is it not a good bet that the older members of the squad have the same feeling? So much for the football angle.

As one who chooses to make the teaching of freshmen a significant part of his work, and who consequently comes in touch with quite a few of them, I really believe that the spirit of the Freshman class asa whole is a stimulus to all of us, and that it symbolizes a fine attitude that prevails in many other aspects of our campus life this fall.

There, then, is an early season tribute to our Freshmen—a group that is demonstrating spirit without cockiness. There is every reason to believe that they will make a distinctly fine contribution in this "Year One" of the second half of this vital twentieth century.

Sincerely,
Signed: A Faculty Member

Dear Editor:

I wish to express my thanks to the students who have taken the trouble to inquire about more information on the National Student Association.

When the student body responds to a question put before them by the Student Council, the members of the Council feel that their work is not in vain, and they will try all the harder to maintain a better program for the students.

I again ask for the support of all students for their Student Council that is working only for them.

Sincerely yours,
Leland Langridge, Jr.
Vice-Pres., Student Body

Frosh Josh

By Lo and Jo

The football game to be played between Northwestern and Central Oklahoma had been uppermost in our minds throughout the whole week preceding. After that night we would be full-fledged co-eds, initiated in good style and really beginning our college careers.

Our tension mounted to a climax on the evening of September 22nd as we dutifully scrubbed our faces clear of all make-up and began to plait our hair in a million tiny pigtails. Groans could be heard throughout the freshman dormitories as each girl garbed herself in mismatching socks, shoes, sweaters and skirts.

Each and every "dog" of us, having divested ourselves of all glamour, made our ways into the parlor to be checked over by upperclassmen. After a few reprimands were made, upon discovering "ever so tiny" specks of powder and traces of lipstick, we set off in single file for the football stadium. We sang all the way; certainly not to attract attention; we had too much given us already, but sang to keep up our own spirits so that we would not yield to the urge to break and run—in the opposide direction.

Upon reaching the stadium, we marched to the section reserved for frosh and sat down. A sigh of relief echoed like a whisper. "It's over!" — we thought. But no! What did they say? "Grab a partner, you're going to parade around the field."

If we had had time to pause and muse then the way we did the following day, we would probably have realized that we were undoubtedly having the time of our lives. What is more, we would not have missed that dreaded first football game for anything in this world.

Interest In Demonettes Soars As Group Becomes ROTC Unit

Lt. Col. J. W. Bowman announced last week that the Demonettes have been incorporated into the Department of Military Science, to be a marching unit in the ROTC. This organization was formerly under the sponsorship of the N-Club.

In addition to their regular marching periods, the Demonettes will march with the ROTC on Thursday afternoons. At present Sg. Richard Garchie and Cadet Lt. Col. Rudy Berlin are in charge of drill for the Demonettes.

It has been announced that new uniforms of a military type will be available for the girls during the coming year. These uniforms will be furnished by NSC. It has also been reported that the name for the organization will be changed.

The membership in the Demonettes has now more than doubled that of last year. In the near future a standard of specifications will be set up for membership with weight, height, and scholastic average being considered. A total of around sixty members will be set as hte maximum for the Demonettes. Cadet sponsors will be chosen from the Demonettes sometime in the future.

The Demonettes, since they are sponsord by hte ROTC, are to be invited to the annual Military Ball, which is to be held February 2.

Col. Bowman expects the Demonettes to be seem much more this year than in the past — at college functions, athletic events, and other such activities.

This news was welcomed by the Demonettes, themselves, and by all those interested in the Demonette's welfare. The organization now has a permanent "home," and the girls are quite thrilled at the prospect.

Final Registration Figures Show Expected Enrollment Dip

Final breakdown of the Northwestern State College registration figures show that there are 162 more women than men enrolled in the fall semester, according to Otis Crew, registrar. Of the total 1323 students here on the campus, 743 are women and 581 are men.

Included in these figures are the 279 nursing students enrolled in the college. One hundred and thirty-four of these nurses are in the clinic areas of Shreveport and Alexandria. Not considered in this census are the 275 Air Force Cadets attending the Northwestern State College Clerk-typist School.

An analysis of the registration totals of this fall and those of last fall show a decrease of 16% in enrollment. Mr. Crew attributed this to two factors: (1) the present war situation; (2) the supreme court ruling that Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe and John McNeese State College in Lake Charles would be four year colleges, thus depriving Northwestern of the students from these two schools who usually transferred here to complete their college careers.

McNeese Cowpunchers Singe Demon Hide With 38 - 21 Brand

Ray, Bellipani and Emmons Sparkle NSC Offensive Crew

M. D. Ray, Mike Bellipnani and Johnny Emmons co-operated on 17 pass completions in 30 attempts, but the Demon defense was unable to contain the Cowpokes from McNeese who took the contest 38-21. It was exciting football until the third period when the host team exploded for three tallies, one a 90 yard sprint by Savario Benoit.

McNeese drew first blood in the opening period on a drive of 58 yards with Derouen scoring from the 2 yard marker. D. J. DeVellier busted up the extra point try, enabling the Demons to take their only lead of the ball game three plays later as Ray pased to Emmons who eluded the McNeese secondary and scored. Bobby Davis kicked the first of three extra points but this lead was shorted when Derouen put the Cowpokes out in front 13-7.

The rampaging home crowd broke loose for a third tally in the first half, but the Demons edged a bit closer when DeVillier recovered a fumble on the opponents' 27 yard line and Emmons scooted home from the 9 yard line.

It was strictly a Cowboy jamboree in the third stanza with the Ranchers pushing across three scores. The NSC gridsters mustered their lone score of the final half, on a six yard jaunt by high-scoring Emmons late in the fourth quarter.

It was all in the statistics. The Demons racked up 13 first downs, eight of them via the air lanes. The Cowboys netted 22 first downs, 20 of them through their ground offense.

Demon Swimmers Hosts To SAAU

Highlight of the Northwestern State College swimming season will be the Southern A.A.U. Senior Indoor meet to be held at NSC this spring. The Demon webmen will be attempting their third team championship in as many years in meet competition.

Despite the loss of last year's team captain, Jack Branch and two varsity divers, Jeff Henesy and Sonny Hoff, prospects for the 1951-52 team are bright. Although the Demons will be facing strong competition, Coach Piscopo predicts a season equal to, and possibly topping, last year's record.

This year the NSC tankmen will enter the Southern Regional Championship meet to be held in Atlanta, Georgia. Other dates tentatively scheduled are Southern Methodist University, Texas A&M, Rice Institute, Baylor, Memphis Naval Air Station and the New Orleans Y.MC..A.

Purple and White laurels, for the most part, will be championed by six lettermen: Jack Gaston, Myron Locke, Ken Howard, Ben Duhon, Robert Voorhees and Dennis Ryder. Three returning squadmen are Robert Miller, Hamilton Prestridge and Pat Todd. Frosh competitors are Mile Torrans, Peyton Cunningham, Donald Gill, Jack Sharp, Robert Davis ad Michael Lelong.

INTRAMURAL RESULTS

The Chow Hounds rolled over the Brick Shack 25-2 while the Mustangs were edging out Phi Kappa Nu 18-14 in the opening day's play of the Intramural touch football league.

Cenla Parishes Crowd Roster Of Demon Squad

Fourteen Demon gridsters will represent seven of the Central Louisiana parishes when Northwestern State College tangles with the Wildcats of Louisiana College in the 3rd annual Cen-La football game in Bolton Stadium, October 13.

LOCALS IN GSC DEBUT AGAINST LA. COLLEGE

The NSC Demons are hard at work preparing for their third invasion of Alexandria and the Cenla Fair game against Louisiana College Saturday night. With a past record of two wins in the fair game, the locals will attempt to continue their winning ways against the Wildcats, while, at the same time, making their debut in '51 Gulf States Conference competition a successful one.

Louisiana College is presumably stronger than in many years past, judging by their performances thus far. They are being paced by the duo passing combine of Jerry McKown pitching and Bernard Callender receiving merited "little All-American" honors last season.

For the Purple and White, injuries continue to plague the still inexperienced team. Johnny Haymes, crack defensive end is out and Bobby Davis and Leon Fuller are slated for minor roles due to the injury jinx.

Past meetings of the two clubs point to a tight low-scoring game. Northwestern won the '49 tilt by a score of 7-6 nad repeated last year by dumping the Alexandrians 12-10.

All boys interested in going out for track should contact Coach Ledet in the Men's Gym before Friday of this week.

The Defense Rests

In compliance with the resolution adopted by the Committee on Student Publications, this issue of the Current Sauce is my trial edition in which I show my wares.

It is my belief that the primary purpose of the college newspaper is to print, mainly, news which affects and interests the majority of the students. If needs be, the editor should sacrifice copy which pertains to a group for that story with overall appeal. Editorials should clarify a controversial matter for the students, rather than grapple with the issue, strengthening the "pro" or "con" with data and not mere opinion.

I feel that a four page issue, such as is the present Current Sauce, is not a creditable yardstick with which to measure the aptitude of a student for the position of editor.

As edited, the paper carries no more than a brief digest of part of the campus news. Overall appeal of each individual article governed this procedure of condensing and discarding. I imagine that some toes were stepped upon; others even crushed. However, nothing personal is to be interpreted from either the exclusion or the inclusion of news items in this issue of the Current Sauce.

Second Selective Service Test Slated Here Dec. 13 and April 24

Plans for the second nation-wide series of Selective College Qualification Tests have been announced by Selective Service Headquarters. The new series of tests will be given here at Northwestern State College on Thursday, December 13, 1951, and on Thursday, April 24, 1952 at 9:00 in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Application blanks will be available at the local draft board in the near future.

As before, the criteria for deferment as a student are either a satisfactory score (70) on the test or satisfactory rank in class (upper half of the freshman class, upper two-thirds of the sophmore class, upper three-fourths of the junior class). Seniors accepted for admission to a graduate school satisfy the criteria, if they stand in the upper half of their classes, or make a score of 75 or better on the test. It is not mandatory for the local boards to follow the criteria.

Students whose academic year will end in January 1952 are urged to apply for the December 13, 1951 test, so that they will have a score in their file when the local board reconsiders their case in January to determine whether or not they meet the criteria for further deferment as students.

Application blanks for the December 13, 1951 test must be postmarked not later than midnight, Monday, November 5, 1951. To be eligible to apply for the test, a student: (1) must intend to request deferment as a student; (2) must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course; (3) must not previously have taken a Selective Service College Qualification Test.

VOL. XXVIII NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA TUESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1951 NUMBER 4

NSC FALLS TO LA. COLLEGE BY 27-6 SCORE IN GSC OPENER

Bobby Davis' 70 yard touchdown jaunt was just about all the Demon offense could muster, as La. College took the Cen-La fair tilt 27-6 Saturday before a crowd of 8,000.

The Wildcats scored first, on a 24 yard pass from Cyaer to Callender.

The Demons care back with Davis' jaunt, but the wildcats scored twice again before the half, on passes from McKown to Robertson and again, Dyer to Callender, to lead at the half, 21-6.

N.S.C.'s defense made its best showing since the Central Oklahoma State game, halting the La. College running game with only 112 yards, but Dyer and McKown connected with Callender and Robertson for 14 completions in 23 tries for 237 yards, while M. D. Ray and Mike Bellipanni hit 6 for 19 tries and 41 yards.

The Demons more or less broke even in the running department, with a total of 102 yards, of which Davis collected 93 in 8 tries for an average 11.6 yards per try. "Junior" Turner picked up 23 in six tries.

N.S.C. collected only four first down to 12 for the Wildcats, but the Demons did lead in one department, as "Black Mike" Bellipanni's average of 43 yards per try was tops for the evening.

No. 25
THE SEA HORSE

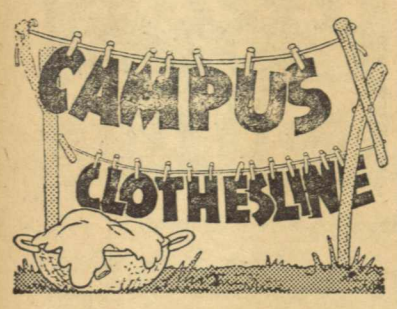

This little gee-gee was all at sea. It was enough to upset his equine-imity. He'd been reading about those rush-rush cigarette tests —the quick sniff, the fast puff. "Hardly the scientific approach," he said in his confusion. But then he realized that one test is an equine of a different pigmentation—a thorough, conclusive test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests,

Camel leads all other brands by billions

Several Tech lads were caught about the campus recently attempting to steal "dog" caps. Although some alluded our drag net and returned to Ruston safely, nevertheless, those that were caught as well as those that got away received "close shaves."

Our good friend Louise Shepperd seems to be having trouble finding shoes these days. She's been to Shreveport, Alexandria and Monroe looking for shoes, but just can't seem to find a pair anywhere. Shoe salesmen, take note!!

With the approach of homecoming, we will probably find many of our old "grads" returning to the "hill" once more. No doubt many elbows will be bent . . . in salute, of course.

Have you seen a black Buick convertible bearing a Virginia license plate belonging to A. C. parked on Grand Ecore bluff lately? If so, what were YOU doing there???

It seems as if Artie RENEWed his acquaintance with a lovely young coed on the campus after a brief pause between semesters. They says "it's the pause that refreshes,' though. I wonder??

Mr. Gunlach has become very frustrated over the lack of heat in the Science building these cold mornings. Seems the power plant believes that it's not suppose to get cold enough for heat until January. Well, Mr. Gunlach, it looks like you'll just have to play it "cool."

NSC Band Does Formations

The N.S.C. band shifted from the common orthodox patterns of marching Saturday night to present an unusual program of music and formations at the La. College game in Alexandria. The band, aided by the demonettes, produced a program depicting a modern version of the ever popular nursery rhyme "Little Red Riding Hood."

As the band formed the different formations on the field, the characters involved were panomined by several N.S.C. students. These included: Beth Cox as "Little Red," E. G. Smith as "Wolfie," and Ponder Davis as the announcer.

Although the performance was a great success, Mr. Dwight G. Davis, director, stated that the band would resume it's usual marching formations for the La. Tech game in Shreveport this week-end. It is planned, however, that another unusual program may be arranged for homecoming, October 27th.

Dave Carson, sophomore music major from Shreveport, has been appointed head drum-major this year replacing Gene Flores, Mr. Davis also announced.

Demons Prep For Tech's Bulldogs

The Demons will be out to break a six game Tech winning streak when they collide with the Bulldogs at the Fair Grounds on Oct. 20. The Demons haven't been able to take a game from Tech since 1942 when they took a 10-6 verdict, though in '44 they settled for a 0-0 tie.

Close contests have been the rule the last three years, the scores running 7-10 in '48, 21-28 in '49 and 7-15 last year.

The Demon air attack has really been clicking this year, and NSC fans are hoping for a more successful repetition of that part of the '49 game in which Johnny Emmons almost passed the Demons to victory, despite a large Tech lead.

The Demons of '51 have been getting dealy passing from M. D. Ray, with Emmons and Mike Bellipanni also connecting with their tosses, and will definitely be capable of doing the Bulldog some damage.

Frosh Guard Tech Dummy on Campus

Almost a tradition her at NSC is the erection of the dummy during the week preceding the Northwestern-La. Tech game.

This year the dummy will be erected on Wednesday before the game on the square between the student center and the Fine Arts Building. The burning of the dummy will take place the following Thursday night.

Since 1933, when the idea of having the dummy was originated, it has served as a stimulant for college spirit and has stirred a feeling of friendly rivalry between the colleges. An effigy of the Tech bulldog was erected every year until 1946, when it was changed to an effigy of the captain of the Tech football team.

The guarding of the dummy is an event which brings much excitement to upper classmen as well as freshmen. Year after year freshmen boys bravely guard the campus against the enemy, the Tech "invaders," who make every possible effort to rescue their "captain." They guard the dummy with a sense of deep responsibility because they know that they will become baldheads for a second time if Tech gets the dummy.

Free Cigarettes Can Be Won, Kids

On the inside of an empty Chesterfield package, write your name and what you think will be the final score on either of the next two games Northwestern is to play. There are two boxes in the Field House — one for the NSC vs. La. College game and one for the NSC vs. Tech game. You may make as many entries, on either or both games, as you have empty Chesterfield packages.

The winner and the runner-up will each receive five packages of Chesterfields. The entries will be picked up the Friday before each game, and the winners will be announced the following Monday and in the Current Sauce.

Around the GSC

By Louis Cusachs

Outside of the Demon-Tech fray this week, the attention goes to the battle of the undefeateds, Southeastern at Mississippi Southern, with the defending champs getting the edge.

McNeese will take on the Wildcats at Pineville, and judging from the last two Demon contests the Wildcats should have a slight edge.

Southwestern takes on Memphis State at Lafayette, and we think Southwestern may be in for two bad week ends in a row, as they fell before Miss. South. 40-6 last week.

Tech prepared for the State Fair by polishing off Southeast Oklahoma 40-6, while Austin College rolled over Southeastern 14-6.

When the Demons play Tech, there's just no use picking the winner till after its over.

GOOD LUCK, DEMONS

With the approach of N.S.C's two most important contests of the current football campaign, much speculation has arisen throughout the state on the poor showing the team has made thus far this year. Little do these individuals realize the gigantic task which confronted both coaches and squad this season after losing many varsity lettermen from last year's squad.

Although the team has had many misfortunes and "tough luck" in its games thus far this season, the morale of the squad as a whole and the support of the student body has been excellent. What many "outsiders" do not realize is the fact that N.S.C. is behind its team 100 per cent, whether they win, lose, or draw.

The student body, as well as the editor and staff of the Current Sauce, know that these are our boys, fighting for our college. Regardless of what the score may be, we know that they are in the game fighting their hearts out, until the final whistle is blown.

On behalf of the Current Sauce staff, we wish the Demons "good luck" in their traditional battle with Tech this week-end. Regardless of how popular opinion around the state may run, N.S.C. is assured that our team will let the "Bulldog" know that he has met his match. "The Hill" is behind its Demons . .

SHALL WE FORGET?

"Those who have forgotten the past, are condemned to repeat it," a great philosopher once stated over 2,000 years ago. When this bit of philosophy was first uttered, little did the speaker realize how significant his words would become. For even now in our complex world, we realize not only on the international and national levels, but even on the local scene the inevitable truth of this simple proverb.

The editors of a college newspaper, such as the Current Sauce, are subject to make mistakes the same as have been the generals in a great war, the emperors of a great nation, or the champions for a great cause. Yet we cannot blame any individual or groups of individuals for all mistakes, for sometimes misfortunes arise which cannot be avoided. However, it is left up to us, the students of today, to take note of the careless errors that have been made in the past so our editors will not repeat them in the future.

The Current Sauce is your newspaper!! As editor, one is obligated to carry out your wishes and desires, regardless of what they may be. Realizing this fact and also the fact that a college publication is a newspaper for the student body as a whole, I submit to you this issue of the Current Sauce as my trial edition.

Although you may feel that mistakes have been made in the past, sometimes grave errors, I, nevertheless, pledge to you, the student body of N.S.C., that if I am elected as your "Sauce" editor, I shall profit by these mistakes of the past in an effort not to repeat them again.

In this issue I have tried to give every phase of student activity on the campus oppropriate emphasis. However, I'll need your aid and suggestions in producing a GOOD Current Sauce. You, the members of the student body, will be the quarterback "calling the plays."

I further feel that since it is your money which is making our publication possible, that you are entitled to know how and where your money is being spent. Therefore, if I am elected editor, I will adopt a policy wherein the records dealing with the finances of the Current Sauce may be opened for examination whenever desired by the students. This is your right and I promise to see it fulfilled.

I truthfully hope that the fore-going philosphy that has been mentioned will aid you to better understand the policy of our student newspaper. If I am elected editor through your aid and support, I shall be more than happy to receive whatever suggestions you may have to improve our publication. I, furthermore, promise to carry out your desires to the best of my ability and pledge my efforts to make N.S.C. proud of its Current Sauce.

To The Student Body:

In my address at the inauguration assembly this fall, I stated that the Student Council planned to bring a name band here for a performance the night of the Homecoming.

Because of advanced bookings, we find that it is impossible to procure, on that date, a band of the type which we would like to present to the Student Body.

Therefore, we have canceled plans for a name band Homecoming and are making plans to present a name band at the Potpourri Ball.

We regret that this change in plans was necessary and hope that the new plans meet your approval.

Amendments OK By Board Not Reached

Due to the postponement of the meeting of the State Board of Education to October 22nd, the publications amendment voted on by the student body, September 27th, has not yet received approval.

The amendment, passed by a vote of 412 to 339, will provide for a $2 increase in the publications allotment for the spring semester and a permanent publications allotment of $1.

Although the board has not yet made its decision, the Current Sauce will begin publication of an eight page paper starting with the Homecoming edition, it was announced by Don Jones, business manager of the Sauce. Permanent publication of an eight page edition will still rest, however, with the decision of the state board.

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Student Body
Northwestern State College

I would like to express my sincerest thanks and appreciation to the members of the student body who supported me in the recent election for editor of the Current Sauce.

I wish to assure the new editor that I am behind him 100 per cent, and I hope the members of the student body will do likewise.

Thanking you again for your support, I remain

"Christ for the Crisis!" is the theme of the convention. This theme will run through the special seminars on the program. Some of the seminars are "Science and Christianity," led by Dr. Schweitzer; "The New Testament and Everyday Living," led by Dr. Frank Stagg, head of the New Testament Department of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary; and "Do You Plan to Teach?' led by Leo Marler, head basketball coach at Bolton High School in Alexandria.

Also on the program will be James Ware, summer student missionary to Mexico, Ava Nell McWhorter, summer missionary to Hawaii, and Martha Lou Craft, '51 graduate of NSC and summer student missionary to California. They will tell of their experiences during the summer and will show colorful films of their activities.

For the first time, the high school students have been invited to the BSU convention. Students from different high school over the state have been invited with Natchitoches High included. There is hope that even more high schools will be invited next year.

Miss Myra Gulledge, BSU director at Northwestern, has announced that a bus will leave the campus here at 7:30 on Friday morning, October 26. All those who plan to attend the convention must be there and ready to go at that time. The group will return late Sunday afternoon.

Transportation on the bus will cost $3.00 and the registration fee is $1.00. Sleeping accomodations will be provided in New Orleans, but meals will have to be purchased by the individual. All girls are to bring blankets.

Any one who plans to attend the convention should go by the BSU room in the Religious Center and put his name on the bulletin board there.

Phi Kappa Nu took third with a 2-1 record, while the Mustangs held fourth by virtue of one win against two losses. The Brick Shack was fifth.

The second round started this last week, with Sigma Tau taking the Mustangs 34-13, and Phi Kap whitewashing the Brick Shack 24-0. Tuesday's contests saw Phi Kap continue its winning ways, over the Mustangs, 20-0, while the Chow Hounds barely slipped by the Brick Shack, 7-6. The Brick Shack had its troubles Wednesday, too, going down before Sigma Tau Gamma 9-0, while the Chow Hounds fell to Phi Kappa Nu 18-13.

Tech Bulldogs "Flying High" Down Demons At State Fair Game 21-6

Despite their best performance of the season, the Demons went down before Tech for the eighth consecutive time, 21-6, before 14,000 fans at the Fair Grounds.

Though matching or leading the Bulldogs in everything but points Coach (Rags) Turpin's gridsters failed to score until the final minute of the game, when aerial expert, M. D. Ray completed to Charles Eyer for six points.

The Bulldogs counted the first time they got the pigskin, starting from their 45, where Cotton Hildreth broke loose for 45 yards to the 15, and after a few second's rest, went the remainder of the way. Michael kicked the first of three extra points to give the Techmen a 7-0 lead.

After the Demons again bogged down, the Bulldogs battled to the NSC four yard line, where the much improved defense held on downs., but the Demon machine remained in low gear, and "Black Mike" Bellipanni booting back to the 45.

Brown opened the second period by passing to Bates for 26 yards and the second Tech score. An intercepted pass put the Bulldogs on the NSC 17, but Bobby Davis intercepted one of Brown's tosses to kill the threat.

Starting with the third quarter kickoff, a Demon drive went all the way down to the five, but the Bulldog defense held on downs. Going back onto the offensive in the last minutes of the third period, Tech opened the final stanza with Brown passing to Bates for another score, and Michel's extra point gave Tech a total of 21.

Joe Barkate intercepted the last of Brown's tosses, and ran it back down to the Bulldog 42. In two tries, Davis carted the pigskin to the 20, and after two tries, Ray completed to Eyer for the Northwestern score.

Don Purser led the Demons in ground gained with 52 yards in nine tries rush; and also in pass receiving, with two catches for 48 yards, to bring his personal total to an even 100 yds. Bobby Davis accounted for 81 more, with 44 yards rushing and two passes caught for another 37. Joe Price Lancaster picked up 29 yards running in eight tries, but left the pass receiving to Bob Weaver, who caught 3 for 34 yards, "Sonny" Pharis who took in 2 for 23 yards, Tommy Broussard who caught one for 18. Charles Eyer was credited with 12 yards on the touchdown heave.

M. D. Ray had a good day, too, completing 11 out of 29 for 172 yards, while his opponent, Brown, hit 7 out of 21 for 88 yards.

"Black Mike" Bellapanni led in punting, with 205 yards in 5 tries, his average of 41 yards per try being 4 yards better than that of Tech. One of his jumbo boots went 58 yards.

Tech led in total offense, 295 to 274 yards, and in first downs 15-13.

NSC Cagers Begin Workouts Monday

Coach Charles (Red) Thomas will begin his second season as Northwestern State baskebtall mentor when his enthusiastic cagers begin practice Monday.

The NSC hardwooders will have a month to prepare for their opener here November 23, when they take on the Alexandria Air Base quintet.

Last year the Demon cagers had a 16-11 record, and despite the graduation of All-American Johnny McConathy, All-Conference Linwood Ouzts and Hershal McConathy, NSC, traditionally a cage power, will be out to duplicate or improve the score this year.

Much of the load will have to be borne by last year's freshman standouts, Tynes Hildebrand, George Davis, and Ken Corley, a trio from Florien.

Coach Thomas's team should be here for some time, as his squad lists only one senior, the veteran Artie Ranew, Tallahassee, Fla., and one junior, Jim Yergler, from Cissna Park, Illinois.

Six sophomores who will be in the thick of things this year are Roy Barker, Fenton; Sam Boorras and Ronald Byrd, Shreveport; George Davis, Ken Corley, and Tynes Hildebrand, Florien.

No less than 17 frosh are listed on Coach Thomas's first roster. They are Bolton Collins, Coushatta; Bill Collinsworth, Bryceland; Wilburn Crnkovic, Zwolle; W. E. Dowden, Kisatchee; LaVerne Free, Pleasant Hill; Waple Lilley, Belmont; Miguel Pacheco, Puerto Rico; Rowladn Patrick, Converse; Ken Shaw, Holton, Ind.; Harry Terrell, Bastrop; James Thomas, Martin; Murrel Walker, Dry Prong; Carney Watts, Baton Rouge; Don Whithorne, Oak Ridge; Raymond Collier, Atlanta; Sammy Wilson, and Bill McGraw, Lecompte.

The clerk-typist school was opened at NSC last spring. About 325 airmen have graduated, and there are 275 airmen on the campus at present. These students are included in all campus activities and are urged to participate in school functions.

The people of Natchitoches have also been lauded by the airmen. "Our wholehearted thanks go to the people of Natchitoches, the faculty and students of Northwestern. We will always remember this big little city and the college where you are greeted with a cheerful "Hi Yawl," was the expression of the tenth flight, which left the campus September 14.

Another Homecoming Day

Saturday, Homecoming Day, Northwestern State College will give another salute to its alumni. The student body as a whole will sport its best welcoming smile for the old grads and other friends during an extensive celebation. Many old NSC fans who will travel the distance of the state and farther will relive memorial incidents of "good ole college days."

The 1951 Demon eleven will play a good football game Saturday afternoon. They will be fighting to the final whistle to claim the winning score in their tilt with the Southeastern Lions of Hammond.

Commendation is in order for the Homecoming Committee that has worked constantly these past two weeks in preparing an eventful program for the entertainment of the alumni, visitors, and undergraduates. They are to be recognized for the untiring manner in which they have worked toward making Homecoming Day, 1951, a big success.

The tradition of Homecoming, though an old one, loses none of its significance through repetition, but tends to become more impressive as the years roll by. Through this mass get-together, all mingle to renew the spirit and hospitality that has helped to make this college an outstanding institution.

The GO signal has been given for one of the best Homecoming celebrations at the college thus far.

In Gratium . . . . .

In this, my last issue of the Current Sauce I would like to avail myself of the opportunity to express my self of the opportunity to express my thanks and my thanks and appreciation to those who have made these editions possible.

First, I would like to thank the members of the Sauce staff who have worked so faithfully and so conscientiously in fulfilling their assignments. Especially, do I wish to commend the Sports and Society Editors for the grand job they have done in bringing to the students of Northwestern the things of interest on the campus, each in his particular field. To the associate editor, the sports and feature writers, and to each reporter, I say, "Thanks a million."

I also wish to thank our faculty adviser, Mr. Merrill, for his thoughtful counseling and sincere interest and helpful aid in publishing the Current Sauce.

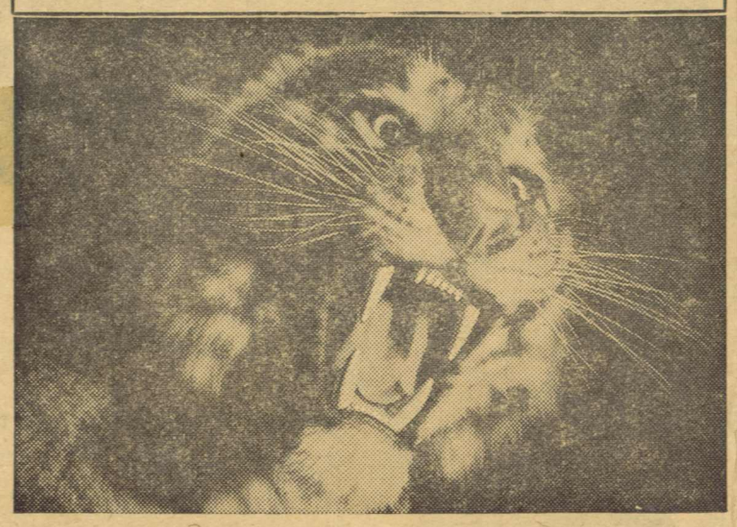

To the members of the Publications Committee I express my deep appreciation for their confidence in me which they exemplified by entrusting me with the honor and responsibilites of editing our school paper. I also wish to thank Dean Fulton, the Student Council and the Student Senate for their interest and cooperation in promoting and advancing these publications.

Most important of all, however, I wish to thank the Student Body for making possible a bigger and better Sauce. I express the views of the entire staff and those of the new editor when I say — "Thank you for voting yes to the proposed publications amendment" — which made possible this first in a series of larger Sauces for the 1951-52 semesters.

Most Sincerely,

Winnie Dowden, Acting Editor

LETTERS to the EDITOR

The following is a letter submitted to the Current Sauce for publication by Gary Middleton. The letter, however, was intended for all Northwestern boys and it is published so that more students can read it.

Tech Station
Ruston, Louisiana
October 18, 1951

Mr. Gary Middleton
Northwestern State College
Natchitoches, Louisiana
Hi Boys,

I still can't believe it, but every time I look in the mirror I still see my hair. You fellows don't know how much we appreciated that.

Yes, we know we got your dummy, but the boys that came down there didn't get to brag about it because when they came back and started to tell about it we cut them off short. Finally they admitted that no one was guarding it, but they did stick to the story that they were chased.

When we got back yesterday our dummy was gone. The football players had bribed freshmen to not say anything about it while most of them were in class. They said they were going to cut our hair, but it is a surprise what some 400 plus freshmen can do, when they think they are getting the short end. Anyway, we still have our hair. Two narrow escapes in one day is almost too much.

I'm not sure, but I think they put "The Capture of the Dummy" in the Shreveport News Star. After the upperclassmen heard that you let them get the dummy, they tried to get out of giving us our freedom, but another freshmen meeting changed their minds.

I think most of the freshmen here have changed their minds about N.S.C boys. I heard lots of them say that they wouldn't do anything to one if they caught him. Of course, don't test that because some might still have their clippers ready.

Anytime any of you want to come up after the football game, come ahead. I promise then nothing will happen.

Write and let us know what happened down there.

Your Visitors from Tech

Dear Mr. Editor:

From the earliest of American heritage citizens have fought for the idealistic "democratic" individualism. This goal was sought after in such a degree that men forsook the economic and social protection of their homeland to embark upon the journey into the wilds of the new world—with the sole purpose being "freedom from oppression."

Needless to say a degree of that social freedom has been attained. Only in certain areas of society has this great ideal been lost. For a nation with the background of non-infringement upon the individual we have done a commendable job.

However, though progress moves this nation into a position of leadership, there are groups who often forget the value of our democratic principles.

With the definite grounds for complaint established, this letter moves into its purpose — that of defending the right of the student on the Hill to maintain a school spirit, along with the other schools in the nation. One school — in addition to this institution — has rooted in its past a stimulus for school spirit at its best . . . NSC versus La. Tech . . . this rivalry includes some of the oldest and best traditions of this college.

My alma mater has in its past displayed moments of spirited campus enthusiasm. Must we succumb now to the idea of "book learning" only, with no motivation for interest in the other aspects of education? Our society at NSC is threatened by the "order" from persons with that power which quells spontaneous —yet well grounded—defensive moves by my fellow students.

Both the interests of the students and the interests of the faculty, are in accord . . . let's make NSC appealing to the future college students of this vicinity.

Will they be satisfied in partaking in non-rivalry, as advanced by the attitude taken by some of the facutly? Can these future college students, who have enjoyed the Tech-NSC rivalry even as much as our own alumni and students, be expected to relinquish the main cause of Northwestern school spirit?

As for mine and many other persons opinion on the Hill concerning this abandonment of free and spontaneous school spirit, we submit our respectful answer to the above question . . . NO!

But to say "no" is not sufficient. To say that the situation is not one complimentary to the growth and spirit of this college is a mere statement of the facts obviously existing.

The solution to the proper change is the important factor. To criticize without offering a suitable solution to the problem would be defeating the purpose of this letter.

Therefore, the suggestion that a return be made to the status quo is offered. As an alternative possibility the construction of a joint student-faculty meeting of both Tech and NSC is presented as another movement toward solution of this problem.

To that degree which the majority of the students are represented in this settlement will be that degree of the return of a campus spirit to our Northwestern.

Sue Miller

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 24
THE CLAM

Fresh out of Bivalve, N. J., he arrived on the campus all bug-eyed and his big mouth hanging open. He was immediately sucked into a "shell game" and found himself making all the quick-trick cigarette tests. But his native instinct told him that such an important item as cigarette mildness couldn't be tossed off lightly. Millions of smokers everywhere have discovered, too, that there's but one true test of mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke... on a pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Fire Breaks Out In IA Building

The officials and students of Northwestern State College received their third fire scare in less than three weeks last night at 6:45 when a fire broke out in the Industrial Arts Building.

A group of Industrial Arts students were working in the building dismantling one of the homecoming floats when sparks from a welding torch ignited the cotton fro mthe float. The building suffered no damage but the float was declared a total loss.

The float, "Demon Wishing Well' was entered by the IA students and was being dismantled to be stored for use in the annual Natchitoches Christmas Festival.

The alarm was turned in by Harry Knell, who probably saved the building by dragging the burning mass outside where it was easily extinguished.

Pi Kap Float Wins Contest

Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority's "NSC, Pearl of All' captured first place and a prize of $100 in Saturday's Homecoming parade. Second place money of $35 went to the Alpha Sigs who successfully carried out the theme "Through the Years." The Industrial Arts group's "Best Wishes to All" was third best with $15 to the good.

The winning float carried a large oyster shell with the NSC pear, Miss Liz Segars, and four mermaids, Misses Nelda Madden, Louise Vick, Mittie Lancaster and Lou Frizzell.

The float carrying Queen Glenn Ellen Pennington and Maids Sarah Cook, Betty Jean Thompson, Nelwyn Boydstun, Leila Lenahan, Peggy Forbes and Mamie Schoonover lead the parade of floats. Most unusual was Lambda Zeta's "NSC or Bust" which consisted of a safari forging down Front Street. Audubon dormitory had a devilish scheme of "Got Them in a Stew."

The parade, one of the largest ever staged for a Demon homecoming, also included the Northwestern band, the Natchitoches high school band and marching units of the ROTC and the Air Force.

Artist Series Inaugurated Last Night

Introduced to the Northwestern State college students last night at 8:15 in the Fine Arts Auditorium as the first guest of the Artist Series was Grant Johannesen, a remarkable young pianist from Salt Lake City, Utah.

Johannesen opened his program with the lively Prelude and Fuge in A Minor by Bach, followed by an impressive presentation of Beethoven's Six Bagatelles, Opus 126. The second part of the program consisted of the movements, Allegro Maestoso, Scherzo-Molto vivace, Largo, and Finale, Presto, non tanto from Chopin's Sonata in B Minor, Op. 58. This was followed by two selections by Debussy, Clair de Lune and Bells Through the Leaves from "Images," Book II; and Valse Caprice No. 3 by Faure'. Concluding the program, Johannesen presented three contemporary dances, a tango by Stravinsky, a waltz by Ravel, and a ragtime by Virgil Thomson.

Hailed as a "magnificent young pianist," twenty-eight year old Grant Johannesen has met with immediate success not only here but abroad. Over a period of four short years, he has risen to profound heights, receiving acclaim wherever he has performed. The First Prize of the International Piano Festival sponsored by the Belgian government this season was unanimously awarded to the young virtuoso. Grant Johannesen's next concert will be presented December 5, with the Longinnes Symphony, Mischal Piastro, conducting.

Final Decision On Laundry Fire Loss, Pending

The final decision of the Attorney General concerning the reimbursement of students in their loss during the recent burning of the college laundry has not yet been received.

The college laundry and machine shop were destroyed by fire on Oct. 21, while the majority of the student body, faculty, and staff were attending the La. Tech-Northwestern State College game in Shreveport. The damage was estimated at $100,000.

The laundry and shop were a complete loss but approximately $20,000 worth of equipment was saved by Natchitocheans, working under W. W. Wilson, superintendent of the college grounds and shop, who estimated the loss.

The insurance company covering the laundry claims that it does not cover the students' laundry, but the matter was taken to the Attorney General for a final decision. President Prather is of the opinion that the Attorney General will rule that no reimbursement will be made by the insurance company.

In letters sent to all who lost laundry, President Prather expressed the sympathy of the administrative authorities of the college and assured them that everything possible would be done to secure reimbursement. 'There are, of course," said the President, "no funds in our budget with which these losses can be repaid, and it will be necessary for us to secure the consent of the State Board of Education and possibly that of the Legislature before this can be done in case the Attorney General should finally rule that the insurance company is not liable for your loss."

President Prather advised the students that if their parents have insurance against loss by fire on their homes and contents, the company with which this insurance is carried is liable for their loss in case such loss does not exceed ten percent of the total amount of insurance carried on the contents of their homes. He asked that the students get in contact with their parents immediately, asking them about the matter. If there is no such insurance on their homes, the students were asked to have their parents send a statement to that effect. In that case the President assured them that every possible effort would be put forth to see that they were fully reimbursed for their losses.

Bright and Son Cleaners, a Natchitoches shop, will do the students' laundry. The room at the north end of the dining hall has been set aside for the receiving and sending of laundry. Someone will be there at all time to receive the laundry. It was reported that there will be only one delivery per week, and that will be on Tuesday. Prices will remain the same as those of the college laundry. Everyone will continue to have the same laundry number.

All-College Halloween Party Tonight In Religious Center

There is fun for everyone tonight from 8:00 to 10:00 at the gala Halloween carnival in the Religious Center. Black cats and witches, pumpkins and cornstalks will set the stage for the frolic which is sponsored by the Interdenominational Social Council of religious organizations on the campus. So get your brooms, put on your face and swish right on over.

Madame Zookie will make her second appearance here on the "Hill" and enlighten you with some prophecies of your future as she gazes into her crystal ball. With her will be the internationally famous palm reader, Madame Lorstella Gunvinchl.

Don't miss the horror house spectacles. The Demon will usher you in and your hosts will be the ghosts of Caldwell Hall. You will review the remains of their latest victim and shriek with fright as his blood runs over your hand.

There will be halloween cakes and punch at the carnival stands to pep you up if the horror house doesn't.

Try your luck at bobbing for apples at the north end of the carnival grounds. There will be fish to catch, also; so join the merrymakers and "fish for your fortune."

You don't want to miss the grand finale of the carnival, that sensational production "I Married A Witch." Director Charles Ertell has scheduled the opening for 8:15. Contestants for the most unique mask will be judged at this performance so wear your most blood-curling face.

State Board Okays Raise In Reg. Fee

The State Board of Education met in Baton Rouge October 22, 1951 and approved the Publication Amendment for Northwestern State College. This amendment voted on by the student body on September 27 provides that "for the spring semester of 1952 only, the publications fund shall consist of six dollars of each students activity fee, with four dollars and thirty cents to be allocated to the Potpourri and one dollar and seventy cents to the Current Sauce. Thereafter, this fund shall consist of five dollars of each student's activity fee per semester with three dollars and sixty-five cents to be allocated to the Potpourri and one dollar and thirty-five cents to the Current Sauce." This amendment will go into effect immediately.

The gymnasium was gaily decorated to represent the midway at a county fair. All the booths regularly found at any county fair were there including the "Kissing" booth. Bingo, roulette, ring toss, and the weight guessing concessions were most attractive to all the fair visitors who spent all their cardboard nickels and dimes trying to win the perfectly wonderful prizes displayed in each.

During intermission relay races were run. Following this the most popular concessions were the ones selling cokes, hot dogs, and sandwiches.

In true county fair style, the four schools present entered beauties for the queen's contest, hog-callers for the hog-calling contest, and contestants for one of the relays. After each group activity, the guests strolled down the midway visiting the secret booth, the lovely displays, and the other concessions. The virginia reel ended the evening of fun.

Debate Finals Tomorrow Night In Fine Arts Bldg.

The semi-final and final round of the all-college debate tournament will be held tomorrow night at 6:30 in the Fine Arts Building. The eliminations will pit Jimmy Johnson and Tom Drewett against Cecil Neilson and David Kendrick and Helen Fletcher and Barbara Robinette against Chick Gabbert and Nancy McCallan.

The nation-wide college debate topic "Resolved that the federal government should adopt a permanent program of price and wage controls" is the subject under discussion.

Team rankings in the preliminaries which were held October 24-25 are as follows: Jimmy Johnson and Tom Drewett, 4-0; Barbara Robinette and Helen Fletcher and Chick Gabbert and Nancy McCallan, 3-1; Jim Vorhoff and Louis Cusachs and David Kendrick and Cecil Neilson, 2-2. Since only four teams may qualify for the play-off, the duo of Kendrick and Neilson got the nod over the Vorhoff-Cusachs team because of the former's higher individual scores, even though team records were tied.

Acting as judges in the tournament are Mrs. Ponder Davis and Mr. John C. Merrill of the publication department, Mr. William Smith of the speech department and Mr. Don Carr of the drama department.

Air Force Clerk-Typist At N.S.C. Saw Atomic Blast At Hiroshima

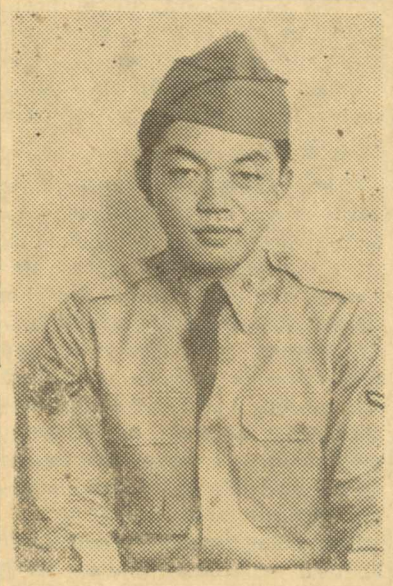

Hisaso Matsumoto is a Japanese lad, 21 years of age, who is attending the Air Force clerk-typist school here at NSC. Six years ago he lived in the peaceful little city of Hiroshima, Japan. He saw his hometown die.

Monday, August 6 found Hisao going to work in a factory which was about two and one-half miles from the center of his hometown. The time was eight a.m. A lone American B29 appeared overhead, but the people never worried about one bomber. About fifteen minutes later a bright yellow flash splattered the sky toward the center of the city. According to "Mat," as he is called by his teachers at NSC, the workers began to ask each other: "What was that?"

It was the Atom Bomb. It was the descruction of their hometown. Mat took about three steps and was thrown to the floor. He then heard a loud explosion. He doesn't remember how long he lay next to the wall of the factory, but when he arose "everything was changed.' Doors, windows, and the ceiling of the factory were gone, and he could see the sky where the factory had been.

Finally "Mat" and 20 other students headed toward their homes. Many of the students could not find their homes and slept in the streets. The Matsumoto home was still intact, though damaged, and Hisao's parents and younger brother were alive. Hisao describes the disrupted and dying city as a city of "living ghosts." Transportation completely disrupted . . . blackened hulks which were buildings . . . nauseating smell . . . moans and cries of agony from piles of debris.

About a week later, people "suddenly died" from the effects of the radioactive bomb. Hisao's father, in a weakened condition from a recent illness, died about two months later of the radioactivity.

According to Hisao, even after the knowledge that one bomb could destroy so much, the Japanese people never thought of surrender. They never even considered that possibility, and when the news came about two weeks later that the emperor had surrendered, the people could hardly believe it. After the war ended, "Mat" and his countrymen seemed to live day by day. He said he just "couldn't imagine what life would be like."

His mother began to contact a friend in America, and in February, 1949, "Mat" was on his way to Sacramento, California. Frightened and surpised on arrival, he stayed with an American family and studied English alone for awhile. Although he had finished high school in Japan, he began again in an American high school, and finished in about a year and a half. This was last June. Then "Mat" joined the Air Force.

His ambition is to attend the University of California when his Air Force enlistment is up. He plans to study political science, and return to Japan to do foreign relations work between America and Japan.

When asked his opinon of the United States, "Mat" smiled and said, "I appreciate America and the American people. We never want to fight anymore." He went on to say the Japanese people as a whole were thankful to America.

"Mat" corresponds with his former Japanese teacher and friends, telling them about America, and they inform him of the many ways in which Hiroshima is being rebuilt.

Summarizing his feelings about America, "Mat" stated, "I am so happy to be in the United States now. I have never felt such a hospitality." However, the young Japanese lad is a little homesick. He likes the people here, the hospitality, the climate and many other things, but he still longs to see his old hometown once more.

He watched it die in 1945. But now it has had a rebirth and Hisao Matsumoto, Pfc., USAF, would like to see the change.

A short statment in this, my initial effort, as to what the students may reasonably expect to find in this column should suffice: Generally it will focus on current happenings — ranging from important world developments to the most insignificant detail — which is felt will be of general interest. Some effort may be made, at times, to inject humor or to point out amusing incidents. Whenever a student shall be caused to reflect seriously or to see a new angle to a problem, or when he shall find herein a smile, then I will have accomplished my purpose.

BRITISH ELECTION

According to the latest reports, the Conservatives in England have returned to power with some 25 or 30 seats more than the Laborites, thereby causing in this country the expressions of a variety of opinions. Some have been heard to say that they "hate to see the Conservatives restored because they will probably be able to get even more out of us than the Labor Government did since they will be able to get along with us better." Others have called it a "great victory of free enterprize over the socialistic welfare state." Still others hold that it was actually an outstanding victory for Labor in that, despite the losing of Iranian oil, trouble in Suez and Egypt, lack of complete harmony with United States, and continued devaluation of the Pound, it still was able to poll a plurality of the total popular vote, receiving some 250 thousand votes more than the Conservatives, and ,in doing so, broke their own record set in 1950 for the greatest vote ever given on party in a British election.

England, in returning the Conservaties to power, becomes the third country of the Commonwealth to reject socialistic government after it had been in operation for some time. New Zealand and Australia each turned out Labor governments in 1949 after they had held power for 14 and 9 years respectively.

In spite of all this, however, it appear that no outstanding conclusions as to the significance of these socialistic experiments can be drawn. Rather, about all that can be said is that the English people themselves are still undecided over the issue and are split right down the middle over it.

ARMY JEEP

Not only the veterans of the last war, but all the rest of us (or so I thought) have been well aware of the fact that the army jeep certainly was not designed with beauty and luxury in mind. However, it seems that this has not been general knowledge. The Supreme Court of Texas — highly dignified and supposedly learned body that is — has handed down a decision that the jeep is a vehicle "having neither beauty of line nor form." What an amazing and profound observation!!

BAD, BAD WHISKEY

This story may or may not have a moral (according to the reader's own interpretation), but it does mingle a touch of humor with a tragic incident in an interesting manner. In Atlanta, George, some 30 people were killed and hundreds sent to hospitals by a concotion of methyl (or should I say lethal?) alcohol and water which had been distributed throughout the city by bootleggers. Sound trucks were used to warn the people against further consumption of the poisonous liquor. A touch of irony was introduced with the playing of the juke box record "Bad, Bad Whiskey" between spoken announcements. It seemed to fit the situation perfectly.

A bit of ation in the close 13-6 victory of the Phip Kaps over the Brick Shackers. Ben Singletary reaches between Ned Mahfouz and Ronald Quinn of the Phi Kap secondary to catch a Shack aerial and keep his side in the ball game.

Intramurals

The final game of the intramural football season saw an underdog Brick Shack team, which failed to win a single game all season, battle the highly tauted Phi Kaps on even terms for a full half, only to fall in the final seconds by a score of 13-6.

The Shackers tallied early in the ballgame on a 3-yard touchdown heave from Paul Ryder to Benny Ray.

The Frat boys came back to knot the score when Elvin Lightsey gathered in a Leland Landridge pass, good for 35 yards and a score.

With a minute and a half remaining in the final period, Ned Mahfouz craddled a toss in the end zone from the arm of Rudy Berlin and that was the ballgame. George Grammer booted the extra point to make the final score 13-6 in favor of the Phi Kaps.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Intramural volley ball play begins on Monday, Nov. 5. All entry of teams for competition must be filed at the latest, Thursday, Nov. 1.

Something new added to the trend toward developing basketball material at Northwestern is the newly organized freshman team composed of all frosh players who are not on the varsity squad.

The team is coached by letterman Artie Ranew and Buddy Bonnette and has a game schedule just as the varsity.

Thus far, showing outstanding ability are Carney Watts of Center and Waple Lilley who hails from Belmont.

The women's recreational association will sponsor a basketball tournament in the near future. It will be either round-robin or double-elimination depending on the number of entries.

Any group may organize a team. It should consist of twelve players, have an elected team captain and also a team name. The team roster must be turned in to Miss Cunningham by November 7. Practice sessions may be held in the women's gym any Tuesday or Thursday after 4:00 or by prearrangement.

Sigma, Sigma, Sigma sorority captured the women's volleyball championship, downing the Pups in the finals of the round robin tournament 30-28.

They advanced to the play-off by virtue of wins over Alapha Sigma Alapha 71-13 and Pi Kappa Sigma 42-13.

Varsity Cagers Prep For Opener

Stressing the fundamentals of basketball, the Demon dribblers continue to sharpen themselves for their season's opener against the Alexandria Air Base.

In the practice sessions Coach Charles "Red" Thomas has commented that three of his squadmen, Ken Shaw, center from Indiana, Sam Booras of Shreveport and Murrel Walker, freshman from Dry Prong are looking good.

The look for a successful season is cast mainly in the direction of Ken Shaw. For him it will be a task of filling the hardwood shoes of last year's All-American, Johnny McConathy. If he clicks, the Demons should have a winning combine.

Multi-Purpose Utility Drill

A new, lightweight utility drill kit, including a 14-inch drill steel and three assorted-size rock bits, a star drill adapter and 25 feet of air hose, has been placed on the market. The self-rotating pneumatic hammer drill weighs only 19 pounds, but can bore through concrete, brick or stone with standard drill steel, and by virtue of a stop-rotation feature can be converted to a lightweight chipping hammer or pick.

Demons Underdog At Southern Sat.

The Southerners of Mississippi Southern, who have left a wake of widows and orphans in their march through the GSC will play host to the Demons at Hattiesburg Saturday.

The Southerners, who dropped their third of the season to the University of Chattanooga, supposed to be about the best of the smaller schools on the gridiron, should be in a vengeful mood this week end, and the Demons, who dropped a thriller to the Southerners here last year, 7-0, have nothing to lose.

Coach Thad (Pie) Vann's little powerhouse, selfly labelled dangerous, doesn't run to individual stars this season, but Bucky McElroy, with 442 yards and six touchdowns, in 80 plays, and Lindy Stewart, with 263 yards and two scores in only 41 plays lead the running backs, while quarterback Tom LeGros had 26 completions in 64 tries for five touchdowns and 387 yards, not counting Saturday's game.

The Southerners rolled over Eastern Carolina State, 47-7, bowed to L.S.U. 13-0, dropped another to the All-Americans at Carswell Air Force Base, 26-0, edged out McMurry College, 27-7, clobbered S.L.I. 41-0, and buried Southeastern 35-6. They are favored in this week's contest with the Demons.

Demons In 33-14 Homecoming Loss

An injury jinxed Demon grid machine starved off the Lions of Southeastern College for three quarters, but stalled in the final period and came out on the weak end of a 33-14 score.

A homecoming crowd, ,eager for the unexpected found the ground gaining gallops of Leon Fuller and Don Purser and the dependable aerial demonstration of M. D. Ray much to their liking, but there was just too much Green and Gold power on the field that day.

The home team had the crowd on its feet early in the first period. With the ball resting on the 18 yard stripe, Ray pitched to Broussard in the end-zone for the tally and Bob Weaver split the uprights for the extra point, making the score 7-0.

It was Welch and Welch and Welch again for the visitors in the second stanza. Twice he spurted across the goal line to put his side ahead at the half 12-7.

The South Louisianians notched another score in the third canto. However, Purser put the Demons back into the ball game when he touted the mail 72 yards on the next kick-off. Weaver again converted the extra point.

After that, it was a bad case of fumblitis for both sides, but the Lions capitalized on the breaks whereas the Demons bogged down. Twice more the visitors pushed across scores to make it a decisive 33-14 victory

Statistically it wasn't even close, even to the penalties. Southeastern collected 19 first downs, 17 of them through their ground gaining department. Ray and company were good for 11 first downs with 7 of them via the airlanes. Penalties cost the Lions 120 yards while the more law abiding Demons were set back only 45 yards. Mike Bellipanni averaged 36.5 yards per try in his punting chores and Purser led in the yardage race with 114 yards to his credit.

Around the GSC

By Louis Cusachs

Homecomings took a beating around the country this week, and the Bulldogs of Tech did it to La. College, 20-14.

Oft beaten S. L. I. upheld the honor of the GSC in surprising Stephen F. Austin, on the Texas home grounds, 32-14.

Mississippi Southern lost to the University of Chattanooga, something like 19-7, but the Tennesseeians are no soft touch.

This coming Friday night Southeastern resumes battle against Troy State (Alabama) at Hammond. SLI already administered the sting of the GSC, but they're coming back for more. They'll get it too, 45-6 or thereabouts.

Saturday's games have SLI visiting Tech, but the Bulldogs are rude hosts. About 26-7 Tech.

La. College goes up to visit Auburn, conquorers of Tulane, 21-0 this week, and the Tigers can pretty much decide what score they like. On a hunch that Bernard Callender will catch a pass or two, we guess 39-6.

Mississippi Southern ??? NSC ?

Mississippi clobbered Southeastern to become an easy favorite to repeat as conference champs, the score 35-6.

Louisiana College took McNeese, 27-21, as we predicted; and Memphis State gave SLI another lost weekend, 41-7.

Since all forecasters like to boast about their .500 averages, we will mention ours as 1.000, with due credit to the schedule makers.

For next week, stick with the Southerners over University of Chattanooga, two touchdowns or better, Louisiana College takes on Tech at Pineville, and since it's La. College's homecoming, we'll give them one touchdown over the Bulldogs.

Stephen F. Austin is going to give Southwestern another lost weekend, but this time they can keep track of the score.

Southeastern will have a fight on its hands here in Demon stadium, and we're hoping the Demons'll be recovered in time.

Two students, Vernis Wright and Peddler Edwards examine the remains of the college laundry which burned down while the majority of the college officials and students were in Shreveport, attending the state fair game against Louisiana Tech. Total loss was estimated at $1000,000.

Timely Tips

ASR

Grandmother really had a chore when it came to keeping her wardrobe of undies clean. What with ruffles and flounces, it involved considerable labor. We moderns are so fortunate. The mode of the moment is simplicity, and since the coming of nylons we don't even have to bother with pressing. Our chief problem is budgeting so we'll have enough pretties to keep pace with our busy lives. Making them last longer is the answer, and proper laundering is a first rule. Here are a few good-laundering habits to form:

When laundering rayons or nylons be sure the water is lukewarm—not hot. Squeeze and slosh—don't rub. If shoulder straps or seams need special attention, use a soft brush. Rinse well, then place them in a bath towel and squeeze out the water—don't wring them hard.

Never hang rayons or nylons in the hot sun or place them over a hot radiator to dry. Heat deteriorates the fabric.

If you want to keep your nylons fresh as new, try washing them with the new bead-form bluings. Instantly dissolving in warm or cool water, these delicately perfumed bead bluings hold a magic that keeps white nylons really white and colored nylons bright.

Chess Experts To Visit City

A. Wyatt Jones, President of the Louisiana Chess Association, and Otto Claitor, Secretary-Treasurer, will attend a special meeting of the Natchitoches Chapter of the LCA, in the V.F.W. Hall, at 7:30 P.M., Monday, November 5. Claitor has challenged all of the chess-players in Natchitoches and environs, offering to play against all of them simultaneously. All interested persons are invited to come to the meeting. Eugene Watson, College Librarian, is Chairman of the Natchitoches Chapter.

Southern A.A.U. To Be Held At NSC Next Spring

Highlight of the Northwestern State College swimming season which opens November 1, will be the Southern A.A.U. Senior Indoor meet to be held at NSC next spring.

This year the Demons will enter the Southern Regional Championship meet, to be held in Atlanta, Georgia. Other meets tentatively scheduled are Southern Methodist University, Texas A&M, Rice Institute, Baylor, Memphis Naval Air Station, and the New Orleans Y.M.C.A.

The NSC tankmen will be headed by six lettermen this year: Jack Gaston, 1950 diving champion (SAAU); Myron Lockey, present holder of the NSC breast stroke record; Ken Howard, Ben Duhon, Robert Voorhees, and Dennis Ryder. Three returning squadmen are Robert Miller, Hamilton Prestridge, and Pat Todd. Freshmen competitors on the squad are Mike Torrans, Peyton Cunningham, John Cunningham, Donald Gill, Jack Sharp, Robert Davis, and Michael Lelong.

All Sorts of Things Burn!!

The gist of a conversation which might have taken place between President Prather and Dean Fulton as they scanned the itemized lists of the students who lost clothes in the laundry fire.

"Listen to this one, Dudley. Three blouses, $9.00; two dresses, $30.00; six skirts, $25.00; two slips, $10.00; four . . . four, uh . . . uh . . . "

"Yes, Coach. Four what?"

"Four, uh . . . Well, they cost $8.00 anyway."

Quiet for the space of a minute.

"Here's a good one, Coach. One pale pink shirt, $3.95."

"That's nothing, Dudley. This list includes two light blue silk dress shirts with French cuff for $12.00."

Another space of silence.

"This guy lost 18 pair of socks and wants $18.00 for them."

"Who is that, Dudley?"

"Some guy named Joe. I can't make out this last name."

"Here's one that lost 16 pair and only wants $13.00 for them."

"Joe must have paid a pretty price for those last two pair."

More silence.

"I see the army was hit hard, too. This fellow Garcia says he lost three military shirts with stripes. He wants $12.00 for the shirts and $1.50 for the stripes."

Another brief period of reticence.

"That's strange. This list only has two items on it."

"What are they, Coach?"

"One goatskin motorcycle jacket and one polka-dot sarong. Who on the campus has a motorcycle?"

An abreviated expansion of taciturnity by the two recipients of the colloquy."

"My goodness!"

"What's up, Coach"

"Dudley, some guy lost 35 practice football jerseys."

"Why that's absurd! Who did that?"

"Some guy named Turpin. He must be one of those smart seniors who thinks he can fool us. We'll show him. I'll just tear up his list."

AAUW Opens Years Activities At Meeting Oct. 15 At Varnado Hall

The elected officers, members of the program committee, and members of the membership committee were hostesses for the opening meeting of the Natchitoches Branch, American Association of University Women, Monday evening, October 15, 1951, at Varnado Hall.

NHS Library Has New Exhibit

Miss Sallie Harper, library science major at Northwestern State College, has recently completed a display for the Natchitoches High School Library as one of a series of publicity activities at Natchitoches High School calling attention to the classics.

The exhibit shows famous literary characters walking from the pages of an anthology entitled "Realms of Gold." The figures are clothes-pin dolls dressed to represent the old favorites depicted by the illustrators of the classics.

Miss Harper, who will be graduated in January, is President of Kappa Delta Pi, National president of Alpha Beta Alpha, and a member of the Baptist Student Union. She was graduated from the Crowville High School in 1948.

Singers, Choir Prepare For Dec. 12 - 16 Dates

Thus far the College Singers and the Chorus have scheduled two programs for the fall semester. They are, the Messiah, which will be presented December 12, and the Christmas Carols, to be given Sunday, December 16. The "Song of Christmas" by Ringwald, one of Fred Waring's specialties, will be featured along with many more beautiful selections on the Christmas Carol program.

The College Singers are also scheduled to sing at Camp Polk in the near future, but the exact date has not been set.

Mr. Donald Glattly, director of the two groups, has announced that the enrollment of both the Singers and the Chorus has been decreased this semester due to the fact that qualifications for membership have been raised. The College Singers is now composed of a select group of 36, and the Chorus numbers 80.

Mr. Glattly has requested that any member of the faculty or the student body or anyone living in Natchitoches wishing to take part in the Messiah should get in touch with him immediately.

Flawless Stone

Of all precious stones, the aquamarine is found in the largest flawless crystals. The largest gem ever found was a 220-pound aquamarine the size of a nail keg uncovered near the Brazilian village of Marambaia in 1910, says the National Geographic Society. It yielded 200,000 carats of cut gem stones

The Man Franklin

Author, diplomat, scientist, are some of the well-known talents of Benjamin Franklin, but we may also add the titles of "weatherman" and "explorer" as feathers to his cap. Franklin did valuable research in the study of the Gulf Stream and the subject of weather prediction. He also laid plans for the first American expedition to explore the Arctic regions

Washington, D.C. Wedding bells chimed for 1,585,000 couples in 1949 in this country and 3,729,000 babies were born, the National Association of Home Builders reports. The group cited this fact as a major reason why full housing production, consistent with the war effort, must be allowed to go ahead.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 26

THE ROOSTER

You have to get up early in the morning to put one over on this cock-of-the-walk! When it came to making "quick-trick" experiments of cigarette mildness, he stated flatly, "That's strictly for clucks"! How 'ya going to keep 'em down on the farm—when they know there's one convincing way to prove cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke—on a day after day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Ten Good Reasons Why I Cut Into Chow Line ??

1. I am the most important person on the campus.
2. I am the most thoughtful person on the campus.
3. It makes Mr. Fulton and Miss David very happy.
4. I am one of the very few people having a fifth period class.
5. It is a sure sign that I am courteous.
6. I, for one, hate to stand in line.
7. My parents taught me this air of courtesy.
8. Everybody else does it.
9. Through this little act, I am sure to be seen and, therefore, become well-liked by all.
10. It is the only way I can get ahead in college.

Dear Sir,

I wish to express my appreciation for the service you and your command rendered to my department in the recent search for a missiong person. You enabled us to eliminate some of the possibilities that confronted us at that time, and, by doing this, we were able to redouble our efforts in the search in other directions.

I also wish to inform you that I have seen few instances of such a well-organized and well-commanded group of men. Individually and as a unit, they never exhibited any doubt as to what was expected of them. They reflected credit on their excellent training, and I am sure the citizens of our area felt proud of them as they witnessed their performance.

I would appreciate your conveying my personal thanks to each member of your command who participated in the search.

Sincerely,
EARL MORRIS,
Sheriff, Natchitoches Parish

NSC Sponsored Debate Clinic November 10

Saturday, November 10, Northwestern will hold its annual high school debate clinic. Schools from all over the state have been extended invitations.

Registration will begin early Saturday morning, followed by welcoming speeches by H. L. Prather, President of Northwestern State College, and Dr. C. E. Dugdale, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. Mr. Alvin Good, professor in the sociology department, will lecture.

The Northwestern debate team will give a demonstration argument on the proposition "Resolved: That all Americans should be subject to conscription for essential service in time of war." The members of the team are Chick Gabbert, Helen Fletcher, David Kendrick, and Cecil Nielsen.

Saturday afternoon Byrd High School, defending the affirmative, and Abbeville High School, taking the negative, will argue the issue thrashed out earlier by the NSC team. Practice debates will follow with all high school teams taking part.

All delegates to the clinic will be invited to be Northwestern's guests at the football game between NSC and Alabama State Teachers Saturday night.

Cossack Choir To Appear Here November 17

The world famous General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus, under the direction of Nicholal Kostrukoff, will appear in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m., November 17, 1951. The concert is sponsored by the Natchitoches Lions Club.

The all male chorus is composed of the best vocal talent obtainable among the White Russian emigres who have come to this country since 1928. Under the leadership of their fine director, they have built up a repertoire that covers the extensive field of inspiring liturgical music, haunting folk melodies and boisterous regimental Cossack songs.

In the current program of the Cossacks, Gabriel Saloduhin, the intrepid performer, whose hair-raising dagger dance is one of the most exciting interludes in the program, is perhaps one of the most photographed Cossacks in the world. Soloduhim is featured in the "Luzinka," a barbaric Caucsian dance which begins on the sad lilt of a peasant song and concludes in a wild dance of jubilation. With the entire chorus providing the vocal background, Soloduhin renders the dance with the daggers which never fails to stir his audiences.

The Cossacks sang their first concert together 24 years ago in the Cathedral in Progue, Czechoslavokia. They were invited to San Francisco Exposition in 1939 and have been here ever since, except for two long overseas tours to sing for American troops.

The Cossacks, all members being American citizens, begin their season early in October and usually conclude their tour with an Easter concert in New York City. This season marks the thirteenth anniversary tour of the famous group, an attraction that is becoming as familiar a part of the American scene as American baseball.

The beauty of their voices, the magnificent and skillful dancing, make the Cossacks an unfailing attraction to be heard and seen again and again without losing any of the thrill of the first experience.

Admission will be adults, $1.20; children, 60c. The proceeds will be used to supply glasses for needy children and for supporting the many other city projects of the Natchitoches Lions Club.

CONDOLENCES

Little Hope Held For Compensation Of Fire Losses

There is very little hope that the Attorney General will rule in favor of the students concerning reimbursement for their losses during the burning of the college laundry. However, the final decision of the Attorney General has not yet been received.

Students are urged to contact their parents immediately, asking them to investigate the possibility of receiving compensation through fire insurance covering homes and their contents. Some students have done this and have met with success.

School officials will introduce a measure in the state legislature in May, calling for appropriations to cover the students' losses. This has met with success at Louisiana Tech and Grambling, where student losses sustained in dormitory fires were reimbursed.

Pi Kappa Sig's Too Realistic!!

The Saturday morning of Homecoming, the girls of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority were a little dubious as to whether the crowds lining the parade route would realize that the Misses Louise Vick, Lou Frizzel, Mittie Lancaster and Nelda Madden perched on the float were representative of mermaids.

Their doubts were answered soon enough when one little fellow along the way turned to his mother and gleamed, "Look at the tuna fish." It wasn't quite the reassurance the girls were seeking.

Student Center Square Dance Dec. 7 To Feature Les Gotcher

Friday night, December 7, the department of physical education will present Les Gotcher, famous Hollywood caller, who will call a square dance to be held in the student center from 8 to 11 p.m.

Admission is free. Mr. Gotcher is an excellent teacher and will teach all the dances as he goes along.

Les Gotcher, originally a Texas cowboy, did his first important work in Hollywood during the filming of "Duel in the Sun" when he taught Miss Jennifer Jones and Charles Bickford the "Heel and Toe Polka" and other period dances that appeared in that picture.

It wasn't long afterward that he began to make square dance records and signed a long term contract with Capitol Records, who feature him regularly on releases.

Les Gotcher, famous Hollywood square dance caller, who will call the all-college square dance December 7, in the student center.

Then the motion picture companies found that they needed someone for their pictures with a recordable voice having all the harmonies necessary for square dance calling. Gotcher was perfect and was besieged with offers.

The Ice-Capades came next, where Les originated the first square dance on ice. He also had the first kiddie square dance ever to appear on television.

Among the latest movie releases in which Les has done square dance calling are "Copper Canyon," "East Side, West Side," "House By the River," "Duchess of Idaho," and "Square Dance Jubilee.'

PI KAPPA SIGMA

Wednesday, October 31, Pi Kappa Sigma held its annual party for representatives from the three fraternities on the campus. This year the theme was Halloween, and the Pi Kap house was effectively decorated in orange and black.

Members from Sigma Tau Gamma, Phi Kappa Nu, and Lambda Zeta entertained the Pi Kaps in several contests, and later everyone took part in the traditional apple bobbing. Hot dogs and apple cider were served.

Saturday night the girls enjoyed a slumber party at the house.

HOME EC PARTY

"Carnival Time" was the theme of a lively party given to the upperclassmen Home Ec students and their dates by the freshmen members of the Euthenics Club, Thursday, October 25 in the Home Ec Building. Hot dog invitations were issued several days prior to the event.

Weight guessing, ring toss, bingo, fishing, penny throwing, a freak house and a curio shop were among the things on the entertainment list.

Curtis Hogan won the grand prize which was a box of candy at the close of the carnival for having secured the most coupons during the evening events.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

The Associated Women Students Council of Northwestern met with the presidents from each girls' dormitory at 4 o'clock Thursday, November 1. At this time it was announced that Winnie Dowden had accepted her appointment as Publicity Director for the AWS.

The possibility of establishing a date bureau on the campus was discussed at this meeting. In the advent that this bureau is established, it will necessarily have to work through the Men's Inter-Dormitory Council as well as the Associated Women Students Council.

Plans for the Annual Christmas at home held in Varnado Hall were discussed. This year each dormitory will be given four dollars with which to arrange a Christmas scene in the drawing room of Varnado. Later the dolls used for the occasion will be donated to some children's institution or to a polio center.

YOUNG WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Miss Marjorie Jones, State Young Peoples WMU Director, was guest speaker at Vespers, Thursday evening at 6:00. Miss Jones is at present making a tour of all the college campuses in the state. She praised Northwestern's auxiliary very highly saying that it "is the most active YWA in the state."

Accompanying Miss Jones was Miss Mary Ruth Carney of Iowa who has recently been appointed as missionary to Brazil. Prior to her entrance into the Seminary, Miss Carney was a Math teacher at Louisiana College. She will leave the States for the Language Center in Brazil sometime in January.

Miss Carney addressd a large group of both men and women students at 6:30 in the Religious Center. Prior to her address a quartet composed of four freshmen boys, S. J. Westbrook, Ray Teal, Eddy Spurgeon and Jerry rendered a special musical number to the group. After the students were shown a film on Columbian missions, they were served cookies and tea in the BSU Room.

VARNADO HALL HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

The drawing room of Varnado Hall, scene of the annual dormitory Halloween Party, was converted into a witches den last Wednesday night. At 10 o'clock the guests were allowed to enter its spooky portals and hordes of flapping white ghosts and cackling witches swooped down on them from all sides. Mother Nature lent a hand in creating a chilling, unearthly atmosphere. Rain slashed at the windows; wind howled; and water slowly dripped, dripped, dripped into the drains.

Deloes Sutherland brought a more earthly atmosphere to the room however, with her impersonations and radio imitations. Carolyn Fultz and Pud McClean were also "down to earth" with their rendition of "Moonlight Bay" and an original number, "Strolling down Varnado Hall" to the same tune.

Beth Cox read Edgar Allen Poe's "The Black Cat" to the group. Following this Wanda Thompson, Queen of the Witches announced that refreshments would be served. Then white ghosts slithered in and out among the guests bringing them delicious hot chocolate and cookies that were very real.

Goblins, Ghosts Students' Hosts October 30

The first Inter-denominational Halloween party was held Tuesday, October 30 in the Religious Center from 8 until 10 P.M. About 200 students attended the all-college affair.

At 8:00 the masqueraded guests were admitted to the darkened Religious Center. They were greeted at the door by the Devil himself and ushered into the "house of horrors," where they spent a few horror-filled minutes in the heart of Hades. Ghosts flitted in and out among the guests ushering them from one event to another.

A special feature of the party was the freak house which boasted a two-headed monster, the fattest woman in the world, also the tallest woman in the world and the wildest man in captivity. Ed Bacilla was Master of Ceremonies for the spectacular presentation. The Air Force presented the strongest man in the world and the only hairless dog alive today.

There was apple bobbing and fortune telling — "Mike" Maharaj of Trinidad and Madame Zookie, alias Winnie Dowden, read palms for a nominal fee. A carnival booth with punch and cookies was open throughout the evening.

Director Charles Ertell presented three performances of his "Womanless Wedding." Cast members for this production were: Don Finley, bride; Johnny Marshall, bridegroom; Bob Tatum, mother of the bride; Joel Treadwell, father of the bride; Lowell Starnes, Minister; Sammy Wilson, Maid of Honor; David Lewis, flower girl; Leland Langridge, ringbearer, and John Batten, Dan Poole, Bobby Earnest, and an airman as bridesmaids. Thelma Ruth Stephens played the nuptial music proceeding and following the impressive ceremony.

Doris Bolin masquerading as a Chinese coolie won the prize for best costume.

The party was planned and presented by a joint committee composed of four members from each of the religious organizations on the campus and a representative from the Air Force.

BSU Attends State Convention In New Orleans

Some 50 Northwestern State College students traveled to New Orleans last week-end for the annual state Baptist Student Union convention. These students, along with 500 other college and high school students from colleges and high schools throughout the state, were guests of the New Orleans BSU for the three-day convention.

The theme of the convention, "Christ for the Crisis" was emphasized in all programs and seminars throughout the week-end. Outstandnig speakers appearing on the program were Dr. R. G. Lee, Pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church, Memphis, Tenn. and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Merrill. and former President of the Southern Baptist convention; Dr. Kernie Keegan, Southwide Director of BSU Work and formerly of Natchitoches; Dr. Earl Guinn, President Louisiana College; Dr. Schweitzer, Professor, University of Tenn., and one of the 120 scientists who perfected the atomic bomb and later the hydrogen bomb; and Dr. W. R. White, President of Baylor University.

Five Northwestern students appeared on the program. Clydie Mae Beacham spoke on Missions; Don Finley and Mary Clark gave a devotional Sunday morning; and Elizabeth Ann Leo and Darlene Bennett both rendered musical solos.

While in New Orleans, some students were taken on a tour of the French Quarters and other places of interest in the "Crescent City." Others attended the Tulane-Auburn football game Saturday evening. Saturday all college men were guests at the BMOC banquet and the girls were entertained at a buffet supper by the New Orleans BSU.

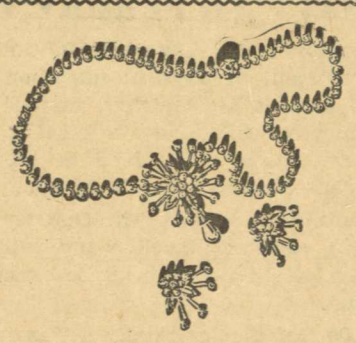

Other colleges attending the convention were Northeastern Louisiana College, Southwestern, Southern Baptist Hospital, Louisiana Tech, New Orleans (Newcomb, Loyola, Tulane), Southeastern, Louisiana College and Louisiana State University.

Accompanying the students to New Orleans were Myra Gullege, BSU Director at Northwestern; Miss Olive Roberts, faculty adviser; Rev. Gorum of Clarence; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Merrill.

"FOR LEADERSHIP, LOOK TO THE LEADER"

NSC Speech Correction Unit Aides Area Speech Cripples

It is not a well-known fact that there are more speech cripples in the United States than there are physically crippled, deaf, and blind persons combined . . . and that this number is between two and three million in the United States alone.

Because of these relatively little known facts, many areas of the nation are beginning a belated, but earnest, struggle against the psychological and physiological speech disturbances which plague so many of the nation's children and adults. One of these relatively new centers for speech corrective work is located at Northwestern State College.

The NSC speech clinic was begun in 1947 under the direction of Mrs. Quintilla Anders Lewis, who was replaced by Miss Irma Stockwell in 1948. It is located in the Fine Arts building on the campus, and has recently been expanded from the original office and clinic room to three clinic rooms adjacent to the original office. Approximately 100 persons have been treated in the clinic to date.

Miss Stockwell, professor of speech at NSC, holds her masters degree from the University of Wisconsin, and is working on her doctorate from the same institution. She has done special work in the nation's first cleft palate clinic located in Madison, Wisconsin, and served as speech correctionist for the public schools in Jacksonville, Florida before coming to Northwestern. She was also head of the Department of Speech at Mary Baldwin College and at Georgia State College for Women.

Each year between 30 and 40 students are treated for various speech disorders in the NSC clinic. Miss Stockwell is aided in this work by Northwestern students majoring in the field of speech. The students begin work with clinic cases during their study of speech correction, an advanced speech course. Prior to this course the speech students are required to study phonetics, basic speech sciences, and various disorders of speech, their causes and cures. The anatomy of the nose, throat, mouth, and parts of the brain affecting speech are included in the studies.

During the past three years 20 students who have studied speech correction have graduated from NSC. Of these, three are working on their M.A. degree, two began work at the Louisiana Spastic School in Alexandria, and others are teaching speech in Louisiana high schools.

The NSC clinic treats disorders of various types. There are four general types of disorders. Those of rhythm, such as stuttering; those of articulation, including lisping, baby talk, and substitutions; those of phonation, involving the voice pitch, rate, and quality; and those of symbolization, a relatively rare disorder such as aphasia, which involves difficulty in associating words, means, and symbols.

The most common types found in the Northwestern clinic are articulatory disorders. The least common are disorders of symbolization, or aphasia. Stuttering cases are rare in the NSC clinic. Some of the disorders treated during the three-year life of the clinic are infantile perseveration (baby talk), cleft palate, stuttering, foreign accent, and sound substitutions, omissions, and distortions.

The majority of the clinic cases which have received therapy by Miss Stockwell and her students have been children from the Natchitoches elementary school, located on the Northwestern campus. Others treated regularly include college students, Natchitoches high school students, pre-school children, and children from neighboring towns and parishes.

"We concentrate on first graders particularly in order to clear up their disorders before they get up in the grades and face additional problems of age and associations," Miss Stockwell explained. "We heartily approve of mothers who bring their pre-school age children to us to correct their speech before they begin school. We would like to stress a continuance of this," she added.

An overall picture of the clinic cases shows a greater majority of boys than girls being treated. Articulatory disorders outnumber all the rest, and the majority of the children are cleared up within a year's time.

Accurate records of each speech defective clinic case is kept by the clinician treating the individual. A recording is made of each speech defective accepted in the clinic when he enters, and when the speech disorder is sufficiently cleared up, a recording is made to compare the progress made by the student. Personal records of the student's birth, illnesses, interests, and aptitudes are also kept, and studied by the clinician in an effort to arrive at a conclusion concerning the cause of the particular disorder.

One of the most challenging cases to be treated at the clinic, according to Miss Stockwell, is that of a twenty-four year old veteran suffering from an extreme articulatory problem. The cause of the disorder is unknown, but the boy had grown up with almost no intelligible speech. His speech showed many sound substitutions, omissions, and distortions. Months of patient work have resulted in noticable improvement. Although his speech still is not perfect, he can now communicate easily.

The clinic rooms are equipped, especially for smaller children, with various games and exercises designed to keep the attention and motivate the efforts of the students being treated. Bubble pipes for exercises for the cleft palate, association games for the younger children, puzzles for interest while pronouncing words and forming sentences, various student-made games involving oral speech and sentences from the children are all part of the equipment used in clearing up the speech and personality problems of the defective clinic cases. A recording machine is on hand for use in comparing the student's progress, and an audiometer is used for determining possible hearing losses of the cases.

The priceless help given to the speech defectives of Natchitoches parish and all other students and children treated in the Northwestern clinic can hardly be measured. Teachers in the schools report rapid and new progress in school, loss of personality problems and shyness with other children. Parents thankfully proclaim rapid improvement in spech-retarded children. The clinic cases themselves show pride and happiness in their new-found confidence and ability to communicate with other persons with whom they come in contact.

Only through understanding and treatment of the problems of the speech handicapped can the old attitudes of ridicule, pity, and embarassment toward them be replaced. Only as parents, teachers, doctors, and citizens cooperate in procviding a general speech rehabilitation program will these millions of speech handicapped people throughout the nation receive the help they so urgently need and deserve, Miss Stockwell said.

And Northwestern State College is doing its part to alleviate one of the widely existing needs of American society . . . help for the Speech Defectives of the nation!

Flat Paint Reflects Light Evenly

From a mat or non-glazed surface, light is reflected in a uniform manner in all directions. For this reason flat paint is advisable for most rooms. The exceptions are the rooms which are frequently subject to steam or grease—the bathroom and kitchen, in other words. In these rooms its is more desirable to have the gloss-type finishes which can be frequently washed than to avoid the kigh lights.

Dr. Zelma Alden 1st Recipient Of Fellowship

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2 — Dr. Zelma Alden, resident in psychiatry at Charity Hospital in New Orleans, today became the first woman to receive the Farnsworth Fellowship in Psychiatry.

The award was announced by Dr. Loyd W. Rowland, executive director of the Louisiana Society for Mental Health, sponsors of the fellowship.

Dr. Alden will receive $3000 during her three-year residency at Charity, under the psyhicatry department of Louisiana State University.

In return, she has agreed to spend at least one year on the staff of one of Louisiana's state mental hospitals after her special training.

Dr. Alden turned to psychiatry after practicing pediatrics in Baton Rouge for nine years.

"This doesn't represent as drastic a change as it might seem," Dr. Alden said in an interview after her appointment. "In treating children, I found a great many situations between children and their parents that involved psychiatry, "so I have been interested in this field for a long time."

Members of Farnsworth Fellow Committee attending the meeting at which Dr. Alden's candidacy was approved were: Jesse H. Bankston, state hospital director; Dr. Robert A. Matthews, chairman of psychiatry, Louisiana State Medical School; Dr. Henry O. Colomb, staff member, LSU department of psychiatry; Dr. Robert G. Heath, chairman of psychiatry, Tulane University Medical School; Dr. George W. Davis, mediacl director, Southeastern Louisiana State Hospital, and Dr. Rowland.

Southern Convincing In 76-0 Rout Of Demons

Faulty Pass Receiving Hampers Ray's Aerial Act

By Louis C. Cusachs

The Mississippi Southerners celebrated their Homecoming with the inevitable, assisted by a referee who seemed more concerned with the queen and her court than with rule violations. Score: 76-0.

The host team would have scored often anyhow, but the onesided, erratic officiating enabled their weight and bench advantage to completely crush the already injury hampered Demons. The only failure of the Southerners was in their deliberate attempt to remove M. D. Ray from the ball game. They tackled him on every play.

M. D. Ray's control was there, but the ball was either greased, or the NSC pass receiving corp was having an unnatural case of frostbitten fingers, as they unofficially set a record for perfect passes bouncing off, or being dropped after being caught. Sophomore Tommy Broussard, Abbeville and Frosh Talmadge Lee, Waterproof, joined Don Purser in the single NSC offensive threat, but this drive went bad at the 11, when the Southerners intercepted a Ray aerial.

The Southerners scored 30 points in the first period on four touchdowns and a safety, added seven more in the second quarter, made thirteen in the third, and 26 in the fourth for their 76-0 margin.

Around the GSC

By Louis Cusachs

S.L.I. gave the well-dented dope bucket a real swift kick as the Bulldogs of SLI upset those of Tech 34-6. Judging from past scores somebody got the Bulldogs mixed.

Auburn rolled over Louisiana College, but Callender didn't do enough catching; Louisiana College 0, Auburn 49.

Alabama State Teachers (the Troy variety — we take on the Livingston branch had a little trouble with their defense. Southeastern 71 - Troy 0.

Mississippi Souther 76 - NSC 0.

Southern will find the going a little more difficult against a team their own size and weight —Alabama. The Tide will remember the L.S.U. tilt and make it about 30-0.

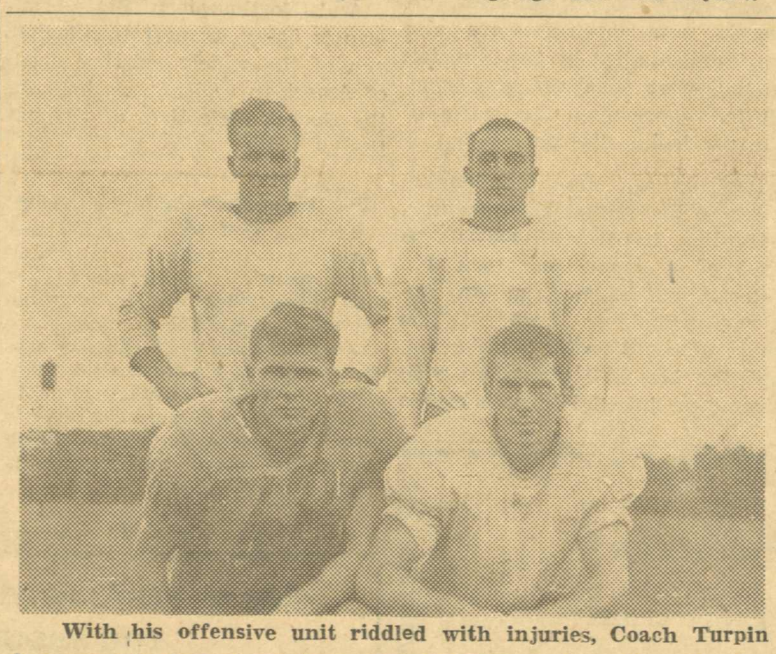

Southwestern will entertain Louisiana College at Lafayette, and with extreme reluctance we say Louisiana College 20 - SLI 18.

Tech goes to visit Southeastern for another Homecoming, and in view of the Homecoming jinx, it looks like a tossup. Southeastern 28, Tech 26.

We'll go 'way out on a limb this wek, as we know only that Alabama State Teachers (Livingston) was taken by Louisiana College 13-0. NSC 19, Alabama Teachers 18.

Take Care of Brush

Always clean brushes thoroughly after using. When a brush has been cleaned and is not to be used for awhile, wrap it in heavy paper. Be sure to leave ample room so the paper won't bend the ends of the bristle.

With his offensive unit riddled with injuries, Coach Turpin has come to depend on these four gridsters to bear the offensive burden. Standing are M. D. Ray and Tom Broussard; kneeling are Leon Fuller and Don Purser.

Town and City Names

There's a town in West Virginia called Auto. The motor car is well represented in other post office listings of towns and cities having automotive names. Lincoln, with 23, leads and in close second is Plymouth with 19 and Hudson with 17. There are 8 DeSotos, 5 Dodges, 4 Fords, 4 Pontiacs, 3 Nashes, and there's a town for Chrysler (Ala.) Packard (Ky.), Chevrolet (Ky.), Cadillac (Mich.), Buick (Mo.), Kaiser (Mo.), and Mercury (Tex.) Which came first town or car—varies according to name.

Boston Landmark

The famous landmark in Boston, known as the "Bostone Stone," is an old paint mill which was imported from England about the year 1700 by a painter who had a little shop on Marshall Lane. It consists of a grinder or "muller"—a stone ball about two feet in diameter—and a stone beneath. The stone ball was rolled back and forth in the trough hollowed out in one side of the larger stone underneath it, thus grinding the paint. It has the words, "Boston Stone 1737" cut in its side.

Demon Webmen Still Ashore

Nobody can accuse the Northwestern swimming team of being all wet, for they have been practicing for over a month, and have yet to hit the water. Coach John Piscopo's merry maniacs are scheduled to break the ice (the water in the natatorium will probably be frozen by then) sometime about November 15, but in the meantime, they amuse themselves running around the football field, and playing with the weights, clubs, and other equipment in the mens' gym. Also on the training menu are various vigorous calisthenics sessions, and in at least one exercise they assume positions never before assumed by any living human being.

Anyone seeing, or being run over by, men in swimming trunks running back and forth, up and down, the steps in the gym are requested to make sure they are not swimmers before calling mental institution authorities.

Lest anyone get the impression that the swimmers haven't dried out since their last meet, it is well to mention that NSC ducklings have about the best record of any Northwestern athletic group.

Just Rambling

Elvin Lightsey

The so-called magic toe proved its value again this past weekend when three of the major teams used it to topple their opponents. The most outstanding was probably All-American Vic Janowicz's 18 yard boot through the upright that beat Northwestern 3-0 to keep Ohio State in the run for the Roses. Both the other two occured in vital Southeastern Conference struggles. Alabama's once mighty Red Elephants rose up from the depths of despair to down Georgia on "Red" Lutz 21 yard field goal to the tune of 16-14. In the other vital "toe" contest, an underdog Mississippi State eleven pulled a mild upset by downing Tulane 10-7 on a 6 yard boot by Pete Polvina, a State reserve.

Upsets took their toll as usual. Possibly the biggest came in the upset-happy Southwest Conference. A lowly rated Arkansas club turned the tables on highly touted Texas A & M to the tune of 33-21. Another Southwestern upset saw TCU crawl on top of the topsy turvy race by downing heretofore undefeated Baylor 20-7. Clemson found the underdog rating to its dislike by knocking off a highly favored Wake Forest squad by a 21-6 margin. Duke pulled another upset by tieing a high flying Ga. Tech team 14 to 14. William and Mary upset the dopsters by tripping a favored Penn eleven by a count of 20-12. Columbia continued the reign of backward scores by dumping Cornell's Big Red in another magic toe contest 21-20.

In other games this week the better teams continued to hold their edge. Texas knocked off a pass crazy SMU team by a count of 20-13. Notre Dame continued its comeback with a 19-0 victory over weak Navy. Southern Cal and Stanford continued their quest of the Rose Bowl by tripping Army and Wash. State resepctively. California had another puff of its pride knocked out by a fired up UCLA eleven. Illinois continued their Rose Bowl bid by scoring late to whip a hard fighting Michigan ball club to the tune of 7-0.

Probably the oddest score of the week comes from two small college teams up in the East. Lehigh downed Muhlenburg 3-2 in a very close pitchers duel.

In the mad rush for Louisiana State AA championship Istrouma continued its domination skein another week by beating another Baton Rouge team Catholic High 44-0. Fair Park stayed close on their heels by dumping Bossier City 20-7. Terrebonne established themselves as the team to beat in the Southwest by belting a very strong and somewhat favored Jennings crew by a 12-6 margin. Jesuit and Holy Cross continued to roll in the New Orleans district.

Class A Gonzales definitely put themselves up as the team to beat by edging state champion Baker 7-0 to continue one of the best records a team has ever recorded. I hear they are unbeaten, untied, and unschored upon thus far. Not bad eh?

Phi Kaps Edge Hounds 6-0 To Win Play-Off

By John Spataro

Spurting for a tally in the early minutes of yesterday's play-off tilt, the Phi Kappa Nu eleven, though unable to convert their extra point attempt, cling to their slim 6-0 lead for the remainder of the contest and walked off the turf, champions.

The lone score came after the frat boys had capitalized on an interception of one of the Chow Hounds' many desperate passes. Leland Langridge fired a strike to Elvin Lightsey who was resting a few feet past the double chalk mark. This score provided the margin of victory and clamped the lid on the 1951 touch football intramuarls.

After battling to 0-0 deadlock in the initial play-off game of the intramural touch football league, a group of Phi Kaps surged for two touchdowns in the last half of the second encounter to send the Chow Hounds yelping away under a 12-0 defeat.

The first game was a very closely matched display of defensive strength. Neither team could muster TD, even though several attempts brought the ball deep into each other's backyard. The final whisle saw the score read 0-0.

However the second meeting of these grid machines was a different tale told in a different fashion. The Hounds played heads-up ball throughout the first two periods. In fact, they were actually in scoring position enough times to stomp the frat boys, but their inability to capitalize on scoring opportunities proved their downfall.

While the Phi Kaps were outmanned during the early parts of the contest, they found their offensive spark late in the third period. With the ball resting on the Chow Boys' 5 yard stripe, Leland Langridge lifted a pass into the waiting arms of Ned Mahfouz who was nestling in the end-zone.

The Chow Hounds tried desperately to get back into the ballgame, but they just didn't have it. Passes were thrown wide of the receivers and were intercepted. One of these intercepted passes set up the final Phi Kap tally in the wanning minutes of play. Again it was the Langridge to Mahfouz combination that netted the clincher on the identical play which brought the first score.

FREE ICE CREAM

Broomcorn History

Originally native to tropical Asia and Africa, broomcorn belongs with the sweet sorghums in the family of Holcus fodder grasses. Tradition has it that Benjamin Franklin planted the first broomcorn seed in America after he discovered it on a brush imported by a neighbor. The first reported U.S. commercial crop was produced in 1797 in the Connecticut River Valley near Hadley, Massachusetts.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 27...THE LYNX

This sporty student really teed off on a long tirade when he found himself stymied on the "single puff" and "one sniff" cigarette tests. "They're strictly for the birdies!" said he. He realized that cigarette mildness requires more deliberation than a cursory inhale or exhale. Millions of smokers concur — there's only one true test of mildness and flavor in a cigarette.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Dishwater Hands In Vogue At NSC As Washer Quits

By Don Finley

Did anyone notice last week that the lines in the dining hall were unusually long? I went one day to dinner at a time when there shouldn't have been any line at all and found one curled around by the wall.

Then, too, did you notice the paper plates and the napkins on which we were served? Did you think like me that a catastrophe had happened and someone had broken all the dishes?

Actually, all those strange happenings were caused by one motor . . . one little electric motor. The motor on the automatic dishwasher gave out on Monday and threw the whole dining hall crew out of line.

All the workers in the kitchen were kept busy during the dishwasher's vacation in supplying clean dishes, silverware, and trays to the servers outside. They tried with simple human hands to do the job usually done by the mechanical wonder, the automatic dishwasher.

First the serving trays would run out and someone would rush madly back to speed up the rear area operations and to bring up fresh supplies. Then there would be an emergency call for more ice cream dishes and our ambassador of good will would be off on another mission.

He would return with the dishes just in time to get his orders from the high command to rush up to the front more silverware.

Meanwhile the kitchen crew would be furiously trying to keep up. The unloading gang had a two-fold job. They first had to unload the scraps and sort the dirty dishes and then to clean the trays to provide for the need out front.

The dish and silverware washers didn't have time to worry about dishpan hands. They were too busy trying to keep up.

But not all the hardships fell on the workers in the chow hall. We students also felt the sting of the situation because the long lines were a direct result of the breakdown of Mr. Dishwasher.

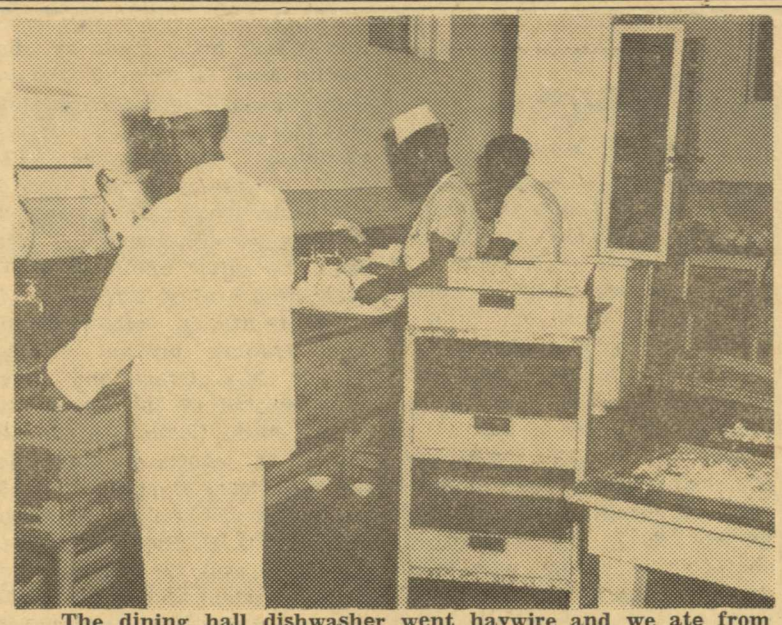

Trays would run out and the line would have to wait for more to appear. Lack of knives and forks would cause another delay. Then the ice cream dishes would deplete and we would be stalled again.

With such conditions, how could we help it if we were late for those eight and one o'clock classes.

But now we are back to normal again. Mr. Dishwasher has his motor in fine shape; the chow hall crew has returned to its normal complacency; the lines have come back to their natural length and are no longer stalled while some faithful worker scampers back to the kitchen for a batch of clean trays.

Patented Block

It seems that even the common cement building-block can be improved and patented, according to National Patent Council. Patent No. 2,540,349 has been issued to Robert S. Reed, Three Rivers, Mich., for an improved building-block. The improvement claim is that the block is bisected lengthwise, a fibrous insulating material separates the two halves, and web reinforcement holds the halves together.

The dining hall dishwasher went haywire and we ate from paper plates and napkins. All hands in the kitchen reported for extra duty at the kitchen sinks. Never do miss it until you have to do without it.

Paul Weiss Receives National Recognition for Co-authorship Of Paper On Photo Products

A Natchitoches-reared scientist has received national recognition for his co-authorship of a scientific paper. The following article from the Photo Products News of October 4 tells of the recognition accorded Paul Weiss, Jr., son of Mrs. Paul Weiss, Sr., and the late Professor Weiss of Natchitoches:

Three Photo Products people, Andy Jennings of Wilmington and Bill Stanton and Paul Weiss of this plant, were recently notified that a scientific paper they had co-authored has been selected to receive a highly outstanding award. The paper, entitled "Synthetic Color-Forming Binders for Photographic Emulsions," is to receive the noted Journal Award from the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers as the most outstanding paper in the 1950 Journal.

SMTE, as the Society is known is holding its 70th Convention from Oct. 15-19 in Hollywood and Dr. Weiss intends to be present for convention coverage as well as for the presentation. He will represent the co-authors of the paper and all the many other Du Pont people who helped make the paper possible.

Results of Long Work

The award-winning paper was the result of about three and a half years of intensive work on a product now known as Type 875, Du Pont Safety Color Release Positive.

Type 875, which competes with Technicolor and Supercinecolor, is unique in that it does not use gelatin to carry the image. Instead there are synthetic binders that not only serve the purpose of holding the silver halide in suspension when the film is manufactured, but also act as color formers contributing directly to the final picture.

These dual purpose binders give Du Pont Type 875 many advantages over other accepted color films. They contribute to superior image sharpness and give an emulsion containing exceptionally good physical characteristics.

For Professionals Only

This Du Pont color film, which is on the market now, is designed for professional movie use and is not adapted to amateur usage. It has already been used for many movie shorts and the first feature picture on Type 875 is now being readied for release. It is a western feature to be called "Honeychile" and will star Judy Canova.

But to get back to Drs. Jennings, Stanton and Weiss, it is interesting to note that the men worked together in the late 1940's when this product reached its technical peak. Since then organization changes have separated them, but they still maintain their interest in the further commercialization of Type 875.

The men agree that the award their paper is to receive is extremely gratifying. However, they said this week, that the paper and the product itself would never have become a reality without the cooperation of numerous people on the plant and at the company's Experimental Station in Wilmington.

See Completion Of New Armory By Mid-December

Tentative plans have been made for the completion of the much-needed ROTC armory which is situated behind Warren Easton Hall across from Chaplain's Lake. The foundation and floor of the structure are already standing.

The pre-fabricated steel structure of the armory is expected to be delivered the middle of this month. By mid-December, the shell of the building will probably be complete, enabling the ROTC to move in its equpiment. However, the interior will not be finished until a later date.

The complete building will house an indoor rifle range, supply rooms, offices, and classrooms, in addition to storage space for large guns and other equipment. New equipment, including a ninety milimeter gun, has been requisitioned.

How We Stand . . .

The student-body passed an amendment raising the registration fee with an eye to strengthening the budgets of the school's publications, the Potpourri and the Current Sauce. The State Board okayed this decision and so the Current Sauce need not fear going into the red this year.

Two weeks ago the Current Sauce sent notices to the faculty and all campus groups stating that the news of their activities would be printed if they informed us early enough to put a member of our staff on the story or if they gave us the already prepared article before our deadline. We have asked for cooperation and, thus far, we have gotten very little cooperation.

If, at any time, news which is given to us does not appear in the Current Sauce, it will not be a matter of bias, rather a miscue somewhere along the line — they have been known to happen. This idea of cooperation is already defeated if the present Current Sauce is made to pay because of unfair practices which may have gone on in the pass. However, no matter what the score, we intend to continue this policy because we do not have the staff to cover the entire campus.

Same Song, Second Verse

1. We all pay the same price for board.
2. We all get the same type meal ticket — no special privileges attached.
3. We all buck the dining hall line when there is one??

Why is it or why should it be — two students go through the line during a rush period. One waits in line fifteen minutes before being served; the other slips in line and is served immediately.

It is common knowledge that dining hall service isn't the best. However, this is one aspect of the situation which only the students can remedy — if they care to.

The column this week shall be devoted exclusively to pointing out two cases illustrative of a very dangerous trend in American political (with one facet of the same trend extending into private) life today. This trend consists of the use, (and the acceptance by many of this use as a legitimate political instrument) of name-calling, insinuations, vague implications, etc., in order to tear down and defame the character of anyone who might not see as the person resorting to such tactics does on any given question, or whose views or stand he might happen to oppose. The two cases which will be mentioned are taken from different spheres of political life, indicating somewhat the universality of the trend.

Two factors may be indicated as the chief cause of this trend. The primary one lies in a weakness which seems to be charcteristic of the American electorate as a whole — that of ignorance of, and indifference to, contemporary affairs and problems. The object in this article will be merely to point out this trend and, for that reason, no remedy to the situation is presented here. Rather, it is felt that the creation of an awareness of this trend and the reasons for it is the first and most important step toward the elimination of it. The second factor consists of the unscrupulousness with which some politicians and office-seekers conduct their campaigns so as to exploit for personal gain the aforementioned weakness.

Most clear-thinking, serious-minded people have recognized ever since he began his rantings that Senator Joe Macarthy of Wisconsin is an irresponsible, unprincipled critic of all those who stand in opposition to him, striving to discredit them through conviction by implication and, in so doing, to further his own selfish political ambitions. The latest development with which he was connected, however, suggests that maybe the doings of Mr. Macarthy need a little further investigation.

It seems that a Mr. Charles E. Davis was convicted by a Swiss court of espionage activity and, as it turned out, he was the personal agent of Senator Macarthy. His chief duty was to incriminate U. S. officials of Communistic sympathies. In accordance with this he had forged the name of a high Red official to a telegram sent to the U. S. Minister to Switzerland in which he complimented him highly. At the same time, it was revealed that the Republican Senator also has agents in Paris and perhaps other European centers. It may well be asked exactly what is the extent of this "spy" ring and who is sponsoring it. Is the Republican Party behind it or do the funds come only from private sources? Or, is Macarthy the sole backer of the project? If so, where does he get the money? A Senator's salary certainly would not finance it. A close scrutiny of the entire affair is certainly in order as, no doubt, would be the expulsion of Macarthy from the Senate.

The second case cited is current in the Louisiana Gubernatorial campaign. A concerted effort is now being made by Miss Lucille May Grace and Leander Perez to malign the reputation and character of Mr. Hale Boggs, candidate for Governor. (To avoid misinterpretation, this is not being written in support of Mr. Boggs, but, rather, to condemn the unfair, unethical tactics being used against him).

Two ridiculous, completely invalid charges brought against him by Miss Grace and Perez were rejected by the Democratic State Central Committee and are now in the courts on appeal by the two. Boggs is charged in effect with: (1) failure to resign from the U. S. House of Representatives, and (2) having once, while a student and editor of the Tulane University newspaper, Hullabaloo, written an editorial favoring some of the same things as the American Student Union, which has been cited by the House Un-American Activities Committee as having had Communists connected with it at times. (Wow! How indefinite can you get?) The first charge is nullified by the fact that the La. Constitution says only that a person must not hold any other office at the time of election. Official election is not until final certification by the Secretary of State, usually about a month after the State General Election.

In answer to the inane, ambiguous charge of Communist affiliation, Mr. Boggs has a long-standing positive, unrefutable record of anti-Communistic activity. Miss Grace and Perez are certainly well aware that the charges they have brought are completely misrepresentative of the truth. Yet they hope to make political capital of the magic words "Pinko," "Fellow-Traveler" etc. It is true that many will be taken in by this association of terms, however fallacious.

Besides this formal charge against Boggs, a correlated effort is being made to brand him as a "Trumanite" and friend of the "outside" interests seeking power in the state, especially the Federal "Socializers." The fact that many highly reputable colleagues of Mr. Boggs made statements endorsing him and commending his record in Congress was used as a valid reason for voting against him. "Those people are trying to tell us what to do," it was said. "Let's show them they can't do it." The naivete of the populace which this reasoning assumes is amazing! Yet, voters will fall sucker for the line.

It is to be hoped that enough people will continue to reason and think for themselves to preserve our cherished freedoms from this dangerous trend.

Student Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday, November 1, at 6:00 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office. Don Jones, President of the Student Body, presided. All members were present with the exception of Leland Langridge and Beryl DeLoach.

Don announced that the orchestra of Johnny Long has been contracted for the Potpourri Ball on the night of December 18. The house was open for discussion of what the prices of tickets for the dance should be. After considerable discussion, Lowell Starns moved that we charge $3.00, plus tax, for couples and $2.00, plus tax, for stags. Arlene Norsworthy seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

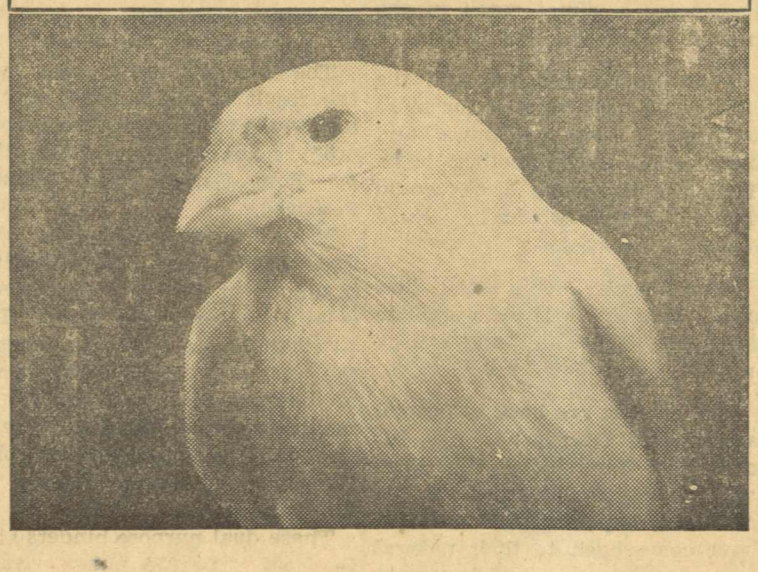

Lowell moved that we recommend to the Dance Committee that we do not have corsages at the dance. Ronald Quinn seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

Next discussed was the deplorable condition of the uniforms for the girl cheerleaders. Cas Moss seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Demons Bow To Bama State 34-27; Fail To Retain Early 20-0 Lead

Talmade "Snooks" Lee and Tommy Broussard hit paymud for a 20-0 first quarter lead for the Demons, but the Livingston State Teachers rallied for a 34-27 win.

Lee gave the visitors a lesson in open field running as the Waterproof freshman plowed through the mud on touchdown jaunts of 49and 51 yards and piled up 125 yards rushing before being injured in the second period. Tommy Broussard bulldozed over from the yard stripe to make this first quarter the Demon's most successful this season.

Apparently not knowing the meaning of the word "quit" the Teachers stormed back in the second and third periods with 28 points and added the clincher in the final stanza.

Despite the weather M. D. Ray and his air corps accounted for the final Demon score. The conference leading passer hit Tommy Broussard in the end-zone on the final play of the game. The extra point attempt was also good.

Torrential rains just before the contest left puddlies over the field and drove fans under the stands.

Dr. J. William To Address Phy. Ed. Dept.

Dr. Jesse F. Williams, noted authority on health and physical education, will speak here November 16 and 17 under the sponsorship of the Health and Physical Education Department of Northwestern State College.

At a supper meeting Friday Dr. Williams will address the faculty and students of the Health and Physical Education Department. Cossack Choir To Perform Here Saturday Night

Under the direction of Nicholal Kostrukoff, the world-famous General Don Cossack Chorus will appear in the Fine Arts Auditorium a 8:15 p.m. Saturday, November 17. The concret is sponsored by the Natchitoches Lions Club.

From their repertoire of fine music the Cossacks will present some inspiring pastorial melodies in contrast to their boisterous Barbaric renditions.

With the entire chorus providing the vocal background, Gabriel Saloduhin, the intrepid performer, will appear in the hair-raising dagger dance "Luzinka." One of the highlights of the program, this barbaric Caucsian dance which begins on the sad lilt of a peasant song and concludes in a wild dance of jubilation, never fails to stir the audiences.

The beauty of their voices, the magnificent and skillful dancing make the Cossacks an unfailing attraction to be heard and seen again without losing any of the thrill of the first experience.

Admission will be adults, $1.20; children $.60. The proceeds will be used to supply glasses for needy children and for supporting the many other city projects of the Natchitoches Lions Club.

Gabriel Soloduhin, whose dagger dance is one of the most exciting interludes in the Don Cossack program to be presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium on November 17. Other persons in the picture are part of the chorus.

Band, Demonettes SLI Bound Saturday Night

For the last game of the season the Northwestern State College band and Demonette marching unit will travel to Lafayette where the Demons meet SLI November 17. John N. Sahuc, band director at SLI, has made arrangements for the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce to welcome the band and Demonette members, and to direct them on a tour of the points of interest around Lafayette.

Since the Southwestern Homecoming parade will be staged the night before the game, Northwestern won't be able to participate. However, the program presented at the Cen-La Fair game in Alexandria will be repeated at the half-time Saturday night. Dwight G. Davis, band director at NSC, has written Raymon Didier, head coast at SLI, for permission to extend the time alloted for the half-time performance from 15 to 20 minutes. Harry Turpin, head coach for the Demons, has already given his permission.

Immediately after the game the busses carrying the band and Demonettes will return to Natchitoches.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The Tri Sigs were honored to have Janet Mayer, national traveling secretary for Tri Sigma, visit and inspect them Saturday, Sunday, and Monday. A tea was given in her honor Sunday afternoon.

Things are buzzing at the Tri Sigma house this week. Amid the hammering, sawing, etc. of the carpenters repairing the roof, the girls are busy making rush party preparations. They are also planning a slumber party for Saturday night.

The girls recently presented to Eve Mouton, their sponsor, a piece of china for her new home.

In an impressive ceremony Tuesday night, Millie Thompson and Martha James were initiated into Tri Sigma.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sig's have really been going around in circles for the past couple of weeks with all the plans and decorations for their formal rush party which was given last night in the private dining room of the student center.

The Alpha Sig house has new curtains in the living room and a newly decorated kitchen. The walls have been painted and new curtains have been added.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps have been practicing basketball every Wednesday afternoon and are planning on having a champion team this season.

The girls have been studying, too, and managed to come through on top when they took their national test last Thursday.

Past pledges Mary Louise Murphy and Sally Hall were initiated Monday night and will be welcomed to their first active meeting tonight.

The Pi Kaps have been making and completing plans for their rush party which will be this Friday night.

BETA BETA BETA

Beta Beta Beta held its weekly meeting Thursday, November 1 in the Science Building.

Mavis Pote gave a speech on curarie, a poison used long ago, which has now been developed into a useful drug. Peggy Trichell reported on plans for a picnic which the Betas will have November 10. The group plans to take along equipment to collect various speciments for the Biology classes.

Kathern Dhiel and Willis Bumgardner, prospective members, were welcomed to the meeting by Mary Jo Brosset.

YWCA HAS SEMI-MONTHLY MEETING

The semi-monthly meeting of the Northwestern chapter of the YWCA was held November 7 in the Y-room of the Religious Center with 37 members present.

Rose Nell Creel gave a short devotional, and plans were made for the annual Christmas party for the colored help on the campus. Patsy Winkler presented the program, a talk on building a "four-square" life. The meeting was then closed with the Friendship Circle.

ROSALIE OAKES TO VISIT CAMPUS

Rosalie Oakes, southern regional secretary of the YWCA, will be on the Northwestern campus November 15 and 16 before going to the state YWCA convention in Alexandria on November 17.

The two days she is here will be spent in meeting personally with the officers on the "Y" cabinet and thoroughly familiarizing them with their duties. She will also help the cabinet make plans for the 1952 YWCA program for the chapter here.

Miss Oakes will meet the whole YWCA group at the reception which is to be given at Y-room in the Religious Center on Thursday, November 15 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m.

EUTHENICS CLUB

The Euthenics Club of Northwestern had as special guests for its meeting November 8, Messers Edward and Eugene Coen of the Necchi sewing Machine Company. Liberine Wedgeworth, chairman for the meeting, introduced the guests.

The members of the Euthenics Club and their guests were then given demonstrations by the Messers Coen on this unusual Italian machine. Special features of the machine are that it sews straight, embroiders, monograms, darns, sews on buttons and clasps and makes button holes — all without any attachments and without handwork. "Makes 90 different stiches without a single attachment."

This unique machine is manufactured in Milan, Italy where it has been an undisputed leader for 40 years. It was first brought to the United States in 1948 by a Polish refugee who borrowed $2,000 from a refugee fund to begin the business. Since that time he has become a millionaire through the sale of Necchi machines in the United States.

Its rapid rise in popularity in the United States has been palpalling. After only three years the sales of the Necchi machines stand second only to Singer. To quote Mr. Eugene Coen, "In three more years Necchi will rank second to none."

Prior to the demonstration the Euthenics elected three delegates to go to the University of Mississipp for the Province meeting December 6, 7, 8. Elected were Patsy Winkler, club president; Doris Bolin, vice-president; and Jane Walcott, secretary. iMss Ester Roberson, club adviser, who was coadviser for this district last year, will accompany them.

See Completion Of Science Bldg. In Early Spring

The new $500,000 Physical Science Building, still in the construction stage, will be ready for use during the next semester in the opinion of Mr. A. G. Fournet, head of the department of physical science.

The new structure, located between the west ends of the Home Economics Building and the Business Building, when completed will feautre a ventilation system to heat, filter and circulate fresh air. The same system will be used to cool the building. Flourescent lights will be installed throughout. The architect has been authorized to draw up plans and call for bids on furniture. It is hoped that by the time the building is completed, the furniture will have been purchased.

On the first floor of the two story structure will be three lecture rooms, one of which will be equipped as a visual aids and lecture demonstration room. The second floor will have two lecture rooms, six large laboratories, and two small research rooms. Store rooms will be conveniently located adjacent to the labs. Four offices will be on the ground floor and three upstairs.

The new building will be devoted only to physical science courses. This includes courses in physics, physical chemistry, and the introductor courses in physical science 105 and 106. The old science building will continue to house the biological sciences.

Prior to July 1, 1951, there was only one science department at Northwestern. This department headed by A. G. Fournet included courses in biology, biological science, chemistry, physics, and physical science.

Effective July 1, by action of the state board of education, the science department was divided into two sections, the biological sciences under Dr. W. G. Erwin and the physical science division under Mr. Fournet. Each department has a staff of six teachers and approximately the same student enrollment.

PRE-LAW STUDENTS

Mr. Cecil Ramey from the Tulane University Law School will visit this campus at 2:00 P.M., November 26th to discuss the Law Curriculum and Scholarships available at Tulane. Any student interested in meeting Mr. Ramey should contact Mr. Havard (210 Caldwell) prior to the indicated date.

Perry and Soybeans

In 1853, when Commodore Matthew Perry sailed from China with the American fleet, he had a vegetable in his sea chest which was to prove of extraordinary character some sixty years later. This vegetable—the soybean—had long been treasured in the Orient as a food. Today it is used in the manufacture of shortenings, bake goods, confectionery, cereal, beverages, paper, animal foods, cosmetics and innumerable other products. The oil from this bean is also used extensively by paint manufacturers in the production of fine paints and varnishes.

Fashion Show Thursday, Nov. 15
Sponsored by Home Ec Students

The Euthenics Club of Northwestern is sponsoring a fashion show entitled Autumn Plumage to be given by Miss Olive Berry, College Fashion Adviser for the Simplicity Pattern Company on Thursday, Nov. 15, at 4:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre at Northwestern State College.

The entire show will be presented by students enrolled in home economics courses. Models are as follows: Mary Gunn, Marilyn Barnette, Billie Weldon, Marie Basco, Mary Lane Bailiff, Margaret Edwards, Janice Andress, Marilyn Snoddy, Iva Lois Davis. Model assistants and managers are Kathleen Ray, Barbara Gray and Susie Mathis. Sallie Hall and Gloria Etheride are in charge of posters and Doris Bolin, Eddie Elliot, Alice Phelps and Winnie Ruth Hutson are in chage of properties. Claudine Box and Betty Ruth Bryant have charge of music for the show and Winnie Dowden is responsible for publicity and the stage settings.

The bright new colors of the outfits are keyed to the plumage of American birds, since this year is the observance of the Centennial Anniversary of John James Audubon, the renowned artist and naturalist. Each costume has been given a name associated with birds, such as "Migration" — a beautiful poodle cloth pyramid coat in grackle purple, with a wide sweep to the skirt. In contrast, "Wing Spread" represents the slim suit silhouette in golden pheasant wool with a wide fringed stole lined in mallard green. Another suit called "Woodland Haunt" consists of a rustic tweed skirt in woodpecker red combined with winter white suede leather boxy jacket. "V-Formation" is a cape stole outfit in bluejay plaid rayon, an important color this season.

Not only are the colors exciting but the texture story is full of news. Blackbird wide wale corduroy is cut crosswise for "Early Bird," a weskit and hippy skirt for early morning classes. Suede cloth appears in a braid-trimmed full skirt lined with taffeta. It is worn with a warbler green jersey blouse. The skirt unbuttons in the back to show russet rayon suede pedal pushers, ideal for those jam sessions in the dorm. Velveteen appears in teal blue for "Strutting" and crispness is represented in "Courtship," a sandpiper beige shantung taffeta date dress with detachable flared apron. "Fine Feathers" flashes a white metallic sheer full-sleeved blouse under the scarlet tanager ottoman faille sheath dress. This is topped off with a matching cape.

Evening dresses can be short or long. "Nocturnal Flight" consists of a blackwool jersey blouse and ibis white pin wale corduroy ballerina skirt. A matching fringed stole is lined with blue lame. The trend toward evening separates is also represented in the floor length blue bird nylon tulle skirt, topped with a taffeta bodice covered with petals.

Throughout the collection the full skirts are very full, held out with petticoats of taffeta, crinoline or plastic screening. The skirts are 14 to 15" from the floor. All of the outfits and many of the accessories are made from patterns, an inspiration to the students in Clothing, Textiles and Costume Design.

MISS BERRY

Miss Berry, who brings the fashion show to the campus, has been visiting colleges for several years and is well aware of the needs of college girls. She styles a wardrobe for on and off the campus with an eye toward suitable clothes for careers after graduation. She is a graduate of Teachers College, Columbia University and has recently received a Masters degree in Home Economics from New York University. During her visit she will talk on Opportunities for Home Economics and on the manufacture of Simplicity Patterns. On her tour of the South she is also working with the State Clothing Specialists.

Prior to the fashion show a tea will be held in the drawing room of the Home Ec building from 3 until 4 P.M. with Liberine Wedgeworth in charge.

Safety Valve

It s quite normal for children to dramatize what they hear on the radio and see on television. Pretending to be the adventurous hero sometimes acts as a safety valve for emotions. Any child feels small and without status, and once in a while likes to feel he is the powerful figure in a situation.

Gym Team Dates Three November Exhibitions

November is a busy month for the Northwestern State gymnastic team as they take to the highways for three exhibition performances.

Thursday evening they journey to Colfax to entertain at the dedication of the new high school gym. They will demonstrate fundamental technique and advanced gymnastics at the Louisiana State Teachers' convention Shreveport, November 19. Ferriday will play host to the Demon acrobatics November 30.

Coach John Piscopo predicts a successful season for his talented squad. The team is anchored by six lettermen with a sprinkling of outstanding prospects. Tumbers are plentiful, but there is a need for more apparatus men. Team members include Chuck Castaing, Ken Howard, Ben Duhon, Pedro Velez, Jack Gaston, John Hicks, Jack Sharp, John Batten, Sonny Mercer, David Kendricks, Harold Larue, Bob Sanders, Shelby Brooks, and Robert Davis.

An outstanding feature of the '51 group is the balancing team composed of Brook, Sanders, Larue, Valez and Coach Piscopo. It is their first season together as a unit, but they are rapidly smoothing the rougher edges of their numbers.

Ledet To Coach NSC Track Team

Athletic Director Harry Turpin of Northwestern State College has announced the appointment of Walter S. Ledet as track coach at the college. Ledet, a former Demon grid and track star, has been a member of the NS athletic department since 1939.

Since his graduation from Northwestern in 1938, he has coached at the institution continuously, except for four years, 1942-1946, when he was in the Air Force. Since 1946 he has been line coach and trainer at NSC.

Ledet, from Abbeville, began coaching at NSC as freshman football coach at the age of 20. He received his Masters degree in physical education from L.S.U. in the summer of 1941, just prior to entering the service as physical training instructor.

While at Northwestern as a student, Ledet lettered four years in both track and football. For two years, 1937-38 he was SIAA shot put and discus champion. In 1937 he tied for the SIAA high jump championship. He was captain of the Demon football team in 1938 and the same year made All-SIAA as guard. He was also selected to the Little All-American team in 1938, the first student at NSC to be so honored.

As an undergraduate at NSC he was on the Student Council, president of Phi Kappa Nu, member of Lambda Delta Lambda (honorary science fraternity), and president of the Newman Club.

Just Rambling

Elvin Lightsey

Louisiana fans got their money's worth and an eye-full of two of the nation's top passers in action. Some witnessed Vito "Babe" Parilli and his Kentuckians massacre Tulane 37-0. Others saw Vanderbilt's "Bullet" Bill Wade topple LSU 20-13. Some even sat through both ends of the double header and received their share of excitement.

Georgia Tech accepted the year's first major bowl bid immediately after soundly thumping VMI. The Engineers will be in Miami for the Orange Bowl classic come New Year's day.

Stanford and Illinois hold the inside track to the king of all the bowl games, Pasedena's Rose Bowl classic. Maryland and Tennessee are probable Sugar Bowl choices. Oklahoma seems destined for the Cotton Bowl, but it is anyone's guess as to who will oppose them — maybe TCU, possibly Rice, maybe even Baylor.

Still on football, Vic Janowicz, Ohio State great, kicked his second field goal in as many weeks and again it was the Buckeye margin of victory, this time over Pitt to the tune of 16-14. This fellow looks as if he is trying to nail down his all-American berth early this season.

Another all-American candidate, Dick Kazamier led his Princeton Tigers to their twentieth consecutive win to set a new Princeton record.

In baseball, "Sporting News" has announced the Baseball Writer's Association's all-star team. The team has power and a great fielding alignment. They read as follows: Outfielders, Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals, Ralph Kiner, Pittsburg Pirates, and Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox; first base, Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics; second base, Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers; short stop, Phil Rizzuto; third base, George Kell, Detroit Tigers; catcher, Roy Campanella; and pitchers, Sal Maglie, New York Giants; Preacher Roe, Brooklyn Dodgers; and Allie Reynolds, New York Yankees.

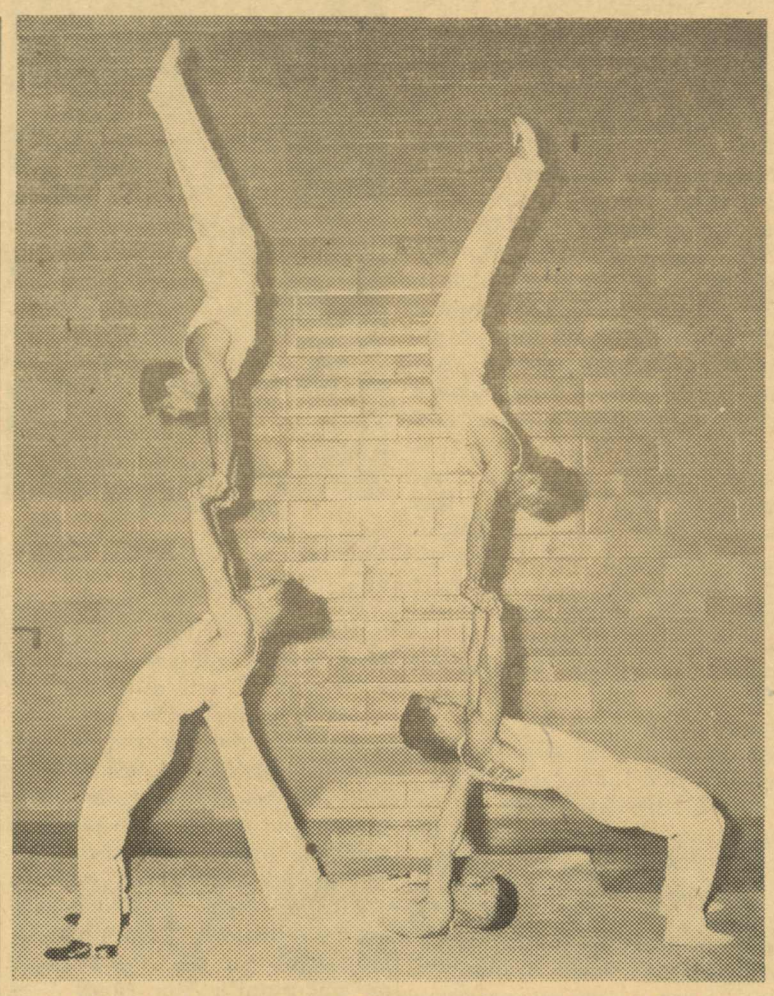

"Rookie of the year" in the National League is Willie Mayes, New York Giants centerfielder. In the American League it is the Chicago White Sox sensational third baseman and outfielder, Minnie Minoso.

Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's dependable backstop was voted the National League's "Most Valuable Player."

Here at Northwestern Coach Thomas's quintet will open its season November 23, against Alexandria Air Base. The Demons are a good bet to nail down the Gulf States' Conference dark horse slot. Let's upset the dopsters one time, team.

Rescued Refrigerators

At one time manufacturers received complaints because children and grownups would bump into refrigerators with their toys and packages and the refrigerator coating would be chipped. To solve the problem, industrial finish designers developed a special finish that has extreme flexibility so that, when the refrigerator is banged, the finish bends with the metal.

Demons Just Might In 1951 Finale

The Demons will bid farewell to a very drab season Saturday when they tackle the Bulldogs of SLI at Lafayette.

Southwestern has been gaining momentum in the last two weeks, after a slow start, rolling over Tech 34-7 and Louisiana College 27-21.

The Bulldogs started off dropping a 13-7 decision to Northeastern State, bowling over McNeese 34-14, and falling to Southeastern 14-0. Mississippi Southern easily gained a 41-0 verdict, but the Bulldogs bounced back to overturn Stephen F. Austin on the Texan's home grounds.

The Demons will have the advantage of the La. College jinx, which has a perfect record so far this season, and their hopes will be bolstered by the return of several of the veterans out on injuries the last few weeks.

Last year the Demons slipped by the Bulldogs 12-7 but this year the Bulldogs would be easy favorites except for having played the Wildcats last week.

Eight Initiates In Aquatic Club

The Aquatic Club concluded its clinic andtryout periods Thursday with eight prospective candidates for membership completing the aquatic requirements. The swimmers who successfully weathered this rather damp experience are Joan Evans, Gerald Furr, Freddie Jones, Lyria Lawrence, Frances McLain, Gene Pugh, Rene Pugh, and Mike Torrans. Pending a vote by old Aquatic Club members the above people are now eligible for active membership in the Club.

At present, members of the club are planning an evening of aquatic fun as part of the initiation program for the new members.

Around the GSC

By Louis Cusachs

Southeastern defeated Tech, 19-7, as the La. College jinx struck again. Nobody wins the week after playing the Wildcats. Moral: Don't schedule conference games that week, or better, close the season against them.

Alabama took Mississippi Southern 40-7, and any tears seen at NSC have some other cause.

Southwestern got past La. College 27-21. If that jinx can last just one more week.

Alabama State Teachers of Livingston 34, NSC 27. Where is Troy State?

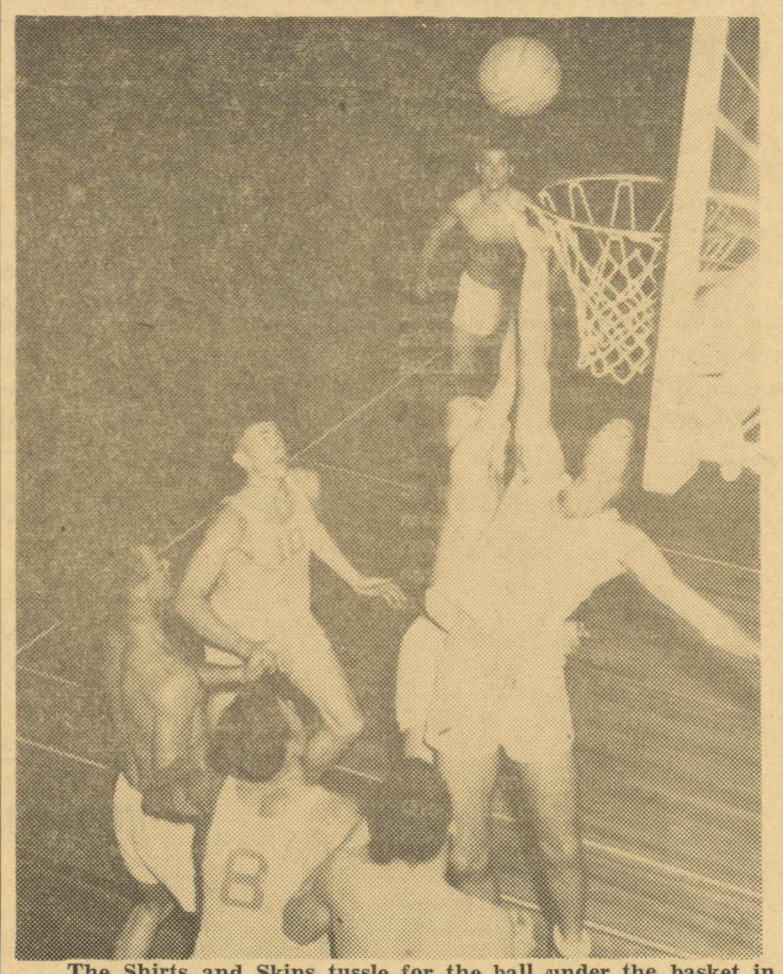

Mississippi Southern marches through Tech this week, and you may be called upon to aid in the disaster relief. We understand they're calling for volunteers in Ruston to help pick up the pieces. 40-7 or worse.

Southeastern rates a slight edge over McNeese at Lake Charles. Should be near 24-21.

La. College visits Northeastern at Monroe. We say 26-20.

After taking a beating from both dope bucket and crystal ball, we limbered up the old slide rule and calculated that, since noboby wins the week after La. College, it's Northwestern 28, Southwestern 13.

Until next week, if you think we had a bad season, look up Central Oklahoma State.

Debate Clinic Held On Campus November 10

The annual NSC high school debate clinic was held last Saturday with 13 Louisiana high schools attending. Demonstration and practice debates were included in the clinic held in the Fine Arts building.

A general convocation, in which President H. Lee Prather, Dean C. E. Dugdale, and Dr. A. G. Alexander welcomed the students to the college, opened the clinic at 8:45 a.m. in the Little Theatre.

Alvin Good, professor of Sociology, presented a lecture to the group on the debate question: Resolved that all American citizens should be subject to conscription for essential service in time of war.

NSC debaters who gave the exhibition college debate were Helen Fletcher, Natchitoches; Chick Gabbert, Alexandria; David Kendrick, Natchitoches; and Cecil Neilsen, Shreveport. Chairman of the debate and leader of the discussion was Jimmy Johnson of the NSC squad.

In the second exhibition debate, Byrd High met Abbeville in a non-decision argument with Don Jones president of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, serving as chairman.

Non-decision debates between participating schools were scheduled in the afternoon. Students were guests of the college at the NSC-Alabama State Teachers College game on Saturday night.

Air Force School Contract Renewed

Natchitoches, Nov. — The contract of the Air Force clerk-typist school located at Northwestern State College has been renewed and increased this week, N. B. Morrison, head of the Business department at NSC, announced today.

The contract was increased by 12 contingents to a total of 975 Airmen who will attend the NSC school. The last of these will leave the campus in May.

Recent graduation classes have brought the total number of Airmen graduating from the NSC clerk-typist unit to 425. These graduates have been sent to various Air Force bases in the United States, Alaska, the Far East, and the Pacific.

The NSC clerk-typist school has been commended by Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming for its system of washback and elimination. The administrators of the school have been asked to send a report of the NSC system to this base for study and possible other schools.

Theme of the conference was "The University Christian Movement."

Euthenics Clubs Displays Rugs Of Mrs. Weiss

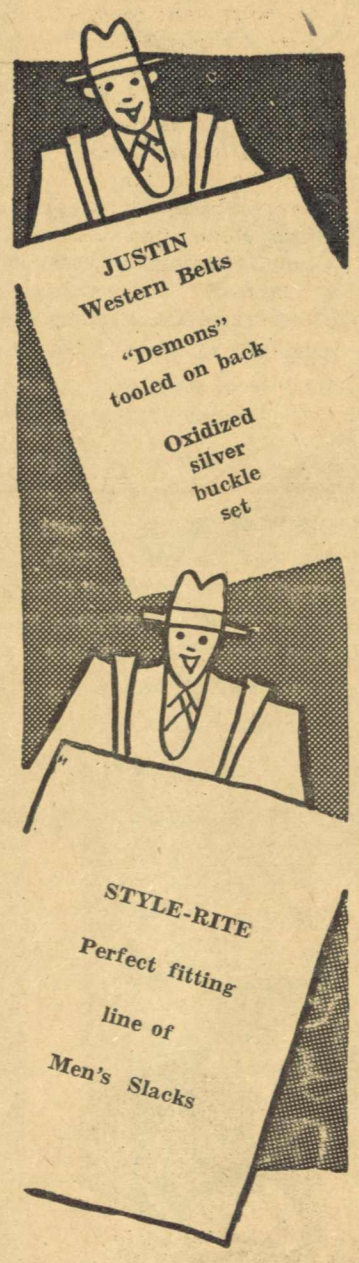

The Euthenics Club of Northwestern State College sponsored Mrs. Paul Weiss, wife of the late Professor Weiss of Natchitoches, as guest speaker at a demonstration on hooked rugs given in the drawing room of the Home Ec. building, Wednesday, November 7 from 10 to 11 A.M.

Beautiful displays of various types of hooked rugs were scattered at vantage points throughout the drawing room. Mrs. Weiss gave this very interesting demonstration on hooking rugs to some 80 staff and faculty members and students.

Mrs. Weiss has worked on her hobby, designing and hooking rugs, for a number of years. All of her designs are original and are built around definite themes. Her prize piece of work is a hooked stair-runner depicting the romance and marriage of her son Paul, (featured in last week's Sauce) from the time of "boy meets girl" to the building of their home. Another of her outstanding designs is a hooked rug featuring Louisiana native flowers.

Material used in Mrs. Weiss' rugs are all salvaged from discarded woolen garments which have been redyed. Although hooking rugs is a very profitable business, she does it solely for the pleasure derived from it, but often helps friends with their designs.

Prior to the demonstration, the numerous guests were served coffee by Joy Smith, junior home economics major.

to the prospective librarians a welcome to the campus. Brief talks will be made by the librarians of the cooperating libraries and by Miss Ruth Ann Ellender, President of the local chapter of the Alpha Beta Alpha, the national library of science fraternity. During the major part of the day the Librarians For A Day will serve in the three libraries. However, during the day the Alpha Beta Alpha will informally entertain the visitors.

Those libraries and librarians cooperating are Northwestern State College Library, Mr. Eugene Watson; Natchitoches High School Library, Mrs. Agnes Clark; Natchitoches Parish Library, Miss Eloise Brock.

The purpose of the Librarian For A Day program is to acquaint capable and interested boys and girls with the opportunities and advantages offered by the library profession. The students who participate in this program have an opportunity to visit and work in all the libraries in Natchitoches.

Sleep Value

Longfellow once said, "Joy, temperance and repose slam the door on the doctor's nose." He didn't state that this repose should be on good resilient bedding, but it's true that only on the proper sleep foundation can complete, restful repose be obtained—the kind of repose that will make one healthier, happier and more efficient.

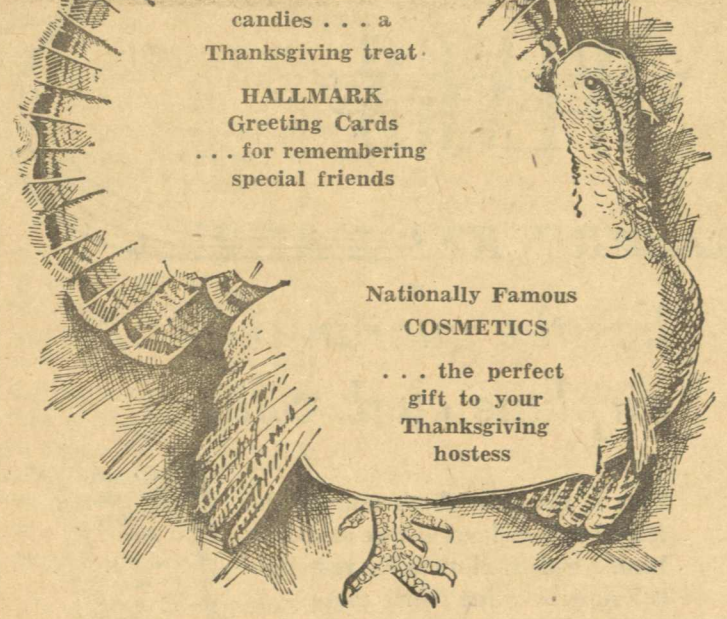

Neat Appearance, Ready Smile More Important Than Beauty

The boys at NSC are appreciative of good grooming in a girl. They are equally intolerant of one whom they feel could improve her looks greatly with a minimum time and effort.

Every girl wants to feel that she is up to her friends when it comes to knowing to what to wear and when to wear it. In the choice of clothes, if you are not sure what is exactly proper, something sporty gets the nod over an outfit too elaborate for the occasion.

A suit is the most sensible addition a girl can make to her college wardrobe. It may be worn to classes and on casual dates. This same suit may be dressed up with abright scarf and matching accessories, making it appropriate for any occasion short of a formal affair.

It has been said by authorities on personal appearance that there is no woman who is actually ugly — if she is willing to learn to smile often and dress neatly. There are exceedingly few ravishing beauties, yet all can acquire a pleasing appearance if they form personal habits in health and learn to select clothes wisely and to groom themselves according to individual coloring and personality.

TRI SIG'S TRAVELING SEC. CAMPUS VISITOR LAST WEEK

Miss Janet Mayer, national traveling secretary for Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, visited and inspected Alpha Zeta chapter November 3-6.

Miss Mayer's activities during her four-day stay at Northwestern included an address to the NSC Panhellenic Council, attendance at formal and informal meetings of the chapter members, and conferences with the various officers. In addition, Miss Mayer was honored at a tea held in the Tri-Sigma sorority house Sunday afternoon and was taken on a sight-seeing tour of Natchitoches.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Miss Mayer was president of Alpha Nu chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma. She was also a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociology fraternity, president of Sphinx Club, and a member of the Pyramid Honorary. Miss Mayer received the "Most Valuable Sorority Woman" trophy on the Carbondale Campus.

The national office Miss Mayer holds is new — having been added only this year. During the nine months of the school year she will travel to the forty-eight chapters of Tri-Sigma, where she will make inspection and advise members on various sorority matters. Following her visit at NSC, Miss Mayer planned to travel to Alpha Mu chapter at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette.

Baptist Students To Fete Air Force Friday Evening

The Baptist Student Union of Northwestern will sponsor its first organizational party for the Air Force students on the campus Friday, November 16 at 7 p.m. in the Religious Center.

The purpose of this party is to provide entertainment for the airmen while acquainting them with the activities of the BSU. Lady Jane White, social chairman will be in charge of the evening's activities. All BSU'ers and their friends are invited to attend, and a special invitation is extended to the airmen.

Phi Mu Alpha Plans Concert

Phi Mu Alpha, professional music fraternity of Northwestern State College, under the sponsorship of the Junior Class of Natchitoches High School, will present a program of varied music in the Natchitoches High School Auditorium at 8:15, Thursday, November 15.

The program will consist of vocal and instrumental solos and ensembles by members of the fraternity. This concert close follows the appearance of the fraternity in a program given by the Music Department of Northwestern at the Veterans Hospital in Alexandria.

The final portion of the program will be given by the popular Northwestern dance band — the Demonaires. It is a well-known fact among college students that the Demonaires play the tops in "danceable" music. It is just as pleasant to hear their music as it is to dance to it. The Demonaires are now making engagements to appear at many of the high schools in Louisiana during the Spring and Summer semesters of 1952.

Admission prices are $.25 and $.50.

In The Library

Among the newer books in the library is "The Disenchanted," the third novel written by Budd Schulberg, one of the most vigorous and promising younger writers of our day.

Manley Halliday was a striking figure in the Golden Age — the Twenties. He had everything, youth, ambition, wealth, fame as an artistic writer, social grace, a beautiful and talented wife and a flair for living.

Ten years later, however, in the late thirties he was a broken man of a forgotten day. No one remembered the famous and much sought after writer of a decade ago. This sad figure, threadbare spiritually and financially, lived on the very crusts of life, barely eeking out a living for himself, his young son and his once beautiful wife who has degenerated to a chronic, half-insane alcoholic.

By chance, Halliday is given a thousand dollar a week position rewriting a light musical comedy for Victor Milgrim, famous Hollywood producer. Shep Stearn, fresh out of college and author of the play is to be Halliday's collaborator.

A trip back East to get the authenic settings for the movie is Halliday's undoing. Visiting the scenes of his earlier triumphs, forces him to realize the sense of his own failure as an individual. In the final tragic scene he sums up his whole life with the startling words, "Take it from me, baby, in America nothing fails like success."

In this book, Schulberg attempts to contrast the idealogies of the 1920 era with those of our present day. Despite the fact that this is a sad exaggeration of realism, he has done a good job with his characters. Hollywood reared, the author knows of the glitter, the big front and the sweet talk of the "movie capital" and his characters and their reactions portray his experiences. One gets the idea that Schulber is substituting Shep Stearns in many of the scenes for himself.

It's Not True

Claims of a record-breaking winter for 1950-51 are highly exaggerated. All the records for long, hard winters are still held by the years during the four glacial periods before about 30,000 B.C. Then "winter" lasted for centuries and the earth was covered with mountains and rivers of ice. All living things died and all land was barren of vegetation. Even continents and oceans appeared and disappeared.

Hill, Carlucci To Conduct College Orchestra

Tomorrow afternoon the Northwestern State College Orchestra will open its fall concert season with a matinee at 2 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. The performance, which is planned especially for the Natchitoches elementary and high school students, will be the seventh in a series of concerts designed to enhance the youngster's appreciation of fine music.

Mr. Carlucci, of the Northwestern music department, will lead the orchestra in Mozart's Marriage of Figaro Overture; Stradella Overture by Flotow; and Waltz from String Suite by Tschaikowsky.

Under the direction of Val Hill, associate professor of music, the group will rend American Patrol March, as arranged by Glenn Miller; Procession of the Meistersingers by Wagner; and Mr. Carlucci's arrangement of Suite of Organ Music by Karz-Elert. He will also direct the orchestra in Dmitri Shostakovich's Concerto for Piano, Trumpet, and String Orchestra, with soloists Paul Torgrimson at the piano and Frank Pasqua on the trumpet.

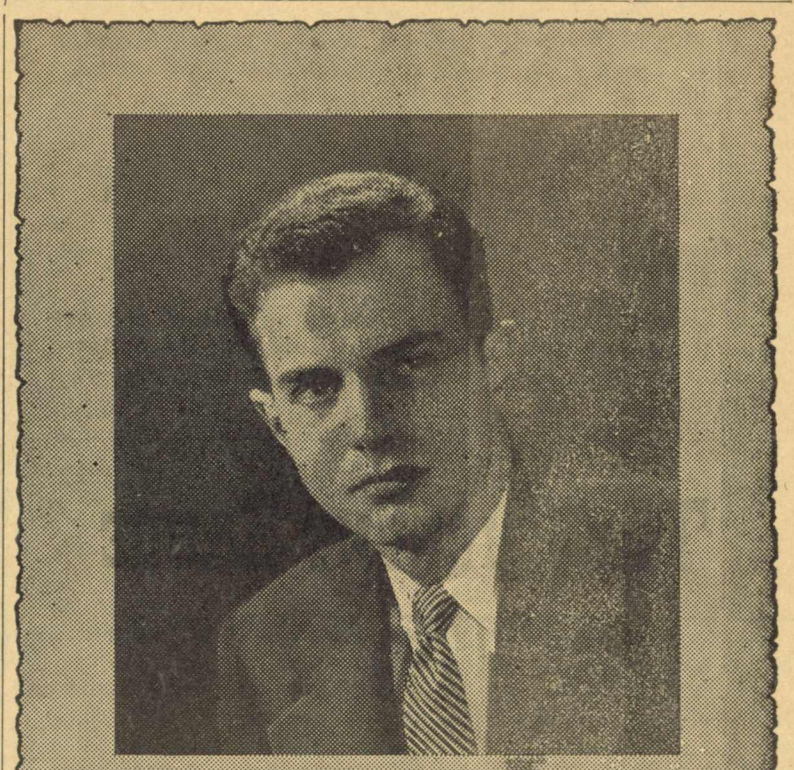

The public is cordially invited to attend this concert.

Time Editors Say

"Youth today is waiting for the hand of fate to fall on its shoulders, meanwhile working fairly hard and saying almost nothing. . . . It has been called the 'Silent Generation'.

" . . . The generation has 'won its latchkey'. It sees no point in yelling for freedom to do as it pleases, because generally no one keeps it from doing as it pleases.

". . . God for most young Americans is still a vaguely comforting thought . . . To large numbers of them, religion is still merely an ethical code. But God (whoever or whatever they understand by that word) has once more become a factor in the younger generation's thoughts . . ."

"The best thing that can be said for American youth . . . is that it has learned that it must try to make the best of a bad and difficult job, whether that job is life, war, or both. The generation . . . has achieved a certain maturity.

"Young people do not feel cheated. And they do not blame anyone . . . The fact of this world is war, uncertainty, the need for work, courage, sacrifice. Nobody likes that fact. But youth does not blame that fact on its parents dropping the ball. In real life, youth seems to know people always drop the ball. Youth has little cynicism, it never hoped for much."

Sticks And Stones

We refer to an incident which happened at the football game Saturday night. It is not of colossal importance; yet it is worthy of comment.

The witty witty persons in the stands that night who thought it great sport to make a few other spectators the butt of their never ceasing wisecracks must be real proud of themselves. They got some laughs at the expense of others — truly a great accomplishment.

We are not preaching Christian brotherhood nor are we laying down the Golden Rule. We do believe, however, that everyone ought to mind his own business.

It appear that the British have finally decided that they have allowed themselves to be "pushed around" long enough. They seem to be definitely determined to hold the Suez Canal Zone at all costs and regardless of opposition encountered. Systematic searches have been carried out to prevent a possible build-up of arms by the Egyptian guerrilla bands; military officials have been ordered to be on guard against Egyptian "snatch and grab" raids for weapons; women and children are being evacuated; and fortifications around military in-stallations are being strengthened. There are approximately 21,000 British troops in the area. It is, of course, in the best interests of the United States that control of this vital waterway remain in friendly hands and for that reason, the news of this firm stand being taken by the British is gladly received in this country.

So! Uncle Sam has finally taken steps to keep from being "caught holding the bag" in the event of a full scale war in the East. Contracts have been let for the planting of some 1500 acres of kenaf, a substitute for burlap. In case our supply of this critical material should be cut off by some quick stab in the East, this 1500 acres of kenaf would supply enough seed for us to grow our own bagging.

One score and 16 years ago our fathers brought forth upon this nation a new tax, conceived in desperation and dedicated to the proposition that all men are fair game.

Now we are engaged in a great mass of calculations, testing whether the taxpayer or any taxpayer so confused and so impoverished can long endure. We are met on form 1040. We have come to dedicate a large portion of our income to the final resting place with those men who here spend their lives that they may spend our money.

It is altogether anguish and torture that we should do this. But in the legal sense we cannot evade, we cannot cheat, we cannot underestimate this tax. The colectors, clever and sly, who computed here, have gone far beyond our power to add and subtract.

Our creditors will little note nor long remember what we pay here, but the Bureau of Internal Revenue can never forget what we report here. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us — that from these vanquished dollars we were highly resolve that next year will not find us in a higher income tax bracket. (Anonymous)

A topic of universal interest these days, and the subject of a large percentage of service club speeches, concerns the morality (or lack of it) and standards of ethics in public life. Numerous instances, which it will not be necessary to enumerate here, have been uncovered of gross corruption in government. Many other practices which are certainly not moral but are neverthless within the bounds of the law, have been, and continue to be, carried on. The interests of the public which they profess to serve is quite often flouted by public officials in "deals" carried out among themselves or with private citizens.

I don't know, though, why we'er so surprised (or, at least we faked or real) to learn the truth make a show of it — whether about this unhealthy situation. It seems to be me to be a symptom rather than a disease. The roots go much further down. We're placing the emphasis in the wrong place. Let's face it! Before it can expect government officials to be completely aboveboard and honest in everything they do, the American public must adopt a stricter code of ethics for itself.

We must do away with comparable "accepted" practices in business. We must do away with the now-prevalent attitude that government is something to "get all you can out of." The basis for the lack of morality in government lies within the American public.

SLI Breaks La. College Jinx; Down Demons 41-26 In Finale

The Louisiana College jinx failed the Demons as they blew a 19-7 half-time lead to Southwestern at Lafayette, and came out on their usual end of the score, this time 41-26.

Johnny Emmons reeled off 23 yards to set up the first Demon score, with Bobby Davis going over from two yards out in the first quarter.

In the second period Dudley Downing pounced on a fumbled punt returned in Bulldog territory. M. D. Ray passed first to Johnny Buck for 30 yards, and then to Sonny Pharis in the end zone for the second Demon tally.

A minute later, Emmons hauled in another of Ray's pitches and went the rest of 79 yards for a 19-0 lead.

Just before the half-time break the Bulldogs started their scoring as Mixon ran the last three yards.

The Demons added seven more points to take a 26-7 lead in the opening minutes of the third period. Leon Fuller went through the line for 69 yards down to the Southwestern two-yard line and Joe Price Lancaster swept around his left end for the score. Bob Weaver added the extra point.

From then on it was the Bulldogs all the way, as Herron, Ray's closes competitor for GSC passing honors, started connecting. The Bulldogs won it in that same third quarter with three touchdowns and three extra points. They added two more scores in the final quarter while holding the tiring Demons in check the rest of the way.

Night Classes In Electricity Set At Trade School

Beginning yesterday there are several openings at the Natchitoches Trade School for students interested in Electricity.

The class will be conducted on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 until 9 p.m. Leslie Prudhomme is the instructor for the course. For further information, call 2834.

The first winter of the Pilgrim Fathers in America was one of intense hardship and suffering. The fall of 1621, however, brought them an abundant harvest. This assured an ample food supply for the months to come. Such was the setting for the first Thanksgiving. Governor Bradford proclaimed an official day of thanksgiving. A feature of this celebration was a bountiful feast at which one hundred forty persons were served, including ninety Indian guests.

As we celebrate this day in 1951, three hundred thirty years after its founding, may we catch something of the real spirit of that first celebration.

It is our sincere hope that each of you may enjoy to the fullest possible extent, your days with parents and other relatives and friends at home.

And may the celebration of this National Holiday mean much more to you than a vacation from your college work, a reunion with parents, other relatives and friends, a plentiful feast and other pleasures. May it be to you a period of deeper realization of your rich heritage as an American citizen, of those ideals and principles which have made our country great, and of re-dedication to the noble task of perpetuating in your lives the virtues which have ever made man and woman really great.

May the all-powerful hand of the Almighty be with you to guide, direct, and protect you during your absence from the campus.

Sincerely,
H. Lee Prather, President

Longines Symphonette, Dec. 5 Artist Series Presentation

"The World's Most Honored Music as played by the World's Most Distinguished Ensemble," the Longines Symphonette under the direction of Michel Piastro, will be presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium on December 5.

This ensemble, made up of approximately thirty-one members, includes every instrument of a symphony orchestra, but with some of them, notably the strings, smaller in number. It has so developed that the size of the Longines Symphonette is adequate, for every member of the group is a virtuoso, and the smaller number of players actually enhances the enjoyment of its hearers.

The group's specialty is the playing of shorter selection by the greatest composers, as well as many "lighter" pieces. Many people refer to the Symphonette as "the average man's symphony orchestra."

During 1948, the ensemble made its radio debut on the Columbia Broadcasting System and has recently completed its third year cycle over the full CBS network of 166 stations.

The concert here will be one in a ten week tour, which is a result of an insistent demand of the public, which is learning to enjoy "great" music as played by this symphony in miniature.

PRE-LAW STUDENTS

Mr. Cecil Ramey from the Tulane University Law School, who was scheduled to visit this campus at 2 p.m., November 26 to discuss the law curriculum and scholarships available at Tulane, has re-scheduled his visit for Tuesday, November 27 at 8 p.m. to lessen conflict with the holidays. Any student interested in meeting Mr. Ramey should contact Mr. Havard (210 Caldwell) prior to the indicated date.

Active IA Group Makes 2nd Tour Of La. Industry

The Industrial Arts Club of Northwestern State College made a tour of inspection of the Nabors Trailer Company and the Hendrix Manufacturing Company at Mansfield on November 14. This was the Club's second industrial tour of the semester, the first being a trip to the Carey Salt Mines near Winnfield on November 8.

The purpose of these tours is to make a study of the methods of manufacturing and distribution of commercial products. The overall objective is to supplement the students' book knowledge by giving them direct contact with actual industries.

A trip to New Orleans is being planned for the spring semester of 1952. In the past the Industrial Arts Club has made tours of industrial concerns in Baton Rouge, New Orleans, and Shreveport.

New Haven, Conn., (I.P.) — In an experiment aimed at providing two years of liberal education in college prior to national military service, the universities of Chicago, Columbia, Wisconsin, and Yale this autumn will admit 50 male students who will be under the age of 16½ years on September 15, 1951.

We Give Thanks

"At the Thanksgiving season of the year, for as long as the oldest of us can remember, editorial writers, like most other Americans, have tried to count our bountiful blessings and to give thanks to the Supreme Author for all the things we have as indivduals and as a nation. It might illuminate the bright picture of America to look at it, on this Thanksgiving Day . . . in a completely different light and give devout thanks for a lot of things we haven't got.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got an all-powerful little group of men in a fortress palace who have relieved us of the bothersome necessity and right to think for ourselves and act for ourselves.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got now and wide secret police who make certain that we are not disturbed — or anyway that we don't disturb anyone else — by honest doubts and differences of opinion.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got a supreme dialectic — a gospel according to St. Marx — which makes unnecessary our exercise of personal preference and God-given free will in matters ranging from choosing the kind of music we like to choosing the kind of government we like.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got a super-political authority that settles by edict all the intricate and baffling scientific, economic and social questions that vex us and frighten us.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got any salt mines where our politically, illerate or confused may be re-educated efficiently and permanently at trifling public cost.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got the total utopias which millions of people in the Eastern part of the world are enjoying, or else.

Let us give thanks that we haven't got now and — since the Pilgrims came here to a free, rich wilderness — have never had an iron tradition of despot and slave, palace and hovel, and age old hates of class for class.

Let us give thanks and humbly, that we haven't got the almost insurmountable difficulties other peoples have against keeping our country free, and prosperous, and strong."

Red Paint On The Campus

Some high-minded individuals from Southwestern visited our campus early Friday morning and gave the grounds a thorough paint job.

We hold no argument against school spirit. It is in the expression of that spirit that we find fault and the willful damaging of another's property is stretching it a bit too far.

These Facts Pertain To Us

By today every Northwestern State College student will have received through the mail a letter from the Natchitoches Anti-tuberculosis League concerning the fight against this dreaded disease and how that fight is financed — the annual sale of Christmas seals.

It is estimated that approximately five hundred persons in the United States now have active tuberculosis. It is the leading cause of death from disease in all persons between the ages of 15 and 35. TB kills 40,000 persons a year, 100 a day. It strikes 100,000 new victims annually. It robs people of the prime of life and can destroy health even when it does not kill.

Sixty per cent of all Natchitoches Christmas seal proceeds remain right here in the parish where they are raised. This annual sale supplies the funds for the local association in it important fight to control and someday to annihilate TB in the community.

The college student is smack in the midst of the age range which is most effected by tuberculosis and therefore he benefits most from the campaign to eliminate the disease. It is proper, then, that he should shoulder a share of the cost of that fight.

Louisiana has long been notorious as a state in which corrupt politics have been the rule rather than the exception and in which corrupt politicians have been accepted as a matter of fact. However, at least one very encouraging note, in the form of the Public Affairs Research Council, has now been introduced in our state. The organization, organized in March, 1950, is a completely non-partisan, non-political group. Its primary objective is that of informing and representing the Louisiana citizenry as a whole on problems of state government which concern them. The Council has had a phenomenal success, due in large part, no doubt, to the fact that first-class professional research workers were secured to carry on its work. It has received excellent coverage by the newspaper on all the reports it has released; and the radio station, have likewise been very helpful in the dissemination of the information secured by its research. The favorable publicity and general acclaim being given the PAR Council is indeed a bright spot in what has otherwise been a generally dismal political picture.

A recent report released by the Division of Administration indicates that "big government" has definitely come to be a reality in Louisiana. This report shows that, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, the state had a gross income of $361,770,538. This figure is especially revealing when compared with revenue and expenditures of a few other recent years. Only eight years ago, fiscal year 1942-43, the total gross receipts were only about $90,000,000 or ¼ of this total. Total receipts for the years 1946-47 were $262,-500,000 or nearly $100,000,000 less than those of the year just past. In the last four years, then, total revenues have practically tripled.

During the fiscal year 1950-51, $99,000,000 or 29½% of the total expenditure budget was spent for welfare. Contrast this with the $90,000,000 total for all items in the year 1941-43. In 1943, $24,-000,000 or 28% of the budget went for welfare. Even then, many were voicing a concern over the excessive amount being spent on this one item. The following quotation from a Shreveport Times editorial of that year (1943) seems to be, more than ever, applicable today: "With more and more men and women employed than ever before in the nation's history, with money plentiful and wages high, why in the name of common sense should the state be called upon to spend more than one-fourth of all its receipts for charity? If this be necessary in flush times, what may be expected when employment and wages get back to normal?"

Pedestrian Beware! Did you know that in the three months now upon us — November, December and January — the pedestrian death rate is 40 per cent higher than the average for the other nine months? During the spring, summer and fall one pedestrian is killed every 8 hours and 20 minutes. The interval between pedestrian deaths is reduced in the winter months to 6 hours and 20 minutes. The startling increase in deaths is attributable to: (1) dark winter clothing, making the person harder to see; (2) more traffic in hours of darkness; (3) increased holiday travel, shopping, and drinking; and, (4) bad weather, slippery roads, etc. The leading pedestrian actions causing fatal accidents are: (1) crossing between intersections, (2) coming from behind parked cars, (3) crossing at intersections where there is no signal light, and, (4) playing in the roadway. Statistics show that dust is the most dangerous time of the day for travel, both for the pedestrian and the driver. Daytime is the safest and nighttime lies between the two extremes.

Louisiana, in comparison with other states, ranks rather well in the number of traffic deaths per 100,000 people living in the state, with only eight states having lower rates. However, in the number of deaths per 100,000 vehicle-miles traveled, there are thirty-five states with better records, indicating that our traffic death rate based on population is low only because we don't travel as much as the people in most of the other states.

The circus comes to Natchitoches under the direct sponsorship of the Nakatosh Shrine Club, and the advance sale of tickets which the organization has offered is a harbinger of a huge attendance of each performance.

NURSING STUDENTS ENJOY PICNIC

The Shreveport division of NSC Nursing Students enjoyed a weiner roast Thursday night at Ford Park, in Shreveport.

The weiner roast began at 6:30 P.M., with dancing and plenty of food for all.

This party was under the direction of Helen Elrod, recreation chairman of the Student Government Association.

Plans are being made for a student and public dance to be held on the eighteenth of December. Funds received from this dance will be used for paying student activity fees.

BETA BETA BETA

At the weekly meeting of Beta Beta Beta on Thursday, November 8, two students were pledged, Kathern Dhiel and Willie Bumgardner. Arelne Northsworthy and Paxton Willis were in charge of the pledging ceremony.

Beta Beta Beta received a letter from Lorraine Dawson, a nursing student in Shreveport, asking for information about forming a branch of Beta Beta Beta there. Virginia Lockard, secretary, will write the national secretary for information on this matter.

Mavis Pate was elected by acclamation as editor of "Beta Data," the Tri Beta publication.

Since there is only one book in the Tri Beta library, it was decided that the 25 cents collected from persons absent from meetings would be used to purchase books for the library. As an additional method of getting money each member agreed to donate 5 cents at each meeting.

Arlene Northsworthy gave a very interesting speech on Mitochondria.

On Saturday most of the members of Tri Beta and their guests left the campus for Black Lake where everyone enjoyed a wonderful evening of relaxing and talking. Peggy Trichel and her mother served supper to the group.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sig's were treated with a box of candy Tuesday night from Jo Houston who is engaged to Nick Fragala. Nick is a former student of N.S.C. and is now in the Air Force. Marilyn Barnette recently became engaged to Dick Traber of N.S.C.

Thursday, November 15, was the 50th anniversary of Alpha Sigma Alpha. The Alpha Sig's observed this golden anniversary with a special program held at the sorority house at noon Thursday. Alpha Sigma Alpha was founded on N.S.C.'s campus in 1930.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

In a cloud of pink, the rushees of DSE were entertained Tuesday, November 13, at eight o'clock in the private dining room of the Student Center. Many alums and Mrs. David were present as guests.

The room was decorated in misty pink and at the entrance was a tall figure in pink with the works "Pink Lady Fashion Salon." During the evening the girls fashioned clothes ranging from a swim suit to the pink evening dress worn by the Pink Lady, who presented a yellow rose to each of the rushees.

Miss Martha Ann Glass and Rudy Berlin entertained with a rhumba dance. Doke Abraham sang Blue Moon, and Ted Forte sang Rose of DSE.

Food carrying out the pink theme was served.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kap rush party last Friday night, November 16 acclaimed a big success, was enjoyed by the rushees and special guests. The members of Pi Kap also enjoyed the fruits of their hard labor, and decided that it was time, energy and money well spent.

Congratulations go to the eleven girls issued Pi Kap bids and also to the Ki Kap girls on their luck in getting such a fine group of pledges-to-be. The eleven girls that will pledge Pi Kappa Sigma after the Thanksgiving holidays are: Sarah Clark, Betty Conlon, Patsy Rameriz, Millie Middleton, Joan Erickson, Virginia Ann Ball, Sarah Cutrer, Mary Nell Cowgill, Jo Ann Hales, Nel Driscoll, and Nancy Lyles.

These eleven met with the active Pi Kaps at the Pi Kap House on Pi Kap hill Sunday morning and were told who their big sisters were to be. Later everyone went to Doug's Steak House for lunch and then to a movie.

All the Pi Kaps were very happy to see Misses Anne Freeze, Nell Richardson, Pat Leone, Emma Ruth Smith, Jody Brantley, and Sarah Pat Andre, alumnae, and Dee Dee Barmore and Isabel Pearce, nursing students, who all came down for the special activities on Bid Sunday.

Congratulations are also due the Pi Kaps on having a fine program on November 17, Founder's Day.

Four home economic students who participated in the style show held in the Little Theatre of the Fine Arts building last Thursday before a full-house of college co-eds and townspeople. They are Billie Lou Weldon, Mary Gunn, Charlene Ray and Marie Basco.

NSC Cagers Inaugurate Hardwood Season Fri. Night

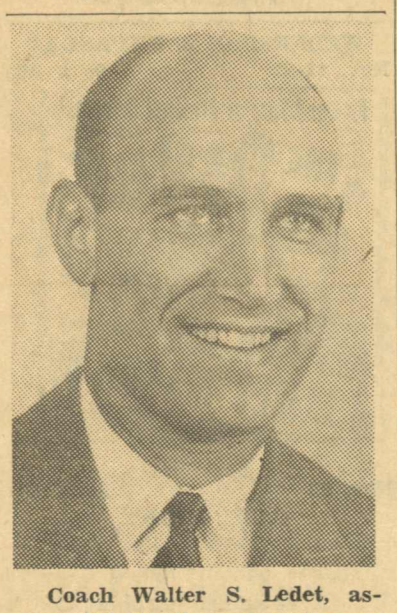

OPEN AGAINST ALEX. AIRMEN MEET SAM HOUSTON TUESDAY

With the helmets and pads of the Demon gridders tucked away in mothballs, the sporting eyes of Northwestern fans no longer look toward the cleated turf of the stadium, but are now focused on the hardwood court where the 1951-52 edition of the purple and white cagers will romp up and down the floor in their opener Friday night against the Alexandria Air Force Base quintet.

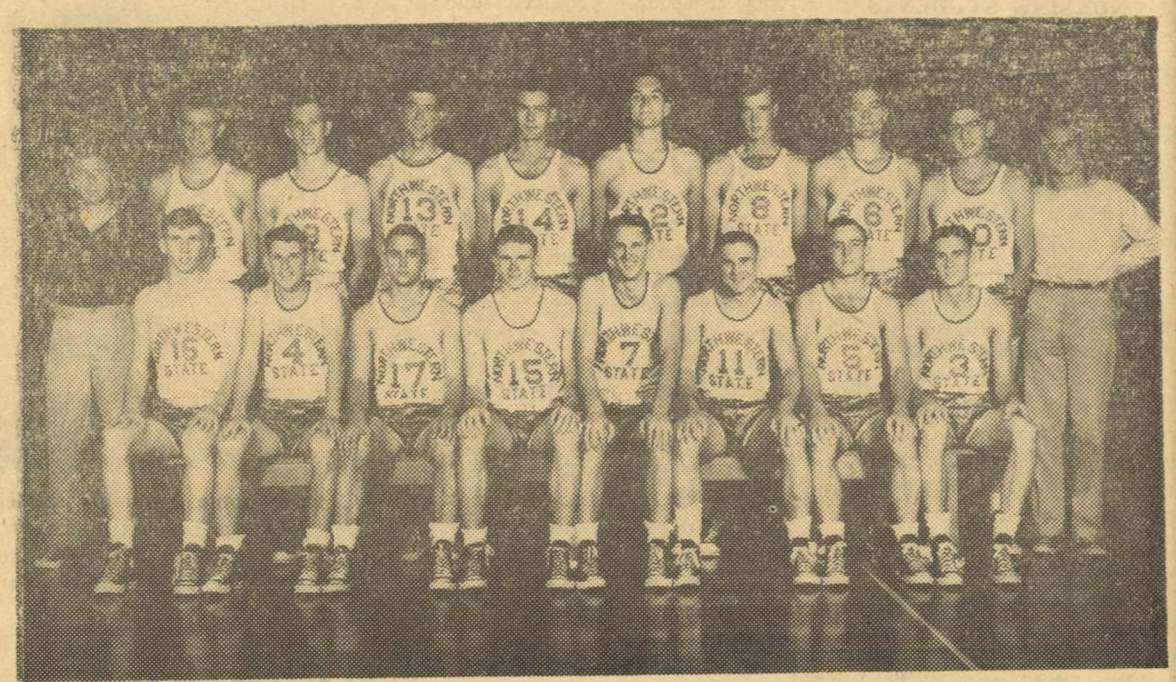

In an attempt to discover his "winningnest" combination, Coach Charles Thomas will experiment with various combinations frequently substituting players and alternating positions. Representing Northwestern at the opening buzz will be Artie Ranew or Tynes Hildebrand at right forward, Murrell Walker in the left forward slot, James Thomas or Laverne Free at center, Jim Yergler holding down the right guard, and Bill Collinsworth or George Davis manuvering from the left guard spot.

Because of the short time in which Coach Thomas has had to explore his wealth of material, first team positions are by no means set. The switching around of new talent is still in seasoning process.

While the squadas a whole is not ready for a top-notch performance, several individuals have demonstrated mid-season ease in inter-squad scrimmages. Leading this list is the man who can spell the difference between a cracker-jack ball club and a mediocre five, Kenneth Shaw, 6'-6" center from Holton, Ind. It is with great eagerness that Coach Thomas awaits Shaw's eligibility to become valid at mid-term. Other brightlights in the array of Demon talent are James Thomas, freshman from Martin, La., Murrell Walker, another frosh who hails from Dry Prong, La., Jim Yergler, a junior from Cissna, Ill., and George Davis, a product of Florien, La.

Demon Grid Fans Brave Weather To Witness Game

Dreary, drab and disappointing was the way it appeared the night of the NSC-Alabama State Teachers' College football game. Pouring rain made many who had planned to have a gala time at the stadium shrink back into their warm, dry dorms to listen to the radio or to read a nice cheery murder mystery. Yet there were a few school-spirited souls who braved the gales and gusts of wind and rain to trudge, soakingly to the football field.

Once there we sat down to shiver, while waiting for the game to begin — but not for long! All of a sudden there was a blast of music. It sounded so out of place, yet so wonderfully warm and inviting that we rushed to discover its source.

Upon reaching the center of the stadium, under the stands, we came upon that terrific NSC band of ours playing for all they were worth.

The grey mood was replaced by a gay mood as the cheerleaders led and we yelled lounder than any yells heard on the campus this year. That was not all! We jitterbugged and sang. Everybody was strictly "in the mood."

This spirit prevailed throughout a good game and we all went home that night with cold feet and warm hearts.

INTRAMURAL SWIM RECORD

The intramural underwater swim record of 221 feet was set by Tom Baize.

Just Rambling

Elvin Lightsey

Larry "Yogi" Berra, stocky New York Yankee catcher was named by the Associated Press as the American League's "Most Valuable Player." The rugged Berra was hard pressed by Ned Garver, a 20 game winner with the last place St. Louis Browns.

Lou Boudreau, in his first move since his announcement as Boston Red Sox manager, says he will not trade Ted Williams for Ned Garver. Who's trying to look good here? Bill Veeck, owner of the Brownies, has made the same statement, only in reverse form. Veeck says he is not interested in selling a sensational 25 year old pitcher for a fading 32 year old outfielder. But who is fading? William's still managed to top the .300 mark by some 25 points and was second only to Gus Zernial in the home run department. Crazy questions — crazy answers.

As this scribe predicted, Maryland and Tennessee are in the Sugar Bowl. Stanford moved a notch closer to the Rose Bowl by thumping Oregon State 35-14. Illinois was thwarted at least another week when a fired up Ohio State Eleven held them to a scoreless deadlock. And as guessed the Southwest Conference entry in the Cotton Bowl is still wide open. Texas knocked TCU into a tie for the lead with Rice. The Longhorns toppled the Texas Christian boys while the Rice Owls turned the tables on the once mighty Texas Aggies. Baylor still holds the dark horse rating with an outside chance of getting in.

For a contrast in scores check this: Illinois 0, Ohio State 0; Little Rock, Arkansas High School 48, Clarksdale, Mississippi High School 45, all in the game of football.

LSU, despite a reputable record of 5-2-1, has not scored over 13 points in a game this season. They have scored only a total of 69 in all eight games, an average of 8.5 points per game.

Our Demons have a season record of 1-8 and averaged 15.5 points per game. Opponents scoring could be the difference. LSU opponents, this far, have mustered only an average of 8.0 points per game, while NSC opponents came through with an average of 34.4 points per game. Crazy game in figures, isn't it?

The Demon frosh basketball squad turned in a fine performance in their opener. The boys knocked off Pleasant Hill, figuratively, the best high school team in this section, by an overwhelming tally of 65-24. It seems Coach "Buddy" Bonnette emptied his bench in an effort to hold the rout down but without avail as the bench jockeys continued to pour them in. Keep it up freshmen!

Senior dash swimmer Bob Vorhees who was elected captain of the 1951-52 Demon swimming team.

WE WANT TO WISH EVERYONE AT N.S.C. A VERY HAPPY . . .

For those who will remain on campus, we will open daily at 3 p.m., except for Thanksgiving Day.

Phi Kaps And Chow Hounds Dominate All-Star Squad

Sigma Tau, Brick Shack, Mustangs Also Place Men On Mythical Roster

Now that the intramural football champs have been crowned and the scene of play is shifting to volleyball, the laurels of the individual player approaches the limelight —the 1951 all-star team.

Garnering three berths apiece on this "honor" team are the Phi Kaps, league pace-setters, and the Chow Hounds, runners-up to the "crowned" frat boys. Sigma Tau captured two positions and the cellar dwelling but game Brick Shackers landed one slot.

Flankers on this mystical team are Red Cook, Chow Hounds' versatile punter and defensive bulwark, and Gil DeRouen of Sigma Tau. Carl Rachal, hard playing defensive spark of the Phi Kaps, along with Charles Wood took over the guard roles. Ned Malfouz, the vital cog in the champion's grid-machine, is planted at center. The backfield composed of members from four different ball clubs is led by Leland Langridge, outstanding aerial artist and field general of Phi Kappa Nu. The other leather-toters are Paul Ryder, Brick Shack, Buddy Bonnette of Sigma Tau, and Artie Worsham from the Chow Hounds.

This roster was selected by vote of the league's referees and umpires.

Robert Vorhees To Captain NSC Swimmers

Robert Voorhees, senior business major from Monroe, Louisiana, was elected captain of the Northwestern State College swimming team for the 1952 season. Letterman Voorhees is a fast sprinter, specializing in the 50-yard and 100-yard dashes.

Distance swimming is the daily order for Coach Piscopo's tankmen. Each afternoon at four o'clock the boy's are put through extensive distance swimming drills to develop endurance, skill and technique.

The demons will travel to Memphis January 9, to meet the Memphis Naval Air Station. The naval tankers will return the visit February 12. Dates of other meets are still pending, but the schedule is expected to be completed within the next two weeks.

CROSS-COUNTRY RECORD

The intramural cross-country record is held by Ernest Howell. The time of 11 minutes and 9.1 seconds was set in 1947.

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday, November 15, at 6:00 p.m., in the faculty room in Caldwell Hall. Don Jones, president of the Student Body, presided. All members were present with the exception of Leland Langridge.

Jones reported that we have been asked to contribute to the prize money for the Homecoming floats. Beryl DeLoach seconded we donate $10.00 to the parade committee for Homecoming to help pay for the prizes for the floats. Beeryl DeLoach seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

Jones suggested that the Freshman class election for freshman senate members be held Thursday, November 29, at 6:00 p.m. in the Fine Arts auditorium. The Council approved this suggestion.

There was considerable discussion concerning whether or not Freshman council and senate members should be given voting power. Cas Moss moved that we make the following recommendation to the Senate: that the representative from the freshman class serving on the Student Council and all freshman senators be given full voting power. Beryl seconded this motion. The motion was defeated by the Council.

Mr. Fulton reported to us that the funds being made available by the administration for the Student Loan Fund are now available.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Campus Views

Do you think the minimum voting age should be lowered from 21 to 18 years of age? This question was posed to NSC students this week in a poll taken to discover student opinion on this significant topic of controversy.

In general, those questioned who were stopped in the Field House, Dining Hall, Library, and on the campus between classes, voiced two main convitions. A large number stated that if 18-year-olds are "old enough to fight; they are old enough to vote." The negative response argued that citizens under 21 are not yet mature enough to weigh the issues wisely.

Cass Moss, a senior business major, stated, "Certainly those required by law to register for selective service and who are so vitally concerned with current policies and practices of the government should have the same voice, same active participation, in the selection of individuals who are to represent them."

A contradictory viewpoint was offered by Ronald Martin, Social studies major, who contended, "Since the establishment of the 12 year high school system in a majority of states, most 18-year-olds are still in high school. Therefore, I believe that they are not yet ready to vote."

"In many individual cases 18-year-olds are capable. However, since this is not general, I believe that 21 should be the minimum age," observed Leland Langridge, junior government major.

An air force clerk-typist from Minnesota, Roy Woodhouse, maintained, "If they are qualified to fight in Korea they should be qualified to vote."

On the other hand, Ralph D. Kelly, air force student airman from Massachusetts, says, "No—they don't know enough about world politics. The only part of the paper they read is the sports sections and the funnies."

Lonnie Bennett, freshman physics major, observed that "on the whole, they don't know the score. However, many 18 year olds are better qualified than those who now have the privilege."

"If they are given the responsibility, I believe that a more active interest in government will result," declared Chuck Castaing.

Rudy Berlin, a senior in education, said, "No — because usually they are still too carefree to realize the significance of the situation, although many over 21 have failed to do so, too."

"Because at the age of 18, a person does not keep up with politics, I thing his mind would be too easily swayed," noted Jimmy Hayes.

"Ronnie Bonial, freshman premed student, stated further, "Their view could be one-sided because they failed to look at all points of the issue."

Don Traber, senior business major, suggested that "all 18 year olds in the service be allowed to vote."

"The high schools at present do not prepare 18 year olds to be capable of voting, although they may in the future. Until then," contends Ben Duhon, "they need the 21 years of experience."

"Nevertheless," concludes Johnny Dickerson, freshman Industrial Arts major, "it is no more dangerous to vote for your political leaders than to fight for your country."

Why An Artist Series Program What Determines Presentations

A person comes to college to get an education, not study in just a single field, but a well-rounded education. That well-rounded education requires courses in English, mathematics, health, social science, science, and other things.

Naturally an upper classman concentrates his study to one field, but his basic years are spent in getting a little knowledge about a whole lot of subjects.

The Artist Series, though not a must for the student and far removed from the core requirement in the college catalog, plays a vital part in the education of the Northwestern student.

The purpose of the program is to provide the best possible cultural and educational entertainment for the students of Northwestern, said Mr. Sherrod Towns, chairman of the Artist Series selection committee.

Mr. Towns stressed that the committee trys to provide the best possible, but is sometimes hampered by the cost required to bring the artists to Northwestern. Within the limit of the appropriations, the selection committee books the best artists, continued Mr. Towns.

"As long as it is known as the Artist Series committee, then we will bring artists here," stated Towns. "When it becomes an Entertainment Committee, then we will bring just anything that is entertaining," stated Towns.

According to Towns, the committee has no particular policies in selecting the artists, but attempts to get persons who will be of the highest possible cultural and educational value — those in the upper bracket of the entertainment world. The idea, said Towns, is to give the students an opportunity to see some really great entertainers.

One difficulty the committee faces is the lack of appropriations to bring the very finest entertainers to Northwestern. The cost is an important matter to consider and many times the committee fails to even consider an artist because of his price tag, even though the artist may be better than the ones eventually chosen.

The Artist Series committee is composed of Sherrod Towns, chairman, L. V. Brittain, A. L. Ducournau, Mrs. Ruby Duncklеman, Miss Irma Stockwell, Paul Torgrimson, Mrs. Melba O'Quinn, Dr. George Walker, Don Carr, and two students chosen by the student council.

The second row has Larue Adams, John Zenter, Val Hill, Jean Lyons, Carol Atkins, Hardy Rose, Bob Adams and Nell Whitten. WORKINGS BEHIND ORCHESTRA NOT FAMILIAR TO STUDENTS

Most students know very little about their own college orchestra. They know that there is one, because every so often it plays for assembly, or they read in the Current Sauce an account of a concert the orchestra gave in "Podunk," or somebody breaks up a bridge game because he has to go to orchestra practice.

But few students know the purposes of the orchestra, what the orchestra is composed of, or even who the members are.

In addition to providing musical entertainment for the audiences, the orchestra is of great importance to the orchestra members. To give the members of the orchestra a better appreciation of orchestral music is one of the main purposes of the orchestra. When the members become teachers they will know more about how to organize and direct an orchestra. Another important purpose of the orchestra is that it teaches the members something of the literature of music.

Music for the orchestral programs is selected, according to Director Hill, on the basis of three questions: (1) Is the music interesting to the members of the orchestra, and will it challenge their musicianship? (2) Is the music of musical worth, or is it good music? (3) Is the music the type than enhances the musical appreciation of the audience, and will the audience enjoy the music?

The NSC orchestra consists of four main sections: string, woodwings, brasses, and percussion instruments. All orchestras emphasize string. Hill believes that string sections are at a low ebb in Louisiana, and that there can be no really fine orchestras until this fault is remedied.

Forty members of the college, faculty, and the town of Natchitoches compose the orchestra. The students members are Robert Adams, Carroll Adkins, Max Walter Burns, David Carson, Jerry Fuller, Glynn Gardnes, Allen Grant, Hasine Kathy, Thomas Latham, Byron McCain, Frank Pasqua, Bennie Ray, Hardy Rose, Gordon Young, John Zenter, Larue Adams, Eona Adams, June Brewer, Barbara Brittain, Jean Lyons, Marjorie Norsworthy, Octavia Sandlin, Evelyn Smith, Earline Usery, Mary Ann Walton, and Nell Whitten. Some of these are orchestra and band majors and take orchestra as a music course.

The orchestral season at Northwestern began when the group, under the direction of Val Hill, made its first appearance in the presentation of a pop concert, Wednesday, November 14, in the Fine Arts auditorium. Plans for the remainder of the season are still indefinite. The orchestra will make two road trips, and tentative plans call for the orchestra to play for assembly, December 15. In addition to playing the regular concerts for the elementary and high school, the orchestra will furnish the music for the "Messiah" on December 12. In the spring the orchestra will play for a musical production, probably an operetta.

Thanksgiving Through the Years

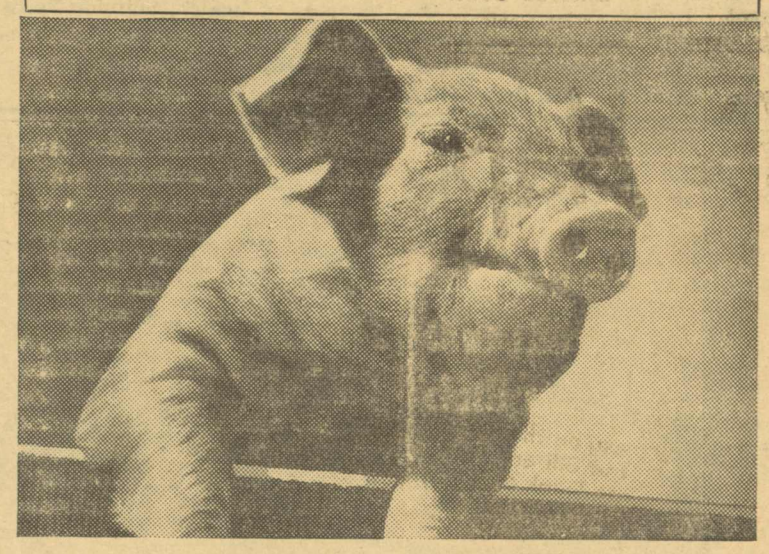

In the United States and Canada, Thanksgiving Day is set aside as a day of prayer for blessings received during the year. The first Thanksgivings were harvest festivals or days for thanking God for good crops. For this reason we observe the holiday in late fall after the crops have been gathered. The custom probably grew out of the harvest-home celebrations of England.

The first American Thanksgiving Day was celebrated during the second winter which the Plymouth colonist spent in the New World. Half of the colonists had been killed the first winter and none of their crops had survived. Then, after the summer of 1621, when a new hope for survival was kindled and the fall harvest brought good times again, Governor William Bradford set aside December 13, 1621, as a day of prayer and feasting to show the gratitude of the colonists.

Today, we think of Thanksgiving as a family day when people travel hundreds of miles to have a big dinner with their parents. The very mention of the holiday often calls up memories of old farm house kitchens and pantries crowded with good things to eat. However, it is not only a day for feasting, but also a time for serious religious thinking, church services and personal prayer.

Library Meet Here on Campus November 16

The third annual Librarian for a Day program sponsored by the Louisiana Library Association recruitment committee was held on the Northwestern State College campus Friday, November 16.

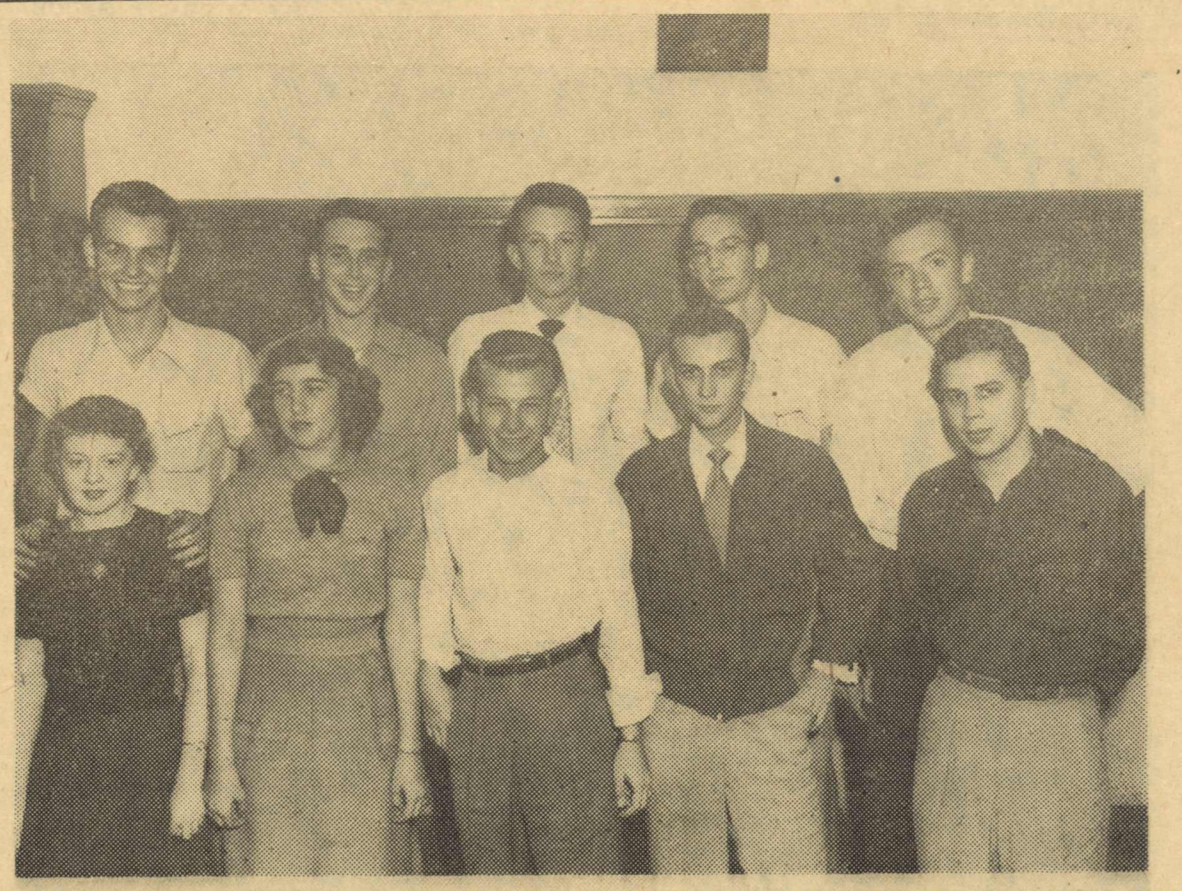

Representatives from St. Mary's Academy, Campti, Flora, Natchitoches and Cypress high schools were present.

The day's activities began at 9 a.m. with registration followed by a general assembly in the Natchitoches High School Auditorium with Patsy Eason, member of the Alpha Beta Alpha, national librarian fraternity, presiding.

At this time the visitors received a welcome to the campus from Mr. Eugene Watson, NSC librarian. Brief speeches were made by the government documents librarian of NSC, Mrs. Ora B. Williams, on librarianship as a career in colleges and universities. The Natchitoches Parish Librarian, Miss Eloise Brock, spoke on public and parish librarians; Natchitoches High School Librarian, Mrs. Agnes Clark, on School libraries; and Dean of the School of Education of NSC, Dr. John B. Robson, on employment opportunities.

The Librarians for a Day spent from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on an orientation tour and working in the libraries participating in the program. From 11:50 until 12:40 the prospective librarians were luncheon guests of Alpha Beta Alpha. Then from 1:00 until 3:00 p.m. the work was completed in the various libraries.

Waco, Tex., (I.P.) — Baylor University is offering for young women students this fall what is believed to be the nation's first collegiate course in "human relations." President W. R. Natchitoches Ushers In Yuletide Season; 25,000 People Witness Parade, Fireworks

About 10,000 people lined the main streets of Natchitoches last Saturday afternoon to witness the annual "Christmas Festival" parade. That evening a crowd of 25,000 were awed by the gigantic fireworks display on the lake front which was climaxed by the first turning on of the famed Natchitoches Christmas light decorations. In the upper left corner is the "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" float built by Dr. and Mrs. John Kyser. In the upper right corner is the Natchitoches Trade School's "Jingle Bells" suggested by Mrs. A. G. Lawton. We see the college ROTC unit in the lower slot.

Natchitoches welcomed an estimated 25,000 visitors and spectators Saturday night who were present to witness the city's famed Christmas lights which were turned on after an elaborate fireworks display.

The first event of the annual Christmas festival began at 2:30 Saturday afternoon with a parade depicting Christmas in song and story. Approximately 10,000 persons were present for the parade.

At 4:00 the Natchitoches Trade School held open house and at 5:00 students from six parishes sang Christmas carols at the Natchitoches High School.

Saturday's program ushered in nearly three weeks of programs, including an old time song fest Sunday afternoon; bus trips to historic Melrose Plantation on Cane River Lake on December 4 and December 11; a street square dance December 11, and "The Messiah" at Northwestern State College on December 12.

The floats in the Christmas Festival Parade were designed by local artists and built by the civic clubs of Natchitoches. The theme of the Parade was "Christmas in Song and Story." The title float was designed by Miss Suzette Unter and built by the Lions Club with Dr. Walter Robinson as chairman.

Besides these artistic floats the ROTC, the Demonettes, the College Band, and the Cadet Air Corps of Northwestern State College participated. Other groups in the parade were the National Guards of this area, the local Boy Scouts, the Natchitoches High School Band, and bands from neighboring high schools.

Special features were a group of fifty rhythm baton twirlers from the Gracie's Dancing School of Alexandria, and the Royal Clipperettes of Sulphur High School who have won fame in Southwestern Louisiana for their drum corps and rythm marching. The 317 Tank Battalion of Camp Polk also participated in the parade.

Dance Committee Inaugurates Sale Of Tickets Today

Tickets for the annual Potpourri Ball, which is to be held December 18, will go on sale today. They will cost $3.66 for couples and $2.44 for stags. At the Student Council meeting on November 1, it was decided that there would be no corsages at the dance. It will begin at 8:30 and will last until 12:09 and will be interrupted only by a half-hour intermission.

Johnny Long and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Originally from North Carolina, Johnny Long has a rare talent for playing the violin with his left hand. Among his popular recordings are "A Shanty in Old Shanty Town," "Dixie," "Sweet Sue," "Sunny Side of the Street," and "Silver Dollar," which he made famous.

LIBRARY
NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE

We Can Use The Money

We haven't discovered the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, but we do know how and where the student-body can increase its treasury without an increase in the registration fee.

Our Student Center cafeteria is operating at a loss. If and when it can show a profit, the college is ready to turn its management over to the students, the profits to go into the general student-body fund.

In an effort to do more business, the cafeteria has increased its schedule of serving hours. The quality of food is equal to that served in a public restaurant and the cost is usually less.

It's something to consider. We make the cafeteria a "going proposition," we reap the profits. Then maybe that "name band" won't carry so high a price tag per student and we can have more of them.

Same Old Story . . . .

The freshmen class meeting held last evening in the Fine Arts auditorium to elect that group's representatives to the Student Senate was another in the long line of poor exhibitions of student interest in student-body government on this campus.

Fifty-two of the 579 freshmen enrolled here at Northwestern had enough class pride to attend and elect those candidates whom they thought were best qualified to represent their interests in the senate.

It wasn't merely a poor turn-out. It was lack of interest all the way down the line. There was no pre-election campaigning and very little publicity. One was scarcely aware that there was an election.

Where does the blame lie? At whom can the accusing finger be pointed? It was the duty of the Student Council to "talk the election up." They were well-aware — last spring when they were elected — that interest in campus government was dormant. Their main objective, this year, should have been to keep alive any spark of school spirit which the freshmen might have carried over from their high school days. It was the responsibility of the entire class of '55 to elect those best qualified from their ranks. After all, it is their voice in the school government.

If, however, from this poor showing, the group elected is moved to work against this lack of school unity, the election can claim some measure of success.

In Passing...

Our opinion of Senator Joe Macarthy of Wisconson has already been expressed but we feel that the latest development in "the Macarthy Affair" is worthy of comment. It adds to the already great pile of evidence that Macarthy is not trying to do his country any service; nor is he concienteously looking for Communists in government and trying to expose them. Rather, his aim is to discredit all his enemies and gain for himself political prestige and power, and he is unscrupulous enough to resort to any means to accomplish this end.

Macarthy is, perhaps, the quickest person the Senate has ever known to attack other government officials. Yet, in a responsible investigation of any charges, he or someone else may have made, he is notably conspicuous for his absence. About two years ago, Mr. Macarthy made the statement that he had definite proof that 105 persons in the State Department were Communists. If this were true, the proper thing to have done would certainly have been to have turned it over at that time to the propert authorities so that the persons intimidated could have been discharged, and formal charges brought against them if possible.

A few weeks ago, former Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland challenged Senator Macarthy on this count. He offered Macarthy $5,000 if he would produce evidence for a Grand Jury on any one of these 105 persons that he claims to have proof on. Macarthy failed to make any response whatsoever to this challenge. After a reasonable length of time had elapsed, Mr. Tydings, in a defiant and bitterly sarcastic tone, reiterated his challange, doubling the reward offered. As of this writing, Senator Macarthy has yet to give an answer of any sort.

It has been our contention that standards of ethics in government are largely taken from those prevalent in the business world. The following story concerning ethics in business is amusing, but the underlying implications may be rather serious.

It seems that the Better Business Bureau was putting on an "ethics in business" clinic and the program had reached the question - and - answer stage. A middle-aged man, who looked just a little on the dull side, stood up and posed a question: "I'm in business with a partner, but he is out to lunch. A customer comes in and, in paying for his purchases, accidentally drops a hundred dollar bill on the floor. He takes his purchases and leaves. Now here is my question: 'Should I tell my partner about the hundred dollar bill?' "

Some Startling Statistics

(The following figures were condensed from statistics compiled and released by the National Association of Tobacco Distributors)

1,290,000 lbs. of tobacco are consumed in the United States yearly.

Over 1,000,000,000 cigarettes per day are smoked in the U. S.

Cigarette consumption has doubled in the last decade.

$6,000,000,000 per year is spent in the United States on cigarettes. Nearly this much is spent on the various other forms in which tobacco is used.

Approximately $500,000,000 yearly is spent on book matches.

85 per cent of all homes have at least one smoker.

Every year the Federal government alone collects $1,500,000,000 in cigarette taxes.

The average male smokes 7½ packs of cigarettes per week; the average woman smoker, 5.

If the average smoker would save and invest only the money he spends on tobacco, he could retire at 65 on a $100 per month pension for life.

(What with the ever-increasing number of nicotine slaves and the new Federal tobacco tax, it appears that the present trend is going to continue, with more and more "going up in smoke.")

Well, the Thanksgiving season is over, but we feel this thought worthy of being passed on. An almost infinite list of things which we of today have to be thankful for could be named. Modern inventions and technology have revolutionized our lives, making it possible for even the poorest to have some time for recreation and leisure activities. Of all these material blessings, however, there is probably one thing which stands out above all others in the eyes of the women of today. That is the washing machine. It has literally saved the backs of countless numbers of them. Today's youngster might be equally thankful for the safety razor blade, as it has done the same thing for him.

Nat. Organizations Offer Fellowships

The National Academy of Sciences — National Research council has announced several large national fellowship programs for the academic year 1952-53. The Academy, organized at the request of Abraham Lincoln to advise the government on matters scientific, with the Council its operating agency, initiated the first national program of fellowships over 30 years ago. Since then many other nation-wide programs have been added. Fellowship programs now offered are sponsored by the National Science Foundation, Merck and Company, Inc., the Lilly Research Laboratories, the Radio Corporation of America, Rockefeller Foundation, the National Tuberculosis Association, and the American Cancer Society.

Applications for fellowships are evaluated by boards appointed by the National Research Council. There are fellowships in the agricultural, biological, engineering, mathematical, medical, and physical sciences at both the predoctoral and postdoctoral level.

A large national program of predoctoral fellowship sponsored by the National Science Foundation is offered for the first time. These fellowships are open to anyone eligible to begin or continue graduate study during the 1952-53 acedemic year. The aim of these awards is to promote the progress of science by offering opportunities for further study to large numbers of students of outstanding ability in the sciences who might not otherwise be able to fulfill their desires for advanced training. The tenure of a fellowship is for one year and can be arranged to begin at any time after July 1, 1952, but must not be later than the beginning of the academic year of the institution of the Fellow's choice. Senior science majors are specially urged to apply. Applicants for these fellowships will be required to take a Fellowship Record Examination which will be administered at approximately 175 selected centers throughout the United States on January 18, 1952. Stipends will range from $14,00 to $1,600 plus tuition and laboratory fees. In certain cases grants will be made for dependents. Applications for fellowships for the academic year 1952-53 must be received in the Fellowship Office of the National Research Council by January 7, 1952.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The Tri Sigs pledged Sue Bellow to their group Tuesday night. All the pledges have been very enthusiastic in performing duties and seem to be glad to be Tri Sigs.

The Tri Sigs were busy last week-end selling popcorn balls to the townspeople during the Christmas fireworks. They also had a slumber party Saturday night and their monthly charm school Sunday afternoon.

The representative to Sigma Tau's "White Rose" Ball reports that it was very nice.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

Delta Sigma Epsilon received twelve new girls Sunday who were Mary Gunn, Nancy McLellan, Chick Babbert, Joan Marshall, Dixie Daniels, Barbara Brittain, Barbara Robinette, Ann Gillespie, Billie Mason, Clara Landry, Joy Wells, and Nelda Jenkins.

In celebration the girls had breakfast in a group at the home of Mrs. Horton, attended church, and then enjoyed a delicious dinner at Doug's Steak House.

Monday night the rushees were pledged at a ceremony in the DSE room.

At the first pledge meeting the group selected Chick Gabbert, president; Nancy McLellan, vice-president; Mary Gunn, secretary, and Joy Wells, treasurer. Julie McBroom, Davis, Mai Abbington, Essie Gabbert, and Marguerite Durham were DSE visitors at the meeting.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps held formal pledging for Sarah Clark, Joan Erickson, Patsy Ramerez, Marinel Cowgill, Sarah Gutrer, Virginia "Whitey" Ball, Millie Middleton, Betty Conlan, Jo Ann Hales, and Nancy Lyles Wednesday night.

The basketball team started off with a bang this year defeating Kate Chopin 34-8. Beth Johnson was high point player with Sarah Cook and Bettye Roberts netting their share of points.

The lights burned late Saturday night at the Pi Kap house when the pledges took charge of a slumber party. Actives and pledges attended the Christmas lighting in a group and then returned to the Hill for a riotous night of fun.

Miss Nicoll, Pi Kapp sponsor, is back with the troup after a short absence.

The Pi Kaps offer their deepest sympathy to Patsy Winkler, whose sister passed away last Wednesday.

BETA BETA BETA

At the weekly meeting of Beta Beta Beta Mary Jo Brosset gave a report on "Factors in Ageing" taken from a report written by Dr. E. V. Cowdry for "Scientific Monthly."

Mr. Combs brought to the attention of the group a letter he had received from the national secretary concerning whether or not a higher scholastic average should be required before entering Tri Beta. More information must be obtained before a decision can be reached.

Initiation of the new member, Willie Bumgardner, has been postponed until Novmber 29.

A motion was made and carried that a note of thanks be written to Mrs. Trichel for her help with the Beta picnic.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

The Theta Sigs have good reasons for those smiles they are wearing these days. For one thing they have two new patronesses, Miss Mary Esther Robinson, new home economics teacher here at Northwestern, and Mrs. Dorlyn Luse. Another reason for all that happiness is the six new pledges which they have. They are Clara Sue Baggarly, Janice Andress, Dorothy Carnahan, Margaret Mesman, Patricia Hankins, and Marcia Douzat.

Wedding bells rang during the summer for Peggy Taylor Langley and Evelyn Musselwhite Smith. This could have something to do with their happiness. Of course every Theta is proud for them.

Still a fourth reason is that Kappa chapter has just been made a member of the national Pan Hellenic Council.

Congratulations to Barbara Rainey for being chosen Theta Girl of the local chapter.

Sigma Tau Gama, local social fraternity, ushered in the social season here at Northwestern with their annual "Rose Ball" last Saturday night. Miss Mary Nell Cowgill was presented as the "Rose of Sigma Tau" by fraternity president, Myron Russel.

AWS Sponsors Christmas at Home Sunday, Dec. 9

The Associated Women Students at Northwestern State College will sponsor their annual "Christmas At Home," Sunday December 9 from three until five p.m. in the drawing room of Varnado Hall. This annual event will feature dolls dressed in costumes made by girls in Varnado Hall. The other women dormitories will have displays of dolls depicting different Christmas scenes. Later the dolls will be donated to an orphanage or polio center.

All college students, members of the faculty and staff and townspeople are invited to attend "Christmas at Home" and enjoy refreshments served by the Associated Women Students.

Baptist Students' Decorating Party Friday, Dec. 7

The Baptist Student Union will hold its annual "decorating party," Friday December 7 at 7:30 p.m. The entire BSU room will be converted into a "Christmas wonderland" with pine, holly, snow, and misletoe. Good St. Nick himself may even drop in on the BSU'ers to get them in the holiday spirit for Christmas time.

After everyone has decorated to his satisfaction, refreshments will be served to the enthusiastic workers, and Miss Gullege has promised them some of her famous fruit cake. Ladye Jane White, social chairman, will be in charge of the games that will follow refreshment time.

Speech Dept. Class Begins Broadcasts

The radio broadcasting activities of the NSC radio students began this week under the direction of Don Carr, speech professor at Northwestern State College.

The students enrolled in radio classes have begun a series of weekly and daily programs which will be broadcast over KWCJ, the local Natchitoches radio station.

During the past few months, a program called "This Is the Air Force" has been presented each Wednesday night from 6:45 to 7:00. The program featured vocal and instrumental musical selections by members of the Air Force group on the NSC campus. This program will be continued under the direction of the radio students. Also on Wednesday nights, the Demonaires, student dance band, will present weekly musical programs, especially dance music and swing, from 7:30 to 7:45.

The daily programs to be presented by the radio students will be a program of Children's Stories, broadcast from 5:15 to 5:30 p.m.

Thursday nights will feature a campus newscast from 6:45 to 6:55, which was held for the first time this year last Thursday night. The 10 minute program offers news of campus activities, political and social, along with sports.

Two years ago the radio students of NSC became well-known for a series of radio drama programs in which the students dramatized such stories as "The Cask of Amontillado" and "Lygia" by Edgar Allen Poe. These programs will be resumed in the near future.

Poughkeepie, N. Demon Cagers Edge Lamar Tech 62-60 In Fourth Win

Slipping by the Lamar Tech Bulldogs by the slim margin of 2 points, the Northwestern State College cagers racked up their fourth consecutive win of the young season last night 62-60.

The first half saw a fast and furious ballgame with both sides hitting the net consistantly. At the end of the first quarter, the Demons were trailing 21-19, but pushed out in front in the early seconds of the second frame on the weight of a "sinker" by Artie Ranew.

Throughout the second stanza, the score board showed never more than a three point advantage to either team. When the half-time whistle blew, the Purple and White was out in front 36-35.

Going into the third quarter the Texas hoopsters eased into lead behind the shooting of Claude Gilson and Vernon Willis.

The stands hadn't had time to settle down to the final period when goals by Sammie Booras, Ranew and James Thomas whittled the visitors lead to a mere one point. Booras snatched the ball from the Techsters and drove in for a lay-up, giving the Demons the lead. A few seconds later, Marvin Willis knotted the count when he dumped in a free throw. Another Willis, Nernon, gave the visitors the lead with a two-pointer.

With five minutes remaining Thomas slipped one through the net to tie the score 59-59. In the heated action following a double foul occured between Thomas and James Galliher. Both made good on their bonus throws. Ranew sunk another free throw to give his side the lead and Booras iced the contest with still another one-pointer.

For three minutes the Lamar team tried desperately to tie the score,' but the price of baskets had suddenly skyrocked in the last few moments. The final score read: Northwestern 62, Lamar Tech 60.

Aquatic Log

The NSC Aquatic Club is beginning to take it's place among the organization on the campus.

At the regular meeting Monday, November 12, officers for the coming year were elected. Robert Justiss, President; Dorothy Hewitt, Vice-President, and Peggy Trichel, Secretary-Treasurer.

The new members, Joan Evans, Frances McLain, Jene Pugh, Rene Pugh, Freddie Jones, Lyria Lawrence, Mike Torrans and Gerald Furr, were welcomed into the club Monday night. Robert Justiss acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. The program consisted of the initiation of the new members, various races such as candle race, and cracker race which the whole group participated in. Clown diving was also a main event on the program. Several of the old members gave a demonstration on various stunts the club is now working on.

After the swimming the group gathered in the business room at which time each new member was presented a certificate and a constitution of the club. Refreshments were served to the group.

The club has been extended an invitation to attend and participate in an intercollegiate swimming symposium at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri on December 15. There will be swimming exhibitions by the students of various colleges invited and a clinic in synchronized swimming.

Charles Thomas In Second Year As Cage Mentor

Northwestern State College's basketball coach, Charles "Red" Thomas, is beginning his second year as Demon cage mentor.

Last season Coach Thomas stepped into some mighty big shoes when he succeeded H. Lee Prather, who moved up to the school presidency after coaching Demon quintets for 38 years. There seems no doubt but that "Red" Thomas can fill those shoes well.

Thomas is a graduate of Northwestern State, class of '41, and during his years of hardboard romping on the Demon campus, was one of the flashiest cagers ever to tread basketball floors in this part of the country.

He was selected as most valuable player in the N.A.I.B. tournament at Kansas City in March, 1941. The same year he made the N.A.I.B. All-American team.

After graduating from NSC he coached at Bastorp High School. In 1950 he returned to Northwestern as head basketball coach.

If the Demon basketeers of '51-'52 show speed, accuracy, stamina, cool judegment and a fighting spirit, they will only be following in the footsteps of Charles Thomas.

Demons Triumph In First 3 Games

The Demon cagers made a clean sweep of three early season games. They opened their home season with a decisive 81-39 victory over the Alexandria Air Base team. Sam Houston State Teachers' College fell by the wayside 76-62 and the Alexandria Flyers took another whipping 62-37, this time at Alexandria, La.

Video Demands Comfort

Since the advent of television, the sales of slipcovered mattresses and springs-on-legs for living room use have increased. It seems that people enjoy the programs much more while comfortably stretched out on a good bed.

In their first outing before the college crowd, the Demon cagers whittled down the Sam Houston State Teachers 76-62. Here George Davis and Artie Ranew tussle with Jimmy Carter of the Bearcats for possession of the ball. Awaiting the outcome are Larry de Zavala (46) Murrel Walker and Lloyd Spec (47). Bill Collinsworth is coming up fast.

Just Rambling

Johnny "Hound" McConathy, a Demon product is making himself known in the pro ranks. Johnny was traded recently from Syracuse to Milwaukee. "Big John" scored 18 points against George Mikan and his Minneapolis Lakers in a recent game.

McConathy, who graduated from NSC last spring, made All Gulf States Conference last season. He led the conference in scoring and averaged a total of 21.5 points per game for 27 games.

Johnny then received honorable mention on the Helms Foundation little All-American squad. He was the number one draft choice of several of the professional teams. Syracuse received first opportunity at him and signed him. Thence they sold him to Milwaukee.

Johnny is not the first NSC grad to join the pro ranks. He is preceeded by Ocie Ritchie and Charles "Red" Thomas, the Demon diminutive basketball mentor.

With basketball moving to the fore, the football is about to be put in moth balls for another season. The exceptions, of course, are those clubs participating in bowl games. The major bowl bids have been accepted and the teams are ready for New Year's Day. I am going out on a limb and guess at their outcomes.

In the daddy of all bowls, the Rose Bowl, a rookie coach will break the Midwest jinx, Stanford 21 — Illinois 13. Down in New Orleans, in perhaps the "game of the year," 'Mighty Mo' Modzewleski and the Terrapins are too much for Lauricella and the Vols in the Sugar Bowl, Maryland 20, Tennessee 7.

Miami's Orange Bowl will be another passing duel, too much Isbell, Baylor 27 — Ga. Tech 14. The Cotton Bowl will see the "Babe," Vito Parilli, close out a brilliant college career by topping the Horned Frogs, Kentucky 33—Texas Christian 13.

In the Gator Bowl, Clemson should squeeze past the upset-minded Miami Hurricanes, Clemson 14 — Miami 13. The East should continue their domination of the West in the annual Shrine game, East 27 — West 7.

In passing, Dick Kazamier, brilliant Princeton tailback and everyone's All-American, was named United Press's "Back of Year."

NOTICE

Intramural swimming will begin Thursday, December 7, at 7:30 p.m. All entries must be in by December 7.

Entry blanks may be picked up at the intramural office, Coach Thomas's office or Coach Piscopo's office.

Hollywood Group To Appear Here December 6

George Murphy will head the group of Hollywood actors and movie workers scheduled to appear here on Thursday, Dec. 6 at 4:30 p.m. as part of the celebration of the movies' fiftieth anniversary. The group will pay Natchitoches a thirty-minute visit, as part of the celebration, which is named Movietime in Dixie, USA.

With their appearance sponsored by the Don, the Cane, and the Chief Theatres, these actors will be in the party: Mr. Murphy, Jess White, and Margaret Sheridan; Producer Robert Fellows and Director Fred De Cordova will be with them.

The appearance is scheduled for the lakefront, but in the event of bad weather they will be seen at the Fine Arts Auditorium at Northwestern State College. They will be greeted by the theater managers, Vallery Clark of the Don, W. R. Younger of the Chief, and Chester Cannon of the Cane, and Chamber of Commerc Secretary Woody Forrester, who is chairman of the welcoming committee.

"We want everybody in Natchitoches to join with us in welcoming these distinguished visitors," said the Theater managers, who stressed that there would not be any personal appearances at any place other than the brief stop-over. "To unite all elements of the motion picture industry with the American public in a nation-wide observance of the Golden Jubilee of the American movie theatre, we invite all our citizens to participate."

College Park, Md., (I.P.) — As college students progress in scholastic standing, they apparently reverse their attitudes toward religion, as indicated by a survey conducted by Milton D. Havron of the University of Maryland's psychology department.

In presenting the problem of the federal government and education, the panel members based their discussion largely upon the education section of the Hoover Commission report, and the accompanying task force report. The discussion brought out several plans for the the re-organization of the departments handling various federal aids to education.

Dramatics Group Cancels "Ghosts"

The Northwestern State College production of "Ghosts," by Henrik Ibsen, scheduled to be presented December 3 and 4, will not be produced this semester, according to Don Carr, director of drama activities at Northwestern.

The cancellation came as a result of the director's illness and the abundance of activities scheduled for the Fine Arts auditorium and Little Theatre. Mr. Carr announced that "we just don't have time to rehearse . . . "

All drama activities of the semester have been postponed, but the department will produce a musical in the spring. Musicals which have been presented in the past are "Oh, Susannah!" and "The College Widow." Both received wide acclaim from campus critics.

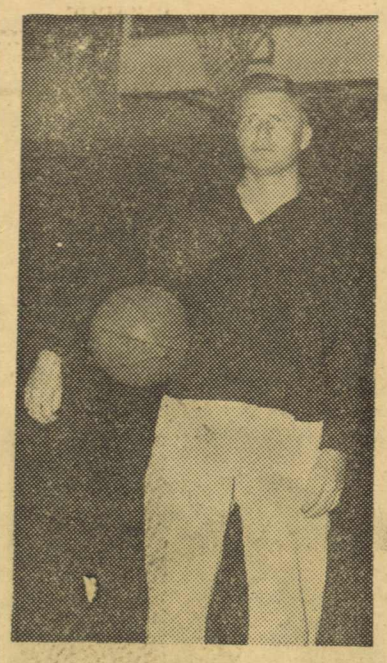

All Potpourri reprints will be ready for delivery Wednesday, December 12, at Uhrbach's Studio, 624 Second Street.

Magazine Article Features Views Of NSC Librarian

An article by Dr. Eugene P. Watson, librarian of Northwestern State College, appeared in the April issue of "College and Research Libraries" affirming the fact that library facilities for normal schools are essential.

In his discussion entitled, "Special Functions of the Teachers College Libraries," Dr. Watson is concerned primarily with the fact the function of the library of the teacher's college is twofold in that it not only serves as an arts college but must provide special service to the college department of education in its work of training teachers.

Among the special services would be a separate library for every demonstration school in which trained young people would be in charge. The offering of courses in library science, which is necessary instruction for would be teachers, would be a special service. Along with services to alumni and graduate students are the providing of books and the maintaining of text book exhibits as evidences of special service, which Dr. Watson deemed necessary for the model teacher training library.

Overhaul Overdue

In 1935 the present system of heating for the campus of Northwestern State was installed. Because of the process of building and installing the line, the underground pipes were in pretty bad condition in 1944. In 1949, the State Board of Education approved a renovation of the entire utility system of the college, but failed to appropriate funds for the project.

The board contracted the V. J. Bedell Engineering Company from New Orleans to come to Northwestern and make a survey. Members of the firm worked with Mr. Ed Brown, who is in charge of the college power plant, and then presented their report containing three recommendations to the State Board. The board approved one of the recommendations, which called for rebuilding certain portions of the system, repairing other parts, and putting in a generating unit at the power plant.

A new gas generating unit would have cost approximately $100,000.00, but fortunately one was obtained from a government surplus supply for about 5 per cent of the original cost. When the unit was installed last April, the total cost was $40,000.00, as compared to the original estimate of a total outlay of $246,000.00

Meanwhile nothing has been done toward furnishing funds to put in the new heating system and lines. Recently, however, sections of the lines heating four of the buildings gave way, and had to be replaced. A temporary job was done, and Mr. Brown reports that tentative plans are being made to rework the whole section of lines between the science building and Caldwell Hall. Mr. Brown stated that approximately one third of the material needed to do the job is on hand, and $10,000.00 more is needed for the project. He does expect, however, to have in a new steam line by next winter.

Ada, Okla. Meet Opened Season For NSC Debaters

Sixteen Co-eds To Be Chosen '52 Beauties

Albert R. Manning, portrait artist from Mansfield, La., will be on the campus the latter part of this week to pick the beauties for the 1952 Potpourri from a group of fifty girls.

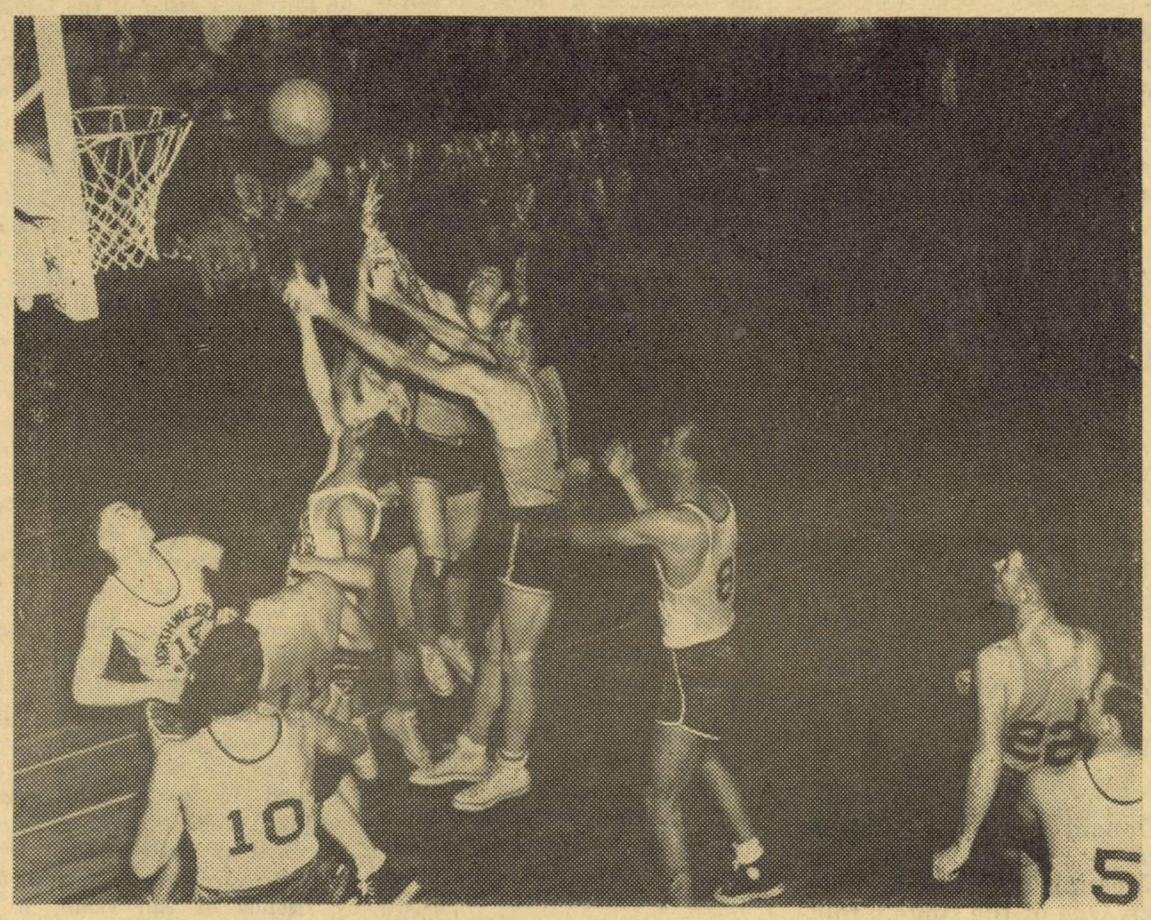

These co-eds were nominated two weeks ago by various organizations on the campus, such as the Student Council, Student Senate, Publications, Inter-dormitory Council, Vet's Town Council, and the fraternities. Each organization nominated 15 girls and only one nomination was required for any one candidate. Many of the girls received overlapping nominations. This accounts for the small number of candidates.

Mr. Manning will meet personally with the girls and will choose 16 of them to be the Potpourri beauties of 1952.

The top beauties will be ranked in order. These will not, however, be known until the Potpourri comes out.

Demons Scalp Northeastern Indians 82-58
Artie Ranew Paces Victors With 21 Points

Back in their own backyard, the Demons racked up their fifth win of the season, massacring the Northeast State Indians 82-58. Everyone got into this picture under the basket. Waple Lilley tangles with two unidentified and a third, Robert Bennett, Indians. Tynes Hildebrand and Jim Yergler have Brave Arlon Adams well-guarded. Artie Ranew is awaiting the outcome of the action while Bill Collinsworth keeps a check on James Shively.

Returning to their home court after dropping three straight road games, the Demon basketball team bounced back into the win column here Saturday night by tripping the Northeast State cagers from Monroe, 82-58.

One and one-half minutes of the ballgame elapsed before either side tallied a point. And it was the Demons who struck first with George Davis sinking two points. From here the home team built up a 12-0 advantage chiefly behind the shooting of Artie Ranew who bucketed five of the twelve points.

After four minutes of play the Northeast State lads finally found the range and Glen Robinson pushed one through the hoop to start their team scoring. The "pop" shots of Ranew, Hildebrand and Yergler countered this attack and the Purple and White led at the end of the first period by a 24-11 margin.

This 13 point lead was sliced in half in the opening moments of the second quarter. Robert Bennett, Arlon Adams and Bob Carter netted three quick baskets for the opponents. James Thomas put the quencher on this sudden rally with a seven point outspurt of his own. This barrage, added to the six points contributed by Ranew and the five tallied by Lilley overshadowed the eight point effort of Adams to put his team within reach of the Demons before the half. At the half, the score board read: Demons 44, Indians, 25.

James Shively opened up the second half scoring with a two-pointer for the Braves. Lilley dumped one and Hildebrand and Ranew contributed three points apiece to set the score at 52-27.

Film Star Unit In Natchitoches On December 6

George Murphy headed the group of Hollywood actors, who appeared here last Thursday at 4:30 a.m. on the lakefront, as part of the celebration of the movies' fiftieth anniversary, which has been named Movietime in Dixie, U.S.A. The purpose of this tour is to acquaint the movie-goers more closely with the movie industry. Appearing with the actor were Actress Julie Adams, Director Fred De Cordova, Producer Robert Fellows, Writer Leonard Stern, and their managers.

Mayor Keyes welcomed the delegation by making them honorary citizens of Natchitoches. He also presented them with certificates of citiznship.

In his short talk, Mr. Murphy stated that movies could play an important part in uniting the peoples of the world, and in acquainting them with each other. This, he thinks, could be done through the Office of the State Department. The actor also put great emphasis upon the need for every eligible citizen to vote. He said, "Let the people run the country, rather than the country run the people."

Each member of the group of movieworkers made note of the warm Southern receptions they had received. Movies with which these workers have been associated are: Robert Fellows, producer, "Back to Bataan," "Let's Dance," "Appointment with Danger," and "Connecticut Yankee;" Leonard Stern, writer, Abbott and Costello movies and the Ma and Pa Kettle series; Fred De Cordova, director, "Desert Hawk," and "Little Egypt;" and Julie Adams, actress, "Finders Keepers," "Bright Victory," and "Bend of the River." The visitors readily autographed the books of eager autograph seekers.

Mr. Donald Glattly and his singers moved into the Student Center for practice last Thursday afternoon. The choir under the direction of Mr. Glattly will present Handel's "Messiah" in the Fine Arts auditorium tomorrow evening at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free and the student-body is urged to attend this stirring choral production.

NSC Debate Teams Perform Well At Week-end Meet

In the annual Millsaps forensic meet held at Jackson, Mississippi, this past week-end, Northwestern State College received a first place in oratory and also two berths in the championship rounds of debate. Although only two teams composed of Chick Gabbert, Barbara Robinette, David Kendrick, and Jim Vorhoff were entered in the tow day tournament, both teams pushed into the championship rounds of the meet before being eliminated.

Jim Vorhoff won first place in oratory, defeating twenty six representatives from various colleges throughout the south. He received a gold medal for his first place oration.

In debate competition, the team composed of Chick Gabbert and Barbara Robinette went through the preliminary rounds and entered the championship rounds of the tournament undefeated. They slashed out victories over Millsaps College, Montgomery Bible College, Emory University, and Belhaven College.

The other NSC debate team composed of David Kendrick and

National Magazine Features Article Of NSC Teacher

The December issue of Scholastic Editor, national magazine for student publications, contains an article, "Dress Makes a Student Newspaper," written by John C. Merrill, Jr., associate professor of journalism at Northwestern State College.

In the article Merrill discusses the importance of the apperance of the campus newspaper and bemoans the multitudes of "print-circuses" which flood the mails and campuses today. He warns student editors against drab, uninteresting pages which kill reader interest.

This is Merrill's first year at Northwestern. He holds a masters degree in journalism from Louisiana State University and was news editor of the (Jackson, Miss.) Clarion-Ledger before coming to Natchitoches. He has taught journalism and English at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas.

In a recent poll conducted by the Current Sauce, it was found that the average student realizes that the school lacks an overall school unity. However, this realization of the situation does not seem to stimulate further thought on the matter because very few students were able to supply the "why not" and the "what can be done about it" when asked to do so.

There is a certain amount of spirit on the campus, but it is confined to those organizations and activities in which the student is directly concerned, either scholastically or socially. Why can't this club loyalty be carried over into school loyalty?

In the small groups, the student is treated as an individual and therein lies the crux to the problem of school spirit. If student government and campus activities were planned and publicized in such a manner that the individual feels that it is a personal invitation to participate, attendance and interest would skyrocket.

Letter Home...

Tuesday evening

Dear Mom,

How are you and the family? I'm sorry that I haven't written sooner, but there is so much happening here on the campus that I havn't had the time.

Last Saturday night our basketball team beat Northeast State College of Monroe 82-58. I didn't see the game. In fact, I haven't gone to any of the games yet, but my roommate tells me that we have a pretty good team.

Tomorrow night Mr. Donald Glattly — he's a music teacher here at school — and his singers are going to render Handel's "Messiah" in the auditorium. They put it on every year. One of the singers told me that they have been practicing weekly since October and, for once, they hope to see more faces in the audience than there are on the stage. I might go just to see what it is like, but I'm not too set on this high-brown music.

By the way, we have our Potpourri Ball next Tuesday night. The Student Council managed to corral Johnny Long and his orchestra for the dance. It's nice to have a "name band" every now and then. Some of my friends are talking about staying away from this one, though, and I won't go unless they do.

Like I said, there is so much happening that I don't have too much time, so I will close for now.

Love,

Somewhat in contrast to the actions of General MacArthur which led to his dismissal from his post of supreme command in the East is the way in which General Eisenhower continues to remain completely apart from everything in the political field. Even though many have been booming him for the presidency, the General has remained wholly non-committal as to his political views, aspirations, leanings, etc. On his recent visit to this country he again stressed that he was not a candidate for the presidency. "I have never had any political aspirations — period," he told reporters. When asked if it would be correct to say that he would not be a candidate under any circumstances, he replied: "Of course you can't say that. I'm doing a job. That's my statement . . . I'm here for one purpose only — to talk military affairs with my superiors in the Pentagon and elsewhere in Washington."

Recently, Representative W. Sterling Cole (R.-N.Y.) took a secret poll among the Republican members of the House on their choice for the presidency. Senator Taft, an announced candidate, received 71 votes; General Eisenhower received 54. The General, upon being informed of the results, replied to Cole thus: "I would be less than the human if I did not feel flattered to know that certain of your colleagues in the House feel that I have the necessary qualifications to fill the highest post in our country." He also expressed his appreciation of "your sympathetic understanding of my present position." This was a reference, presumably, to his refusal to talk politics so long as he heads the North Atlantic Pact army.

Many observers believe that the General will return to this country early next year and campaign actively for the Republican nomination to the presidency. Nevertheless, his discreetness in remaining clean from any taint of political endeavor while heading the military organization of ours and other Atlantic Pact nations, even though the temptation to do otherwise has been great, is high commendable.

According to a recent report, Russia has begun a resettlement project which will eventually bring some 3,000,000 Chinese into Silesia, formerly an important German territory. According to the report, the "colonists" are being brought into the mountainous, iron and coal-rich province to work in the steel industries. The rather obvious purpose of the project is to frustrate German hopes of regaining their lost eastern provinces through saturating them with a Mongolian population and, by so doing, to greatly diminish the prospects of their ever being included in any future re-unified Germany.

This Russian move to transform the "Eastern Ruhr" into a corner of Asia seems to be in answer to a campaign now going on in Western Germany — a campaign which seeks to bring about the ultimate reclamation of all German territories which have been annexed by Russia and her Satellites. The Germans hope to accomplish this through some form of alliance with the Western powers which would promise them the return of these lands in return for German aid in the struggle against Russia. The Russians obviously hope to "nip in the bud" this movement by defeating its chances of success in advance.

"WOULD YOU WORK FOR $100 AN HOUR? Here's how you can make more than that in less than an hour!" This is the heading of a full-page political advertisement which appeared in the November issue of the Louisiana Schools magazine, the official organ of the Louisiana Education Association. It is an open and frank bid for the support of all persons employed in Public Education — more than that, it amounts almost to attempted bribery. "William J. 'Bill' Dodd, when elected Governor," it says, "will give all persons employed in Public Education a minimum cost-of-living salary increase of 12½ per cent. Figure what your raise will be . . . The surest way to get better education and a better break for the teaching profession is to elect Bill Dodd Governor." It continues, "So tell your friends, your family, and your neighborhood to vote for Bill Dodd."

Without making any attempt whatsoever to judge the merits of Mr. Dodd's platform or his qualifications, the criticism is certainly valid that such an advertisement has no place in what is supposed to be a professional journal. Even though acknowledgement is made that it is a political advertisement paid for by friends of Bill Dodd, it is written as an appeal by a group f teachers to other members of their profession. Thus, an insinuated approval of the candidate by the LEA itself seems to be made.

It is not known just who is responsible for the appearance of this political ad in this magazine and no criticism of personalities is involved herein, but it is felt that professional associations such as the LEA should scrupulously avoid all grounds for accusations of "political activity." At best, this ad is highly questionable and certainly should have been rejected on these grounds.

Plans are being made to establish a branch of Tri Beta in Shreveport division of the Northwestern State College nursing school.

Everyone agreed to pay one dollar to furnish the funds for the Tri Beta Potpourri picture and all that is left will be used for a Christmas party next Thursday night for members and their guests.

Peggy Jo Taylor's report was postponed until the next meeting because the business meeting took so long.

During the morning Ross talked to classes in personnel management and marketing and in the afternoon he appeared before a class in business organization and management.

Ross said he did not make speeches to the students; rather he conducted informal discussion in which he tried to answer various questions. "I always welcome such opportunities to talk to students," Ross said.

GSC Basketball and Track Meets To Be Held Here

The Gulf States Conference basketball tournament and track meet will be held at Northwestern State College this year, Athletic Director Harry Turpin has announced.

The cage tourney will take place February 27 through 29 and the track meet for the GSC schools is scheduled for May 10, 1952.

Demon Basketball Coach Charles (Red) Thomas said that each member of the conference (plus McNeese, which has been admitted to the GSC) will take part in the February tournament. In January there will be a meeting of a committee of the GSC to work out details.

The site for track meet is determined by a system of rotation.

This is Northtwestern's regular year to have the meet, Trach Coach Walter Ledet stated.

First Road Trip Proves Disastrous For Demon Record

A brief three day excusion onto the courts of McNeese State college, Lamar Tech, and Sam Houston State Teacher's college proved to be disastrous for the Northwestern State college cage team. (The Demons tasted three servings of defeat, didn't like it and asked for another menu card.)

First competition for the Thomas cagers on this road trip was the McNeese State quintet. At Lake Charles the Purple and White held a half time advantage of 5 points over the home team, 21-16. But in the latter half of the contest McNeese caught up and pulled away from the Demons. The hitting-eye of Roy Moore, freshman ace, who bucketed 21 points in this half proved to be a major factor in the winner's offense. Artie Ranew paced the losers with 13 points. Final score 67-48.

Just as the Lamar Tech-Northwestern game played on the Demon hardwood proved a thriller, so too did the same teams give the Lamar Tech fans a show. This time the victory was in the opposite hands. The Demons were out in front at the end of the first and second quarter by narrow margins of 15-14 and 27-25. But the same song was played as the night before, the opponents rallied in the latter half to come out on top, this time 52-50. Bill Collinsworth, Demon freshie, led the scoring with 21 points and Marvin Wills sparked the winner with 16 points.

In the last of the three out-of-town games, the Demon hoopsters fell before the Sam Houston group 68-60. The Texans were out in the lead all the way and at the end of each quarter the Purple and White were always no further behind than eight points. Tom Sewell led the Cowpokes with 20 points and Artie Ranew once again was high scorer for the Demons with 15 points.

Just Rambling

By Elvin Lightsey

Since I received an astounding amount of controversy on my bowl game predictions, I am going to stick my neck out again. This time I'll try to pick the state champions of Louisiana. In class AA, it looks like Istrouma will maintain their jinx over Fair Park, Istrouma 19 — Fair Park 14 in a thriller.

In class A, Ruston should have easy pickings in Ponchatoula, too much Bearcats, Ruston 20 — Ponchatoula 6. Donaldsonville and Delhi will vie for the Class B Crown. Delhi is too big and too fast for the south champs, Delhi 27, Donaldsonville 7.

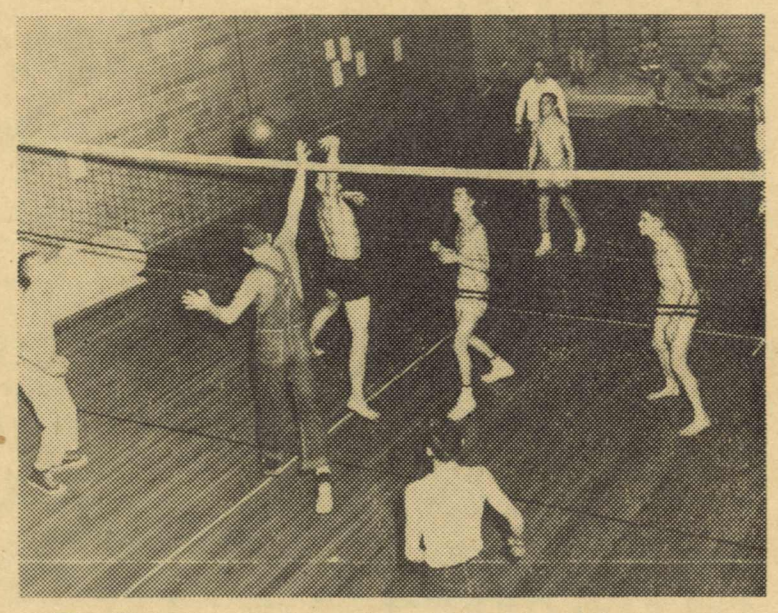

Freshman basketball coach Allen "Buddy" Bonnette is still boasting an undefeated team. The frosh Demons dumped Coushatta 46 — 42 this past tweek for the second win in as many starts.

It seems one of Coach Bonnette's Cagers, Waple Lilley, has graduated to the varsity, judging from his fine performance in the Northeast State game. Lilley accounted for 16 of the Demon markers while playing less than a half of the ball game.

The big controversy over the possible trading of Ted Williams was brought to a sudden halt when manager Lou Boudreau took Williams off the trading list. Another highly controversial point, the sending of Ned Garver to the Yankees, is still hot on all the sports pages as the major leagues gather for their winter conference.

In the last regular season game of the 1951 football season, Tulsa's Golden Hurricane set a new national record for total offense. The new record is 5,282 yards and breaks the old record set last season by these same Hurricane by over 500 yards. The Tulsans trounced Hardin-Simmons Cowboys 33-14 to end an eleven game slate.

Pacing the NSC varsity scorers through the first 8 games this season is senior forward Artie Ranew with 119 points. Ranew, purple and white candidate for all-conference honors, has averaged 14.9 points per game thus far. He is trailed, at a safe distance, by Jim Thomas, freshman center with 64 points and junior guard, Jim Yergler with 59 points.

DEMONS —

Three consecutive baskets by Mark Boatright, Glen Robinson and James Shively added six more to the Monroe score. For the remainder of this period both teams scored at about an even clip.

Coach Thomas substituted freely in the final canto as did the Monroe mentor. The last six minutes of the contest resulted in a haphazard type of play. With two minutes remaining the visitors attempted a final rally with Raydell Smith and Shively leading the attack. However it was a matter of too little time and the final score read 82-58 in favor of the Demons.

Campus Views

School spirit, or the lack of it, being a much discussed topic around the campus now, a poll was taken to discover what causes the situation and what must be done to improve it.

The general reaction was voiced by Peyton Cunningham, who said, "I think that many of the students do lack school spirit. But I don't know what can be done about it."

Polly Head suggested that the lack of interest could be a result of the events not being "talked up" enough.

"Northwestern school spirit is slacking because not enough people know about its activities," stated Octavia Sandlin.

Along that same line was the statement of Mike Weber: "If they would let us know ahead of time so we could plan on the activities, then more people would turn out for them."

Dennis "Hobo" Ryder answered the question by saying, "Yes, NSC lacks school spirit. The solution to this problem, I think, would be to have a couple of winning team for a change. This would surely boost the spirit. Of course, the student body could help a little more to boost the team that we now have."

"Lack of enthusiasm and attendance at the football games at the end of the season was maybe because we were losing," offers Lelia Lenahan. "If so, we let the boys down."

Dr. Leo Allbritten, professor of Education, emphasized that if "school spirit" meant "a love for one's Alma Mater" then he thought that NSC isn't lacking. However, if the question is failure to attend school events, then perhaps the reason lies in one or two things. Either the students "don't feel a responsibility to make the event a success; or there is too much going on at one time."

"When this semester began," answered Bill Powell, "the freshmen had the school spirit going, but since they received no encouragement from upper classmen and were not able to interest others, the freshmen became disinterested, also. I definitely believe we, as freshmen, need backing."

Ted Forte stated, "NSC does NOT lack school spirit. We have seen this at the athletic events she has won. All she needs is something to bring it out of her students. Not only in athletics, but in every other department on this campus, the students who don't participate in any activities are the ones who are the most disinterested and lack the spirit and support that NSC deserves. I think the answer to this problem is that each one of us should try to join some organization such as the band pep squad, athletic teams, dramatic clubs, Demonettes, etc. and really help put NSC on the map of colleges in the U. S."

Ulysses S. Grant, New York Version Attends AF School

After a lapse of some 85 years Ulysses Simpson Grant is back in this historic town.

He is U. S. Grant Jr., Pfc., USAF, who is attending the clerk-typist school at Northwestern State College. He arrived in town with his fellow "troops" December 2 and saw the Confederate flag flying above Rebel Hall as he passed through the campus enroute to the barracks.

Not only does he have the same name as the famed little bearded Yankee general, but he claims to be his decendent. What the relationship is, young Mr. Grant does not know, but he is sure some kinship exists somewhere.

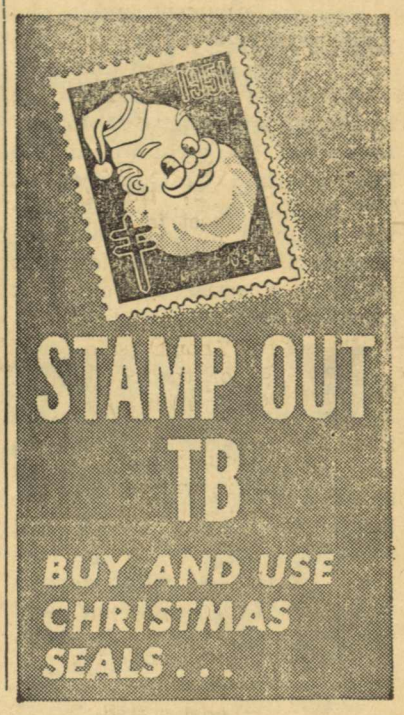

Eighteen-year-old Uslysses, Jr., doesn't seem very impressed with his illustrious Yankee ancestor who commanded a garrison here during the Civil War. In fact, he says he's glad people don't call him "Ulysses" or "Grant."

"Most people call me Jerry," he said, but could give no good reason for this name. "But since I've been in the Air Force I'm called 'Useless' quite often."

Young Ulysses likes Natchitoches and Northwestern State College very much, even in spite of the plague of "Confedratecapitis" which has swept onto the campus from other parts of the South. The little gray Rebel caps perched on student heads don't seem to bother Grant at all. He particularly likes the weather and friendliness here. "Even to a person from New York with my name, everyone is very friendly," he smiled.

Grant came to Northwestern from the Air Force Base at Sampson, N. Y., where he said he was adaquately warned about coming into the Deep South. So far young Grant is quite safe here in this Rebel stronghold. But he might feel a little worried, for he insists that one of the Southerners at Sampson who issued him fair warning was named Robert E. Lee.

Tickets Available For Potpourri Ball December 18

Tickets are now on sale for the in person appearance of Johnny Long and his orchestra at the Potpourri Ball on December 18. The popular maestro and his all-star group of musicians and entertainers are currently on tour following a series of New York engagements.

Noted for their severe criticism of name bands, New Yorkers list Johnny Long among their favorites. The genial Southerner has appeared at three leading hotels and two popular theatres. At the hotels New Yorker, Statler and Commodore his is one of the prime favorites with dancers while at the Paramount and Strand theatres, Johnny's showmanship is well received.

In the other amusement centers of Chicago and Los Angeles the Long orchestra has been featured at all the leading theatres and hotels. In the "windy city," it's been the Chicago and Oriental Theatres plus the Sherman and Edgewater Beach hotels. In Los Angeles the Palladium and Orpheum Theatres are "home" to Johnny.

This universal acceptance is the mark of greatness in the world of music. Once you've clicked in New York, though, the rest of the road looks and feels easy.

Moody, Ralph. "Little Britches:" "Father and I Were Ranchers;" illus. by Edward Shenton. Norton, 1950. $3.00.

Ever so frequently these days a book comes out in the "Life with Father" tradition, but rarely is there one of these at which the ghost of Clarence Day need not blush. One such rarity has lately come into the book world in the form of "Little Britches," by Ralph Moody. It is the story of the Moody family who, in 1906, moved from New Hampshire to Colorado because Father Moody had tuberculosis. The story is told by his son, who is 8 years old at the beginning and 11 at the end. It is almost devoid of dialogue and is composed with the simplicity and directness of a letter home. The treatment is everywhere effective. There is much humor and much comedy along with the tragedy (and there is tragedy), but all are handled with great delicacy and restraint.

There is no plote, as is the case in the lives of most boys of 8-11. A lot can happen to a boy in three years, but hunger and hardship are no great worry to him unless the worries are originated in his elders. Father and Mother Moody were workers, not worriers. Drought, fights over irrigation water, crop failure, and loss of livestock were adventures to this family, not tragedies.

If Westerns are your meat and drink, this should satisfy. The same is equally true if Westerns are not on your reading list at all. "Little Britches" does contain all the elements necessary for a Western classic. Actually, there is more West in this book than there is in most Westerns; but it is completely without the artificiality so often found in them.

The book has reality and authenticity, especially in its approach to people. The warm father-son relationship gives the book substance, for Father Moody was full of advice for a son who often needed but seldom wanted it. Minor characters in the book may be accused of being stereotyped, for it must be admitted that they are drawn in rather broad outlines. Cowboy Hi is the typical knight of the cattle country; Two Dog, the Indian, comes straight from the original tepee; and even Mother Moody is touched with universal characteristics of motherhood. There is nothing, however, in the sketching of these characters that detracts from the charm of the whole.

Edward Shenton is the illustrator. He also illustrated another famous book about a boy, "The Yearling." Judging from the results, he must have enjoyed his work.

"Little Britches" has thus far been heartily recommended as a good book by the nation's foremost reviewers. If you still need to be convinced, simply mention the title to a friend who read it, and watch the smile spread over his face.

Annual Varnado Christmas at Home Acclaimed Success

On Sunday, December 9 the Associated Women Students held their annual "Christmas at Home" in the drawing room of Varnado Hall.

The centers of attraction were groups of dolls dressed in a particular theme which was planned and worked-up by each of the girls' dormitories, Agnes Morris, Audubon, Carondolet, and Kate Chopin. As is their usual custom, the girls of Varnado had dressed seven dolls patterned after those appearing on Hallmark greeting cards. These individual dolls were placed on seperate stands about the room.

The girls in Agnes Morris presented "The Little Match Girl." Audubon had a group of Christmas carolers singing before a red brick house. "The Night Before Christmas" theme was carried out by Carondolet dormitory. Kate Chopin dressed their dolls to represent Mardi Gras.

The executive council of the AWS, consisting of Pat Marmande, Billie Butts, Marie Tilleux, Bettye Sue Boydstun, Dolores Sutherland and Claudine Box, were hostesses for the affair.

Mary Jo Houston was in charge of the decorations for the event. Chairman of the food committee was Jane Walcott and Winnie Dowden managed the publicity.

Potpourri Staff Now Amassing Class Section

Marie Tilleux, editor of the Potpourri, has announced that the introductory section of the Potpourri is complete and that the staff is now working on the class section.

The two main features of the book are the introductory and the beauty sections, according to Marie. She pointed out that the theme of the book will be found in the introductory section, which contains the dedication page and has exceptionally good photography work. Marie stated that the photographs in this section are very striking.

If anyone has any snapshots of various campus activities, and would like to have them appear in the Potpourri, get them to Marie Tilleux before Friday, Dec. 15.

Sororities are asked to watch for a notice of the date when their pictures are to be made. This date will be before Christmas.

STUDENT COUNCIL MINUTES

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday, December 6, at 6:00 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall. Don Jones, president of the Student Body, presided. All members were present.

President Prather, in a talk with Jones recently, stated that he had heard several complaints concerning the method in which laundry is being handled. He suggested that we discuss this matter and decide to either continue the present method, issue opportunities for the different cleaners to make bids for the work, or discontinue the laundry fee the students pay the school and let each student take care of his own laundry. After considerable discussion of this matter, Leland Langridge moved that the Council uphold the present system and refer the matter to the Senate. Ed Bacilla seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

Bacilla reported on the sale of tickets for the Potpourri Ball. Up to the present time, fifteen couple tickets have been sold.

Jones reported that the money for the Student Body Loan Fund is in the process of being transferred, and soon after this process is completed, the Loan Fund will go into effect.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

VOL. XXVIII NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1951 NUMBER 12

The First Christmas

"Now it came to pass in those days, that a decree went forth from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. This first census took place while Cyrinus was governor of Syria. And all were going, each to his own town to register.

And Joseph also went from Galiee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem—because he was of the house and family of David—to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night. And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone around about them, and they feared exceedingly.

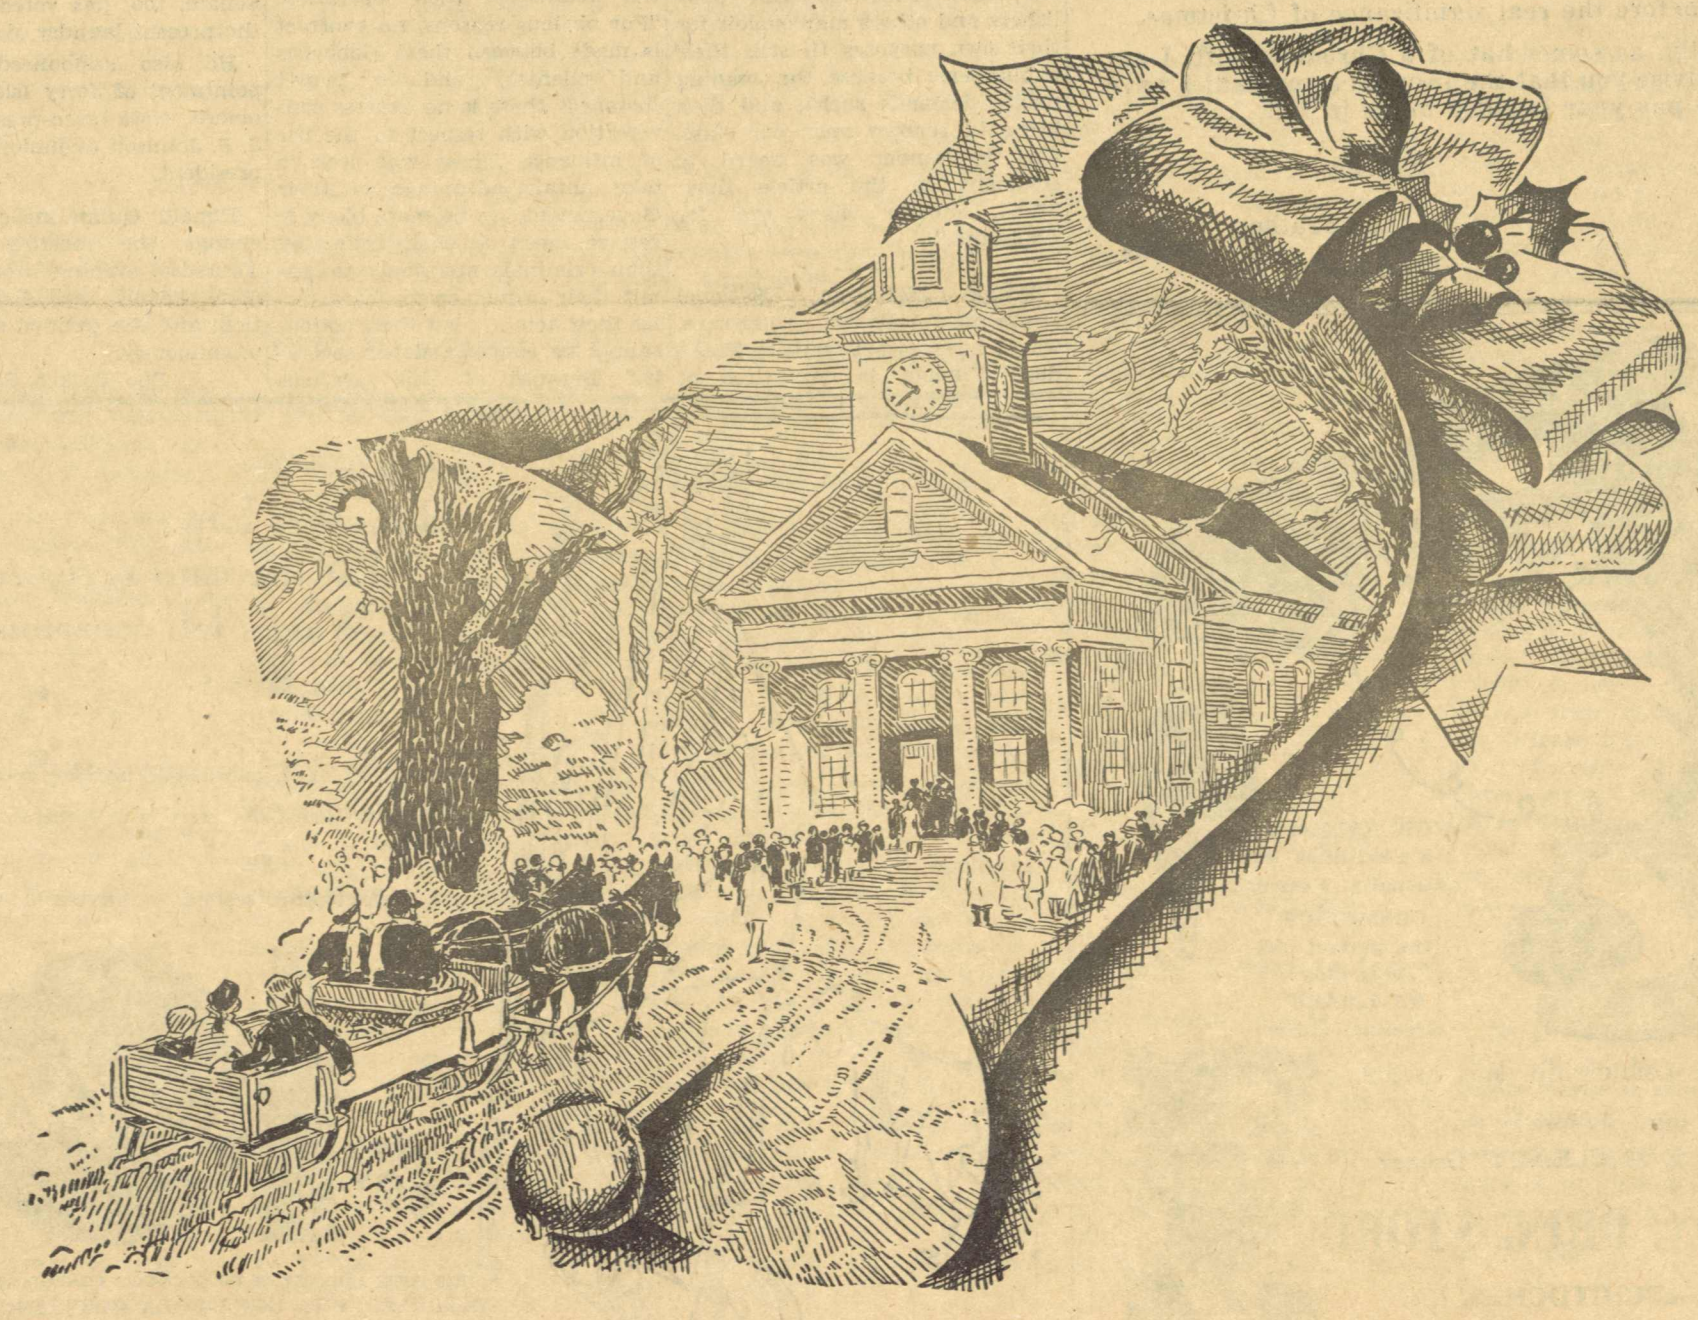

And the angel said to them, 'Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people; for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you, who is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign to you: you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.' And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will.'

And it came to pass, when the angels had departed from them into heaven, that the shepherds were saying to one another, 'Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us.'

So they went with haste, and they found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in the manger. And when they had seen, they understood what had been told them concerning this child. And all who heard marvelled at the things told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept in mind all these things, pondering them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all that they had heard and seen, even as it was spoken to them."

A Christmas Message

I sincerely appreciate the invitation of the Current Sauce to again write a brief Christmas message to the student body of Northwestern State College.

May each of you have a safe and pleasant homeward journey, may you have the most joyous holiday season you have ever known, and may you then return to the campus renewed in body, mind, and spirit to resume your college work.

Let me suggest that you spend as much time as possible at home in the company of your parents. You will have a rare opportunity at this season to make a substantial payment on the debt of love and gratitude you owe your parents. And they will appreciate it too. Do not let other social obligations and pleasures take too much of your time.

And above everything else, may you appreciate as never before the real significance of Christmas.

Finally, as somewhat of a Christmas gift, I am glad to advise you that the insurance companies have agreed to pay your laundry losses in full.

Sincerely,

H. Lee Prather,
President

In Passing...

Shelton Robinson

We have mentioned previously the notoriety which has accompanied Louisiana politics perpetually throughout the past few decades. As usual, our current gubernatorial race is receiving an undue amount of unfavorable nation-wide publicity. In a recent issue of Life Magazine there is a picture story entitled "Louisiana Road Show" which plays up the more sensational and unorthodox aspects of the campaign. The whole affair is presented as resembling more a "county fair" or circus than a political race. One large picture shows Cliff Liles, an unknown candidate, standing on a stump with a roulette wheel in his hands "plumping way for legal gambling," through which means he hopes to be able to increase the old-age pension to $100 per month and provide a pension for "everybody who applies for it." Another Dudley J., the "Hadacol Man," with his complete Dixieland jazz band "selling himself as he sold his medicine." Kermit Parker, the Negro candidate, is shown talking to a group of Negroes, where, the caption reads, "he has stopped to pick up a few votes." A large picture is presented of the "Mansura Incident," at which Earl Long heckled Hale Boggs until a Boggs supporter and he, except for interference of by-standers, would have had a scuffle. Pictues of the more respectable candidates are included but, of course, not much is said of them.

It is indeed regrettable that such conditions as these persist in our state which magazine publishers and others may exploit for their own purposes (it sells their publications because the reading public demands such), and thus bring ill renown upon our state. One by-stander was heard to comment on the article thus: "Well, another 'black eye' for Louisiana."

Frank McKinney, National Democratic Party Chairman, would have us believe that President Truman is now tired of "being sold down the river" by his subordinate officers. Great number of fraudulent tax officials have been dismissed and President Truman this week cut short a vacation trip in Florida to fly back to Washington, supposedly to undertake a thorough "housecleaning." This fact is rather amusing since one of the President's more obvious faults has been his insistence on remaining loyal to his "shady" political friends even after they have been proven guilty of incompetence, misuse of office, or other irregular and improper actions. Numerous instances of this loyalty could be cited — Harry Vaughn, his Pendergrast pals, O'Dwyer of New York, Frank Boyle, etc. Even Caudle, the ousted head of the Tax Fraud Prosecution Bueau, was defended until a very short time ago. Another strange "coincidence" is the fact that Frank McKinney, himself, was able to make some $75,000 profit on a $1,000 investment in a deal with the government. When questioned about this matter, he insisted that no "illegal" acts were committed. Yet there appears to be little doubt but that his "inside information" and "influence" were important factors in the deal.

President Truman's sweeping changes certainly are coming too late to be very convincing to many people. He cannot claim ignorance to the tactics of pressure groups and "influence peddlers," because he has had special experience in which he gained an intimate knowledge of them. As a Senator during the early years of the war, he was chairman of a committee which investigated lobbying rather thoroughly. The following conclusion of the committee reveals a keen insight into the details of their operation. "For obvious reasons, no contract is made between them (lobbyists and clients), and in most instances there is no express conversation with respect to the use of influence. Those who seek to take unfair advantage of their Government are no more likely to say so, even to their intimates, than criminals are likely to admit their crimes or to characterize their acts . . . but their actions cannot be condemned too severely." Because of this previous knowledge, Mr. Truman should have been in a position to cope with this situation long before now.

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday, Decehmber 13, at 6:15 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall. Leland Langridge, vice-president of the Student Body, presided. All members were present with the exception of Don Jones and Beryl DeLoach.

Langridge reported that the cheerleaders have requested that the sweaters this year be longer and have the block "N." The Council agreed that we should try to fill the wishes of the cheerleaders in this matter.

Ed Bacilla reported that approximately sixty couple tickets have been sold for the Potpourri Ball. He asked for volunteer to sell tickets near the window of the Treasurer's office in Caldwell Hall during the next two days. Arlene Norsworthy and Ronald Quinn volunteered to sell the tickets Saturday morning. Other methods of advertising the dance were discussed. Tickets will be on sale in the Book Store Monday and Tuesday.

This was Sidney Gosnell's last meeting as representative of the Air Force. Bidding farewell, he expressed his appreciation at having had the opportunity of working on the Council, and the Council expressed its appreciation for the fine work that Gosnell has done during the time that he has served on the Council.

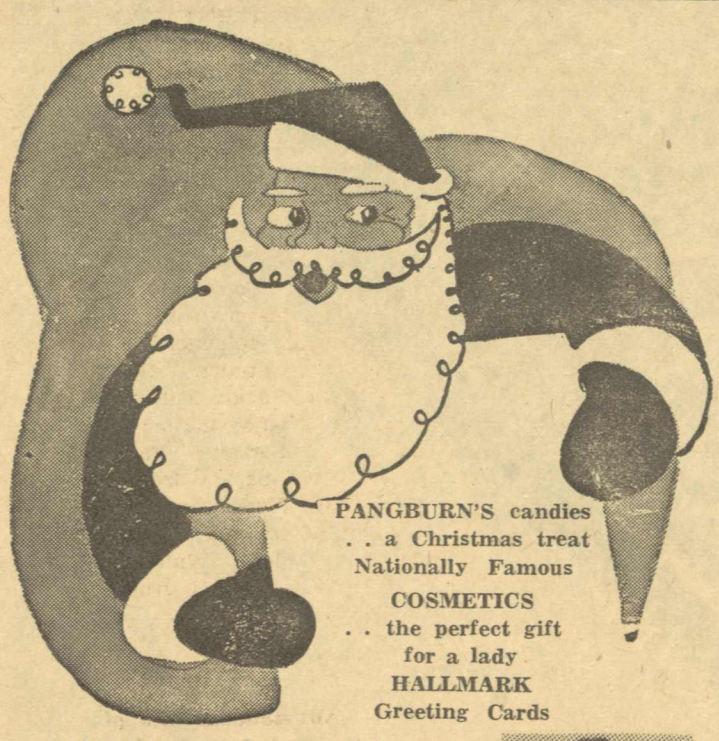

Bill Green was welcomed as the new Air Force representative to the Council.

Langridge announced that the Senate, too, has voted to uphold the present laundry system.

He also announced the appointment of Jerry Isles as sophomore class vice-president and J. P. Johnson as junior class vice-president.

Ronald Quinn moved that we change the meeting time on Thursday evening from 6:00 to 6:15. Bacilla seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

Final Sixteen '52 Potpourri Beauties Chosen; Student Center Scene Of Annual Ball Tonight

The annual Potpourri Ball, under the joint sponsorship of the college yearbook and the Student Council, will be held in the Student Center tonight from 8:30 - 12:00 p.m. The music will be furnished by Johnny Long and his orchestra. Tickets, priced at $3.66 per couple and $2.44 stag may still be purchased at the door tonight.

The main attraction of this annual affair will be the presentation of the '52 Miss Potpourri who is chosen by the yearbook editor and staff for her active participation in school activities.

Few of the name bands today can claim the popularity in colleges that has been accorded Johnny Long and his orchestra. Straight from the campus of Duke University, he and his boys have become the all-time favorite band with students everywhere and have run up the most impressive prom record in the history of the music business.

The final sixteen co-eds who will appear in the '52 Potpourri. They are not listed in order nor will the top six be known until the yearbook is distributed. The beauties are Bessie Morgan, Lorraine Vaughn, Beth McGuffee Johnson, Peggy Trichel, Gene Jensen, Tommie Jean Tullos, Barbara Brittain, Jolene Walters, Nancy Lyles, Joellen Cagle, Lora Faye Kemper, Louise Vick, Alice Crawford, Martha Anne Glass, Billie Mason and Jackie Funderburk.

Thursday evening in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts building, Mr. Albert R. Manning of Mansfield, Louisiana, one of the south's outstanding portrait artists and beauty authorities, chose the sixteen finalists for the 1952 Potpourri yearbook from a group of fifty co-eds who were nominated by the various campus groups.

These sixteen girls are not listed in the order in which they will appear in the Potpourri nor will the top six be known until the yearbook is distributed in the Spring semester. The only criterion Mr. Manning employed was his personal interpretation of what is beautiful in a college co-ed.

Mr. Manning will be personally recommended for a position on the panel of judges of the 1952 Miss America Pageant by Miss Lenora Slaughter, executive director of the pageant. Among contests he has judged this year are the "Holiday in Dixie," the "Miss Louisiana" and the "Miss Arkansas" competition.

Together with Eugenia Trachta, his wife, he has built a national reputation for oil portraits of beautiful women. They are among the select few who have held an individual exhibit of their work at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C. At the present they are working on a portrait of Representative George A. Dondero of Michigan which will be their second to be placed in the Committee Room in the House of Representatives.

Student Senate Fills Vacancies In Student Council

At the Tuesday meeting of the Student Senate, J. P. Johnston and Jerry Iles were elected to fill the vacancies of vice-president of the junior and sophomore classes. The senate also approved Student-body President Don Jones' appointment of Carolyn McLean as treasurer of the student-body to replace Arlene Norsworthy who will graduate at mid-term.

The regular procedure for filling vacancies created in the Student Council is appointment by the student-body president with the approval of the senate.

However, Don Jones waivered his privilege of appointment and submitted the entire list of candidates who had filed for the offices. to the senate who elected the new officers on a majority vote basis.

Candidates who filed for junior class vice-president were Cecil Nielson, Michael Ballipanni, O. J. Gremillion and J. P. Johnston.

Sophomore vice-president candidates were Louise Vick, Mary Jo Brosset, John Batten, James Carlyle, Milly Middleton and Jerry Iles.

Singers Perform At Yule Program Sunday Afternoon

On Sunday, December 16, the College Singers, under the direction of Mr. Donald Glattly, presented a program of Christmas carols in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Some of the outstanding numbers on the program were "The Cradle Song," "The Legend of the Bells," the traditional "Silent Night," and "The Song of Christmas," an arrangement of the Christmas story by Fred Waring.

The program was open to the public.

New Business Mgr. For Potpourri Is Selected

Ann Hungerbeeler of Shreveport is the new business manager of the Potpourri, student annual at Northwestern State College, Editor Marie Tilleux has announced. She succeeds Cas Moss, Winnfield, who relinquished the position this month.

Miss Hungerbeeler, freshman majoring in mathematics at NSC, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hungerbeeler of 306 E. 68th St., Shreveport. She is a graduate of Byrd High School, where she was valedictorian of last year's senior class; member of the Quill and Scroll, national journalism society; and advertising manager of The Gusher, Byrd High's yearbook, and member of the National Honor Society.

Home Ec Group Attends Workshop At Mississippi U.

The Northwestern State College Euthenics Club, home economics organization, was named "Club of the Month" at an annual workshop held at the University of Mississippi, December 6, 7, and 8, and its president was selected to represent a four-state area at the national convention.

Northwestern's club was chosen to be featured in the "Journal of Home Economics," a national professional home economics publication. The article featuring the NSC club, written by Winnie Dowden of Cypress, will appear in the May, 1952 issue of the magazine. A career day program for high school girls to be held at Northwestern in February is the subject of this feature article.

Patsy Winkler, Olla, local club president, was selected as a candidate from Province 5 — Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Tennessee — for a national home economics club office. Miss Winkler, along with Miss Mary Esther Roberson of the Northwestern faculty and newly elected Province 5 adviser, will attend the National Convention at Atlantic City, N. J. in June, 1952.

At Ole Miss, the NSC delegates attended assemblies and sessions with girls from the four states. Doris Bolin, vice-president of the NSC organization, served as chairman of the province's publicity committee. Activities of the convention included a lecture by Miss Frances Urban, Washington, D. C., a luncheon, and a square dance.

Demon Cagers Host To McNeese Cowboys Tonight

Game Slated To Start At 7:15 To Avoid Conflict With Ball

Tonight at 7:15 p.m., the Demons will take to the hardwood in an effort to corral the McNeese State Cowboys and avenge an earlier season loss.

Their next scheduled home game is a conference tilt with Spring Hill college on January 4.

In the lone previous meeting between the quintets on the McNeese court, the Cowboys toppled the Demons 67-48. Even though the Northwestern crew led by a five point margin at the half, the home team came back in the latter period to overcome the slim margin.

In tonight's game the Thomas men will face a veteran ball club which is working together for the third straight year and which is one of the tallest fives in this section of the country. According to Coach Thomas the McNeese team is the best competition the Demons have faced this season.

Pacing the cowpokes is "Toddy" Moore, outstanding player in the high school ranks last year. This 6' 4" freshman bucketed 29 points against the Demons in their first outing. At the center post for the visitors is Vernon Barton, 6' 9" lad from Wink, Texas, who pushes his height around on the back-boards. Rounding out this crew is Tom Dimmick, a 6' 5" gent from Lake Charles, and two Indiana products, Ray Manis and Dick Miller.

The probable starting line-up for the Demon will show George Davis and Jim Yergler at the forward slots, James Thomas manning the center post, and Waple Lilley, surprise package from the freshman squad, and either Artie Ranew or Tynes the Northwestern cre wled by a positions.

Despite the licking handed them in the first fracas, Northwestern stands a reasonable chance of turning back the Cowboys. With a little more hustle—they controlled only 10 rebounds in the first game — and the advantage of playing on their home court, the Demons should come out on top.

Special note should be made of the change in the time of the start of the ball game. This was arranged in order to keep the ball game from conflicting with the Potpourri Ball.

SWIMMING MEET

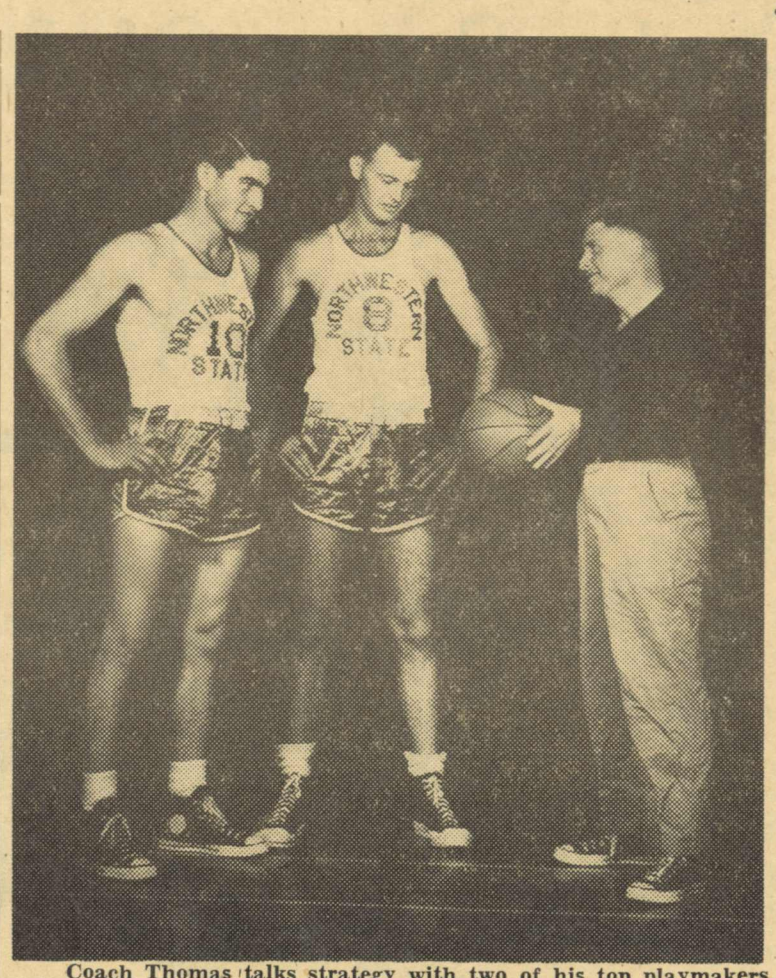

Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity placed first in three events and collected 29½ points to capture the intramural swimming meet held in the natatorium, December 6.

Phi Kappa Nu coped second place honors with 22 points and the Spanish Boys were third in line with 15½ points. The Mustangs followed with 14 points.

The Tau relay team, composed of Gordon Young, Harold LaRue, Gilbert DeRouen and Buddy Bonnette, took a first place in the 400 foot-free-style relay. Bonnette bested the competition in the 50 yard free-style and Young did likewise in the 50 yard breastroke race.

Leland Langridge, John Hicks and Charles Eyer made up the Phi Kappa Nu relay team which captured the 100 yard free-style relay. Robert DeBlieux of the Mustangs was out in front in the 50 yard backstroke.

Diving honors went to Ray Barker of the Spanish Boys with 118.8 points. Sigma Tau's LaRue was second with 96.7 points and Eyer of Phi Kap was third with 82.1 points.

Coach Thomas talks strategy with two of his top playmakers. Both men are holdovers from last year's starting five. They are Jim Yergler and Artie Ranew.

Undefeated Pups Win

A strictly high class and perhaps the best basketball game of the season took place last week when the Pups beat the Audabon Aces 27-21 in a very exciting game. The Aces led at the end of the first, second, and third quarters. Then Bellow began racking up points for the Pups which led to their victory. Bellow, with 16 points, was high scorer for the Pups. Long scored 7 points to lead the Aces. The Pups fouled 7 times and the Aces fouled 11 times.

Pi Kaps Win No. 4

The Pi Kaps racked up their fourth victory of the season by defeating Carondelet 27-24. The deciding factor of the game was foul shots. Cook, high scorer for the Pi Kaps with 13 points, made 7 out of 7 foul shots. Each team got 14 foul shots. The Pi Kaps made 10 of theirs while Carondelet made only 4. High scorer for Carondelet was Oliver with 11 points.

Aces Defeat Chopin

The Audabon Aces triumphed over Kate Chopin 21-14 in the only other game of the week. The aces were in fine form showing very good rapid pass-work especially by the forwards. The guards of Kate Chopin did exceptional work, but were unable to keep down the scoring.

The Aces had 9 fouls called against them while Kate Chopin had 3. Toms of the Aces and Hartwell of Kate Chopin shared scoring honors with 7 points each.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR PAUL was eggzasperated because every chick on campus gave him the bird. They told him: "We're all cooped up!" Then one day his roommate said: "The hens avoid you beak-cause your hair's messy, you dumb cluck! I don't know feather you've heard of Wildroot Cream-Oil or not, but you better fry it—er, try it! Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil—and now the gals think he's a good egg! Better lay down a few poultry cents on the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hair at your favorite barber shop. Then the girls'll take off their hatch to you!

Just Rambling

By Elvin Lightsey

This prognostigator has one week's efforts to brag on before the roof caves in on my New Year's Day predictions. I would like to check my predictions of the high school games against the outcomes. I predicted the AA game as Istrouma 19 — Fair Park 14. Looks as though the Shreveport lads let me down; final score was Istrouma 19 — Fair Park 7. Ruston and Ponchatoula ran true to form. I took Ruston 20-6 and they came through 21-6.

Delhi had an easy outing as I expected. I rode with the champs to the tune of 27-7 over the heavily outweighed Donaldsonville Club. The North Louisiana boys came through with a 26-6 conquest over the South Louisiana lads.

All the games were played on muddy fields and in icy winds. This may have had an effect on the scores. Cold hands and a 25 mile an hour wind made it no night for passing with a wet ball.

The running game was also impeded somewhat by the soaked sod. All in all though, Louisiana has had a good year in high school ball.

Coach "Buddy" Bonnette's frosh Demons suffered their first loss last week in the feature attraction of the Gibsland high school tournament. The boys participated against the Gibsland Club team. Final score, NSC frosh 56—Johnny McConathy 58. Yes, "Big John," former NSC great, led the Gibsland team with some 20 points.

This should not hurt our frosh's pride because it's no disgrace for college freshmen to lose to professionals.

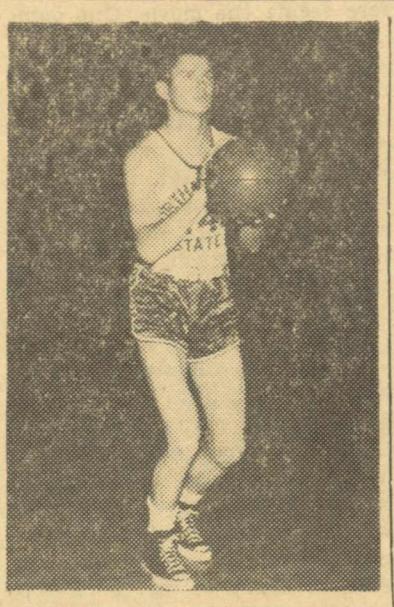

Our own Demons winds up their pre-Christmas slate tonight against McNeese. A very poor attitude has been shown by the students and townspeople thus far. Attendance through the first four home games has been very poor.

It looks bad from my point of view when you have a club that is undefeated on its home floor and the students make very little effort to attend the games.

Let's show a little spirit tonight and come out for the game. Bring your roommate and your friend and pack the gym. Once there, yell with your cheerleaders for your team. They're putting out all they have, are you?

High Jump Record

Duke Beasley of Lambda Zeta is holder of the intramural high jump record at 5' 8¾", set in 1947.

Waple Lilley, up from the freshman team, who scored sixteen points in the Demon's last outing against Northeast State of Monroe, is slated to see plenty of action in future games.

Yell-leaders Earn "N" Sweaters

One of the highlights of each spring semester at Northwestern is the election of the four upperclassmen cheerleaders. Two girls and two boys are elected from the combined freshmen, sophomore and junior classes by the entire student body. Early in the following fall semester two more cheerleaders, a boy and a girl, are elected from the incoming freshman class.

The six cheerleaders are sponsored by the student government, and are awarded sweaters at the end of the year. They must perform at all home basketball and football games, and at both the State Fair and the Cen-La Fair games. Failure on the part of any of the cheerleaders to appear at any of these games will merit their sweater being withheld at the end of the season.

The cheerleaders for 1951-52 are: Carolyn Fultz, Mansfield; Rae Gremillion, Alexandria; Joyce "Strawberry" Rasbury, West Monroe; John Hicks, New Orleans; Clay Brock, Winnfield; and Ben Duhon, Baton Rouge. This is the second season as cheerleaders for both Carolyn and John.

Miss Marilyn Barnett was chosen "Sweetheart of Lamdba Zeta" at the "Zeta Room" Ball held Saturday evening in the Student Center. In the immediate group are James Carlyle, Earl Hoodemaker, Marilyn Barnett, Richard Traber, Audrey Gray and Pounder Davis.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps won their fourth basketball game last Wednesday night. They bested Carondelet 27-24.

The Pi Kaps have set the date for their traditional Christmas caroling for Monday, December 17.

Congratulations go to Liz Seegars, who was chosen Phi Kap Sweetheart for the second time Saturday, December 8. The Pi Kaps are also proud of the actives and pledges who are in the contest for Potpourri beauties.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

"A DSE Angel's Blue Christmas" was the predominate theme when the pledges honored the members with the annual yuletide party last Wednesday in the dining room of the field house.

Pledges were dressed in blue and white formals which blended with the various shades of the two colors used throughout the room. The program was composed of "Blue Christmas," sung by Clara Landry, "The Littlest Angel," a reading by Barbara Robinette, "A Christmas Angel's Dance," by Nancy McLellan and "White Christmas," a chello and piano selection by Barbara Britton and Dixie Daniels.

After the program, refreshments were served and gifts were exchanged.

The sorority presented a gift to Miss Farris, sponsor.

DSE is proud of it's 14 girls who were nominated by the various organizations on the campus for the Potpourri beauties. They were: Barbara Britton, Dixie Daniels, Ann Gillispie, Mary Gunn, Bobby Lou Hancock, Irene Herbert, Mrs. Betty Koch, Lelia Lenahan, Pat Marmande, Billie Mason, Nancy McLellan, Mac Schoonover, Peggy Trichel and Lorraine Vaughan.

All the DSE went Christmas Caroling after the meeting Tuesday night.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The Tri Sig pledges are giving the actives a Christmas party tonight. "The Night Before Christmas" is the theme of the party.

The pledges, who elected as their officers, Lady Jane White, president; Jo Hubley, vice-president; Dee Thompson, secretary; Polly Hays, treasurer, are busy in other activities also which contribute to making one of them "Best pledge."

Last week the Tri Sigs sent a large box of clothes to their French orphans whom they "Adopted" several years ago. They also collected a box of food for a local needy family. A gift of money was sent to the Endicott School which Tri Sigma founded and supervised. This school is in the mountains of Virginia.

Plans have been made for the annual tea honoring the pledges of all sororities and representative members.

The actives surprised the pledges Sunday afternoon with a party. At this party the pledges found out who their "mothers" were.

BETA BETA BETA

Instead of the regular business meeting Thursday evening, members and guests of Tri Beta enjoyed a well-planned Christmas party.

Peggy Jo Taylor acted as master of ceremonies for the games. The participants who earned the least number of points had to serve the refreshments of lemonade and cookies.

While refreshments were being served, Paxton Willis turned "crooner" and sang a song. Arlene Norsworthy read a letter to Santa Claus written by a student for the teachers.

Group singing of Christmas carols followed and the evening was concluded with friendly Christmas conversation.

Of special note, was the unique Christmas tree center piece which was decorated very appropriately with articles well-known to students of biology. It was the idea of Peggy Jo Taylor.

YWCA PARTY

At their annual Christmas party for the employed help on the campus last Monday evening in the Women's Gymnasium, the YWCA played host to 115 people.

The entertainment consisted of a Santa Claus, portrayed by Jerry Isles, who acted as master of ceremonies. A womanless wedding, boys' quartet, a Christmas reading by Beth Hargrove, and a vocal solo by Arthur White rounded out the program.

Gifts were presented to each of the guests. These gifts were homemade candies and cookies, prepared by the Y girls, Mrs. Weber, sponsor, and others.

SHREVEPORT NURSES

Saturday, December 15, the student nurses of the Shreveport division, Northwestern State College, held their annual Christmas dance at the Metropolitan Club on Dilg Drive in Shreveport from 9 until 12 p.m. Music was furnished by Charlie Hostetler and his band.

Committees in charge of plans for the dance were: Ticket Committee: Claire Parsons, chairman; Jerry Jackson, Sueanne Westmoreland, Alice Carpenter, Lynn Stephens, and Margaret Sloan.

Publicity committee: D. D. Barmore, chairman; Louise Burns, Janet Ludwig, Sunshine Flemning, Babs Love, chairman: Jackie Roard, Ann Jones, Ila Mae Milton, and Joy Hicks.

Decorations Committee: Sue Bishop, chairman; Betty Currie, and Marilyn Helton.

Refreshment committee: Pat Henry, chairman; Juanita Fuller, Margie Hoffpauir, Louetta Falcon, Merlene Bond, Charlene Lark, Jocelyn Townsend, Gloria Paris, Betty McCarty, Nita Borden, Emma Herbert, and June Ann Gissler.

General chairman of the dance arrangements was Helen Elrod, recreation chairman of the Student Government Association.

Hostesses were Mrs. Orlene Beckett and Mrs. Fara Riddle.

REBEL HALL

Rebel Hall took on a festive atmosphere last Friday night as some 70 persons attended a Christmas party given for residents of the Hall and their dates. The party got underway about 6:45 p.m. Music for dancing was provided by a record-player and an abundant supply of records.

The dormitory was gaily decorated for the occassion, with one particularly effective scene depicing Santa Claus driving his reindeer across the snow toward a house. Guests other than dates of the boys were Mr. and Mrs. Fulton, Mr. Hal Townsend, and Mrs. Rhodes.

Much credit for the success of the party goes to Edgar Stephens who was in charge of providing refreshments and who served as master of ceremonies. Hot chocolate, cookies and candies were served to all present. Everyone seemed to have had a most pleasant evening.

Pictures of the event were taken for inclusion in the 1952 Potpourri, yearbook of the College.

EUTHENICS CLUB

A "Children's Christmas Party" was given by the Northwestern Euthenics Club Thursday, December 13 from 4 until 5 p.m. The first floor of the Home Economics building was converted into a "Toyland Town" for some 40 children of faculty and staff members.

The tiny guests between the ages of one and six, and their parents were greeted at the door by several Euthenics Club girls and ushered into a movie, "The Littliest Angel." Some of the children chose to play games before seeing the movie. One game they especially enjoyed was pasting all the things that Santa was to bring at Christmas time on a cardboard Christmas tree.

The guests were given miniature Santa Clauses and a surprise ball as favors. Later in the evening they were served refreshments of punch, sandwiches, apple slices and raisen-faced cookies.

Elaborate decorations carried out colorful Christmas themes and were keyed to the interests of the young guests. Apple Santa Clauses, orange elephants, and lemon ducks were made by girls in the second year foods class with Doris Bolin acting as chairman of this committee. Mrs. Frances Halm, of the Home Economics staff, directed the construction of a cookie tree. Another unusually attractive and unique feature in the decorations was Santa Clause driving a popcorn sled made by Wilma Dance and a committee under the direction of Miss Mary Ester Robberson.

Ginger Johnson, working with Mrs. Ruby Dunckelman, head of the department, was general chairman of the decorations and Louvesta Presley was chairman of the Christmas tree committee. Mary Dean, a senior home economics major, was in charge of refreshments.

Hostesses for the occassion were chairman Alice Phelps, Patsy Winkler, Kathleen Ray, Grace Cooley, Winnie Hudson, Annie Ruth Taylor, Lurline Seals, Wilma Dance, Jane Wolcott and Mrs. Eola Rooks. Mrs. Marie Dunn, Child development instructor and students of her child development class were in charge of entertainment for the tiny guests.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sigs and their dates drove out to the Country Club Friday evening, December 1, and enjoyed a night of dancing, games and a weiner roast.

Barbara Gray honored her big sister, Betty Choate, with a birthday party on December 4. The entire sorority sang "Happy Birthday" and then ate the usual birthday cake.

Wedding bells will ring for Jo Houston, our artist and editor, on December 23. She will become Mrs. Nick Fragala. Best wishes to both Nick and Jo.

With Christmas just around the corner, the pledges honored the actives with a party last night.

Wednesday evening we will go caroling. Rosemary Easley, our sponsor will serve refreshments when the caroling is finished.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

Sixty persons attended the Wesley Foundation's "Bells of Christmas" banquet in the religious center Friday evening.

Sidney Gosnell acted as toastmaster for the program. Special guests included Misses Hideka Sikiya and Atsuko Fukuda, two Japanese girls attending Centenary College, Donald Lerner, president of the Methodist student movement at Centenary College, foreign students attending Northwestern and members of the faculty and friends.

The program included a "Christmas Who's Who" and Christmas carols. The main attraction was "Christmas in five corners" in which the foreign students related how Christmas is celebrated in their lands. A Christmas story "The Little Orphan and the Christ Baby," depicting the true spirit of Christmas in the United States, was read.

The members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church prepared the food for the banquet.

Van Odom, AB '36, was recently elected president of the Louisiana Educational Association.

Have You Ever Wondered?

Donita Gothard

"Silent night, holy night, all is calm, all is bright." As you listen to the words of this beautiful song around Christmas time, do you ever wonder where it originated, who first sang it? Have you ever thought and wondered about the millions of people before your time who have sat around an open fire before a tinseled tree and softly harmonized this old song?

"Silent Night" was written over a hundred and thirty years ago by a priest in a little Alpine village. Father Mohr had wanted to be a musician when he was a child, but, after the death of his parents, he went to live with the vicar of a cathedral, and became a priest.

As Father Mohr sat by his fire on December twenty-fourth, 1818, an old mountain woman knocked on his door. She had come to tell the priest that a baby had been born to the wife of a poor charcoal-maker and that the young couple wished for him to come and bless the infant. Quickly Father Mohr dressed warmly and followed the woman through deep snow into a forest and then up a steep, rocky slope.

Father Mohr felt strangely moved as he stood in the ramshackle hut and gave both the infant and mother his priestly blessing. Going back down the mountain alone, disconnected thoughts kept running through his mind, and, upon reaching home, he sat down to put these thoughts on paper. When dawn broke, Father Mohr had written a poem.

Living in this little village was Franz Gruber the teacher who had also wanted to be a musician but had followed the will of his parents and became a school teacher. The two young men often got together and harmonized with the aid of Joseph Mohr's guitar. It was to his friend Gruber that Mohr took his poem, and soon the teacher had set the words to the music of the old guitar.

So it was on Christmas Day, 1818, that the village children stood in the streets and listened to the first rendition of "Silent Night."

At that time organ building was a secret art, and then the breakdown of an organ was a serious thing. So when something went wrong with the organ in the village church, help had to come from another province. The most famous organ builder of that time was Karl Mauacher and it was he who came to repair the organ in Mohr's church. When he was done, he asked Franz Gruber to try it out. Gruber obliged, and soon he and Father Mohr were singing "Silent Night." They sang it again, and, then, again and when the organ builder left the village, he too, knew the beautiful song.

When Mauracher returned to the village, he too knew the the village children. Among these children were the four Strasser children: Caroline, the oldest; Sepp and Andreal, who came next; and little Amalie, the youngest. They were the children of a glove maker, and they loved to sing. They heard Father Mohr's song and liked it and began to sing it.

One day father and mother Strasser sent their four children to the fair to sell gloves. The children were very proud to be trusted with the precious gloves and were very happy to go. Upon their arrival at the fair, however, they were frightened by the bustling crowds and all the noise. They decided to sing to keep up their courage, and soon a crowd had collected to hear them, for they had beautiful voices; and even if little Amalie was too small to pronounce the words correctly, she never missed a note. The song they sang most often was "Silent Night."

One day at the end of the fair an elderly gentleman asked the children if they would like to appear in a concert. They refused and returned home as soon as the fair closed.

They had hardly gotten settled at the fair the next year before the old gentleman once more approached them, this time with an offer to attend a concert, and this time he made no mention of their singing. They accepted and, on the appointed day, arrived an hour ahead of time.

Hesitantly they entered, and when they presented their cards to the doorman, he led them to four plush seats right beneath the orchestra platform. The program was the most glorious that the four children had ever attended, and they sat spellbound listening to the thundering music. When they had time to glance around, they found that the very elite were present in the audience including the King and Queen of Saxony.

Then the music was stopped, and Mr. Pohlenz, the man who had invited the children to the concert, came upon the stage. Slowly he announced that there were four young children in the audience and that they had the most beautiful voices that he had ever heard. Would they perhaps come upon the stage and sing a song or two for his Majesty the King?

For a moment the children were too shocked to move, and then they slowly rose and marched to the stage. They didn't want to sing before this great crowd, but they couldn't refuse the King. Sweetly the children broke into song, their stage fright disappearing with the first note. When they had finished, there was a moment of reverent silence and then thunderous applause. The song? It was "Silent Night."

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 30 . . . THE SQUIRREL

This nimble-minded nutcracker almost tumbled for those tricky cigarette mildness tests. But he worked himself out of a tight spot when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness just can't be judged by a mere puff or one single sniff. Smokers everywhere have reached this conclusion—there's just one real way to prove the flavor and mildness of a cigarette.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Campus Displays Yuletide Spirit

Christmas trees! Christmas bells! Christmas decorations! Replicas of the first manger! All these abound during the Yuletide season.

Christmas would be void without them. Bells symbolize the glad tidings of the birth of the Christ. The shinning lights portray the happiness which is so abundant at this time of the year.

The main occasion of Christmas is the celebration of the birth of Christ "who was wrapped in swaddling cloth and laid in a manger" in the little town of Bethlehem. It is a time of great joy and glad tidings to all, for on that day "was born unto us a Saviour, who is Christ, the Lord."

The trees, the lights, the tinsel, the ornaments are merely ways to accentuate this season of joy and lightheartedness. Can one refuse to be gay and cheerful when seeing everywhere these "Christmas signs."

Northwestern is not lacking in the Yuletide spirit. Glances over the campus reveal a conglomeration of sparkling seasonal decorations. A serious moment of reflection will admit the thought that some individual or persons put in that extra time and effort to add one more portion to the Christmas spirit.

Each tree, each light, each tinsel is a symbol — a symbol of man's quest for joy, his love for his fellowman and his devotion to God.

CORRECTION

The article which appeared in the November 13, issue of the Current Sauce concerning the construction of the new science building failed to mention that the entire second floor of the structure will be devoted to Chemistry. Although it is a science building, it will house only the physical sciences with the biological sciences remaining in the present building.

SLAVENSKA BALLET VARIANTE SCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY 6

Wednesday, February 6, at 8:15 p.m. "The Slavenska Ballet Variante" will be presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium. This is the third in the Artist Series programs which are scheduled to appear at NSC.

Mia Slavenska, internationally popular Croation ballerina, with a company of ten outstanding artists will present a program of Russian Ballet and American folk dances.

Madame Slavenska was born in Slavonski-Brod in Yugoslavia. She received her training at the Royal Academy of Music in Zagreb and in Paris. At the age of 16 she made her first gala performance at the opera house in Zagreb with her own dance ensemble in a program entirely arranged and choregraphed by herself.

From this performance she rapidly ascended to stardom. In 1936 she won first prize in the Dance Olympied of that year's Olympic. She became prima ballerina of the Russe de Monte Carlo in Europe and toured America with them in 1940. In 1945 she organized her own dance company in the United States.

Mia Slavenska has held stellar roles in the ballets "Gesille," "Swan Lake," "Gaiete Parisienne," "Scheherezade," "Sylphides," "Coppella," "Nut Cracker," and "Spectre de las Rose." She played the star role in the motion picture "Ballerina."

As choreographer, her own works for ballet include such productions as Schoenberg's "Transfigured Night," "Schubertiana;" Bruch's "Violin Concerto" and Cesar Frank's "Symphonic Variations." For her present company she has composed a number of other works.

The company has only recently returned from a successful tour of South America. They are now touring the United States from coast to coast under the direction of F. C. Coppicus and F. C. Schang of Columbia Artists Management.

Euthenics Club Has "Career Day" At NSC, Feb. 2

"Your Future in Home Economics" will be presented at Northwestern State College, Saturday, Feburary 2, 1952 from 1:00 - 4:00 p.m. This annual "Career Day" program is sponsored each year by the Euthenics Club. Girls from high schools throughout the state of Louisiana are invited to attend.

The high school students will be guests of the college for the week-end and will be housed in the campus dormitories with club girls acting as hostesses. Upon arrival Saturday morning the girls will be welcomed by club members and will be taken in small groups of three or four on an informal tour of the campus.

Climaxing the day's activities will be the program, "Your Future in Home Economics" which will be presented in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts building.

The program will feature a giant sized book made of cardboard and placed in the center of the stage. The cover of the book entitled "Your Future in Home Economics" was designed by Gloria Ethridge, sophomore home economics major. As the program begins the book is opened and the high school students are given the "inside story" of a career in home economics. The dedication page of the book will feature Patsy Winkler, Euthenics Club president, who dedicates the book, on behalf of the authors, the Euthenics Club of 1951-52, to high school girls of the state of Louisiana.

Following the dedication and foreward the body of the book will feature former home economics graduates of Northwestern who have entered professions related to Home Economics. As each page is turned a girl will step from the book and present a picture of the work in a particular field.

The fields included are as follows: dietition, home demonstration agent, business, Child Development, Merchandizing.

The last page of the book will consist of the epilogue and will feature Miss Lela Tomlinson, state supervisor of home economics, who will give a brief resume of the preceding pages and will draw the different phases together to complete the picture of "Your Future in Home Economics."

Directly following the program an informal tea will be held in the Living-Dining Room of the Home Economics Building.

Between the lines

On the evening of January 24, in the Fine Arts auditorium seventy graduating seniors will receive their diplomas, written acknowledgement that they have fulfilled the requirements in some field of study and are, therefore, equipped to enter a chosen profession or continue studies on a graduate level.

However, if after four years of college life, all they can realize for their efforts is a record of so many hours of study leading to a degree and a recommendation for a job, they will have profited little from their studies.

Life is a continual school lesson and learning is more than the mere absorption of book matter. Formal education is only the introduction to the textbook and there remains chapter upon chapter devoted to the complications and inconsistancies of life which one must master in order to realize any profit from this world other than material compensation.

The diploma, then, is recognition of graduation, but it should be a two-fold recognition, on the one hand announcing that the student is ready to take his place in the business world and, what is more important, he is ready to live a fuller life because of his education.

In Passing...

Shelton Robinson

Overshadowing all else throughout Louisiana as this week's Sauce goes to press is the Gubernatorial election, the polling for which is today. The Korean War, the Presidential race, corruption in government on the national level, etc., have all been relegated to the background for the moment as the voters decide who will represent them in the Governor's Mansion, in the House of Representatives and in local governmental offices.

Realizing the seeming tendency of the electorate to wreck all the designs and schemes of the pollsters and dopesters of political battles and to send away their predictions, I am, nevertheless, going to stick my neck out and give an analysis and a forecast of the Governor's race as I see it.

Spaht and Boggs will be the top two men, as Governor Long has predicted. Judge Spaht is respected highly in his own area and should be able to poll some votes which have been anti-Long in the past. Also, the Governor, in spite of some loss of prestige by high taxes, political breaks, personal feuds, etc., still has a great following of loyal supporters which should be enough to give Spaht a plurality of the votes in the first primary. The anti-Administration vote will be divided among several of the other candidates, and a combination of these in the runoff election should be sufficient to enable Boggs to surpass him and win the nomination.

McLemore looms as a dark-horse candidate with a possible chance of getting into the second primary, but Boggs' fine Congressional record (the "Trumanite" label will hurt him slightly) and his long list of influential supporters will more than likely forestall any last minute upsurge of McLemore as a reform candidate. Kennon will also poll a large vote, most of which would probably otherwise go to McLemore.

Dodd should receive a fairly sizeable vote from nearly all sections of the state and will probably edge out Kennon for the fourth spot, since Kennon's support is not quite so general, and will be split with McLemore. The rest of the field might look something like this: LeBlanc, Grace, Liles, and Parker.

A history teacher of our acquaintance effectively illustrates the difficulties of establishing and maintaining peaceful relations among nations as follows: "I have a neighbor with whom I wish to be a friend. He also wants to be a friend of mine, and we both agree that we must get along peacefully together, doing everything possible to further mutual understanding and friendship. In order to show him my good intention, I built a high barbed-wire fence with steel pickets on top between his house and mine. He, in turn, to convince me of his friendship, put a ferocious dog in his back yard. I then put bullet-proof glass in the window on his side and started to wear large pistols on my belt. The other day I saw him moving supplies of poison gas and hand grenades into his house. Now I have a machine gun mounted in the front yard, and, for the life of me, I can't understand why we don't get along better."

Qualifications Set For Civil Ser. Test

The United States Civil Service Commission, New Orleans division announces the Civil Service examination for Investigator (Trainee), $4205 per year ($350 per month).

Appointments will be made in the Office of the Regional Director, 10th U. S. Civil Service Region, New Orleans, Louisiana, and possibly in other locations in Louisiana and Mississippi. Persons appointed will conduct personal investigations of civil service applicants and Federal employees for loyalty, suitability, and security in connection with Federal employment.

Promotional opportunity is excellent since all persons appointed who satisfactorily complete one year of service will be promoted to Investigator, $5060 per year.

Interested persons should file Card Form 5000AB, which can be obtained from any first or second class post office, with the Regional Director, 10th U. S. Civil Service Region, New Orleans, Louisiana, immediately. They will be notified when and where to report for the written test.

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday, January 10, at 6:15 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall. Don Jones, president of the Student Body, presided. All members of the Council were present.

Leland Langridge presented a report on the dance. We took in $700 had $562 left after taxes were deducted, and therefore lost $428 on the dance. One hundred eighty-seven couples and two stags attended.

Don Jones reminded the Council that the Spring Formal is scheduled for March 15 and the Military Ball for February 16. There was considerable discussion as to whether or not we should try to get the date of the Spring Formal changed so as not to have the two dances right together. Langridge moved that we recommend to the dance committee that the Spring Formal be held at the last open date during the last half of the month of April. Cas Moss seconded this motion, and the motion carried. Jones reported on the replies he has received from the music corporations as to which bands will be available for a dance March 15. Since the date for the dance is not definite at present, the band will have to be chosen at a later date.

The next item of discussion was expenditures for awards.

Langridge moved that we award a key to the first Air Force member, Sidney Gosnell, and certificates to the other Air Force members who serve on this Council. Ed Bacilla seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

Arlene Norsworthy was appointed to make a list of all Student Council members and their offices for proper engraving on the keys.

Langridge was appointed to get a complete list of all Student Senate members and to arrange for Cheerleader awards.

Beryl DeLoach was appointed to get a list of names and sizes of those who are to receive Purple Jackets this year.

Ronald Quinn was appointed to see Coach Turpin and get a list of the graduatin gseniors who will be eligible for football awards this year.

Bacilla was appointed to see Coach Brown and get a list of the graduating seniors who will be eligible for basketball awards this year.

Lowell Starns was appointed to see Coach Ledet and get a list of the graduating seniors who will be eligible for track awarads this year.

Beryl DeLoach was appointed to see Mr. Brittain to get a list of the graduating seniors who will be eligible for golf awards this year.

Langridge was appointed to see Coach Piscopo and get a list of the graduating seniors who will be eligible for track awards this this year.

Jones is to see Mr. Havard and get a list of the graduating seniors who will be eligible for tennis awards this year.

Sue Tucker was appointed to see Mr. Davis and get a list of the graduating seniors who will be eligible for band awards this year.

Jones reported on the Loan Fund. Mr. Easley has the money in the bank and has a drawing account on it. He and Rudy Berlin, the Executive Treasurer, should be able to get together and have the forms made out before next semester. As soon as this is done and it is published in the Current Sauce, the Loan Fund will go into effect. Leland Langridge, Beryl DeLoach, Ronald Quinn, and Don Jones will prepare the article, containing all the essential elements of the Loan Fund, to be published in the first Sauce published next semester. The Loan Fund will go into effect immediately after that.

Quinn moved that the Council present a recommendation to the Senate that all Freshman class student government officers be given full voting rights their second semester in office. Langridge seconded this motion and it was carried by the Council.

Moss presented the following senior class report. One dollar is to be collected from each graduating senior for the gift to be given by the senior class to the college.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Political Journal Features Article By NSC's Havard

One of the three outstanding American political journals, The Journal of Politics, in its current issue carries a lengthy article entitled "Abortive Louisiana Constitution Convention, 1951" by William C. Havard, assistant professor of government at Northwestern State College.

In the article Havard surveys the constitutional movement and the attempt last year to make the new constitution. Particular emphasis is given to the Louisiana Law Institute and its excellent efforts for a new constitution are compared with the present document.

Havard, who worked for the Louisiana Law Institute as a researcher in 1946-'47, attempts in the article to assess reasons for the failure to hold a convention in the state last year.

A teacher of government at Northwestern State College since 1949, Havard holds a BA and an MA degree in government from Louisiana State University and is a Ph.D candidate at the University of London. He has had numerous articles published in political journals.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 31...THE MOUNTAIN GOAT

He thought they were trying to make him the butt-end of a joke when he was asked to judge cigarette mildness with a mere puff of one brand and a quick sniff of another. The fancy foot-work didn't dazzle him! He knew that the pinnacle of pleasure comes from steady smoking . . . and that there is only one test that gives you enough time to permit conclusive proof. Smokers throughout America have made the same decision!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Demons Muzzle Bulldogs For GSC Victory; Engage Loyola U. In Conference Tilt Tonight

Sweeping the Northwestern State Demons off their feet on the first two plays of the game, the Southwestern Bull Dogs simmered down shortly thereafter and gradually fell behind to go home in defeat 76-60.

The early minutes of the first quarter resulted in a fast and furious brand of basketball, but with five minutes gone the action slowed up considerably. At the end of this period the Demons took the lead and never lost it for the remainder of the ball game. The score at the end of the first ten minutes was Demons 17 — Southwestern 13.

Led by James Thomas, the Demons cohorts started bucketing baskets with regularity. At one stage of this canto the three Purple and White freshmen, Thomas, Walker, and Collinsworth struck for four baskets in succession. With such shooting the home team left the court at half time with a comfortable lead of 11 points, 37-26.

The third quarter read about like the second, except that the margin of advantage was increased. Twice during this period, the Demons hit for three consecutive baskets and a free throw. As the whistle of the third period sounded, the Thomas lads were ahead 59-40.

For the Southwestern Louisianans the fourth quarter was their best. During this time the Lafayette quintet matched the Demons point for point. But the deficit that had been built up against them was to much to overcome and the game ended 76-60.

The outstanding players of the game proved to be Bernard Lang from Southwestern and James Thomas and Murrel Walker from Northwestern.

Defending Champs Edge Demons 48-45 In Tussle

Ushering in their first game of the new year, the Northwestern State basketballers almost battered the defending Gulf State Conference champions of Spring Hill college into defeat, but they just couldn't manage the necessary two baskets to overcome a final 48-45 score.

The Spring Hillian jumped to a lead in the early minutes of the ball game. Midway through the initial period, the Demons bounced back behind the play of Artie Ranew and Tynes Hildebrand to push out in front by one point. However this lead vanished quickly as the Badgers tucked the home club under a three point deficit at the end of the first quarter.

In the second canto the action was indicative of the entire game. Both teams looked very rusty, but each team hit the basket at about the same clip.

Leading by two points at the half, 27-25, the Mobile lads surged out in front in the third period. Backed by the accurate fire of Mugnier, Mahfouz and McLaughlin, the Badgers held a commanding third frame advantage of 46-31.

The difference came in the last quarter. It was then that the home team caught on fire. Sparked by Collinsworth, Ranew and Thomas, the Purple and White whittled the opponent's lead to a mere three points. However the Albama boys, who had only bucketed one basket in this final frame, staged a neat "freezing" of the ball, thus forcing the Demon to accept a 48-45 defeat.

Al Kopp, in May of 1950, won the senior men's all-around gymnastic championship with a total of 172 points.

NSC Whips Cats For 1st GSC Win

Traveling to Alexandria, Louisiana, the Demons of Northwestern State College defeated the Wildcats of Louisiana College 66-54. It was the first conference victory for the Demons.

From a one point advantage at the end of the first period, the Demons steadily increased their lead until they reached the margin of victory held at the final whistle.

Noticibly in this bid for the win was the third stanza when the Purple and White definitely pulled out in front by a comfortable safety of 15 points. Artie Ranew and Bill Collinsworth hit the net consistantly in this frame to rate credit for this drive.

High scorer of the night proved to be Holloway of the Wildcats who pumped the hoop for 23 points. Ranew and Collinsworth of the Purple and White followed with 21 and 18 points respectively.

Intramurals

The Pi Kaps won again Wednesday when Tri Sig was the losing team. The Pi Kaps had little trouble, winning by a score of 29-16. Roberts with 15 points was high pointer for the Pi Kaps, while McLean led the losers with 11 points.

Defeat was dealt to the Pups. Tri Sig, after being beaten the previous night, came back Thursday night and beat the undefeated Pups 26-23 in a very exciting game. White led Tri Sig with 14 points, and Bellew and Trichel scored high for the Pups with 7 points each.

Only one game remains to be played this season. This game wlil be played next week between the Pi Kaps and the Pups, these teams having the best records for this intra-mural season.

After putting the Southwestern Louisiana Bulldogs on a lease Saturday night, 76-60, the Northwestern State Demons take their chances in taming a victory-hungry Loyola Wolf-pack in the gymnasium tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The battle between the Demons and the Wolfpack will pit two quintets, both making their bids for recognition as title contenders in the Gulf State Conference, against each other.

Comparing scores against two common opponents, Spring Hill and Southwestern, should provide the Demons with the upper hand in the fracas because the Purple and White lost only to the Spring Hill lads, while the Haggarty quintet dropped both games. But as it stands, the invading team hold an experience advantage, and therein lies the difference.

Pacing the New Orleans team is Ketchum, a 6'7" center. Flanking him will be a well rounded group with plenty of height.

As in the preceeding game, the home team will depend on the freshman working combination of James Thomas, Murrel Walker, and Bill Collinsworth. These freshmen guided by the all-around hustle of Jim Yergler can well hold the Wolfpack at bay.

Northwestern Swimmers Edge Memphis Naval 48-36

Coach Johnny Piscopo's Northwestern State College webmen are riding the crest of a 2-0 record in early season competition, submerging the New Orleans' YMCA 54-30 in the Natatorium on December 15 and edging the Memphis Naval Station 48-36 this past week-end at Memphis, Tennessee.

In the opening meet the Demon swimmers swam away with first places in the 220 yard freestyle, the 50 yard freestyle, the 100 yard individual medley, the 100 yard freestyle, the 100 yard backstroke, the 440 yard freestroke and the fancy diving competition.

Bob Vorhees, team captain took first places in the 100 yard and 50 yard freestyle competition. Dennis Ryder also coped two firsts, in the 220 yard and the 440 yard freestyle races.

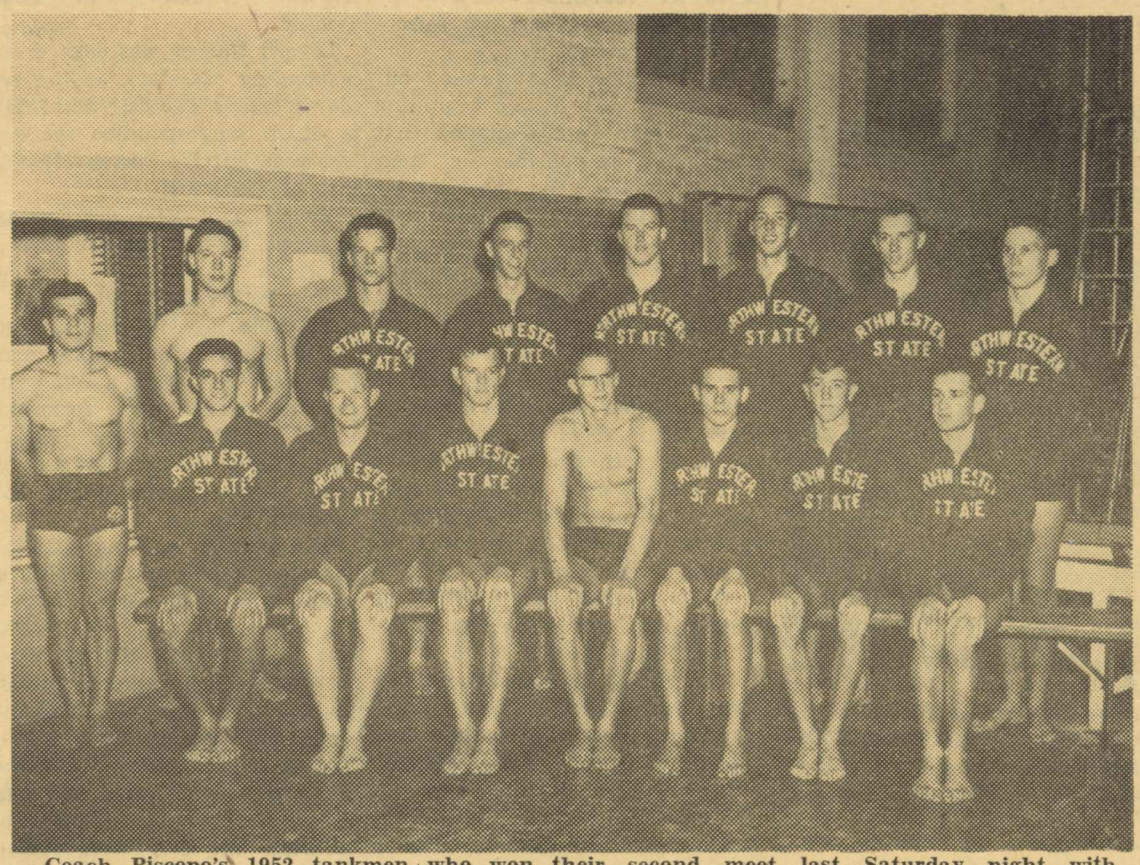

Mike Torrans bested the competition in the 100 yard individual medley, John Cunningham was tops in the 100 yards backstroke and Jack Gaston was unbeatable in the diving group.

For the New Orleans' crew Bob Rodrigue won their only first award, the 100 yard breststroke. The 800 foot freestyle and the 600 foot medley relay were also won by the New Orleanians.

In the Memphis meet the Demons were victorious, but it was close and the meet wasn't decided until the team of Vorhees, Duhon, John Cunningham and Peyton Cunningham had beaten the Gobs in the final event of the meet, the 400 yard relay.

Both Vorhees and Ryder captured two individual firsts for the Demon cause, these victories in the same events in which they were tops in the New Orleans meet. Jack Gaston was also a repeater in the fancy diving division.

John Cunningham was good for a first in the 200 yard breaststroke and the trio of Peyton Cunningham, John Cunningham and Torrans commanded the 300 yard medley relay fight.

The Demons with a reputable record of eight wins and four losses through their first twelve games this season are faring well on the statistical ledger also. The locals are averaging 66.4 points per game to their opponents 56.3 or more than 10 points per game more than their opposition. The boys are shooting at a 35.6 percentage clip from the field and a rather poor 57.4 average from the free throw line. With these kind of percentages to go on the Demons look like a good bet to hold down their rating as the "dark horse" in the conference fight.

The football officially goes in moth balls after this past week-end with the possible exceptions of the "Big Shots" who are trying to "de-emphasize" the sport. From this point it seems that the coaches who want to de-emphasize the great American game are those who do not fare so well at the sport. They yell "ban bowl games" chiefly because they can not put out teams good enough to go to the bowls. So they all get hot over the idea of banning the games so the schools with good clubs can not pick up some easy cash to build their athletic departments.

Baseball gets its share of the spotlight with the announcement that Ted Williams, Red Sox; Jerry Coleman, Yankees; and Lloyd Merriman, Reds have been called into the reserves. It seems Uncle Sam wants their services for 17 months beginning the first of May. Also Bobby Feller signed his fourteenth contract with the cleveland Indians for a sizable pay increase.

Jack Gaston balanced on the meter board. Jack is a past captain of the swimming team and unbeaten in fancy diving competition, thus far, this season.

DEMONETTES MEET

The Demonettes met in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts auditorium Wednesday, January 9.

Under the discussion of business, a reporter was elected to serve the remainder of this semester. Macelle Smart was selected by the group.

All the girls who checked out Demonette suits at the beginning of the year were reminded that they were responsible for their suits, whether or not they dropped out later. The suits must be cleaned before being returned.

Lt. Col. J. W. Bowman spoke to the girls. He emphasized the importance of staying together as a group during the spring semester. He also encouraged the girls to arrange their schedules so as to have fifth period Thursday open for drill with the ROTC.

The girls were shown a drawing of the proposed new uniforms. The ideas presented were well received by the group.

Col. Bowman stated that the Demonettes will be able to attend the Military Ball.

In order to be a member of the Demonettes for the spring semester, a girl must pay her dues during the first week of the semester.

It was also suggested that the old constitution and by-law of the Demonettes be revised and a commitee was appointed to work on them. The new ideas will be presented to Col. Bowman and to Miss Farris, Demonette sponsor.

New Registration Convenient For All But Registrars

For the spring semester Northwestern State College will revert to a registration program which was in effect during the war. Registration started Wednesday, January 10, and will continue until Wednesday, January 17.

The new procedure allows students to register during off-class hours. The purpose of the early registration is to allow the students more time with their advisers to plan courses to be taken through the semester. It also alleviates long lines and congestion typical of the previous one and two days registrations.

In addition to the week of early registration, January 29 has been set aside as regular registration day. All students who have not previously registered will do so on that day.

Spring semester classes will begin on Wednesday, Janury 30.

College officials, however, urge students to return January 29 in order to get their grades and make any necessary changes.

'52 Potpourri Beauty Contest Judge Ranks NSC Contestants Above Average

Albert R. Manning

Editor's note: Mr. Manning was the judge in the recent Potpourri beauty contest and will return to the campus tomorrow evening to pick the top six beauties from the list of the sixteen finalists.

Despite recent adverse publicity, the younger generation isn't "going to the dogs." I have been convinced of this fact for quite a few years and, from my personal experience, I can definitely state that the average youth of today is a much improved model of his counterpart of fifteen years ago.

My convictions along these lines were further strengthened by my recent experience as judge of the Potpourri beauty contest. I found the fifty contestants to rank high, not only in beauty and personality but also in regards to their morals and their ambitions in life.

My selections were based on beauty, poise and personality. I also asked each girl three questions so as to observe her diction and expression. These questions did not effect the preliminary selections, but the answers I received enabled me to get an accurate word picture of the average Northwestern co-ed.

"Miss Northwestern" has a happy home life and has been reared in a Christian atmosphere. However there is room for improvement in the social relationship between parents and children in her family. In addition, she manifests an independent character development, especially in her lack of prejudice and her concern of the problems facing racial minorities. Her intelligence, knowledge of current events and plans for the future are direct compliments to the instruction and guidance she is receiving at Northwestern.

"Miss Co-ed" is above average in beauty and her stage presence is "B." She possesses a pleasing personality but, at the same time, it is very direct with an absolute lack of pretense. She enjoys the social life at Northwestern and has a regular boy friend (actual figures show that thirty-nine of the contestants keep steady company, eight date and three steer clear of the men folk).

In conclusion I would like to say that it was an honor to judge the beauties of Northwestern State College and I appreciate the cordial treatment extended to me by the editors and staff members of the Potpourri and the Current Sauce.

James "Snapp" Oakes, of Homer, was elected president of Sigma Tau fraternity for 1950-51.

Debaters Gain Poise In Fall Meets List Tentative Spring Schedule

The NSC Forensic squad, under the direction of William Smith, concluded its fall semester activities with a record of two first places in individual events and 19 wins and 32 losses in debate. The squad, which is composed of 12 members, participated in three tournaments. These were the Southwest Central Tournament at Ada, Oklahoma; Millsaps Tourney at Jackson, Mississippi; and the LSU meet at Baton Rouge.

First places in individual events were won by David Kendrick of Natchitoches, who placed first in poetry reading at Ada, Oklahoma and Jim Vorhoff of Abbeville, who won first in oratory at Jackson.

In debate, NSC's total percentage was .358% for the 53 rounds in which they participated. Billy Williams of Alexandria had the best individual average with a 4-2 record or a .666 percentage. Jim Vorhoff, victorious in eight of 17 rounds, won the most rounds. A run down on the top members of the squad is as follows: Billy Williams 4-2, Chick Gabbert 6-6, Ronald Quinn 3-3, Don Jones 3-3, Millie Middleton 2-2, Jim Vorhoff 8-9, Barbara Robinette 5-7, and David Kendrick 4-7. Student Loans Are Available Beginning Today

The short range loan fund sponsored by hte student government here at Northwestern, goes into effect today. With the loan fund now in operation a student may borrow up to $10 for a period of thirty days. Students wishing to take advantage of this may qualify as follows:

First, to be eligible for a loan, a person must be a regularly enrolled student at Northwestern carrying at least 12 hours. The student wishing to borrow money must then get an upperclassman to endrose the loan for him. The third step will be to contact Rudy Berlin, Student Body Executive Treasurer. Berlin will sign the check after the endorser has signed a form along with the borrower, and he will send the borrower to Mr. Robert Easley who will countersign the check, which may be cashed at the treasurer's office in Caldwell Hall.

At the end of a month's duration (30 days) the borrower must repay the money plus a fifty cents service charge. A fine will be charged for delinquent payments. All delinquent loans will be turned over to the registrar one month before the end of the respective semester for appropriate action.

No person who is affiliated with a loan which is outstanding, either as endorser or borrower, is eligible to participate in another loan.

Students interested in running for the editorship of the Potpourri or the Current Sauce in the spring elections must file their intentions with Student-body Co-ed Vice-president Beryl Deloach by noon Saturday, February 23.

LIBRARY
NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE

Let's Get Together . . .

Student government has not always been a part of the educational system. In our schools it was a natural outgrowth of our love for the democratic way. As such, it is government representative of the views and opinions of the governed and those who govern are their "voice."

At Northwestern, student interest in student government is dormant. Yet, student government does exist because the Student Council and the Student Senate do meet. However government which functions without knowledge of the views of the governed is functioning improperly and that is the situation on this campus. What we have is student government officers legislating according to their own personal views.

There is one way in which the student is made aware of the doings of the Student Council and that is the publication of the minutes of the meetings of this body in the Current Sauce. This is mandatory according to the student-body constitution. There is no provision for the publication of the meetings of the Student Senate. The only way in which student government can become aware of student opinion is to be told by the individuals or to go directly to them and ask them.

We doubt if any of the above has taken place on this campus in a long time. Surely the students nave formed opinions about the present laundry system, the dining hall situation, the spending of student-body funds. Why not take them to the source where they will do the most good — the student government.

The student-body officers should do all they possibly can to learn the student's stand, even though the students fail to volunteer this information, because this is their chief function and they were aware of the low ebb to which student participation in student government has sunk when they ran for office.

What is needed is student-body interest in what student government is doing and student government interest in what the student-body wants. Is that so difficult?

A Little Consideration

With the new dietician, Miss Bess Vinson, arriving Thursday to assume the management of the college dining hall, we recommend a vote of thanks to Mrs. Mammie Younger who has been "filling in" as head dietician since the resignation of Miss Dryer last November.

That there is still room for improvement in the dining hall situation is common knowledge. That there was improvement under Mrs. Younger's management is also factual but not readily admitted.

All too few students knew that Mrs. Younger had in her employment student dieticians rather than experienced help. She also submitted specific recommendations for improvement in the preparation and the serving of meals. Some of her ideas were stifled for one reason or another, some were put into effect and some are still being considered by the "powers who rule."

The process of serving three meals a day, seven days a week throughout the school year involves more than the mere preparation of food. Meals are planned weeks in advance and any one reason, ranging from failure to receive delivery of certain items on specific dates to failure to receive items in usuable condition, can disrupt a meal schedule. There is also the supervision of the kitchen help and the student servers and pencil work which is never finished.

This is not written in defense of dining hall dieticians in general and Mrs. Younger in particular. However, a little thought will show that the person who is blamed when things go wrong is not necessarily the person who is at fault.

Thoughts For The Visitors

In considering a college education, one must realize that it is four more years devoted to study. To counterbalance this, the student must acquire in this span definite skill in a chosen field which will make him more valuable than the person who went from high school right into the same field. He should not expect to "rate" because of his diploma, but he should be able to rise quicker once he has learned the particulars of a certain business.

Also important is the experience one acquires in living away from home. College life should produce a more mature personality because the student is constantly made to cope with different people and trying situations.

These are the important things about a college education. The extracurriculars should or should not be investigated depending on how much time the student must devote to his studies. They are part of the college life but should in no way interfere with the main purpose of the student — to acquire a specific education.

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday January 31, at 6:15 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall. Don Jones, president of the Student Body, presided. All members of the Council were present.

Jones reported that Mr. Easley has the money for the Student-body Loan Fund. He asked for the Council's opinion as to whether or not we should go ahead and lend the money before the publicity is out, since the Current Sauce will not be published until February 12. Ronald Quinn moved that we go ahead and lend the money even though the publicity will not be out until later. Ed Bacilla seconded this motion and the Council approved it unanimously.

Jones announced that Charlie Spivak and his orchestra have been booked to play for our Spring Formal Friday night, April 4. We will pay him $1250; and he will present a concert from 7:30-8:30 and play for the dance from 9:00-12:00. Methods of publicizing the dance were discussed.

The schedule of this semester's elections was set up as follows:

February 23 — "Notice of Intention" for the editorships of the Potpourri and Current Sauce must be filed.

March 24 — Students desiring to be candidates for general Student Body offices must file intentions.

April 15 — General Student Body Election.

April 23 — Run-off of General Student Body election and cheerleader election.

April 24 — Students desiring to be candidates for Student Senate must file intentions.

May 7 Student Senate election.

Leland Langridge moved that we recommend to the Senate that the inaugural ceremony of Student Body officers be held after the election in the spring semester instead of during the first week of the fall semester. Quinn seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Sue Tucker Secretary

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Thursday, February 7, at 6:15 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall. Don Jones, president of the Student Body, presided. All members were present with the exception of Carolyn McLean, Leland Langridge, and Ronald Quinn.

Ed Bacilla reported that the Senate passed our recommendations concerning attendance of Council members, Senate members, and cheerleaders; voting power of freshman officers and the change in time of inauguration of Student Body officers. The Council passed unanimously the recommendation that awards be withheld from Council and Senate members who miss three consecutive meetings or five overall meetings during the year and from cheerleaders who do not perform at all home football and basketball games and at all Fair games. This recommendation, passed by the Council and the Senate, becomes a by-law immediately.

The Council passed, by a vote of 4-1, the recommendation that freshman student government officers be given full voting power their second semester in office. The Council passed unanimously the recommendation that the time of inauguration of Student Body officers be changed from the first week of the fall semester to the latter part of the spring semester. These two recommendations will be voted on as amendments to the constitution by the Student Body.

There was considerable discussion as to what we should charge for the appearances of Charlie Spivak and his orchestra. Beryl DeLoach moved that we charge $1.00 per person straight for the concert, with no couple tickets available; $3.00 per couple for the dance alone, with no stags and no corsages; and $4.00 per couple for combination dance and concert ticket. These prices do not include taxes. Cas Moss seconded this motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Sue Tucker, Secretary

College Library Resumes Old Rate In Fining Policy

Effective March 1, the college library will return to its long-standing policy of charging a fine of 5c per day on all overdue two-weeks and seven-day books, according to Eugene Watson, college librarian. Dr. Watson stated that the increased postal rates on overdue-notices necessitates the discontinuance of the "2c cash-rate" which has been in effect on an experimental basis for several months in an attempt to reduce the amount of bookkeeping involved in maintaining records of unpaid fines. The 2c rate is currently being applied when an individual pays his fine at the time he returns an overdue book.

DEMONS HOSTS TO LOUISIANA COLLEGE THURSDAY EVENING

Northwestern In Third Loss Of Home Stand

A slow starting Southeastern team took the measure of a Demon quintet which started off "like a house afire" and simmered down to a mere spark. The final score read: Southeastern 46 — Demons 41.

The home team held the visitors to a mere field goal and two charity shots while collecting 14 points in the first canto.

However the Lions perked up in the second frame outscoring NSC 12 points to 9 points. At the half, the score still favored the Demons 23-16.

The visitors set the stage for their final period drive by edging to within one point of the Demons at the close of the third period.

Outscoring the locals 17-11 in the last frame clinched the contest for the Southeastern Lions. The final score read 46-41.

For the victors, Joe Boyd and Calvin Barnett tied for scoring honors with 12 points apiece. Ken Shaw continued to pace the Demon netters, dropping 20 points through the hoop.

NSC Throws Scare Into GSC Leaders Ere Bowing 58-57

The Northwestern basketeers lost their second "heartbreaker" in as many nights as they fell to the sharp shooting Southerners from Mississippi 58-57 last Friday evening.

The accurate shooting of Nick Revon proved the difference in the two teams. He netted 20 points for the Southern cause. Tom Bishop trailed him with 18 markers.

Ken Shaw led the field of scorers for the evening with 26 points. Mississippi was hard pressed to keep the "Slow Poke" n check.

Both teams were cold at the start of the ballgame. Shaw managed five points to push the Demons out in front 5-3. At the end of the first canto they led 11-10.

By the end of the second quarter, the visitors, led by Bishop, had meshed enough points to leave the court with a 28-27 lead.

The Demons were a "team possessed" in the third frame and matched the fast moving Southerners point for point. The count was knotted at 45 all at the end of this period.

The final quarter was a thrill-a-minute affair as time slipped by and neither team could muster a convincing lead. With less than two minutes remaining, Sam Booras hit a two-pointer from the corner to put the Demons out in front 56-55.

Not to be outdone, Revon sunk the same shot for the game-winning basket of the evening. The Southerners clung to this one point lead until the final whistle.

Last Home Tilt Of '52 Season For Varsity Five

On Thursday night, Feb. 14, at 7:30 p.m., the Northwestern State College basketball team will play its last regular scheduled home game of the current season when they tangle with the Wildcats of Louisiana College.

In the lone previous contest between the two teams which was played on the Wildcats home court earlier in the season, the Demons defeated the home club 66-54. Holloway was a thorn in the side of the Demons the entire contest when he looped in 23 points. Louisiana College poses a dual threat in the form of Al Priest and Arch Aplin and the Purple and White will be facing a strong barrier.

To cope with this barrier, Coach Thomas will rely on the cohorts Ken Shaw, Murrel Walker, and Sammy Booras. Walker has proven to be a steady spark in the Demon offense and defense throughout this season. Shaw and Booras have just recently come into their own. Shaw has been averaging around 20 points per contest since he became eligible at the start of the second semester. He can shoot with both hands and has a variety of shots, but he prides himself on his book shot. Unlike the tall Shaw, Booras isn't much of a scorer but his hustle and spirit has bottled up many an opponent in the recent home stand.

Although the Purple and White have beaten the Wildcats, the Louisiana College quintet is ranked one place higher than the Demons in the GSC standings. In conference play, the Wildcats have won four and lost seven, while the Natchitoches lads only boast a three and nine record.

The lop-sided conference record of the Demons however is not a true indication of their abilities. Most of the defeats handed the Purple and White have been close ones and could have gone either way. But in the final home conference game Thursday night the Northwesterners will be out to make the score read only one way, the Demon way and this they can do.

Aquatic Log

Final plans are being made for the annual Aquatic Show which will be presented April 24, 25 and 26 in the college natatorium.

"Dreamland" was selected as the theme of the aquatic show by members of the Aquatic Club at their last club meeting.

The entire show will consist of ten numbers which will be written and directed by club members. Each of the numbers which are to make up the show have been planned so as to represent an individual's dreams. They range from those which are considered common to those which are fantastic.

Under the guidance of Jean Maeys, Aquatic Club sponsor, who has had extensive training in aquatic skills and synchronized swimming, the various skits are in the planning stage.

Bobby Pettit, LSU's sensational sophomore, broke two SEC records in their Saturday night contest with Tulane which the Tigers won 78-66. The Tigers prize rookie broke two of Alex Groza's old marks. The first was total points for a season in conference play and the second was for field goals in a single season. Pettit is third nationally only two-tenths of a point behind Kansas phenomenal Clyde Lovellette. His 32 point output against the Greenies should help him along in that department.

Baseballs will be flying again in a few days to take some of the spotlight off the big basketball tourneys that also come off this month and next. Spring training is already underway for many of the big league clubs. I am going out on that proverbial limb and am going to try and pick the order that the Majors will finish. In the National league it adds up to another dog fight between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants. I see the New Yorkers on the basis of great pitching, namely Maglie, Jansen, Hearn, and Spencer. Brooklyn will still run a close second. An "all work and no play" club, according to Manager Eddie Sawyer, Philadelphia Phillies should take over third place. The rejuvenated St. Louis Cards under Eddie Stanky will grab the final rung of the top division. Heading the second division will be Boston, just missing the top four. Great pitching but what else? Ewell Blackwell should be able to carry the Cincinnati Red to at least sixth. The Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates will have another fight to stay out of the cellar with the Pirates winning out on Ralph Kiner's booming bat.

In the American League the overdue Red Sox will remain overdue. The Indians from Cleveland should cop this flag in a great race with the Yankees and the Tigers. The Indians have the pitching and the hitting and it should be their year. The Tigers with Houteerman back will take second money by a hair's breadth over the "Ole Yankee Pride." The Yankees will hit but they don't have that DiMaggio spark. In fourth, another guess, I say the Philadelphia A's because of their great late season comeback last year.

In the top of the second division I see the pesky St. Louis Brownies under Hornsby's management—another great year for the phenomenal Ned Garver. In sixth I see the Boston Red Sox with or without Williams. They slumped to bad last season with the pressure on. The White Sox from Chicago seem to draw seventh slot with a good ball club. The Chicagoans are my pick for the "dark Horse" role. In the cellar with little competition should be the Senators of Washington. They just can't seem to find a winning combination of any kind in Washington.

John Pruitt of Lambda Zeta is the holder of the intramural 50 yard freestyle swimming record with a time of 27.4, set in 1942.

Earl Season Feat Repeated By Gents With 55-48 Win

The Centenary Gents made it two in a row over the Demons Thursday night in the Demon gym, but not before the home town team had given them a scare. The Demons overcame a six point margin late in the last stanza to surge ahead 46-45 with less than four minutes to play, only to fall to the relentless Centenary team 55-48.

The Demons employed an unorthodox 1-1-1-2 zone throughout the game but were forced to take to a man-to-man defense in the final minutes and Centenary, lead by Bob Wright and Joe Mooty, then built up their game winning margin.

The two teams were evenly matched and the capacity crowd that filled the Demon gym witnessed one of the best games of the season. Neither team ever held more than a 6 point margin until the final minute of play when Centenary surged ahead to win.

Ken Shaw was the main cog in the Demons offense as he led the scoring for the evening with 19 points. Nine of Shaw's points were on free throws as he had a perfect night at the charity line. Close behind Shaw for scoring honors was Joe Mooty of Centenary with 16 markers. Mooty made seven field goals and two free throws.

The Gents had trouble penetrating the Demons zone defense throughout the first period but the accurate shooting of Mooty andConnie MacRea enabled Centenary to hold a 14-13 lead at the end of the stanza.

The Gents tried to pull the Demons out of their zone in the second period by freezing the ball but with no avail. Centenary still lead at the half by one point, 29-28.

The Demons had to overcome a six point margin that the visitors built up shortly after the half. They pulled within three points as the third period ended.

In the fourth canto Centenary again tried to slow the game down but the hustling Northwesterners sank three quick baskets to take a 46-45 lead with less than four minutes remaining. The Gents, however, took a one point lead and the home team was forced to take to a man-to-man defense to stop them from holding the ball. Bob Wright and Mooty quickly took advantage of the situation and provided the winning margin.

Memphis Naval Edges NSC Webmen 43-41

NSC — NAVY

The aqualetes of Northwestern State College came out on the short end of a 43-41 score in the natatorium last Saturday, as Memphis Navy out-swam the locals in a very close meet.

The final event, the 400 yard relay, decided the winning team. Robert "Duke" Voorhees, ace Demon sprint man, came from behind to catch his opponent in the final lap. Seemingly, both boys touched the finish line at the same instant, but the judges ruled in favor of Navy.

Navy also took top honors in fancy diving, as Milton Davis outpointed NSC's Jack Gaston. Davis, who swam for Texas U. prior to enlistment in the Navy, is one of the top divers in the South. He is soon to go to Annapolis, where he will begin training for a tryout to the Olympics.

Here's how the events looked over all.

300 yard medley relay — won by NSC (John Cunningham, Peyton Cunningham, Myron Lockey.) Time 3:21.5.

200 Yard Freestyle — First, Gorman, Navy; Second, Rider, NSC; Time 2:26.1.

50 Yard Freestyle — First, Voorhees, NSC; second, Hull, Navy. Time, 25.2.

Fancy Diving — First, Davis, Navy; second, Gaston, NSC; third, Howard, NSC.

100 Yard Freestyle — First, Voorhees, NSC; second, Gorman, Navy; third, Kehoe, NSC, Time, 57.2.

200 Yard backstroke — First, Smith, Navy; second, John Cunningham, NSC; third, McKenna, Navy. Time 2:35.3.

200 Yard breaststroke — First, Lockey, NSC; second, Davenport, Navy. Time, 2:53.1.

440 Yard freestyle — First, Rider, NSC; second, Hull, Navy. Time, 5:31.5.

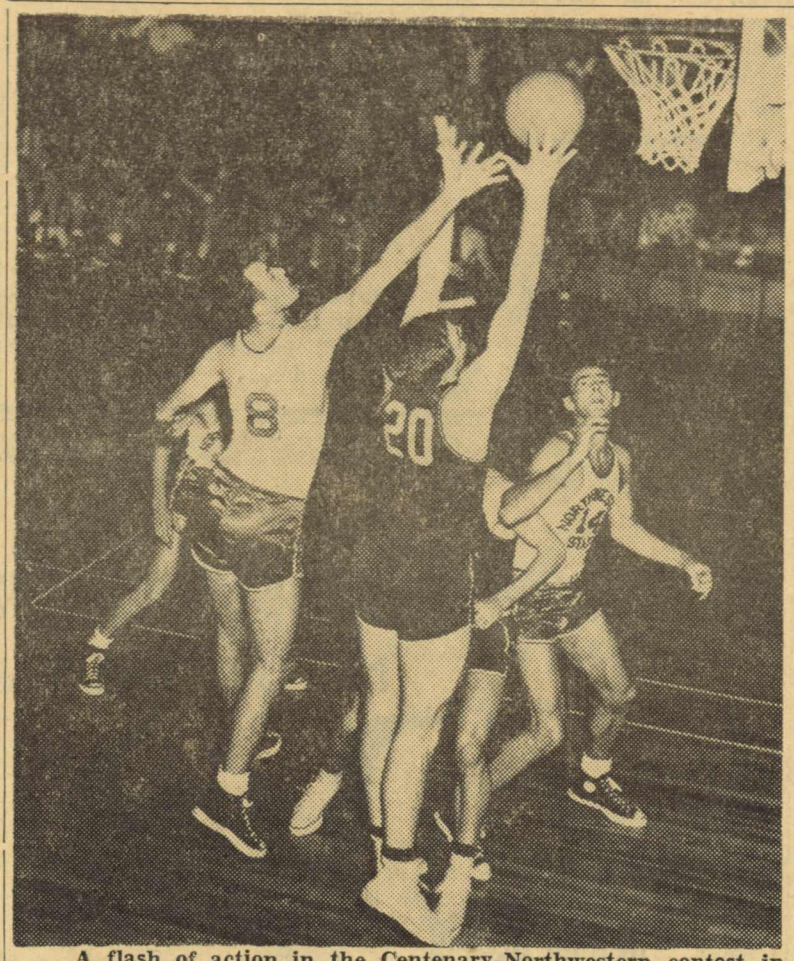

400 Yard relay — won by Navy; Time, 3:56.3.

The Demon tankmen chalked up an easy win February 2 over the Little Rock Boys Club, 49-26. The Arkansas boys, coached by former Demon swimmer Jimmie Miller, showed surprising skill for prep webmen. Many of the more strenuous events were shortened to allow keener competion.

Little Rock's Van Steenwky copped his team's only first place, turning in a credible 1:18.8 over Prestridge and Todd in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Diving honors went NSC's Jack Gaston, with his team-mate Ken Howard taking a close second. Although outclassed by Gaston and Howard, Little Rock's Fryer, a fifteen year old lad, had spectators and opponents amazed by his form. Word from Jimmie Miller indicates that the lad has been receiving some top-notch instructions from two former NSC divers, "Sonny" Hoff and Carl Quaintance.

The Demons meet the New Orleans YMCA next Saturday in the Crescent City, looking for a second win this season over the Y boys. On February 21, the locals will be on home ground when they take on Texas A & M in the college pool. The following week they journey to Dallas, Texas, where they face stiff competition in the form of SMU March 9th will close out swimming season as Piscopo's boys take on Texas A & M for a return match in College Station, Texas.

A flash of action in the Centenary-Northwestern contest in Demon gym last Thursday evening. The home team was a definite threat throughout the tilt until the Gents iced the game with a flurry of last second goals. Artie Ranew and Art Franklin of the visitors grapple for the ball while Ken Shaw moves in to assist.

Air Force Student Leads Chess Club

Pfc. Arthur Block, a member of the Air Force unit currently stationed on the campus, has forged well ahead of the other members of the Natchitoches Chess Club on the Club's point-score "ladder."

Block, a native of Chicago, is an experienced player with a fine record. In 1949 he participated in the U. S. Open Tournament; in 1950 he won the "individual brilliance" trophy at the Oak Ridge Tournament; in 1951, pitted against some forty experts from sixteen states, he won third place in the Chicago Tournament. Block plays blindfold chess, and is also an excellent multi-board player; on one occasion he engaged in forty-five simultaneous games, winning forty-two of them.

Several members of the faculty are also members of the Natchitoches Club; these include Lorane Brittain, Alan Crosby, G. F. Kenner, Paul Marx, and Eugene Watson, who serves as Chairman-Secretary of the group.

Any student or faculty member who plays chess or is interested in learning how to play the game is invited to join the Club.

FLETCHER-BURNETTE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED

Miss Helen Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Fletcher of Natchitoches, became the bride of Lawrence Roy Burnette, son of Mrs. Roy Burnette of Santa Barbara, California, in a beautiful double ring ceremony on January 26.

The marriage vows were spoken to Rev. J. B. Brock, grandfather of the bride in his home at Opelousas, Louisiana, at 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon.

The bride was attractively dressed in a gray suit with matching accessories of purple and lavendar, and an orchid corsage. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Frances Fletcher, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore for the occasion a lovely green suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The groom's only attendant was Cpl. Paul Ardoin of New Orleans who stood as best man.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's grandparents immediately following the ceremony. Spring flowers placed at vantage points throughout the receiving rooms formed the decorations. A white hand embroidered tablecloth covered the dining room table, with a three tiered wedding cake at one end and the punch bowl and an arrangement of white tapered candles and carnations highlighting the opposite end. Mrs. H. C. Walker of Opelousas, served the punch, and Mrs. J. B. Brock, Jr., aunt of the bride, of Cheneyville, served the cake to the guests.

Out of town guests included Mrs. John C. Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 32...THE YAK

He's far too sophisticated to be amused by slap-stick comedy! From the minute the curtain went up, he knew that you just can't judge cigarette mildness by one fast puff or a single, swift sniff. Those capers may fool a frosh — but he's been around and he knows! From coast-to-coast, millions of smokers agree: There's but one true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

EUTHENICS CLUB'S "CAREER DAY" PROGRAM ATTENDED BY 22 HIGH SCHOOL GROUPS

The Euthenics Club of Northwestern State College was host to 22 high schools throughout the state of Louisiana for a "Career Day" program held Sautrday, February 2.

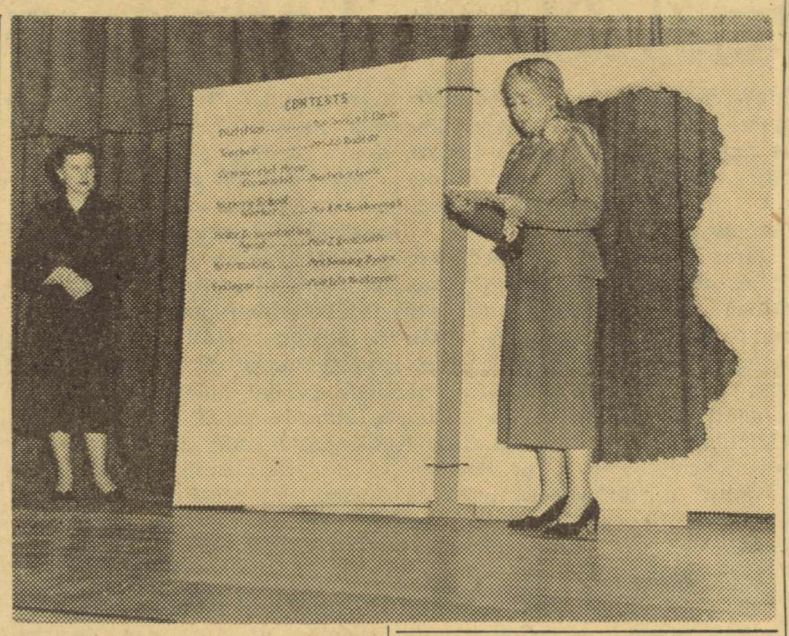

Upon arrival the students registered in the Home Economics building and were taken on informal tours of the campus. The high school students were guests of the college for lunch Saturday.

Climaxing the day's activities was the program, "Your Future in Home Economics" which was presented in the Little Theatre of the Fine Arts Building, at 1:00 p.m. Patsy Winkler, Euthenics Club president acted as mistress of ceremonies and after greeting the guests introduced the program which was presented in the form of a giant sized book. The idea for the cover of the book was conceived by Gloria Ethridge, sophomore home economics major, and was interpreted and carried out by Messers Peterson and Kenner of the Art Department.

After the greeting and opening remarks, Winkler opened the book and read the dedication and foreward. Following this, the body of the book was presented which featured former home economics graduates of Northwestern and other colleges who have entered various fields connected with home economics. After a brief introduction, each participant stpped from the pages of the book and gave a brief talk on work in her particular field.

The fields included and those representing them were: the dietitian, Miss Carolyn Hillman, Highland Hospital, Shreveport; the teacher, Mrs. John Redditt, St. Joseph High School, St. Joseph, Louisiana; the commercial home economist, Miss Esther Lewis, Louisiana Power & Light Company, Bastrop, Louisiana; the nursery school teacher, Mrs. Alma Scarborough, Ruston, Louisiana; the home demonstration agent, Miss Janice Brouillette, assistant home demonstration agent, Bienville Parish; the homemaker, Mrs. Sammie Dyson, Fort Worth, Texas.

The epilogue featured Miss Lela Tomlinson, state supervisor of home economics, who gave a brief resume of the preceding pages and connected the different phases together to complete the book, "Your Future in Home Economics."

The last page of the book, read by the mistress of ceremonies, was an acknowledgement to those who had contributed to the compilation of the book and its program. Those acknowledged were Jane Wolcott, program director; Gloria Ethridge, cover idea; book construction, Mr. Postman, Industrial Arts Department., Mr. Peterson and Mr. Kenner, Art Department; and Winnie Dowden, program script.

Directly following the program an informal tea was held in the living-dining room of the Home Economics building.

Those schools attending were: Bunkie, Cypres, Elton, Fairview, Flora, Florien, Greensburg, Kelly, LaSalle, Many, Minden Mt. Hermon, Natchitoches, Newellton, Polloch, Simsboro, Slidell, Joseph Moore Davidson, Washington, Westlake, Wisner and Zwolle.

Dr. Joe N. Gerber, formerly director of student personnel and professor of education at Northwestern, is now Dean of Junior Division and guidance director at Stephen F. Austin college.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR PAUL was having a fowl time. Even his best gal didn't give a hoot for him. "Wise she hate me so?" he asked his roommate. "Simple, you stuffy old bird—because your hair's always ruffled up! Better try Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. And does tree things: Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Grooms hair neatly and naturally all day long. (Even limb-ers up your scalp. And helps you pass the Finger-Nail Nest-er, Test!)" Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's a 'owling success. So why don't you take a taxi-dermist to any drug or toilet goods counter to get a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's your hair's best friend! And ask for it at your barber shop. Then there's no talon how the chicks'll go for you.

VOL. XXVIII NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1952 NUMBER 15

Charles Laughton Appearance Scheduled For February 23

Charles Laughton will be presented in the Fine Arts auditorium, Monday, February 23, at 8:15 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Artists Series program.

When the familiar figure of Laughton lumbers onto the stage of the Fine Arts auditorium, his arms filled to overflowing with books, audiences will not know what to expect.

And this is as it should be. Laughton himself admits he never knows in advance what he will be bringing to an audience. One critic described Laughton's reading as a "combination of the Sunday comics, an act from 'Julius Caesar', a roller coaster ride and a trip through the Looking Glass."

Some people insist Laughton has already committed to memory the selections he reads and that he uses the books merely as "props." On one occasion he was caught reading a long passage from Dickens with the book held upside down.

Confronted with this accusation Laughton refused to comment. However, he confesses he gets a tremendous kick reading to audiences because "it gives me an opportunity to play all the parts."

Not that he is averse to sharing acting honors with fellow performers, for he is not. And hundreds of thousands of people in the United States and England who have seen The First Drama Quartette in "Don Juan in Hell," know it. Those people enjoyed watching Laughton enjoy his Shavian repartee with fellow Quartette members Charles Boyer, Agnes Moorehead and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

Insofar as motion pictures are concerned the distinguished actor has never been in greater demand. His current films, "The Blue Veil," with Jane Wyman, and "The Strange Door," with Boris Karloff, are now in release. Upon conclusion of this tour, Laughton will reenact his Academy Award-winning role of Henry VIII for MGM in "Young Bess."

Soc. Studies Dept. Announces Two Summer Tours

The Department of Social Sciences of Northwestern is this year offering the second in its series of educational study tours. The tours, beginning in August, are of three weeks duration, and cover a road distance of approximately 5,000 miles.

Three semester hours credit in geography may be earned by completing one of these tours, and preparing a short paper related to what was seen and noted during the trip. The details of this work may be arranged with the instructor who accompanies the group.

The fees for the tours are set as follows: Eastern Tour, $187; Western Tour, $175. Covered by the fee are such major expense items as transportation, lodging, and admission to many places of tourist interest. The individual pay for meals and for personal expenses.

Designed primarily for students and teachers of geography, these tours, which are taken in modern buses, are open also to non-students who wish to take advantage of a rich and profitable experience at a minimum expense.

LeRoi Eversull will acompany the group on the eastern tour and George A. Stokes will direct the tour through the West. Both are assistant professors of geography at Northwestern. Eversull was in charge of the successful eastern tour last summer.

In general the itinerary for the eastern tour is as follows: through Mississippi up to Chattanooga, Tennessee, on through the Smoky Mountains into North Carolina and the tobacco lands, then into Virginia and Washington, D.C.; to Philadelphia and on to New York; to Boston and up to Niagara Falls and a short jaunt through Canada to Detroit; from Detroit to Chicago, to Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and back to Natchitoches.

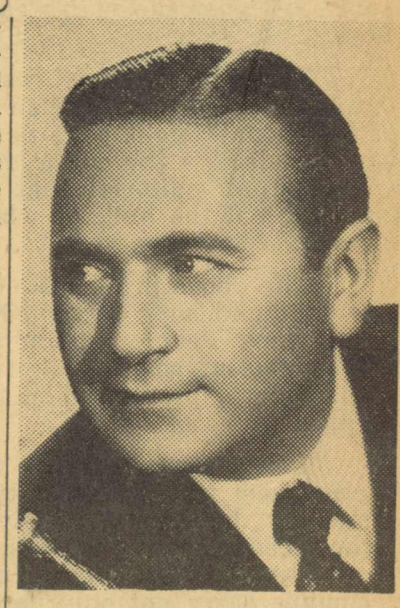

The western tour plunges into Texas, to Carlsbad, New Mexico, and its famous caverns, on through Arizona into California, with main stops in San Diego and the Los Angeles areas; on east into Nevada and Hoover Dam; and then on to the Grand Canyon and Arizona; into Utah, through Colorado, Oklahoma, slicing through a corner of Arkansas, and back to Natchitoches.

Student Council Dates Spivak For Annual Spring Formal

Charlie Spivak and his orchestra have been contracted to furnish the music for the annual spring formal on Friday, April 4. Spivak, currently slated as "The Man Who Plays The Sweetest Trumpet In The World" is the leader of an eight-year old band which rocketed to topflight stature so rapidly that it now ranks among the kings in the entertainment world.

High-lights in Spivak's career are 20th Century Fox's "Pin-Up Girl" starring Betty Grable and "Follow The Boys" for Universal. He has made many box-office records created at the Paramount Theater in New York, the Hotel Statler in New York, the Palladium in Hollywood and other top entertainment spots. Spivak's playing is so solidly established for its individuality that it can be identified whenever it is heard.

Born in New Haven, Connecticut, Spivak got his first trumpet while still in grade school. He went to Hill House School in New Haven, studying the trumpet on his own time with George Hyer, who is a member of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra. The fact that Spivak's family had chartered out a medical career for him didn't alter Spivak's decision to become a musician.

For many years, before forming his own dance band, Spivak was rated as the most sought after free lance trumpeter in the country. He played with radio's leading conductors on the most important programs. Before that time, Charlie was featured with such great bands as those conducted by the Dorsey Brothers, Ray Noble and Ben Pollack.

Spivak's latest high point is his award by Downbeat Magazine as the "top sweet band." His orchestra is rated as one of America's top bands on records, in the movies, at theaters and in hotels.

Final Reg. Figures Show Decrease In Enrollment

The usual drop in registration figures for the spring semester occurred at Northwestern State College last week when the final number of students was computed by the office of the Registrar and released Saturday.

The drop is much smaller than usual, however, with 1280 students registering for the spring semester, as compared to a total of 1319 students for the fall semester.

A breakdown of the figures finds the women outnumbering the men by 190, with 545 men and 735 women enrolled.

The school of Education leads the academic-school field with 658 students. The school of Applied Arts and Sciences is second with 492 enrolled, and the school of Arts and Sciences trails with 130 students.

Freshmen registered total 455 students, Sophomores, 329. There are 222 juniors and 232 Seniors. Forty-two persons are enrolled as special students.

The Nursing field leads the curriculum with 325 nursing students enrolled. Physical education ranks second with 132 majors. The combined curricula of the business department enrolled 186 majors, and primary and upper elementary education majors number 167.

The State Of The Current Sauce

This issue of the Current Sauce is six pages because there was not enough news last week to fill eight pages. By this is meant that the editor checked his sources of information, assigned to the staff news leads which were available and then put out a paper in keeping with the amount of copy on hand.

There may or may not have been enough news concerning this campus to fill eight pages. However, it wasn't available to the Current Sauce. Last fall this editor asked the cooperation of the entire campus in furnishing him either the leads to their activities or the written articles because he did not have the staff to cover the entire campus. As yet, there has been little response.

This paper was not ready to enlarge to an eight page edition last fall when the students voted in the "traditional" eight page Sauce because just previous to the election the editor then told the student-body through an editorial that only three people were putting out the bulk of what was then a four page paper.

The above problems have been present for quite a while and must be remedied. However it will take some time. People must be shown that when they do volunteer information, it will be given consideration and this is proven when the story appears in the paper.

For a Current Sauce to be printed, the editor must meet with his staff twice a week. At the first meeting the reporter is given an assignment and at the second meeting the assignment is due. When one considers that most extracurricular activities on this campus carry not only credit hour but also awards and trips and are seasonal rather than year-round, it is easy to see why an editor would be hard-pressed to find a responsible staff. They are a few students who are willing to work simply for "the pleasure they derive from their work" but locating them takes time.

This editor appeared before the Student Council last week and told them of his plan to print only that number of pages for which he had copy until such time as he has worked out a reliable system of news information and an active staff. This body agreed insofar as they went on record approving a six page paper temporarily.

We are singing this "sad song" to the student-body to make them aware of a situation which is very real and which, if not remedied, will be the gradual death of the Current Sauce.

On Brotherhood

"THIS IS BROTHERHOOD WEEK—dedicated, under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, to appraising our progress toward an ideal which, more than any other, motivates Americans in their dealing with each other and with all the world.

If we could embody in a word the sum of what we stand and strive for as a people, that one word 'brotherhood' would come closer than any other to defining our philosophy and our aspirations. If words or phrases like "democracy" and "free enterprise" fall short of conveying to our own people, and to others, the essence of the American ideal it is because they are political and economic words, therefore limited in scope. What they describe are only the best means to an end: the end itself is brotherhood.

We fail, of course, to achieve perfect brotherhood. Each of us fails, too often, individually; all of us fail, in too many areas of life. But slowly and stumblingly, as men always make progress toward a high goal, we inch toward brotherhood.

To that ideal are dedicated many a major and minor holiday — Independence day to the brotherhood of American citizenship; Community Chest week to the brotherly responsibility of each of us to the less fortunate; our highest religious holidays to the brotherhood of mankind.

But we do well to take a week each year to emphasize brotherhood for its own sake, and to examine our progress toward it, and to dedicate ourselves anew to the practice of it, and to resolve to go farther faster toward its attainment."

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting February 14, at 6:00 p.m., in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall. Don Jones, president of the Student Body, presided. All members of the Council were present with the exception of Carolyn McLean.

Lucian Spataro, editor of the Current Sauce, asked the Council to support him in the publication of a four-page paper until he can rebuild a staff which has the ability to put out an eight-page paper. He asked that provision be made for awards to Current Sauce staff members. Spataro recommended, too, that the constitution be amended so that the business manager's percentage on advertising collections would be low enough that it would necessitate his providing enough advertising to make an eight-page paper profitable in order to receive a full-time scholarship.

The Council discussed these suggestions at length.

Leland Langridge moved that the Student Council approve a Current Sauce of not less than six pages temporarily due to the lack of student and faculty interest in the publication of the paper. Cas Moss seconded this motion and the motion carried by a vote of 5-1.

Langrdige moved that we recommend to the Student Senate that we amend the constitution—Article 7, Section 3, sub-section c, entitled Publications, as follows:

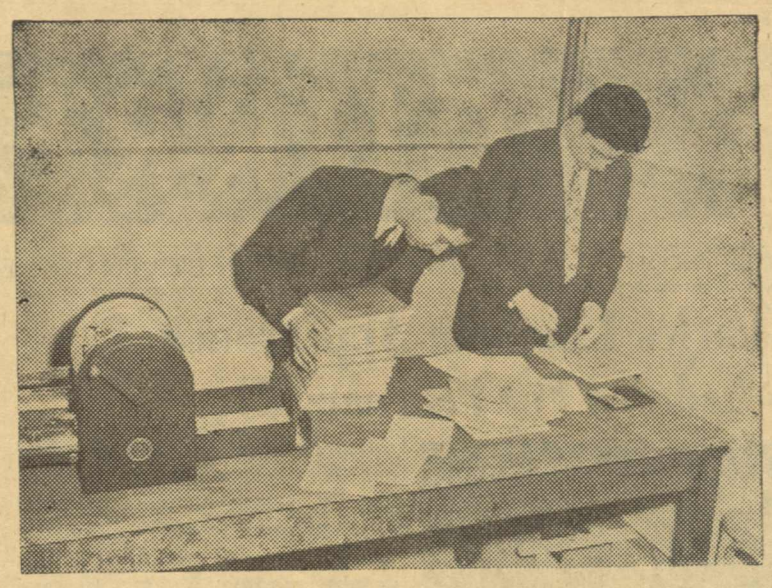

The editor of the Current Sauce shall be paid in accordance with an eight or a ten-period payment, according to whether or not the Current Sauce is published during the summer, and the editor of the Potpourri shall be paid on a nine-payment basis. The business manager of the Current Sauce and the business manager of the Potpourri shall receive 15 and 25 per cent respectively of advertising collections, not to exceed the equivalent of a full-time scholarship. The business manager of the Current Sauce shall be paid in accordance with an eight — or a ten-period scholarship payment according to whether or not the Current Sauce is published during the summer, and the business manager of the Potpourri shall be paid on a nine-payment basis.

The meeting was adjourned.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF OPENING OF COTTAGE HAT SHOP

Vera Brown and Janet Friedman cordially invite you to attend the formal opening of "THE COTTAGE HAT SHOP" 907 Washington, Saturday, February 23 from 9:30 to 5:30. A spring hat will be given away the first day. Be sure to come by for refreshments and register.

Greek students at the University of Salonik mimeograph textbooks to help meet the urgent need for printed material. Prices of regular books are so high in Greece that libraries can't even afford them. The World Student Service Fund (WSSF) which is conducting a drive on the campus at the present time spends a great deal of its money relieving such drastic needs throughout the world.

Spring Semester Debate Activities Are Announced

The Speech Department has released the debate schedule for the spring semester. The squad, composed of 12 debaters, plans to attend two tournaments, and act as host at a third.

February 29, one team will go to Alexandria, Louisiana for a demonstration debate before the Louisiana College assembly. March 21-22 the group will attend the Pi Kappa Delta Convention of the Province of the Lower Mississippi at Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma. Those attending must be members of Pi Kappa Delta, or eligible for membership. At the present time there are four members and seven prospective members to the fraternity which is the Louisiana Epsilon Chapter. In addition to six rounds of conventional debate, there will be three rounds of preliminaries in oratory and extemporaneous speaking.

March 28-29 are the dates for the Northwestern State College annual tournament. The following branches will be open in individual events: oratory, poetry reading, radio speaking, and after-dinner speaking. There will be four rounds of preliminary debate, quarterfinals and finals. There will be an informal banquet in the dining hall, followed by a dance in the field house, the first evening of the tournament.

For the final event of the year the debaters will journey to Jackson, Mississippi for the annual Southern Tournament and Congress scheduled for March 31-April 5.

The program of the tournament is highly different from the usual debating activities. The question for this tournament, which will be debated six rounds, is; Resolved: That American Colleges and Universities Should Adopt a Plan of Substantial Intercollegiate Athletic Deemphasis. The first four rounds will follow the usual pattern of debate, but the final two rounds will be based on what is termed the Oregon style of debating. The speeches will last five and six minutes, rather than the regular ten minutes.

Baptists Attend Focus Week Ser. At La. College

A group of Baptist students, headed by Miss Myra Gulledge, BSU student secretary, journeyed to Pineville last Tuesday afternoon to attend some of the Religious Focus Week services on the Louisiana College campus.

The Northwestern group, given a cordial welcome by the Louisiana College students, were privileged to hear such distinguished figures as Dr. John Xan, professor of chemistry at Howard College in Birmingham, Alabama; Mr. William Hall Preston, associate southwide student secretary for the Southern Baptist Convention; and Dr. Ralph Phelps, assistant professor of ethics at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas.

Some of the Northwestern students arrived in time Tuesday afternoon to hear Mr Preston speak on "Love, Marriage, and the Home."

During the evening service. Dr. Xan gave his testimony in a message entitled, "My Tribute to Christianity." Dr. Xan in his message said that he tried Buddhism, Confucianism, and Mohammedanism before he found the religion he wanted in Christianity. Dr. Xanis is originally from Egypt.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The main event for the Pi Kaps during the past week was the impressive ribboning service held last Thursday night, Feb. 14, at the Pi Kap house for Louise Sheppard and Rae Katherine Sonnier. Louise and "Tottie Rae" will be pledged in the near future.

The pledges have all taken their pledge tests and passed with high percentages. Preparations are being made and initiation isn't far off. If they are on their good behavior, they won't have to ride the goat but once.

A pleasant surprise the weekend of Feb. 9-10 was the arrival of Miss Katherine Rogers. Katherine came just in time for the slumber party. Later in the evening the arrival of Miss Bobbye Platt served as a second delightful surprise.

Although only a few of the Pi Kaps received Valentine candy from their beaus, all the girls enjoyed it. There was enough sweet stuff to insure everybody of a stomachache, and no one minded in the least for not having personally receiving a box.

The Pi Kaps are happy to have Baby Kay Sonnier back with them.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sigs entertained the Lambda Zeta Fraternity in their sorority house on February 12. The party was begun by the cutting of the Lambda Zeta cake by the fraternity's president, Ronnie Martin.

Katherine Elliot furnished the members a box of delicious candy in announcement of her engagement to Curtis Hoglan. Both students are from Glenmora.

Jeanette Dowden was recently pinned by Leland Langridge, a member of the Phi Kappa Nu fraternity. The members enjoyed the big box of candy furnished by Jeanette.

Sigma Tau Gamma held its spring initiation over the weekend. Prospective fraternity boys going through the public half of the program are Jack Sharp, Sammie Wilson, David Kendrick and Curtis Hoglan.

Miss Retta Strickland, sponsored by Lambda Zeta fraternity, was named Aqua Queen in 1950.

Frank Lampkin, BS '48, is now Assistant Principal at the Bossier City High School.

FBLA Convention Here March 7-8

The Fourth Annual Future Business Leaders Association convention will be held on the Northwestern State College campus March 7-8. The convention is under the joint sponsorship of the Departments of Business of NSC and the Natchitoches high school. Approximately 700 students are expected to attend.

The program will include registration, supper and F.B.L.A. rally on Friday. The rally will include song contests and a model secretary contest. The winning song of the song contest will become the state song for the association, and the winner of the model secretary contest will be the model secretary of the convention. Points will be given for first through fifth place winners in each contest.

Saturday's program includes a breakfast, general session, group meetings, election of officers, and the awarding of the Gladys Peck cup. This cup is given to the school receiving the highest number of points in the contests.

Other activities of the rally include typing contests, a scrapbook and poster contest, and an attendance contest.

Demons Bag Louisiana College Cats In Final Home Game of Season 72-62

With varsity spring football practice underway, the swimming team and the basketball squad near the end of their schedules and varsity baseball, golf, track and tennis scheduled to start in the near future, the athletes seem to dominate the campus scene. In the upper left-hand corner we see two new additions to Coach Piscopo's swimmers. They are Jerry Kehoe and Tony Koonce. Murrel Walker breaks away for a two-handed jump shot in the Demon-Louisiana College tilt which the Demons won 72-62. Also in the picture are teammates Ken Shaw and Artie Ranew. Forty-five prospects for next fall's eleven greeted Coach "Rags" Turpin for the first week of spring drills. Here the squad scrimages under the watchful eyes of Coach Walter Ledet.

Playing their last home game of the current season, a group of Demon basketballers managed to sharpen their pitchforks in the second quarter, and then jabbed the Wildcats of Louisiana College for the remaining portion of the game to send them home bearing the scab of a 72-62 wound.

The Demons looked very sluggish in the first stanza. Several times they fumbled, making the ball appear to be a jumping bean rathan than a basketball. This gave way to the fast break of the out-of towners. If the Wildcats had been able to hit the net more accurately, the game might have turned out another way, but as it happened by sheer accident or fate the Demons countered and tied the score 13-13 when Artie Ranew tipped the ball through the net simultaneously with the end of the first period.

In the second stanza, Coach Bradshaw of the Baptists pulled his entire first team from the ball game and had his subs play until the half-time. With this advantage, the Demons edged four points ahead of the Louisiana College hoopsters and left the court with the score reading Northwestern 31 — Louisiana College 27.

Ken Shaw started hitting the net consistantly in the third period, and the Demons were able to build up a considerable margin. Being 24 points out in front at the turn of the third period, Coach Thomas substituted many of his freshmen and allowed them to get their first taste of varsity competition. With these lads in the contest the more experienced gents from Alexandria sliced the 24 point lead to a mere 10 tallys at the end of the tilt.

Ben Priest and Arch Aplin each ganered 13 points for the losers while Ken Shaw, who played a limited time, hit for 18 points.

Demons Upset La. Tech 49-47 In Last Minutes Of GSC Tilt

Determination and hustle spelled defeat for the Demons of Louisiana Tech last Monday evening in Demon gym as the game Northwesterners overcame a ten point third quarter lead to down their "arch" rivals from Ruston 49-47.

Maple Lilley scored his only two-pointer of the game with less than a minute of playing time remaining to put the Demons ahead 48-47. Sammy Booras sunk a charity shot after the last whistle for the last point of the game.

Crawford Vines and Jerry Lovett of the visitors wasted little time in building up a lead and the Demons trailed at the end of the first quarter 13-8.

The home team matched the Bulldogs point for point in the second frame, but there was still that five point lead, 26-21.

Ken Shaw started bucketing points at the start of the third period and put the Demons ahead for the first time 29-28. This margin was short-lived as Lovett and Joe Mott sparkled a fine Tech fast break offense which netted the visitors a 40-32 lead at the start of the final stanza.

The tempo of the game was sped up for an all-out effort in the final frame. Booras, Shaw and Yergler combined to move the score to 47-44 for the Techsters and then Artie Ranew pushed the score to 47-46 with a two-pointer, with two minutes remaining in the contest.

The ball exchanged hands several times in these last minutes. George Davis passed-off to Lilley under the goal and Lilley made his game-winning basket.

Score by quarters:

Intramural Find In Starting Role On Demon Quintet

When it comes to "ballhawking," you might expect a Byrd man to be adept at the art. At Northwestern State College this is true. This Byrd man (or ex-Byrd high school man) is darting Sammy Booras, a little basketball player who gives all oppenents a good case of worry when he is on the court.

Sammy, a junior at NSC majoring in physical education, is a graduate of Byrd High School in Shreveport. Standing 5 feet, 6 inches tall, he is one of the shortest players on the Northwestern squad.

Nobody would ever take Sammy Booras for a basketball player — until hte little speedster is seen in action on the court. Small men are purportively always fast, but Sammy moves about the hardwood with a speed that amazes friend, foe and fan alike. Sometimes he finds himself guarding two or three men at once as he darts about with arms slashing and grabbing for the ball.

It is not unusual for Booras to intercept four or five passes a game, steal the ball from startled foes repeatedly, pounce on half-dozen loose balls, and somehow appear to be everywhere at the same time. A guard, Sammy often shoots and if he misses, he darts in to follow up the shot, coming out of a mass of towering giants rapidly dribbling the ball.

Sammy didn't come to NSC to be a basketball player. According to Coach Charles (Red) Thomas, the little Shreveporter was noticed playing intra-mural basketball, and the qualities which make him outstanding showed up at once. He has been playing a lot of varsity ball at Northwestern ever since.

Coach Thomas says that Booras is unusually good at "picking up loose balls" and worrying the offense as it works in for the basket.

At the early part of this season the little basketeer was averaging around six points a game and was playing only about half of each contest. Against Northeast, back in December, Sammy hurt his leg and was on crutches over a week. This slowed him down for a few games, but of late he has exhibited that old flash that has endeared him to the crowds.

Sammy doesn't shoot very much; most of the time he is passing the ball around on offense, but when he does fire away at the basket, his aim is usually true.

The little ballhawk is Shreveport's only representative in Northwestern basketball. It is a small representation in quantity and size of player, but this is more than compensated for by Sammy Booras' extreme desire to win, coupled with a keen competive spirit and high degree of team play. He demonstrates very well that little men still have an important part in the "game of giants."

Former Northwestern Student Now In Air Force Officers' Program

Miss Penelope Clark, better remembered on the Campus as 'Penny," was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Women's Air Force Reserve on January 2, 1952.

While enrolled at Northwestern State, she was a member of the Band, Glee Club, Swing Queens, Symphony Orchestra, Purple Jackets, Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority and "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Penny graduated in January, 1946 and received a B.S. degree with a major in music.

After graduation, Penny was Band Director at the Crowville High School, Parish Band Director Franklin Parish Schools, Director of Elementary School Bands in Alexandria and Pineville, and at the time of her enlistment in USAFR (WAF) was employed at Central Louisiana Electric Company, Incorporated, Alexandria, Louisiana.

NORTHWESTERN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION TEACHER PUBLISHES ARTICLE IN FEBRUARY, '52 CONTROLLER

"Your Annual Report—Tombstone or Evidence of Life?" is the latest of a series of articles published by Dr. Robert O. Baker, charter member of the Shreveport chapter of the National Association of Cost Accounts, and associate professor of business administration at Northwestern State College, Natchitoches.

Dr. Baker's articles, along with a companion article on "Current Trends in Annual Reports" by Samuel E. MacArthur, controller of the Federal-Mogul Corporation, Detroit, appears in the February, 1952, issue of THE CONTROLLER, national publication of the Controllers Institute of America.

In this latest article, Dr. Baker points out that too many annual reports recite the vital statistics without making them vital, interesting, and intelligible. Far too many, he says, are "like tombstones." The NSC professor contends that annual reports begin speaking through a revitalized, colorful presentation, perhaps giving illustrations of equipment, machinery, or buildings.

In commenting upon the author, THE CONTROLLER says, "Dr. Baker spends his summer vacations working for a Kansas City, Missouri, business firm to keep in touch with actual business trends and problems and has an overflowing library which includes many annual reports. He is no 'ivory tower' educator for his experience previous to his classroom work includes a corporate controllership and the post of bursar for a university."

A graduate of the University of Kansas, with study also at the University of Chicago and the State University of Iowa, Dr. Baker has been active in various business and accounting organizations for many years. While at the University of Chattanooga, he was a member of the education committee, National Office Management Association, and served on local committees of the National Association of Cost Accountants. Dr. Baker joined the Controllers Institute of America in Kansas City in 1940 while bursar of the University of Kansas City and is now affiliated with the Dallas Control.

The New Orleans Control of the Controllers Institute of America will hear Dr. Baker, Tuesday evening, February 19, when he speaks to them in a meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel, New Orleans.

VOL. XXVIII NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1952 NUMBER 16

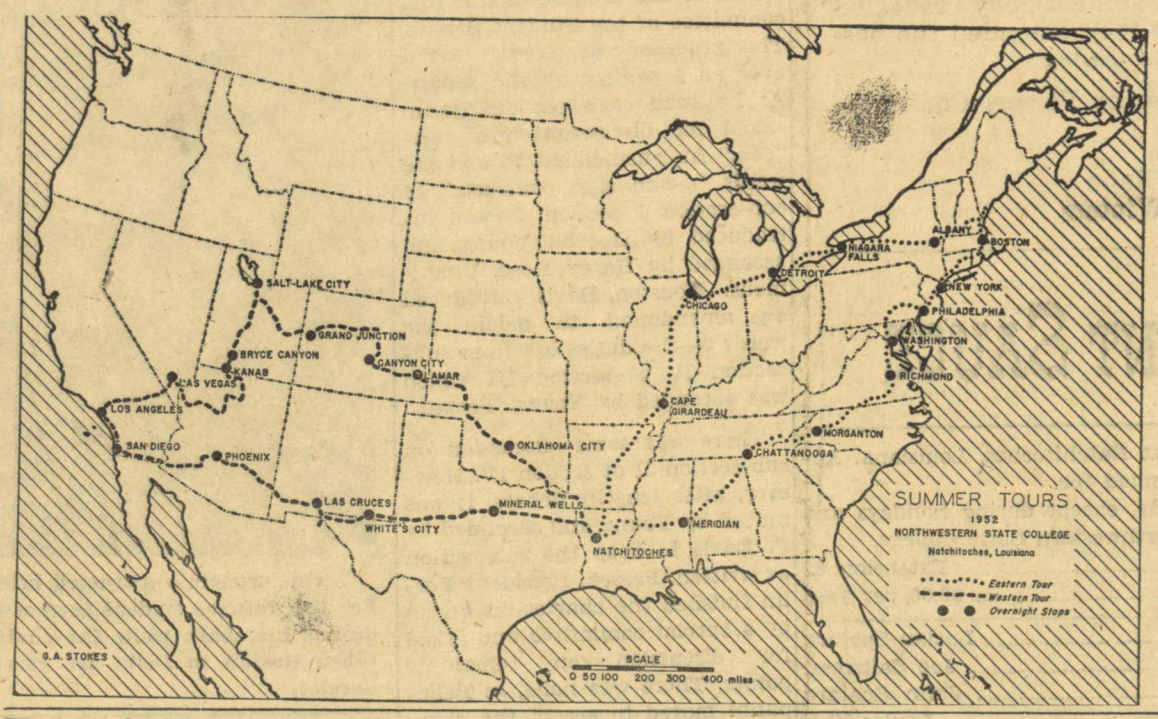

Many Hi Seniors Are Acquainted With NSC Campus

Forty-three senior students from Many High School enjoyed "College Acquaintance Day" here on the Northwestern campus Wednesday. Students interested in the various fields of study were shown through the departments and class-room buildings.

Many High School was used on an experimental basis and proved to be successful. Several schools will visit later on this spring but as yet no definite schedule has been prepared.

College Acquaintance Day may become large and popular enough to extend to the twenty or thirty surrounding parishes; then three or four schools will be invited to visit on the same day.

First College Acquaintance Day At Northwestern Attracts Seniors From Seventeen High Schools

Some 90 seniors from 17 neighboring high schools attended the "College Acquaintance Day" program held on the Northwestern campus, February 16.

Epsilon chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national teachers' honorary fraternity, sponsored the program.

Highlights of the days' activities were a guided tour of the campus, the Pan-hellenic coffee, a students' artists series program in the Fine Arts auditorium which featured tumbling and dancing groups and speech and music activities.

President H. Lee Prather addressed the group at a luncheon held in the campus dining-hall.

Following the dinner, the visitors were treated to an aquatic show in the Natatorium.

Climax to the day's events was the tea program in Varnado hall with the Associated Women Students acting as hostess. Mrs. Lillian McCook and Mr. L. Fisher of the music faculty entertained with a musical program.

Mr. William Havard and Miss Eve Mouton of the college faculty presented the advantages of a college education to the group.

Vice-president of the Student-body Leland Langridge presided at a students' presentation of extracurricular activities. In the absence of student-body president Don Jones, Ronald Quinn spoke on the Student-body.

Dolly Smith discussed the Pan-hellenic council, Billy McCormick talked about the inter-fraternity group, Ronald Martin discussed the "N" club, Pat Marmande spoke on the Associated Women Students organization and Eunice Eden discussed student honor organizations.

When asked to list their academic interests, the visitors marked the following: social science, eight; pre-law, one (girl); pre-med, one; philosophy, one; music, eight; nursing, seven; English, eight; elementary education, nine; physical education, eight; home economics, 14; business administration and commerce, 19; science, six; agriculture, five and mathematics, five.

Allbritton, Ward To Be Presented In Phi Mu Alpha Concert, Friday

MRS. ALLBRITTON

Two well-known Louisiana musicians, Mrs. Florence Allbritton, pianist, and Mrs. Cecilia Ward, mezzo-soprano will be presented in a concert on February 29, at 8:15 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts building. The concert is the second in a series to be presented annually under the joint sponsorship of Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota, local music fraternities on the campus.

Mrs. Allbritten, assistant professor of piano at Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe, will render several selections on a piano which has undergone changes which make it different from the ordinary piano. The changes are the results of the work of Mr. John Cage, young musical experimentalist who composes music with a wide range of tone color held together by interesting rhythmic designs.

Mr. Max Kullke, piano technician of Monroe, will spend several hours preceding the program adjusting the piano according to the chartings of Cage.

Mrs. Allbritton, who holds both the Batchelor and Master deree in music from the Chicago Musical College, is a student of Rudolph Ganz. She has been on the faculty of Northeast College since 1934 and is the organist of the First Baptist church of Monroe. This will be her third program of John Cage music, the first two being in Monroe and Alexandria.

Mrs. Ward, whose home is in Pineville, Louisiana is a graduate of Louisiana College. She won the Dixie District Student Musician contest sponsored by the National Federation of Music Club in 1950. Since that time she has studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory under Robert Powell. She has had numerous engagements, including appearances with the Cincinnati Zoo Opera, the Shreveport Symphony orchestra and the Shreveport Civic Opea Guild.

Admissions for the concert will be: adults — $1.00, students — 50c. These prices include the tax.

State Home Economics Groups Elect Winnie Dowden Treasurer

Winnie Dowden, junior home economics major was elected to fill the office of State Treasurer for the Louisiana Home Economics clubs Thursday, February 21 at a Euthenics Club meeting. Offices for this state organization are rotated each year, thus affording each club an opportunity to fill each position within a limited number of years. Last year the office of parliamentarian was designated to Northwestern and was filled by Patsy Winkler.

Winnie, along with several other girls from Northwestern will attend the state convention to be held at Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette March 15. Here she will be installed as treasurer and assume the duties of this office.

Other students who have made definite plans to attend the state convention in Lafayette are Patsy Winkler, Marilyn Snoddy, Frances Woodall, Bobby Curtis, Doris Bolin, Jane Walcott and Miss Mary Ester Roberson, club adviser.

Clubs to be represented at the meeting are Northeast Louisiana State College, Louisiana Tech, Centenary, Southeastern, McNeese, Louisiana State University, Dominican, Southwestern, Francis T. Nichols and Northwestern.

Students who desire to do student teaching this summer should report to Dean Robson's office or my office and fill out application forms be-fore Tuesday, March 4.

This applies to those who are in doubt as to their eligibility, but who have reason to believe they will be eligible at the close of the present semester, as well as to those who know they will be eligible.

John A. Jones,
Director of teaching training.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR SHEEDY was in the soup with a turtle named Myrtle. "I'm in a tortizzy," he wailed, "what shell I do?" "Well, it's your messy hare that parts you from all the girls," his roommate said. "Better get Wildroot Cream-Oil!" Non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's out turtle-necking all the time! So don't stick your neck out... get some terrapin-money and hurry to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hare at your favorite barber shop. Then you'll really be in the swim.

Senate Minutes

President Rudy Berlin opened the meeting held in Caldwell Hall on Tuesday, February 19. Secretary John Batten read the roll and reported a 95 per cent attendance.

President Berlin passed out copies of the charter of the film committee of the Student Senate. This program was recently taken over as a project by the senate. As he read each section, Berlin asked for discussion "pro" and "con." An amendment to add the words "—and sign contracts" to sub-section I section II was introduced by Gordon Young and seconded by Hardy Rose. Unanimous. Houston Davis introduced an amendment to delete the words "—the duties of" from sub-section IV of section III which was seconded by Young. Passed.

There was some discussion on sub-section II of section IV. However, after lengthy debate, it was moved by Young and seconded by P. Davis to keep the sub-section as written. Passed. President Berlin finished the charter drawn up by a special committee and asked for discussion on remaining points. There was none, so Bellepanni moved to accept the charter as amended. Miller seconded this motion. Passed.

Discussion was held on members of the Senate who are to fill the offices of this student movie program now to be operated by the Student Senate. Various positions were discussed and different students nominated as officers. Tilleux moved to accept the student film committee. Bellepanni seconded. The following list was passed upon unanimously: Houston Davis, chairman; Evelyn Pyle, publicity director; Robert Miller, treasurer; Benny Ray and Jerry Isles, ticket sales supervisors.

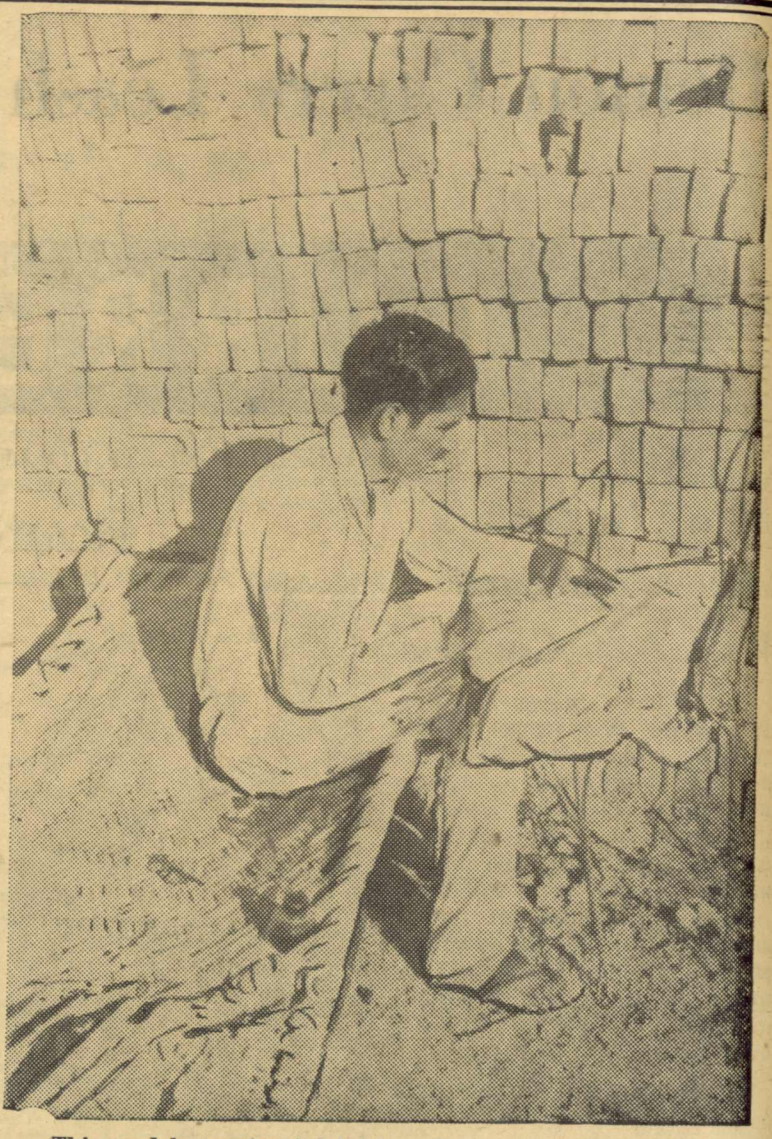

Young moved that the Student Senate, with the cooperation of the Demonaires, sponsor a short dance in the Field House at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, February 20, one half of the proceeds to go to the Demonaires and one-half to the Senate. He suggested a fifteen cent admission for couples and a ten cent admission for stags. This motion was seconded by Donita Gothard and was passed by the senate.

Following this motion, pictures were made of the Student Senate for the Potpourri.

Norsworthy submitted a motion to adjourn which was seconded by Batten. President Berlin adjourned the senate.

World Student Service Fund Drive Now Being Conducted On NSC Campus

The Young Women's Christian Association of Northwestern State College recently conducted a drive for the world Student Service Fund. Miss Betty Stubbs, traveling secretary for the WSSF, was a campus visitor for several days during the drive.

The WSSF drive is conducted for funds which are used to provide material relief to needy students and university centers in Europe, the Middle East, Asia. These funds are self-help interprises for the most part. Relief is administered in the areas of student health for refugee students and for providing living accommodations, books, laboratory equipment, and other tools of study.

This relief is given in such a way to open up channels of exchange of ideas between universities and schools in different countries.

WSSF is sponsored on an international level by the United Student Christian Council, which includes YWCA, YMCA, Canterbury Club, Wesley Foundation, Westminister Club, Newman Club, and Hillel Foundation.

Miss Stubbs, traveling secretary for the WSSF, graduated from Randolph Macon school for girls in Lynchburg, Virginia. During the summer of 1950 she studied at Oxford University in London. While there, she visited German students in different parts of Germany. This past summer she attended an international students' seminar near Ottawa, Canada, where she met students and professors from Southeast Asia, Western Europe, Israel, and North America.

Attractive Ten-Day Tour Abroad Now Offered To College Students

The dream of a low-priced quality non-escorted tour to Europe within a college student's budget can now be realized, with the creation of a new individually-packaged tour, featuring 10 days in Europe for $100, which includes hotel accommodations, three daily meals, tips, land transportation, and complete sight-seeing by motor coach, with a choice of nine itineraries covering eight European countries.

Of great appeal to the student traveler is the freedom offered in this plan. Being an independent tour, there is no regimentation with a group.

The nine itineraries are broken down into six of ten days each and three of five days, with unlimited possibilities offered for different combinations and groupings. The inclusive cost is $10 a day, with a small additional charge to cover the actual cost of transportation between the end of one ten day itinerary and the beginning of another.

The $100 tours, created by a special department in New York's "House of Travel," will be sold to the public through over 2000 travel agents throughout the United States and Canada. Prepaid tickets, insuring reservations and covering all facilities abroad, will be issued to clients upon purchase of the tour.

Quality in all accommodations and facilities has been stressed with the selection of comfortable, centrally-located hotels, the provision of three full meals every day, and standard second-class rail transportation on the Continent. Uniformed interpreters meet the traveler and escort him to and from railroad stations, air terminals and hotels.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

The DSE's welcomed the three new pledges, Imogene Leach, Juanita Hartwell and Barbara Gray with a big Valentine party last Thursday in hte DSE room. Music and entertainment was enjoyed by everyone. Delicious refreshments of open face sandwiches, assorted cookies, and lemonade were served. Heart-shaped candies and mints were enjoyed throughout the evening.

Plans and more plans are being made by the DSE's for the annual spring dance which will be March 29.

Martha Ann Leach attended the DSE alumni meeting, February 18, and gave a report on it at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

The pledges will be initiated this week. They have all been on their Ps and Qs trying to see who will be best pledge.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps staged another slumber party last Saturday night, and this was perhaps one of the best because Misses Pat Leone, Jody Brantley, Anne Freeze, Katherine Rogers, "Priss" Smith and Bobbie Platt arrived to help the actives and pledges enjoy the fun.

Miss Jackie Funderburk was ribboned last Tuesday night at the Pi Kap house and will be formally pledged soon.

Initiation ceremony will be held Wednesday, February 27 for Pi Kap pledges Sarah Clark, Pat Rameriz, Betty Conlan, Millie Middleton, Sarah Cutrer, and "Whitey" Ball.

Plans are being made for the Pi Kap spring formal and it should be even better than the 1951 formal.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Another initiation is planned for March 1, when a few more pledges will be given a chance to prove themselves worthy to become members.

All the members were very glad to have National Field Secretary Jack Foos, on the campus last Wednesday and Thursday.

Sigma Tau placed second in the intramural volleyball tournament playoffs. We had previously won five out of five tilts but ran into trouble against strong Spanish Boys aggregation.

Several members and pledges entered the annual intramural cross-country race Friday.

Alpha Sigma Alpha is to entertain the entire fraternity at a party this evening. Good spirit and the best of times come of these socials between the fraternities and sororities.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sigs continued their gala round of parties this week and honored Phi Kappa Nu at their sorority house. Rudy Berlin, vice-president of the frat, started things rolling by the ceremonial cutting of the red and white cake. Afterwards there was much fun, dancing, and eating to round up the party.

Camille Rambin was pledged Thursday night to Alpha Sig, and all the members honored her with a small coke party held afterwards in the house.

Saturday night has been designated as another horror night—it's slumber party time again. No sleep, a droopy Sunday — we never learn, but it's fun.

ROBERTS-McCONATHY WED FEBRUARY 12

Miss Bettye Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roberts of Jena, Louisiana, became the bride of Hershal McConathy, son of Mrs. H. McConathy, and the late Mr. McConathy of DeRidder, Louisiana, in a double-ring ceremony on February 12.

The wedding was solemnized in the First Baptist Church of Good Pine with the Reverand Mike Gilhrst officiating.

The church, lighted only by candle, was decorated with seasonal flowers with an arbor of large white magnolia forming a background.

Sarah Cook rendered a program of pre-nupital music with Carolyn Fultz singing "I Love You Truly" and Beryl DeLoach singing "Because."

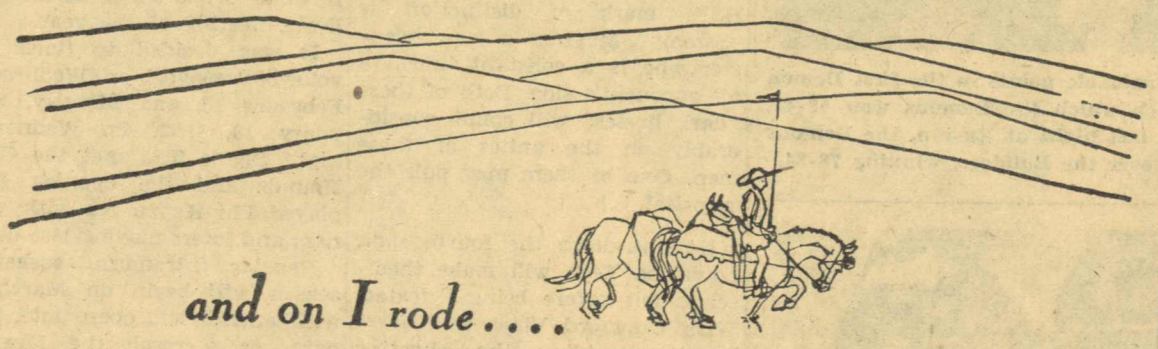

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a ballerina-length gown of soft white lace. In her hand she carried a white lace handkerchief that has been carried in 150 weddings, which served as "something old" and a white Bible that belongs to her social sorority, Pi Kappa Sigma, which served as "something borrowed."

Miss Billie Roberts, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Johnny McConathy of Bryceland, Louisiana, was best man. Ushers were Lynwood Otts of Minden and Mac McDonald of Jena. Mary Dean Roberts of Alexandria, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Rita Doughty of Jena presided over the guest book.

Following the ceremony was a reception given in the Roberts home.

After their honeymoon the couple will make their home in North Carolina.

Friends from Nrothwestern who attended the wedding include Misses Eunice Eden, Rita Doughty, Millie Thompson, Joan Walker, Donita Gothard, Marinel Cowgill, Mittie Lancaster, Liz Seegers, Beryl DeLoach, Carolyn Fultz, Sarah Cook, Carolyn McLean, Dot Gillespie, Sue Rhodes, Louise Vick, and Lyn Rutledge.

GSC Basketball Tournament On Campus Tomorrow; Loyola University, Southeastern Will Not Compete

Coushatta, Bienville, Baskin, Bilmon Capture Finals In HS Rally Saturday

New Northwest Louisiana high school basketball champions are Coushatta boys and Baskin girls in Class "B" and Bienville boys and Bilmon girls in Class "C."

These teams fought their way into the finals last Saturday on the Northwestern State college campus. Forty-one boys teams and 34 girls teams participated in the meet.

Coushatta boys easily dumped the Ringgold boys in the finals, piling up 56 points to their foe's 43. In the semi-finals, Coushatta had more trouble with Hall Summit, barely edging out winner by 29-25. Hall Summit took third place in Class "B" by downing Martin, 53-45.

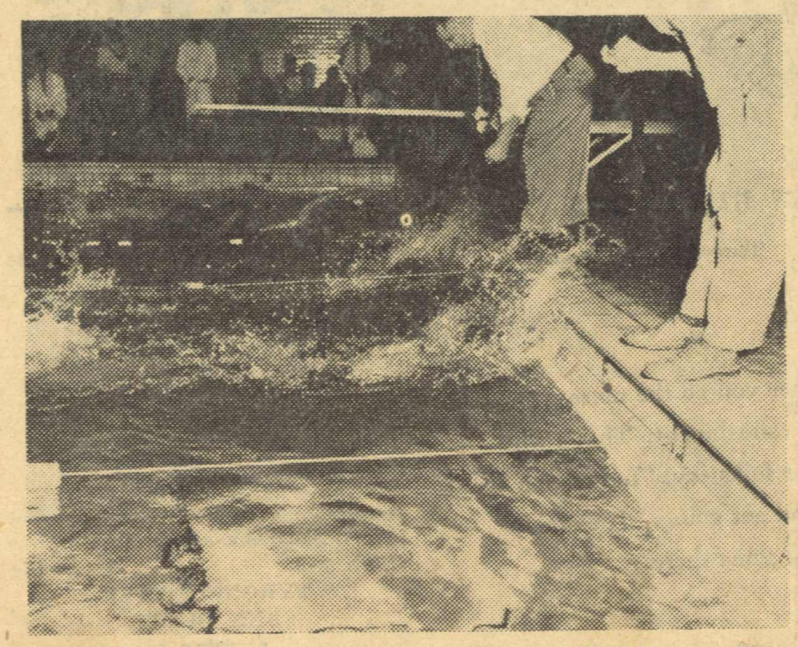

In boys Class "C," Bienville had to fight desperately al games to defeat Pleasant Hill 38-36. Pleasant Hill had defeated Campti, 38-24, and Bienville had downed Belmont, 45-43, in the semi-finals.

Baskin (Class "B" girls) had no trouble walloping Ringgold 68-37 in the finals to win 195 games in a row. This is Baskin's fifth undefeated season. The sharpshooting Baskin-ballers have won the state class "B" championship four years in a row. Third place in this class went to Oak Grove girls, who downed Martin 45-24.

In Class "C" girls, Belmont romped over Atlanta 33-24 to become the new district champs. Third place went to Saline by forfeit from Jamestown.

Murrel Walker buckets two valuable points in the first Demon encounter against Louisiana Tech which the Demons won 49-47. In the final game of the season last night at Ruston, the Demons continued their cage dominance over the Bulldogs, winning 78-84.

With split-second accuracy, the camera catches Ellis of Texas A & M shading out Voorhees of Northwestern State by a mere inch or two in the 100 yd. freestyle race. In the background Kehoe of the Demons pushes forward for a third place score. The visitors won the meet 47-37.

Miss. Southern Heavy Favorites To Dominate Meet

Some of the finest basketball material in the deep south will trod onto the Northwestern State College basketball court tomorrow afternoon as the Demons of Natchitoches play host to the Gulf State Conference basketball tournament.

The contest will begin Wednesday afternoon and continue until Friday night. Four tilts will be played on Wednesday, two in the afternoon and two at night. On Thursday there will take place three games with only one being in the afternoon. The consolation final and the regular final games will be determined Friday night.

Pre-tournament favorite is Mississippi Southern of Hattiesburg. Playing the role as "dark horses" will be the Centenary Gents of Shreveport, Louisiana, and the Spring Hill Badgers from Mobile, Alabama.

Louisiana Tech and Northwestern State fall behind these "dark horses" in pre-time rating. Then comes McNeese, Louisiana College, and Southwestern. Southeastern, and Loyola University, the other two GSC teams, will not take part in the tournament. They have withdrawn their entries.

The Southerners have four great ball players in Nick Revon, Jack Gallagher, John O'Keefe, and Tom Bishop but they lack height. This factor may prove their undoing in their quest of the tourney crown.

Centenary and Spring Hill will grab the second and third spots in the tournament if they do not pull the 'upset" that is expected of them. Centenary has a triple threat in Bob Wright, Pototo Rameriz, and Connie Mack Rea which certainly can come through when the going is rough. Spring Hill's mark of distinction is "Stromy" Mugnier a lean hoopster who is a constant thorn to all opponent's side. Both of these "dark horses" will count considerably on the antics of these men. One of them may pull the surprise! ! !

Holding down the fourth spot, Louisiana Tech will make themselves felt before being defeated. With Crawford Vines and Jerry Lovett providing the shooting ability, Coach Crowley's other basket-teers will add their specialty of rebound control.

The host team, Northwestern, will follow after the Techsters in the fifth slot. Paced by hookshot artist, Ken Shaw, and under the eyes of a home town crowd, the Purple and White might do the unexpected but the odds are against it. ? ? ?

McNeese, Louisiana College, and Southwestern will round out the last three places in the tournament.

NOTICE

Students who plan to try out for the varsity baseball squad are requested to fill out an information form in Coach Brown's office in the Men's gym as soon as possible.

Just Rambling

Elvin Lightsey

I witnessed something last Saturday afternoon that I never expect to see again for a long time. A certain player in the high school rally held here made a basket for the other team with less than 10 seconds to go in the game. His team lost as a result. His team had the ball out of bounds with 11 seconds remaining and were leading by one point up to that crucial moment. This occurred in the semi-finals, eliminating them from the finals. They also were defeated for third place and thence do not get an opportunity to go to the state tournament. This particular player had scored 25 points for his own team and had singlehanded kept his team in the game through out the last half. Freak happenings will never cease to be!!

Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, adds even more color to the already colorful Brownies when he called the Chicago White Sox "bushleag-uers." He did this when asked to pose for a picture with Chisox manager Paul Richards. It seems Richards had no comment about the statement but the Chicago front office was quite peeved over the very pert remark.

Demon baseball hits its stride March 1 with a promising ball club shaping up. Last season the locals won 7 and lost 22, BUT 11 of these defeats were by only one run. Let's hope we win the close ones this season, and we might come out with a conference championship.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The cross country race which was to be run last Thursday afternoon will take place this afternoon at 4 p.m.

The NSC intramural council met Tuesday night, February 12 at six o'clock in the men's gym in what turned out to be the most lively meeting of the year.

It was decided to finish the volleyball playoff on Wednesday, February 13, and Monday, February 18, 1952. On Wednesday night Sigma Tau met the Chow Hounds and the Spanish Boys played Phi Kappa Nu with winners and losers playing last night.

Regular intramural basketball season will begin on March 3, with entries left open until that date. As a result the Mexican League basketball was extended through March 2.

Four games a day will be played in two sections on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 4:15 - 5:00 p.m. and from 6:00 - 6:45 p.m. As of now, twelve teams are entered in the league with the door wide open for more entries.

Team and representatives at the meeting were: Typhoid Kids, Lew Bavion; B-Frame, Donald Efert; Spanish Boys, Pedro Velez; Caspari, M. D. Ray; Phi Kappa Nu, Elvin Lightsey; Mustangs, Jerry Reddell; Sigma Tau Gamma, Edwin Watkins; Chowhounds, William Bryant; Whiz Kids, Kit Carson; G. I. Joes, John Smith; Eightballs, Wayne Hennigan; and Lambda Zeta, Hamilton Prestridge.

Bulldogs Leashed By Demon Cagers 67-57 at Hammond

Traveling to Lafayette, Louisiana, the Northwestern State College basketball team surged from an 11 point deficit at the end of the first quarter to a 10 point victory margin at the end of the game to cast the Vermillion and White of Southwestern Insitute under the spell of the Demons, 67-57.

The victory was a matter of a second quarter comeback after trailing at the end of the first period. However once the Purple and White got the lead, the remaining portion of the contest was more or less a cruise for the Natchitoches lads.

In the first stanza the Bulldogs pushed the Demons all over the court as they bombarded the goal for 20 points, while the Thomasmen were mustering only 9. But the Demons retaliated in the second period and started pumping the bucket for a total of 17 points. Holding the home club to a mere 5 points in this stanza, the Purple and White were able to pull out in front as Sammy Booras dropped in a free throw with 10 seconds remaining in the half. The Thomas crew walked off the court with a one point advantage, 26-25.

The third quarter opened up with Shaw of the Demons guiding the Purple and White with his accurate shooting. Gradually the margin of lead was extended to 12 points at the end of the third period.

But in the last stanza, the Southwesterners rallied and ripped the net for 22 points. Yet this was not enough to overcome the lead that the Demons had maintained. At the final whistle the score board read Northwestern 67, Southwestern 57.

Baseball Squad To Be Bolstered After March 1

Baseball began its bid for the spotlight at Northwestern State College as pitchers and catchers reported for practice.

Workouts are underway with emphasis on conditioning drills, although many members of the team are still occupied with basketball and spring football.

Members of last year's squad participating in practice sessions are two juniors, J. P. Johnston, a catcher, and "Choppy" Cusachs, a pitcher, and sophomore flinger Gale Hearn.

Out for their first season at Northwestern are pitchers Morris Bruce, Charles Wood, John Cunningham, Lester Deville, Douglas Logan, and Jerry McDonald.

Catchers include "Casey" Bryant and Robert Briley.

The remainder of the squad will join them March 1st.

Intramural Golf Record

James Anderson of Lambda Zeta holds the intramural golf title with a sizzling 75 for 18 holes, set in 1940.

College Faculty Investigates HS Social Studies

The social studies department at Northwestern has recently been sending representatives out to high schools in this area in an attempt to discover what is being taught in the schools in the way of social studies.

This is being done to further a better correlation between the work in the college and the high schools. The visitations are made to classes in history, civics, and geography mainly, but in a few cases, also, to courses in economics and sociology.

Dr. Kyser head of the social studies department, said that the teachers from the college are the students mainly and they are not trying to "show the high school teachers how it should be done."

Participation in these visits is by all members of the college department. Dr. Kyser is attempting to visit the 8th grades to assist in a better program for teaching Louisiana social studies.

"Thus far, the results have been interesting to the college department. In view of the courtesy and cooperation shown we believe that the teachers and others in the high schools are receptive to the idea. It is altogether possible that as a result of these visitations and discussions, some constructive suggestions for a better 8th grade program will be made," said Dr. Kyser.

In The Library

"An American Tragedy," the basis of the recent movie "A Place in the Sun," reveals the pitiful life of a boy of the lower middle classes, Clyde Griffiths, born of a father mentally weak and a strong though untrained mother, both of that peculiarly narrow religious zealotry manifest in itinerant street preachers.

He left this life of storms and troubles to acquire wealth and a social position. In seeking this position he met moral ruin. Theodore Dreiser, the author, believed that Clyde's downfall was due to the American economic system and he presents a strong indictment against that system. If Clyde had had the privileges of wealth and social position, he would never have been tempted to a moral decision and his consequent ruin.

The setting of "An American Tragedy" is the early twentieth century in Kansas City, Chicago and Lycurgus, New York.

Reality is displayed by all the characters. The principle characters are Clyde Griffiths; Roberta Alden, his mistress; Samuel Griffiths, Clyde's wealthy uncle; and Sondra Finchley, a society girl whom Clyde loves.

The novel, probably Dreiser's best, is a powerful document on the theme of social equality and lack of privilege.

The social apathy and irony of life are seen in the final scene laid in a western city at night wherein the opening is repeated.

Another young lad, this one Clyde's nephew, forms a part of an identical street mission under the leadership of the aged grandfather and grandmother — another American tragedy in the making.

Nat. Secretary On Tour Of South Visits Nu Chapter

Mr. Jack Foos, national field secretary of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, visited the local Nu chapter on February 20-21. This marked the first time the local Taus have had such a distinguished visitor in quite a few years.

At a special meeting of Nu chapter held Thursday evening, Mr. Foos outlined the plans of the national fraternity along lines of enlarging, organizing and presenting a more attractive program for the men of the fraternity. He pointed out specific problems confronting fraternities and their possible solutions.

Mr. Foos left Friday, February 22, for the provincal conclave of Sigma Tau Gammas of this area which was held on the campus of Southeastern State College in Hammond. From there, he will round out his national tour of the fraternities by visiting other chapters throughout the South and Southeast.

BIENVENU, COMBS EDIT MANUAL FOR MICROBIOLOGY LAB COURSE

This semester a laboratory manual co-authored by Mr. Ralph M. Combs, associate professor of biology and Mr. Rene J. Bienvenu, Jr., assistant professor of biology, is being used in the microbiology classes and is proving to be very satisfactory.

This manual, Laboratory Manual for Microbiology, has been used for several semesters in the mimeographed form, but this is the first time that it has been published in the printed form and sold in the book store.

Mr. Combs began work on the manual in 1948 when the nursing program was instituted here at Northwestern because there were no laboratory manuals available on the market which could be used satisfactorily for the nursing microbiology course. Since this course is more advanced than the microbiology course offered in most hospital schools for nurses and requires the student to do more laboratory work, the manuals which were available were not adequate. The original draft for this new manual was revised several times by Dr. Combs and Mr. Bienvenu.

The Laboratory Manual for Microbiology by Combs and Bienvenu differs from other laboratory manuals on the market in that it is concerned chiefly with those bacteria which cause disease and are, therefore, of special importance to the nurse.

Local AAUW Holds Banquet February 18

The annual banquet of the American Association of University Women was held Monday evening, February 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Over forty members and guests enjoyed the occasion.

Dr. Fadra Holmes Wilson, professor of educationd psychology at LSU, was the guest speaker. She spoke on the topic "The Deciding Vote," her theme being that whether democracy survives in its present form depends on whether we develop our youth to be thinkers or just believers or followers of the dictates of the thinking of others. She emphasized that things are not important, but that people are; we need international citizens with internationals minds to build bridges of friendship between nations; and that the democracy must be thought of not just in terms of individual freedom but in terms of individual obligations and duties.

Miss Irma Stockwell, president of the Natchitoches branch, presided and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Jack Fisher, chairman of the banquet committee, was commended for the arrangements. The Homemakers club served a delicious meal.

The tables were lovely with pink and green candles, ivy, and spring flowers.

Mr. W. Stubblefield Assumes Duties As Chief Dietician of Dining Hall

Mr. Walter Stubblefield arrived on the Northwestern campus last week to assume his duties as chief dietician in the dining hall.

A native of Dennison, Texas, but a resident of Louisiana for some years, he is a veteran of both world wars. He spent four years in the second world war in Italy and the South Pacific, serving most of the time as chief steward on tankers and passenger ships.

After his discharge from the army, Mr. Stubblefield served for six years as cafeteria manager of the Mayo Hotel in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Having been employed for the past year and a half to supervise all food preparation by the Washington-Youree Hotel in Shreveport, Mr. Stubblefield has come to work for this institution which graduated his two stepsons. James Parrott, his oldest stepson, received his BE degree in 1949 and Robert, the youngest of the two, was graduated in 1950 with a BA degree.

Mr. Stubblefield has one daughter, married to a Washington University (St. Louis, Mo.) professor, and four grandchildren. He and his wife are at present living in their home one mile out on the Robeline highway.

Mr. Stubblefield announced in an interview that he wants to conserve and cook the food better. He added, "I know this can be done."

Mrs. Mamie Younger, who filled in as temporary head of the dining hall in the absence of a chief dietician, will continue to plan all the meals and do the purchasing. She will also supervise the help and the payroll.

Mr. Stubblefield, meanwhile, will be in charge of the cooking and serving.

CLASS GIFTS DATE BACK TO 1913; MEMEMTOS PART OF CAMPUS SCENE

By Lady Jane White

Since the beginning of time, peoples and institutions and nations have left for coming generation some earmark by which to remember them. Stephen Foster left us "Jennie With The Light Brown Hair" which all of us sing today. And who in America doesn't know of Rockefellow and his contributions to society. Rome and all her glory left a civilization for which generations to come will marvel. Students and alumni of Northwestern were and are no different in this respect for in 1913, the summer class presented the first memorial, a marble tablet set in copper, and electroliers to the college. Thus began the traditional presentation of gifts to the college by the senior class.

That same year the Dealists and Palladuims classes contributed the first two lamp-posts located near the entrance of the college after one enters the gates. In 1914, and 1915 the classes of the Normal Lights and Navigators, along with other classes, added the remaining lamps along the walk from the main gate to Caldwell Hall.

Someone must have decided that old glory wasn't flying high enough for the class of 1919, donated a 90 foot flagstaff to the then State Normal College. The class of 1925 certainly wanted to be remembered. Who could fail to have noticed the fish pond just behind Caldwell Hall which they left.

Funds for the circular concrete benches between the Home Economics building and the Business building, which are now being constructed were left by the summer class of 1948. The 1949 class contributed to the building of the iron lace entrance sign at the college gate. The official bulletin board at the east entrance of the Student Center was left by the 1950 graduates and the class last year presented the "Columns" placque.

Probably these gifts have been insignificant to you for, perhaps, the fact that such contributions as fish ponds and lamp-posts were made by graduating students was not known to you. But the next time you are walking over the campus, notice some of the earmarks of past classes and see if "something to remember me by" doesn't strike a familiar cord.

In the first round play-off of the NAIB district elimination last night, Northwestern defeated Southeastern 66-48. and Centenary edged Louisiana Tech 60-57.

The Current Sauce

Tonight in the men's gym the Demons will meet the Centenary Gents in a game to determine this district's representative to the national NAIB tournament in Kansas City.

VOL. XXVIII | NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA | TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1952 | NUMBER 17

Renovation Work Now in Progress On NSC Campus

Over a hundred thousand dollars worth of renovation, repair work, and improvement is to be done on the Northwestern campus during the next few months, according to Griffin Taylor, purchasing agent for the college.

At present, an $18,000 remodeling job, begun only yesterday, is being done on the interior of Kate Chopin, sophomore girls' dormitory. The residents have been removed from Kate Chopin and placed in other dormitories until the work is completed.

Kate Chopin is being completely renovated as well as receiving new roofing. New hardwood flooring will replace the old asphalt tile. A paint and plaster job of the entire building will be included and the rest rooms will receive needed repairs. All this work will be finished by May 1, in the opinion of Mr. Taylor.

As soon as the work on Kate Chopin is completed, Carondelet, also a sophomore girls' dormitory, will receive the same treatment.

When the college gets the approval of the State Board of Education, a contract will be let for new college laundry equipment, worth approximately $47,500. The laundry, to be installed in one of the old boys barracks, will be one of the most modern laundries in the state, capable of serving at least 1800 students.

A $10,000 contract has been let to the Alexandria Ventilating Company for blower type ventilating systems in the Business and Home Economics buildings. The systems, said Mr. Taylor, should be completed within the next 90 days.

Approval to waterproof the Library and the Fine Arts buildings has been requested of the State Board of Education. This work would prevent condensation, or "sweat," from forming on interior walls as well as to keep white mortar from streaking down the exterior walls.

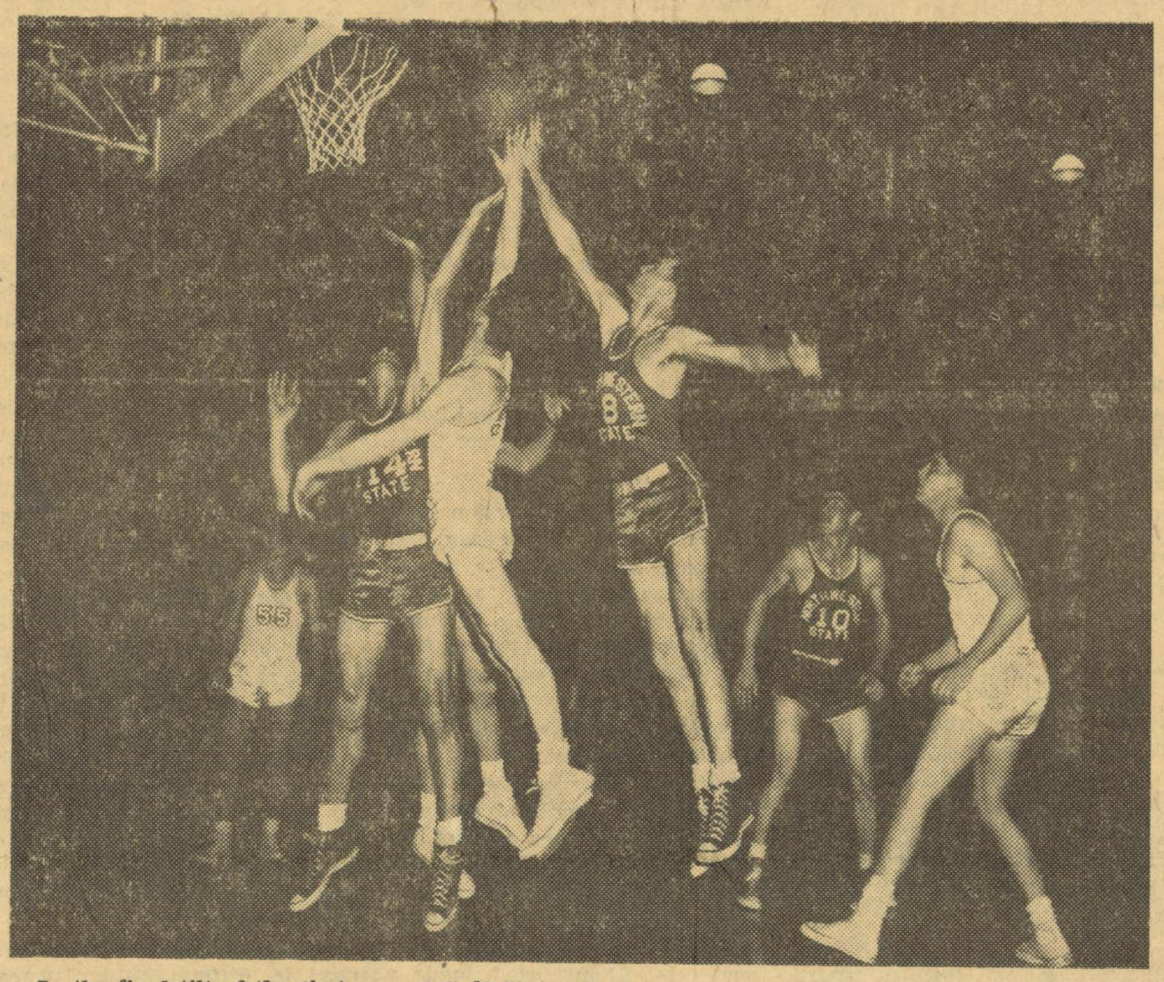

Work began yesterday on extension of the gravel road from the dairy to the hog farm. The job will require the construction of a new bridge, estimated to cost from $10,000 to $15,000.

Charles Laughton Well Received

Charles Laughton, stage and screen personality, presented an entertaining program of excerpts from books and former roles he has staged to an appreciative audience of college students and townspeople.

Some of the pieces, seemingly chosen at random, included a passage from the Old Testament, a bit from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," part of the lines of Captain Blythe from "Mutiny On The Bounty" and the memorable "Gettysburg Address."

Mississippi So. Edges Demon Cagers 77-74 To Win First Annual Gulf State Tournament

In the final tilt of the first annual Gulf States Conference basketball tournament held on this campus this past week-end, the host Demons bowed to the top-seeded Mississippi Southerners in overtime 77-74. In this bit of action, Ken Shaw (14) and Artie Ranew (8) team up on Southern's Allgood (50) with another visitor, unidentified, also in the air. Nick Revon (55) is caught flat-footed in the background as are Jim Yergler (10) and another unidentified Mississippi player.

Conf. Champs Need Extra Period To Clinch Crown

By JOHN SPATARO
Sports Editor

Mississippi Southern's conquering cagers added the first annual Gulf States conference tournament crown to their stack of laurels Friday evening as they surged from behind to edge a hustling and inspired Demon quintet in over-time, 77-74.

Nick Revon, stellar package of dynamite, blasted the goal for 35 points as he guided his team to victory. With two minutes and 30 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, the sharp-eyed lad from Mississippi dunked five of the seven points needed to eliminate the Northwestern lead. However the crucial moment of the game came with 17 seconds remaining, O'Keefe calmly bucketed a free throw, forcing the game into extra time. Score: 64-64.

In the overtime period, the host team jumped into the lead as Sammy Booras looped in a long shot from the side. Murrel Walker followed with a charity toss. Revon then popped one to put his mates within a single point of the Demons. Shaw retaliated with a beautiful hook shot and Booras dunked a free throw.

Southern bounced back as Weathers drove in for a crip shot and O'Keefe split the threads for four points. Artie Ranew notched the score at 72-72 with his two-pointer.

The Floydmen then struck for five quick points as Clark swished, Revon let fly a sinker, and Weathers made good a charity toss.

Shaw hit with 30 seconds to go, but the Mississippians stifled the faint chances of a Demon tournament crown by freezing the ball for the remaining time.

Both teams hit consistantly in the opening period. The action was swift and furious and the lead switched hands eight times. After eight minutes and 15 seconds had elapsed in the ballgame, Walker sent the Purple and White ahead 16-15. Revon snatched the lead away with a tally, but Collinsworth and Shaw returned it, firing in two buckets.

Gallagher struck for the Southerners and Walker and Ranew added five more for the Demon cause. The team rested at the quarter mark with the Demons in possession of a six point advantage, 25-19.

In the second canto a personal battle was waged between Revon of Southern and Shaw of Northwestern. Revon hit for eight points and Shaw sunk four field goals and three charity tosses. With six minutes gone the score

Why Can't We...

Another of those situations — like line breaking in the dining hall — which only the students can remedy is the misuse of the dormitory telephones.

Altogether too many whys involved — why don't we answer the telephone when it rings; why don't we make a reasonable effort to contact the party who is wanted on the phone; why don't we see to it that the person for whom a message is intended receives it; why don't we limit the length of time of our calls so that others can use the telephone — why don't we do these things?

Good questions which deserve consideration — consideration to the extent that individuals will take it upon themselves to do something about the matter because the system was installed for the convenience of the students and they can use it in the manner for which it was intended or abuse it and chance its eventual removal.

The Dining Hall

Not too long ago an announcement was made over the dining hall public address system that someone had taken some articles which were lying on a table in the lobby of the dining hall and would they please return them, as they were private property and not dining hall property — inferring that the guilty party might return the items if he knew that they belong to some particular person and not to the school.

When we consider that the money which each boarding student pays for his meals in the college dining hall does not go entirely for food and that included in those items which must be purchased with student meal ticket money are the salt and pepper shakers, the sugar and napkin dispensers, silverware and even milk bottles, we see that money which could and should be spent for more and better food is being used to replace these articles which find their way out of the dining hall quite regularly.

In other words, the guilty ones are not putting anything over on the school; they are taking from their own pockets, and not only their own pockets but from the pockets of all the students who pay board.

In an effort to avoid the daily traffic jam in the dining hall during rush periods, the students are asked to enter by the middle entrances and leave by the side exists, thereby eliminating the confusion at the side doors.

Major General Lewis B. Hershey Releases Information Concerning Selective Service Qualifications Test

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service today reminded college students that applications for the April 24 Selective Service Qualifications Test must be postmarked not later than midnight March 10.

The deadline is necessary to allow the administrators of the test, the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., time to process the applications and assign each applicant to the testing center requested by the student — or to the closest possible alternative center — also to make administration arrangements consistent with the number who will take the test. There are more than 1,000 testing centers throughout the United States and its Territories.

National Headquarters estimates that upward to 100,000 will make application to take the April 24 test. This will be the last test given during the current academic year.

Application blanks may be obtained by students from the nearest local board. They do not have to return home to the local board which has jurisdiction over them.

To be eligible to take the Selective Service Qualification Test, an applicant, on the testing date (1) must be a selective service registrant who intends to request deferment as a student; (2) must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course — undergraduate or graduate — leading to a degree; (3) must not previously have taken the test.

National Headquarters said that recently completed statistics reveal that 61.3 per cent of the 19,571 students who took the December 13 ,1951 test made a score of 70 or better. Of the approximately 340,000 who took the first four tests, 63 per cent made a score of 70 or better.

The criteria for consideration for deferment as a student at the present time is either a score of 70 or better on the Selective Service College Qualification Test or class standing among the male members in the upper half of the freshman class, upper two thirds of the sophomore class or upper three fourths of the junior class. Seniors accepted for admission to a graduate school satisfy the criteria if they are among the upper half of the male members of their senior class, or they make a score of 75 or better.

These criteria are guides for the local boards. The local boards are under no compulsion to follow them, but any local board classification is subject to appeal. The appeal must be filed in writing with the local board within 10 days of the date the local board mails the notice of classification.

General Hershy has urged all eligible students to take the test so they will have scores in their files when the local boards reconsider their cases to determine whether or not they meet the criteria for deferment as students. He has emphasized many times that the present criteria are variables which may be raised or lowered either to increase or decrease the number of students as the national interest shall require.

General Hershey also has repeatedly stressed that no deferment is an exemption. "A deferment is a delay or postponement," he said, "and in no way cancels the duty of the registrant to meet his obligations."

A score of 70 on the Selective Service Test, General Hershey has pointed out, does not mean a student answered 70 questions correctly, nor does it mean 70 per cent. A score of 70 on the Selective Service Test indicates the same level of ability as a score of 120 on the Army general classification test. Only 16 per cent of the entire population of this country are capable of achieving such a score.

Many students have been confused in differentiating between the I-S and II-S deferments. The II-S deferment is considered on the basis of class standing or qualification test and is discretionary on the part of the local board. It may be granted by the local board each successive year, thus enabling students who continue to meet the criteria to complete their education.

The I-S deferment, on the other hand, is provided for by the law. A college student ordered to report for induction while he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course is entitled to this I-S deferment until he finishes his academic year provided he has not had his induction postponed or been deferred as a student prior to June 19, 1951. He may be given but one such deferment and it is incumbent upon him to notify his local board of his status when he receives the order to report for induction.

On January 1, 1952, there were 1,258,735 male college students between the ages of 18½ and 26.

The selective service status of these students was as follows:

Number of students with statutory I-S deferment to end of academic year, 11,857.

Number of students with II-S deferments as a result of class standing or test score 209,710.

Selected ROTC students deferred by law, 263,000.

Students who are veterans and exempt by law, 377,503.

Divinity students deferred by law, 28,930.

Grand total deferred or exempt 891,000.

Total males in college 18½ to 26, 1,258,735.

Total students deferred or exempt, 891,000.

Remainder potentially in pool, 367,735.

Many of these 367,735 cannot be inducted into the service because they are members of the National Guard or organized Reserves and approximately 40 per cent of the remainder will probably fail to meet the minimum physical and mental standards.

NOTICE

Students desiring to be candidates for general student-body offices must file their intentions by March 24.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps will hold formal pledging for Tootie Raye Sonnier, Louise Sheppard, and Jackie Funderburke Tuesday, March 3, at 6:00 p.m.

Congratulations go to Miss Tootie Raye Sonnier, who was queen of the New Roads Mardi Gras carnival.

The Pi Kaps are still working on their spring formal, and along with these plans the girls are planning on ways to redecorate their house. The alums in Natchitoches are working on new covers for the chairs and the divan, and the actives and pledges hope to furnish the living room with new wallpaper.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

The Theta Sigs welcomed six new pledges this semester. They are Betty Goodwin, Shirley Benton, Frances Griffen, Dianna Uggin, Virginia MacDonald and Marcelle Smart. These girls were ribbon-pledged last Thursday.

Sue Gaggerly has been ill, at home, but will return next Thursday for her pledge test prior to initiation.

The pledges are beginning plans for their party for the active members.

Wedding bells rang recently for Bessie Morgan, past president of Theta Sig. She became Mrs. George Black last Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

The Thetas were happy to have a visit from Linda Mason, who came up for the week-end.

The Thetas, also, welcomed another visitor, Cpl. J. C. Langley who came to spend his 15-day leave at NSC with his wife Peggy. J. C. has now returned to his base in El Paso, Texas.

Plans are well underway for the Theta Sig spring formal. Other plans are now being made to attend the convention to be held this year at Edgewater Beach Hotel in Mississippi. Kappa chapter will be the host.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

DSE has done it again. Miss Barbara Britton was presented as the Sweetheart of Phi Mu Alpha at their Mardi Gras ball Saturday night and none other than Miss Dixie Daniels won first place in the costume contest as she impersonated the great Watussi dame at the costume ball. Both roles were beautifully carried out and each girl is to be congratulated for a fine job well done. The zeal and enthusiasim to say nothing of results is always a pleasure to report.

Great fun is expected at the slumber party Saturday night after the backwards dance. Needless to say—no sleep is expected!

Welcome to the fold Imogene Leach, Barbara Gray and Juanita Hartwell. We are so happy to have you as pledges of DSE. We're expecting big things of you.

March 8, is the date set for the rummage sale. Be on the lookout and examine the wear — you'll be surprised.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Tri Sigmas, Louise Harris, Shirley Harp and Kay Mahan, who graduated from NSC in January, are now teaching in Michigan. Louise was selected as the outstanding woman student of the January graduating class.

A shower tea was given Thursday evening honoring Jeanette Pace, last year's president. The tea was held at the sorority house. Her wedding was Saturday evening. The reception immediately followed at the sorority house.

After the backwards dance Saturday night the mats were put down for another Sigma slumber party. Plans are in full swing now for the spring formal which is to be next Saturady, March 8.

"Our Navy" Mag. Publishes Article By NSC Teacher

"Rocket-firing Guinea Pigs," an article about LSM(R)s in World War II written by John C. Merrill, Jr., assistant professor of journalism at Northwestern, appears in the March issue of OUR NAVY magazine.

The story, accompanied by pictures showing the ships launching rockets at Okinawa, deals with the little-publicized amphibious assault craft used toward the end of World War II. The article tells how these ships, each capable of launching 1,0202 five-inch rockets shoreward in less than a minute, paved the way for the more modern LSM (R)s presently in use in Korean waters.

The 12 LSM(R)s, described in the article, were the only ships of their kind in the war, and proved a distinct irritant to the Japanese. This is attested to by the fact that nine of the 12 were hit by Japanese suicide planes (Kamikazes) in three months at Okinawa.

Merrill, who served in the Navy's amphibious forces four years during World War II, was aboard two of the LSM(R)s which were dived on and hit by the Kamikazes.

OUR NAVY magazine has asked Merrill to write another article for the July issue, describing the roles played by these versatile ships and the part they played in Korean landings.

Agriculture Dept. To Install Unit To Raise Chickens

Professor S. W. Nelken, head of the department of agriculture, has announced that a chicken brooding unit would be added to the department of agriculture.

The first shipment of 1000 White Leghorn pullets will arrive on March 10.

Brooding houses, range houses and laying houses will be constructed on the campus in the area directly behind South barracks.

The purpose of the new unit is to provide fresh eggs for the dining-hall and to serve as a laboratory for agriculture students here at the college.

The work involved in the maintainance of the new addition will be done entirely by students.

NSC Represented At YWA Conference

Eight girls from the local YWA represented Northwestern at the 18th annual session of the Louisiana Young Women's Auxiliary conference held in Monroe, Louisiana February 15-17.

The theme of the convention was "Hark the Voice of Jesus Calling" and many outstanding speakers and missionaries spoke to the 300 students from high schools and colleges throughout the state on topics built around this theme.

Among the speakers were Mrs. Milford Howell from Nigeria, Africa; Miss Theresa Anderson of the Phillipines and a Japanese student.

Miss Claudine Box, president of Northwestern YWA gave a book review "Passport to the World" at the conference, Saturday, February 16. Saturday afternoon the students were taken on a tour of the Children's Home.

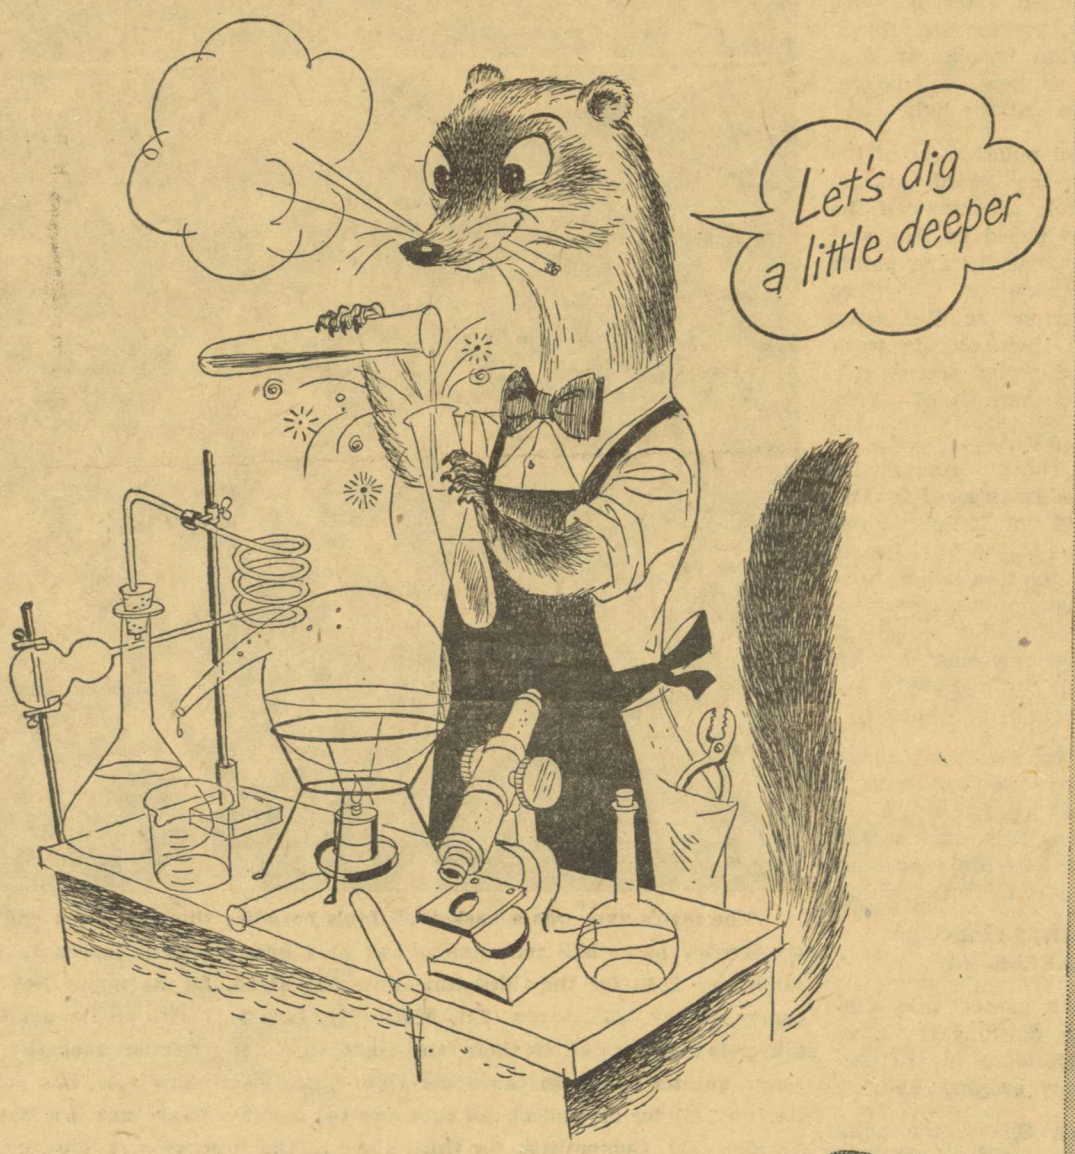

Those attending the conference were Claudine Box, Doris Bolin, Clydie Beacham, Bernadine Henderson, Faye Dell Johnson, Louvesta Presley, Annie Ruth Taylor, Barbara Hicks, Miss Myra Gullege, BSU director at Northwestern, Mrs. Ward, Northwestern YWA councilor and Lamar Rogers.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 34...THE FERRET

Descended from a long line of distinguished researchers, this studious scholar has burned too many gallons of midnight oil to gloss over a subject lightly. Especially such an important item as cigarette mildness. He burrowed into the matter with his usual resolution and concluded that a "quick puff" or a "fast sniff" doesn't offer much evidence. Millions of smokers agree there's but one true test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

MISSISSIPPI SOUTHERN AND NORTHWESTERN STATE WIN EASILY IN SEMI-FINAL ROUND OF TOURNEY

Mississippi Southern and Northwestern State easily advanced to the finals of the GSC basketball tournament, trouncing their semi-final opponents, Centenary and McNeese.

MISSISSIPPI SOUTHERN—75
CENTENARY—60

In the opening contest Thursday evening the Southerners of Hattiesburg, Mississippi displayed their championship form, building up a conmforable lead by the end of the third quarter and then humiliating the Centenary Gents in the final frame, clowning all the way.

The initial quarter saw Connie Mack Rae hitting for seven of the losers' 13 points while the entire Southern five cooperated in netting their 21 points.

The conference champs were uncanny in their shooting. With Gallagher hitting for six, Revon and Harrington slipping in four apiece, the winners commanded a 17 point lead at the half.

Coach Floyd pulled most of his starters in the third stanza. Centenary took advantage of the situation and paced by Rae and Wright pulled within nine points of the Mississippians. The first stringers returned to the game and resumed their scoring ways and the third period score read: Mississippi Southern — 57, Centenary — 43.

The Southerners, seemingly irritated by the intentional fouling of forward Tom Bishop, toyed with the Gents in the final frame, treating the fans to a laugh. Notable in the comics was the performance of all conference guard Jack Gallagher who shoved seven points through the nets while executing some unusual shots.

Ramirez of the Gents attempted to off-set the clowning with a nine point effort for his side's cause. However this was in vain as the Gents were an outclassed ballclub, at least for this night.

McNEESE—54

Northwestern gained their finalist berth by downing the Cowboys from McNeese in the late game Thursday evening, 69-54.

Let by Ken Shaw's ten point effort and disregarding the fact that the Lake Charles lads had upset highly regarded Spring Hill the previous day, the Demons broke into an eight point lead in the first stanza.

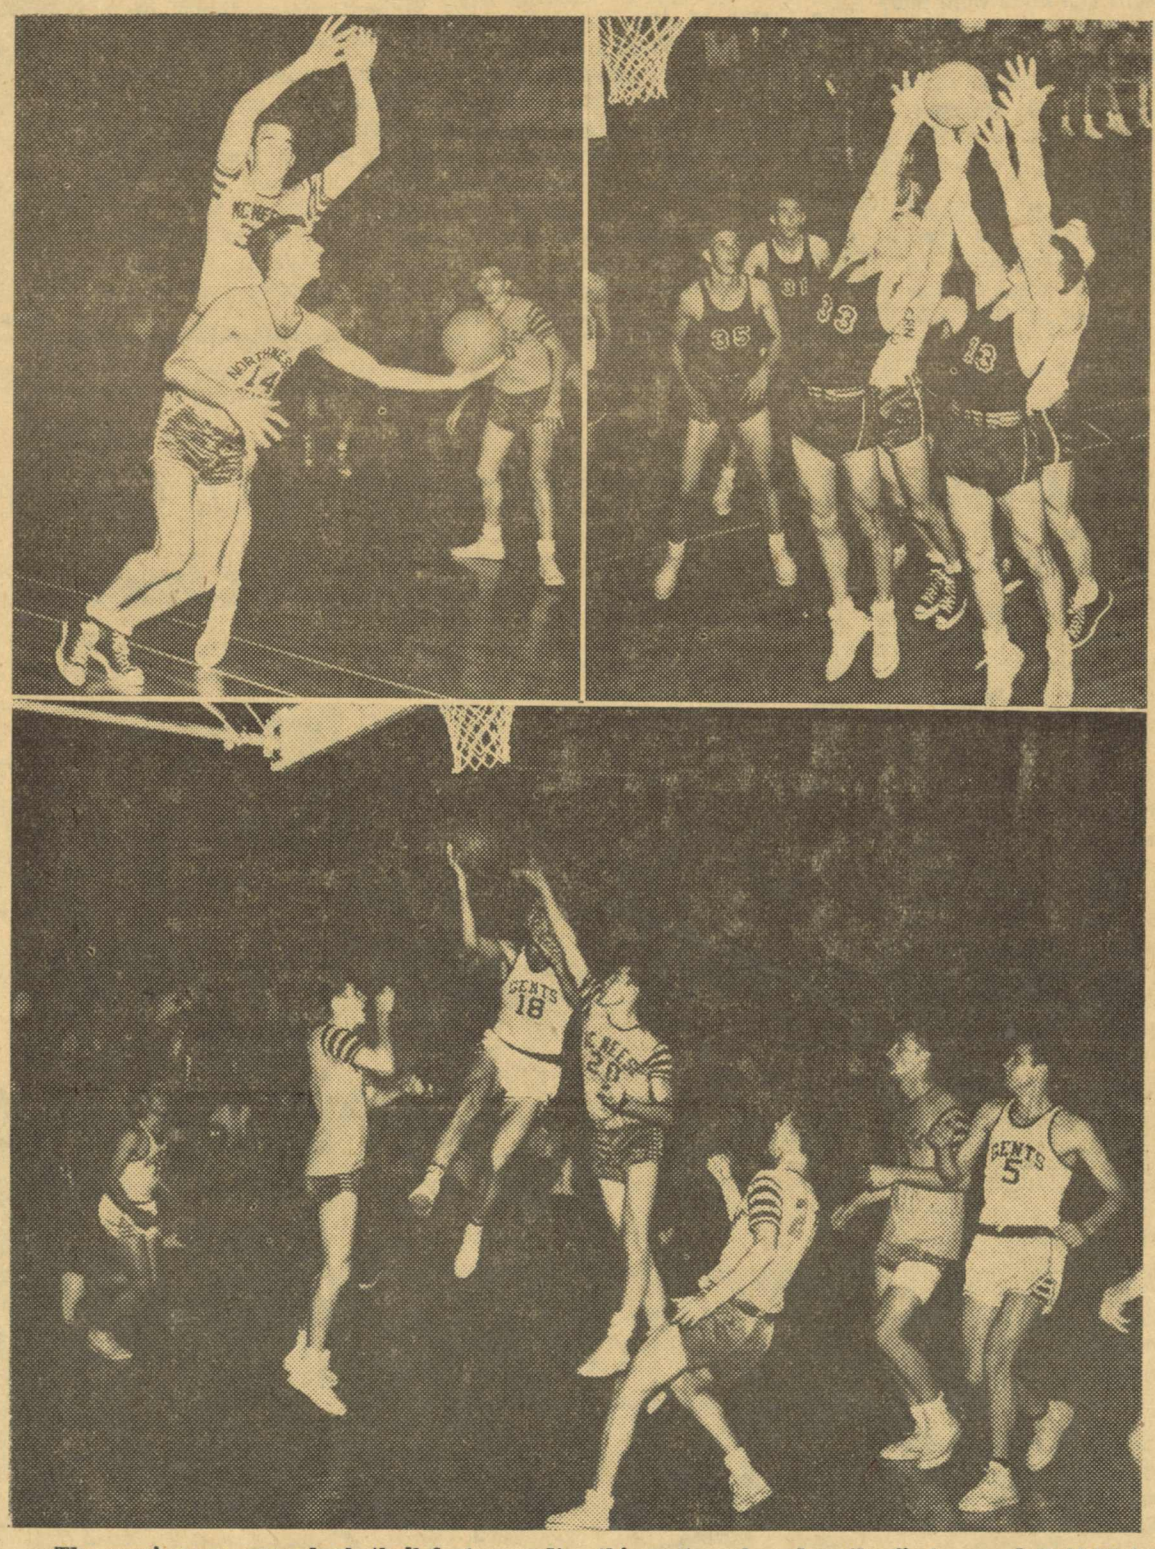

The McNeese basketeers started popping the net in the second frame and pulled to within two points of the host team.

In the third quarter both teams meshed 11 tallies and at the quarter whistle, Northwestern was out in front, again by a mere two points, 40-38.

The Demons cut loose in the final frame and ran their slight lead to a decisive 15 point margin. The entire five, Walker, Shaw, Yergler, Booras and Lilley hit for 29 points. The most points that the Cowpokes could round up were 16.

220-Dash in 23.4

Carl Salsbury of Phi Kappa Nu holds the 220 yard dash title with a fast time of 23.4, set in the 1949 meet.

The men's gym was a basketball fan's paradise this past week-end as the first annual Gulf States Conference basketball tournament was held here. In their march to the finals the Demons stomped Louisiana Tech for the third time this year 81-54. In the upper left-hand we see a host of Bulldog cagers, Bailey (35), Vines (31), Mott (33), Lovett (13) in on the act while the only identified Demon player is Jim Yergler. In their semi-final match, the Demons took the measure of a unpredictable McNeese quintet 69-54. In the upper right-hand Ken Shaw (14) has pulled away from Cowboy center Barton (35) for an underhand shot and two points. Away back are Manis (30) of the visitors and Jim Yergler (10). Competition for third place in the tourney was nip and tuck all the way with the Centenary Gents edging the McNese Cowpokes in overtime 79-76. Here we see the Gents Spangler (18) going up for a shot. Trying to block it is Dolan (20) of McNeese. Others identified in the picture are McNabb (21) and Moore (33) of McNeese and Ramirez (5) for Centenary.

McNEESE, GENTS EDGE INTO SEMI-FINALS; SOUTHERN, DEMONS COAST IN OPENERS

The Gulf States Conference basketball tournament got rolling Wednesday afternoon as Mississippi Southern from Hattiesburg, trounced the Louisiana College Wilcats 92-54. McNeese State followed with an upset of the Spring Hill Badgers. In the evening encounters a group of hustling Northwestern Demons whipped the rebounding lads of Louisiana Tech 81-54. Centenary barely edged by the Southwestern Bulldogs in the closing game 70-68.

Played on even term the entire first half, the Mississippi Southern cagers stormed back in the second portion of the game to thrust the Louisiana College Wildcats into overwhelming defeat, 92-54. The victory came on the strength of the Southern second team which played the greater part of the second half of the contest.

The McNeese State Cowboys pulled the surprise of the day when they eliminated the Spring Hill Badgers. The Cowboys built up an early lead and maintained it throughout the tilt. Hitting consistently from all over the court, the Lake Charles lads seemed to sink anything they threw at the basket. Spring Hill, on the contrary, did everything wrong. However in the last quarter, they started to rally, which fell 4 points short at the final whistle. Score: 68-64.

A hustling band of Demons gave the home crowd just the show they wanted as they plastered the Bulldogs from Louisiana Tech 81-54. Never once was the Demons lead relinquished. The Techsters, usually a backboard team, found themselves being pushed away from under the basket as the Purple and White rebounded their way to victory. For Tech, it was the worst defeat handed them by Northwestern this season.

In the finale of the opening day of competition, the Southwestern Bulldogs bettered a gauky Centenary quintet for almost an entire game but bowed in the last minutes, to give Centenary the edge 70-68.

NSC Ballplayers In Preparation For Season Opener

Baseball practice swung into high gear at Northwestern Saturday, as infielders and outfielders began daily workouts.

They joined a group of Coach Alvin "Cracker" Brown's pitchers and catchers who had been working together since Feb. 15. Others however, were delayed by basketball and spring football and will move over to the diamond as these activities disband.

Completing their baseball careers at Northwestern this season will be stellar outfielder Bobby Davis, Shreveport, infielder Ed Watkins, Haynesville, pitchers Ronald Martin, Natchitoches, and Artie Ranew, Tallahassee, Fla.

The Demons will have several outstanding veterans available for service in key spots as they attempt to improve on their third place finish in the field of five in their division of the Gulf States Conference last year.

Phi Kap Relay Titlist

The 1947 Phi Kappa Nu 440 yard relay team set the intramural record of 48.3.

Just Rambling

Elvin Lightsey

A group of boys from Northwestern entered the Elizabeth Independent tourney last week-end and almost came up with a surprise. The boys fell before the Louisiana College varsity playing under the name of the L. C. Independents by a score of 49-47. The Demon group consisted of Bill McGraw, Sammy Wilson, Carney Watts, Bill Shaw, Roy "Drink" Barker and Donald Ray Gill.

Congratulations to the Demon basketballers for their splendid performances in the GSC tourney last weekend. Special congrats go to "Uncle" Ken Shaw and Sammy Booras for making the all-tournament team.

LSU almost made history last week-end when they were nosed out by Kentucky in the finals of the Southeastern Conference basketball tourney 44-43. The Tigers from Baton Rouge led by one point with about four minutes left in the game. They came back to erase a 14 point deficit at the half. Bobby Pettit and Jo-Jo Dean accounted for 37 of the Tigers 43 points. Pettit got 28 for the night.

NOTICE

The cross-country race which was scheduled to be run February 21, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 p.m.

GSC TOURNAMENT —

read 33-31 for the Demons.

Shaw dunked two and Clark did likewise for the opponents. It was Shaw, once again, flipping the ball home for four points giving the Demons a spread of six points, 45 seconds remained in the half. Before the Demons knew what had appened, Clark had punched two points and Revon four to tie everything up at the half, 39-39.

The cagey Revon hit the net for Southern's first six points in the third stanza, while Yergler slipped in four and Shaw got a pair of free throws for Northwestern. Seven minutes of this period were gone and the conference champions held a two point edge, 47-45.

Collinsworth tied it up but Bishop pushed Southern ahead with a one pointer. Ranew was good for two. Shaw further strengthened the Demon lead with a set shot. The score board read Northwestern—51; Mississippi Southern—48 at the end of the period.

With two minutes gone in the fourther quarter, Tom Bishop brought the score to 53-53. Northwestern, behind Collinsworth, pushed eight points in front and it looked like a Demon upset. But the crafty Revon, almost single-handed forced the contest into overtime and eventual victory in the overtime play for Mississippi Southern.

NOTICE

All boys interested in competing in track should contact Coach Ledet immediately. Workouts started March 3.

Coach Ledet stated that all all boys who have competed in track in high school are urged to try out for the team.

Two Frosh Co-eds Are Counsellors

Barbara Robinette and "Chick" Gabbert recently received letters from Dr. A. R. Chopin, director of Pelican Boy's and Girl's States, inviting them to attend the 1952 Pelican Girl's State as senior counsellors.

Dr. Chopin personally selects the senior counsellors from the group of juniors who attended the previous year on the basis of their citizenship, companionship, and leadership abilities.

Barbara and Chick attended Pelican Girl's State in 1950. Chick was a candidate for lieutenant governor and both she and Barbara served in the senate. They were selected to act as junior counsellors at the 1951 Pelican Girl's State and, due to their success as junior counsellors, they will return this year as senior counsellors.

Starting August 20, each will be in charge of a group of 25 to 30 girls for the entire ten day period. They will have an important part in the citizenship educational program planned for the 1952 Girl Staters.

NSC Alumnus To Conduct City Youth Rally

He is coming to Natchitoches at the request of the Northwestern BSU. As well as conducting the youth rally on Thursday, he will be the guest speaker at the annual BSU banquet to be held on Friday night, March 21.

This will be a citywide youth rally. The BSU urges and invites everyone, college students and town people, to attend this rally.

Dr. Keegan is well known around Natchitoches, having acquired his bachelor's degree here and having served as pastor of the First Baptist Church for some years. He was elected "Best All-Around" student during his junior year at Northwestern. He lettered three years in football.

CANNON, SCHOENING JOIN STAFF OF COLLEGE ROTC UNIT

Two new staff members, both veterans of World War II and Korean fighting, have been assigned to the staff of the Northwestern State college ROTC, Lt. Col. James W. Bowman, professor of military science and tactics, announced recently.

They are Clyde H. Cannon and Carl M. Schoening, both master sergeants. Cannon will assume duties of supply sergeant at NSC, and Schoening's chief duty will be that of instructor in infantry light weapons.

A squad leader and platoon sergeant in World War II and a Regimental Supply sergeant in Korea, Cannon is the recipient of the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf cluster and the Bronze Star with three Oak Leaf clusters for valor in action. He returned from Korea in June, 1951, after ten months of combat.

Schoening was a platoon sergeant in World War II and Korea. He holds the Silver Star (for valor in action), the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf clusters, the Purple Heart with Five Oak Leaf clusters, the French and Belguim Croix de Guerre. He was twice awarded the infantry combat badge and the paratroop wings. Sgt. Schoening returned from Korea in June, 1951, after being seriously wounded.

Purple Jackets In Annual Show Wed., March 19

On March 19, the Purple Jackets will present their annual "Purple Jacket Review." The theme of the review for 1952 is "Deep Purple Music Through the Years."

Every year, each member of the organization originates one scene for the show and the scenes are combined to make the complete program. This year the girls have combined their own ability with talent from the entire campus and have produced a show which includes singing and various types of dancing.

The first scene takes place before the settlers came to America. The two characters are an Indian girl and boy. Following this number there is a frontier scene depicting the settlers around a campfire. This scene is in two parts, one representing 1840 and the other representing 1865-1890.

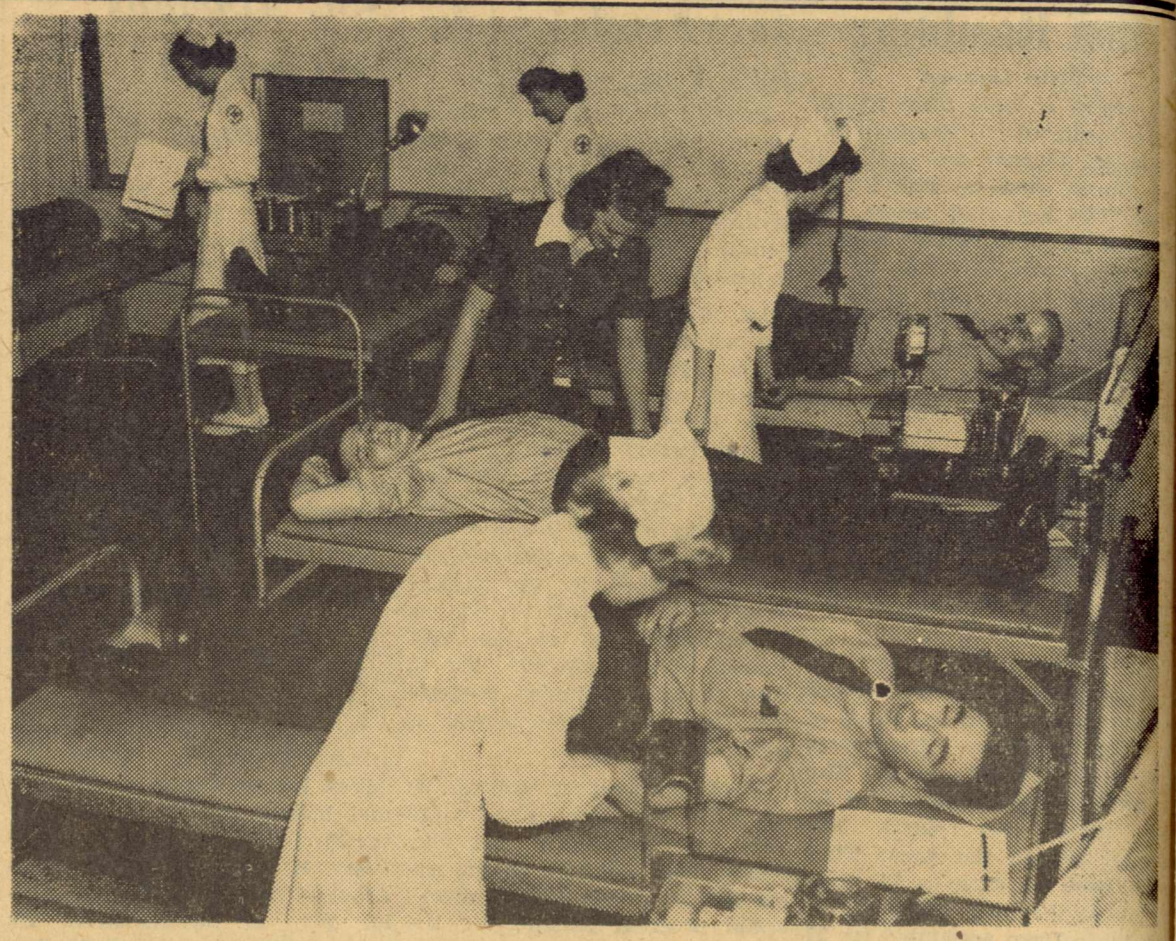

A scene from the time of the Revolution, a slave scene, and a Civil War Scene follow. After these three are the acts from the "Gay Nineties" and the "Roarin' Twenties," periods followed by the final scene which is representative of today's modern times.

RED CROSS GROUP WILL SOLICIT BLOOD AND MONEY

Students at Northwestern will be called upon to donate both blood and money to the Red Cross in the annual drive which began March 1. Natchitoches parish has been assigned a quota of $11,000 and, since Northwestern is considered part of the parish, the student's donations will be included in the parish drive. Of the $11,000 goal, 69.6 per cent of the money will stay in Natchitoches parish.

All students will be asked to donate blood, but the solicitation is on a voluntary basis. Special emphasis will be placed on the ROTC unit. There has always been a drive to obtain money from the students and faculty of Northwestern.

The air force unit at Northwestern is already donating blood. Miss Carmen Breazeale, chairman of the Natchitoches parish Red Cross division stated that the local chapter almost daily calls for assistance from the clerk-typist unit.

La. Library Assn. To Give Award At Spring Meet

Each year at the spring meeting of the Louisiana Library Association an award is given to the author of the book published during the preceding year that makes the greatest contribution to Louisiana literature.

The purpose of the award is to focus attention and interest on published materials about Louisiana and to encourage writers and publishers to produce more and better published material about the state.

There is no restriction as to literary form, length of the work, or age level.

The points for judging are:

1. The main emphasis of the work should be to present some phase of Louisiana.

2. Literary merit, authentic treatment of Louisiana life, correct interpretation of our unique Louisiana heritage, and possible value to the permanent record of the state should be considered.

Next week this paper will publish books eligible for the award for 1951.

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference— and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky . . . for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better . . . proved best-made of all five principal brands. So reach for a Lucky. Enjoy the cigarette that tastes better! Be Happy—Go Lucky! Buy a carton today!

Dr. John S. Kyser Conducts Lecture About Russia

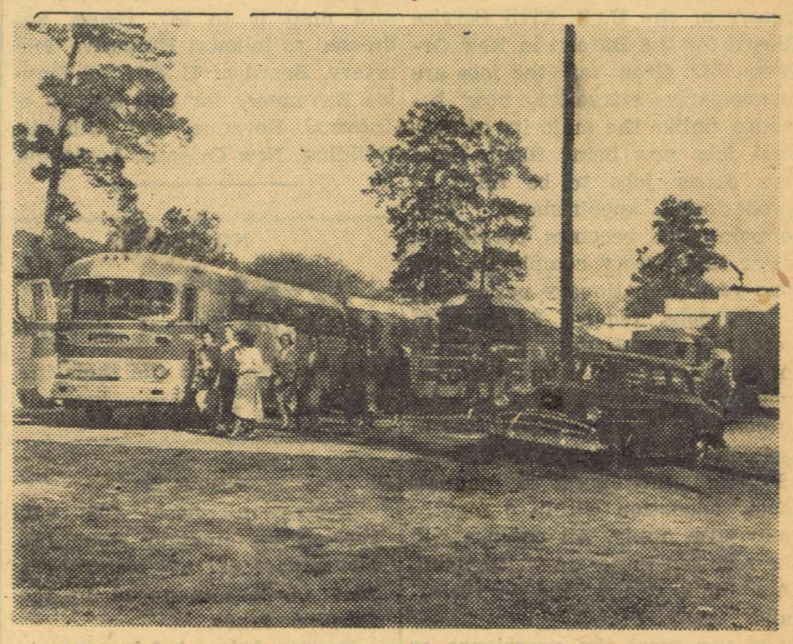

Dr. John S. Kyser, head social science department i rently giving a series of le throughout the state.

Preceeding each lecture the representative of the groups to be addressed are questioned as to the topic they would like most to be discussed. The problem of Russia seems to be on the minds of most people and accordingly Dr. Kyser has titled his lectures "The Russian Empire and the U. S."

This subject is not only of interest to them, but also to women as one audience has been solely feminine and two others have been mixed groups.

Thus far, he has spoken to Delta Kappa Gamma, women's sorority of Bastrop, the Men's Civic club of Oak Ridge and at an open house for the adults of Springhill.

Thursday, he will address a meeting of the teachers of the city of Lake Charles school system.

A PART OF THE LARGE NUMBER OF BUSES which conveyed some 1100 high school Future Leaders of America to the campus htis past week-end for their state meet. The convention was co-sponsored by the Northwestern business departments and Natchitoches high school.

ELECTION TIME

In the near future the students will go to the polls to elect officers for the next school year. Now is not too soon to scan the campus in search of the capable, the responsible, the student who commands respect and cooperation, the one who realizes the work which is part of the job along with the honor.

A majority of the present student-body officers who will return in the fall foster hopes of also returning to office. Their record will speak for them and student voters need only to check into their doings this year to determine whether they deserve reelection. Experience is the best teacher and who is more qualified — if the record is commendable — than the person who is already familiar with the workings of student government.

There are among the students, persons who are capable of solid leadership — they exercise it among their associates — but for one reason or another have never run for a student-body office. They are needed. It is their responsibility as it is the responsibility of those closest to them to see that they, at least, give it a try.

There is little honor to an office for which one had little or no opposition. Why not, for a change, have more than just one or two candidates for an office. Why not have campaigns and platforms and hang posters and hand out bills. Why not make it an election in the true sense of the word.

Accountants are needed for Deputy Collector positions at $4205 per year with the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Louisiana and Mississippi, according to Mr. Harry G. Grosz, Executive Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board for the Bureau in New Orleans. If you meet the experience or education requirements that are interested in permanent appointment with the bureau at a starting salary of $4205 per year, secure an application card form from your nearest Civil Service Secretary or any first- or second-class post office, from Mr. Grosz, or from the 10th Civil Service Region, New Orleans, complete and mail it to Mr. Grosz, addressed as follows: Executive Secretary, Board of U. Schools which will offer the weather training course are the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York University, the University of California at Los Angeles, Pennsylvania State College, the University of Chicago, Florida State University and the University of Washington.

Interested young men and women who will graduate before August of this year are urged to write immediately to the Chief, Air Weather Service, Andrews Air Force Base, Washington 25, D.C., for application forms and detailed instructions for applying for a USAF commission and meteorology training.

Graduates who are accepted for the USAF-sponsored training program will be commissioned immediately and will attend the weather course as second lieutenants in a full pay status, including allowances for quarters and subsistence.

During their initial tour after training, new weather officers will be assigned as forecasters in Air Weather Service weather stations. The Air Weather Service is a global meteorological system in 26 countries which provides specialized weather service for the Air Force and Army wherever USAF and Army units may be found.

Major Moseman Campus Visitor

Major Martha Moseman, Women's Medical Specialist Corps, who is stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas was guest on the campus of Northwestern State College, February 28 and 29. This was her second visit to the campus, having been here about the same time last year.

Major Moseman's purpose in coming was to talk with home economics students concerning dietetics as a career in the army as well as in civilian life and to interest students in this field. While in Natchitoches, she gave talks to home economics students at Northwestern State, the Natchitoches high school and to senior students at St. Marys high school.

In her talks, Major Moseman's emphasized the acute shortage of dietitians in army and civilian hospitals throughout the United States. She explained many types of possible jobs for girls with dietetics training other than those jobs in hospitals and the advantages offered to dietitians by the army. She also informed students of the dietetics internship provided by the army for home economics students who have majored in this field.

Major Moseman also gave talks to the industrial arts and art department students explaining the occupational therapy programs of the army for college students.

New Equipment For Biology Lab

The department of biological sciences has added two new pieces of equipment to their laboratory. A McKesson Waterless Metabolor and a Bausch and Lomb Carbon Arc Micro Projector.

Since 1946 a large amount of new and up-to-date equipment has been purchased. Part of this new machinery was necessitated by the addition of the nursing course; part by the addition of a course in the curriculum of medical technologists. This equipment is equal to that used during the hospital phase of their work.

The McKesson Waterless Metabolor will enable students in physiology to make a number of important determinations regarding normal and abnormal types of respiration. It will also provide a means of determining basal metabolism. Scientists use the word "metabolism" to describe the rate the body is burning up its fuel. In addition, the rate of metabolism under varying conditions, such as exercise, can be determined.

With the Bausch & Lomb Carbon Arc it is possible to actually project onto a screen, microscopic objects, such as bacteria, blood cells, parasites, and sections of blood tissue. The advantage of this is the student sees the real object rather than diagrams or charts.

Beta Beta Beta, national honorary biological fraternity, in cooperation with the office of student personnel will take blood types and RH factors in the student center tomorrow and Thursday from 9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

The purpose of the program is to have available a list of student blood types in the event of an emergency need for a blood transfusion.

Students typed will be requested to sign a card stating their willingness to donate their blood in case of an emergency.

Mrs. Ward, who has her masters degree from the Cincinnati Conservertory of Music and who studied with Robert Powell, chose well known selections as "Music L Heard With You," "Do Not Go My Love," and "Mirando," by Richard Hogenan. Miss Ward also rendered "Amour, viens Aider" from the Opera "Sampson" by Saint Saens which she also sang at the Summer Grand Opera in Cincinnati for which she won the Cincinnati zoological opera award.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

THE LARGEMOUTH BASS

Always a sucker for attractive bait, our aquatic brother went off the deep end and got caught on the quick-trick cigarette hook! But he wormed his way out when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness can't be tossed off reel lightly. Millions of smokers have found, too, there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

With major league exhibition games underway and the Demons preparing for their opener, the baseball season is crowding the basketball picture. Of course, the national championships have not yet been completed in the hardwood game but Kentucky will finish that off in the next few weeks.

The sportswriters who kept claiming last season that Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp had an All-American sitting on the bench seem to have been right. Cliff Hagan, the player in question, made everyone's All-American team so far. Hagan is acclaimed as the greatest pivot man in the game today by many of the top writers in the nation.

Bobby Pettit of LSU did pretty well for a sophomore. He made the second team All-American, first team Southeastern Conference and also first team SEC tournament. He should be a starter on the All-American team ext season if he continues to y the way he did this season.

Crusaders Edge Bolton Bears In State AA Finals

Ouachita Sextet Trounces Haynesville In Girls AA Finale

A band of Crusaders from St. Aloysius rallied in the last quarter of the Louisiana class AA high school basketball finals here Saturday night and edged past Bolton high school, 52-50.

Bolton outplayed the victors in the first half and took a commanding 32-18 lead before the start of the third frame. But St. Aloysius fought back hard in the last two stanzas hitting for 34 points while Bolton collected only 18. Therein was the difference.

L. C. Fontenot racked up seven field goals and four three throws for the losers; Bobby Delpit paced the Crusaders with 17 points.

St. Aloysius advanced to the finals after downing Bogalusa 44-30. Bolton gained their berth by skimming by Istrouma 37-35. In the consolation finals Istrouma stomped Bogalusa 86-56.

Results in the girl competition were: Ouachita beat Haynesville -33 in the finals and Bolton e m Terrebonne 50-12.

Gents Bag Demons In Overtime Game Win NAIB Berth

The Centenary Gents edged out a tough Demon five 54-53 last Tuesday night to win the right to represent Louisiana in the N.A.I.B. tournament in Kansas City. Centenary was forced into an overtime game after the Demons had overcome a 41-31 lead with four minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. Ken Shaw sank the tying two pointer just 20 seconds before the final buzzer.

Bob Wright sank a free throw and a crib shot in the extra period after Shaw had put the Demons out front 53-52. The Gents then froze the ball to hang up their third close victory over the Demons.

The first quarter was a defensive battle with neither team getting many shots and the period ended with the score knotted 9-9. Centenary pulled out front in the second stanza and wasted little time in building up a nine point lead. Just before the half the Demons got hot and sank seven quick points but weren't able to gain any ground on the leaders and trailed 30-19 at intermission.

The Demons started closing the gap late in the third stanza, and pulled within six points of the visitors, 43-38. Centenary's acurate shooting and backboard play wasn't to be outdone, however, and they took a ten point lead before the Demons made their desparate try for victory.

Trailing 49-39 the Demons, led by Show, who had been held to two points hooked a beautiful shot and Bill Collinsworth, who led the Demons in points for the night, hit from the corner. Shaw tipped in a two pointer and Collinsworth hit for another three points, cutting the Gents lead to 50-48. The hustling Demons were not to be stopped and with 20 seconds remaining Shaw sank his game-tying crib shot.

Bill Collinsworth lead the Demon scoring with 13 points while Shaw and Artie Renew were close behind with 11 tallies. Bob Wright and Pototo Ramirez led the Gents with 17 each.

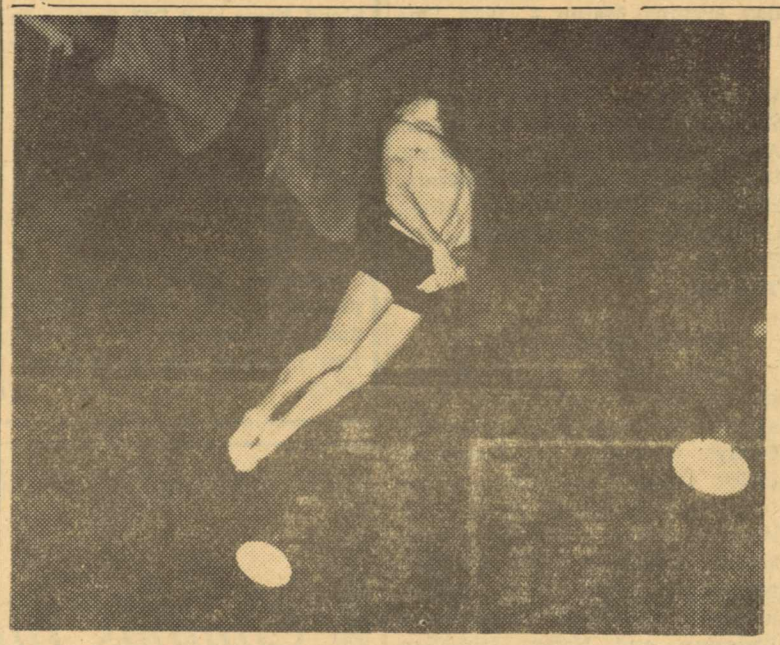

Aquatic Log

Monday, March the third, was a big and exciting day for the Aquatic Club members — six new members were initiated into the Club. Those who walked the aquatic plank and came through the initiation with flying colors, included Nelwyn Boydstun, Jo Ann Breedlove, Virginia Deason, June Hendrix, Horace Humble and Tony Kooce. A free swim followed the initiation.

With the resignation of Robert Justiss, hard-working president of the Aquatic Club, the club elected Houston Davis to fill the position. The members of the club felt that the club would profit in the conduct of its business meetings with the services of a parliamentarian and sergeant-at-arms. Michael Torrans was elected in this capacity. The election of Houston Davis to the presidency left a vacancy in the office of publicity chairman, which was filled by the election of Freddie Jones.

At present student directors of the annual Water Show are busily engaged in working out details of the music to be used in the show.

DEMON WEBMEN LOSE TO TEXAS SCHOOLS BY SAME 53-31 SCORE IN FINAL MEETS

The Demons were able to capture only two first place in each meet. Dennis Ryder won the 220 yard freestyle against the Aggies and came through with a first in the 440 yard freestyle at Austin the next day.

DEMONS, GENTS DOWN FOES IN NAIB DISTRICT TOURNEY

In the Semi-finals of the NAIB district play-off on Monday night the Demons walked over a stale Southeastern team 66-48 while the Gents took advantage of an off-night to edge Louisiana Tech 60-57.

The Demon-Southeastern game was a slow affair as the visitors and the home team were having trouble finding the basket. The Demons, nevertheless built up a 16-12 first quarter lead. Tom Boyd made nine of the Lions' twelve first quarter points. Walker, Collinsworth and Renew combined their talents to put the Demons further ahead at the half 29-21.

From this point the game was all over but the shouting as the Demons continued to increase their lead. The third quarter score read 46-27 and the final score was 66-48. Bill Collinsworth lead the Demon scoring with 14 points while Shaw netted 13 and Renew and Sam Booras 11 each. Tom Boyd of the losers was high point man for the night with 22 points.

In the Centenary-Louisiana Tech game, the Gents overcame an 18-16 first quarter Tech lead to win. Connie Mac Rae and Bob Wright spelled defeat for Tech with their 35 points, Rea sinking 20 and Wright 15.

The Gents lead at the half 37-34 and were out front at the end of the third period 49-45. They took an eight point lead early in the final stanza but the Techmen whittled away at that lead until they trailed 58-55 with 2 minutes to play.

In these fading minutes Tech missed six free throws and nine shots from the floor, accounting for their loss.

Joe Mott led the Techsters with 15 points while Bailey and Lovett made 13 and 11 respectively.

SAMMIE WILSON breaks the tape in the annual intramural cross-country race held last Wednesday on the campus. He ran for Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity which also captured the most team points in the race.

Never A Dull Moment, Expect The Unexpected May Well Be The Rule By Which Librarians Abide

By Barbara Robinette

"Well, I have to read it before Friday . . . but I don't remember the title. I don't remember the author either, but it's a red book about this big."

These words, familiar to the ears of Northwestern librarians and student assistants, are an example of some of the confused and ridiculous requests for aid voiced by our college students.

This aid is given cheerfully and regularly by the staff, who are called upon to use, not only their training in library science, but also their innate ability as detectives.

For instance, there was the student who said:

"I'm looking for a very famous piece of literature, but the only thing I know about it is that the title is something about a "red boat." After checking fiction catalogues for some length of time, the librarian asked if he knew anything about the author. "He was real famous — some Persian guy, I think." With this information she returned to the desk with the desired copy of Omar Khyyam's Rubaivat.

The most frequent questions are asked about dates of holidays; however, questions about the history of the college are numerous, too. The reference desk has received queries on everything from "how to tie a man's necktie" to "the origin of salt and pepper shakers."

A request for a copy of the play The Missing Troop commenced a search through play indexes an dcatalogues which ended with the discovery of the French comedy, Misanthrope, by Moliere.

Library orientation is required for graduation, in order that students may gain independence and experience in doing reference work on their own. Nevertheless, the librarians are willing at all times to be of service. This orientation has as its purpose, also, to teach the rules and regulations concerning the NSC Library.

In an orientation class under Mrs. Ora Williams several years ago, the question of why the library is opened 15 mniutes before first period was asked of the group. Obviously, the answer was to allow time to return books on reserve before 8 o'clock. "I don't know, Mrs. Williams — to air it out, I s'pose," was the answer received.

Needless to say, Library 101 is not designed to make you an accomplished reference librarian. Moral of the story: Don't hesitate to ask for help, if after you have searched, you have discovered no material.

. . . And then there was the one about the girl who kept getting large numbers of books from the stacks, flipping through them, sighing, and returning them to the desk. When asked if she needed some help, she insisted:

"It just isn't in the library — I've looked through every Roman History in the card catalog and there isn't a work about the Romanic Period of English Literature!"

Be Happy-Go Lucky!

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference— and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky . . . for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better . . . proved best-made of all five principal brands. So reach for a Lucky. Enjoy the cigarette that tastes better! Be Happy—Go Lucky! Buy a carton today!

L.S./M.F.T.-Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

Though cigarettes may look alike,
They're really not the same.
There's all the rest-but one that's best,
And Lucky Strike's its name!

THERE'S ONE IN EVERY TOWN

This is the story of a small town people, each having his dream. The New York Times says, "It is a hard-hitting novel with a sure touch; it is a tender and troubling story of a heart full of innocently destructive love."

CHARIOT IN THE SKY
Arna Bontemps

THE GRASS HARP
Truman Capote

"Collin, the sixteen-year-old narrator, is an orphan who lives with his aunts, shrewdish, miserly Verena, and sweet, addled Dolly. His story deals principally with Dolly's great rebellion. Odd, with some amoral characters, but surprisingly close to cenventional writing for Capote." —Booklist

Harnett Thomas Kane

"Stories of duels that took place in the South in the nineteenth century, when the South was the last great stand of formal dueling . . . THE SCANDALOUS MRS. BLACKFORD

William Dosite Postell

"Based entirely on original research by W. D. Postell, Librarian L.S.U. Medical School. It represents a real contribution to the medical history of the South."

SOUTHERN TERRITORY
Robert Tallant

ORIGIN

Alpha Beta Alpha had its origin in 1945 when a group of twenty-two library science students and eight librarians at Northwestern State College met to discuss the possibility of organizing a library science club on the campus, with a view toward the development of a national fraternity.

The following January, the group formally organized the Northwestern State College library club. The name "Scharlie E. Russell Library Club" was adopted in October in honor of Miss Scharlie E. Russell. At a banquet Miss Russell was formally installed as honorary president of the club on November 6, 1946.

For a long time, the club had been constantly considering and working for the establishment of a fraternity. On May 3, 1950, the American Librarian's fraternity, Amerikaniki Bibliophylaken Athelfotes (ABA) was founded.

Later, Beta chapter was established at Mississippi State College for Women, and Gamma chapter was established at Indiana State Teachers College. Since then, the fraternity has received a petition for admission from San Jose College and inquiries from schools in the states of Texas, Tennessee, Louisiana Connecticut and Iowa.

National officers of the fraternity are: President, Miss Jo Ann Scott, Beta chapter; Vice-president, Mr. Neil Rude, Gamma chapter; Treasurer, Miss Kathryn Hopkins, Alpha chapter; Executive Secretary, Dr. Eugene P. Watson, Alpha chapter.

Ruth Ann Ellender is president of the host chapter, Alpha, here at Northwestern State College.

The North Texas State College concert band will be presented in a concert in the Fine Arts auditorium Thursday evenin at 8:15 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Artists Series Committee of Northwestern.

MORE FANS

With the gym given over to intramurals and the natatorium empty of varsity swimmers, the campus sports followers should turn to the outdoor activities, baseball, track, tennis and golf for their entertainment.

However, this doesn't seem to be the case. These sports are conspicuous for the lack of student interest in them in the way of attendance and moral support at their meets and games.

Why aren't students interested in these sports? Is it because we have fielded rather poor teams in the past few years? Is it because there is no concentrated effort to lure the students?

These are varsity sports and carry just as many practice hours as do the football, basketball and swimming teams. They also meet the same type competition. As such, they deserve the same student support which the other sports receive.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA'S ANNUAL SPRING FORMAL was held last Saturday evening from 9-12. The theme of the dance was "Rhapsody in Blue." Music was furnished by the Demonaires.

RHAPSODY IN BLUE
THEME OF SPRING BALL OF TRI SIGMA SORORITY

Last Saturday evening Sigma Sigma Sigma and their guests danced to the music of the Demonaires at their annual spring formal.

The theme, Rhapsody in Blue, was effectively carried out with blue lights, glittering stars and black notes.

Blue lights were focused on the glittering stars and notes which floated over the entire dance floor, giving a blue glow to the room. Over the band were filmy blue drades sprinkled with the glittering notes. Similar drapes sprinkled with stars backgrounded the refreshment table.

On the refreshment table were the silver scholastic candle sticks encircled by ruffled blue net sprinkled with silver stars. The center piece was an arrangement of bridal wreath and blue carnations. On each table burned small white candles decorated in the same manner with blue net and silver stars. On the mirror was a large silhouette of a beautiful girl and a boy dancing before a staff of music, Rhapsody in Blue. The staff was repeated on the blue dance program.

Entertainment was provided by Ginger Huson of Natchitoches, a hand balancing trio from Camp Polk, Kay Sonnier, Beth Cox and Rudy Berlin of Northwestern.

Ginger Huston sang "Alice Blue Gown," Kay Sonnier, appropriately attired, sang "Blues in the Night" accompanied by Ted Forte. The hand balancing trio was accompanied by Marjorie Norsworthy. The grand finale featured Beth Cox and Rudy Berlin in an empressive dance interpretation of "Rhapsody in Blue."

While Miss Stockwell is on a leave of absence from Northwestern, Miss Mary Esther Roberson, one of Kappa Chapter patronesses is filling in as sponsor. Mrs. Gene Luse, another patroness of Theta Sig is assisting Miss Roberson.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

The DSE rummage sale last Saturday was so successful that the project is to be extended for several Saturdays.

New patronesses were elected at the last meeting. They are Mrs. Coralie Trichel of Campti and Mrs. F. R. Prudhomme of Burmuda.

Miss Farris was hostess for a wonderful buffet supper at her home Wednesday honoring the out-going and newly elected officers. Although the food was wonderful, the get-to-gether afterward was enjoyed almost as much.

Highlighting the meeting were excited plans for the dance. The committee chairmen submitted very good suggestions and plans which were accepted by the group.

All the Delta Sig's enjoyed DoDo Sutherland's delicious box of candy. DoDo is pinned to Ted Forte.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 36...THE OTTER

A usually mild-mannered and easy-going lad, he really made the fur fly when he realized the trickiness of most of the so-called cigarette mildness tests! He knew there was one honest test of cigarette mildness. Millions of smokers everywhere know, too — there's one true test!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .

The veteran Bombers of Barksdale Air Force Base had to come from behind twice to take the opening exhibition baseball game of the season from Northwestern 8-7 here Wednesday afternoon.

In the Northwestern half of the first, ex-professional Phil Possessky, who started for Barksdale walked Watkins, Lyons, Emmons, and Martni forcing in a run. After two were out Bill Gray came through with a single scoring Lyons and Emmons and gave the Demons a 3-0 lead.

Martin gave up a single hit in the second inning, but Barksdale tallied in the third as Glynn Carthenson singled, advanced to third on two wild pitches and came home after the catch on an outfield fly.

Bill Smith came on to pitch for NSC in the fourth, but the fireballer had trouble finding the strike center, walking three and wild pitching home a run. Smith departed in the fifth after two runs had resulted from four free passes and an error. Freshman Douglas Logan then put out the fire with a quick strike-out.

Don Wineman doubled with one out in the Demon fifth, moved to third on a wild toss and scored on a second armless peg by Barksdale reliefer, Greg Cavanugh, to put NSC ahead 4-3.

The airmen got an unearned run in the sixth as Logan hit Teal and Johnson was awarded first as interence was called against the catcher. Teal scored on a pass ball.

The Demons had their big inning in the seventh. Horace McCann was safe on an error, Wineman singled and Emmons brought McCann home with another single. Both Wineman and Emmons scored on Martin's infield out.

Barksdale finished the scoring with a three run eighth inning outburst as two errors cost Northwestern the contest.

Wineman and Bill Gray each collected a single and a double to lead the Demon batters. Doug Logan was credited with the loss, but turned in a creditable performance in relief.

INDUSTRIAL ED IN ANNUAL CONTEST

The department of industrial education at Northwestern is sponsoring its second annual Industrial Education Awards contest Saturday, April 26. The purpose is to stimulate interest in industrial arts and vocational education in Louisiana. Winners will be eligible to enter the Ford contest in Dearborn, Michigan in June.

The contestants will be students in junior and senior high school, running from the seventh through the twelfth grades. The contest will also include trade school students.

All instructors entering contestants have been aksed by Walter J. Robinson, professor of industrial education at Northwestern, to submit 15 or 20 objective questions. These questions will be compiled into one test to be given to the entrants. This is important because the contest will not be based on craftsmanship alone.

Also on the campus from April 7th through 9th will be a short course in grading and inspecting southern pine lumber.

The southern pine inspection Bureau of New Orleans will furnish trained personnel to conduct the course. The lumber yards in Natchitoches are to furnish lumber for the inspection.

The course is open to lumber manufacturers, retailers of lumber and building materials, college students, and home builders. The class will be limited to the first 50 persons who enroll.

Lt. Ogburn USMC Will Visit Campus To Talk To Co-eds

Lieutenant Emily Ogburn United States Marine Corps, will visit the Northwestern campus March 25-26 to outline the current Marine Corps officer candidate program to women undergraduates and graduates. Lt. Ogburn will be in the Student Center to talk with interested students.

"More and more, women are stepping into military jobs which it was formerly felt only men could do," according to Lt. Ogburn. "And the service today offers a young woman a career which financially and in many other ways offers more than many civilian positions."

Lt. Ogburn, herself a graduate of the woman officer candidate course, will enroll graduate and undergraduate women candidates for the six-week summer sessions during her visit here. Undergraduate students will be commissioned after they have attended two six-week sessions and receive their diplomas. Graduates may complete both courses in one summer and get their commissions as second lieutenants immediately after the final session.

The first class is expected to convene about June 16.

Candidates are paid approximately $142.00 for the first six-weeks and $176.00 for the last course. In addition to pay and transportation to and from the training base, living quarters, uniforms, and medical care will be furnished.

Applicants must be single physically qualified, and at least 18 to enroll.

ROBERT TALLANT IS RECIPIENT OF LA. LITERARY AWARD

Last night at its annual Book Dinner, the Louisiana Library Association presented the literary award to Robert Tallant for his book The Pirate Lafitte and the Battle of New Orleans.

Mr. Tallant's book was considered the outstanding contribution to Louisiana literature in 1951.

This book is illustrated by the well-known illustrator, John Chase. These two New Orleans men have combined to make Jean Lafitte and the Battle of New Orleans real to youth. Books such as this one have created an interest in history.

In the spring of 1950 a request was made by a youngster for "more books for kids about things that really happened." The Landmark Series was an immediate result of this request. Robert Talland, who had never written for children, and John Chase were asked to do a book about Lafitte and the Battle of New Orleans for this series.

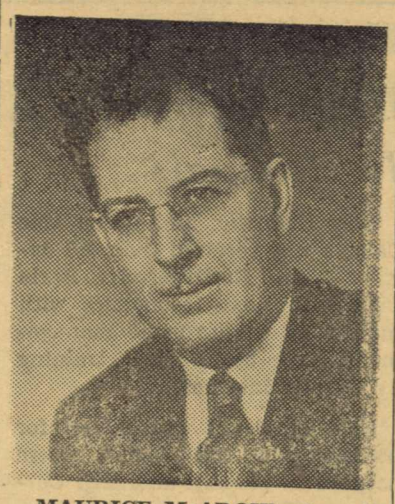

Mr. Tallant has based his book on works of other Louisiana writers. No new material about the Lafittes and the Battle of New Orleans is found in this book, but with Mr. Tallant's simplicity and John Chase's colorful illustrations the reader both young and old, becomes a part of this stirring battle as if it were a new story.

Dance Workshop In Preparation For May Recital

The modern dance workshop, under the direction of Mrs. Jean Lee, has been practicing since the early part of the semester in preparation for its spring recital which will be given in May .

Included in the program will be such numbers as Xochipili Yaqui, Legend to a Santo, and Herapango. Most of the dances will be based on Mexican legend, bringing out the emotions, superstitions, customs, and religious formalities of the Mexican people. Using these individual plans as a nucleus, he planned, designed and presented to the students a detailed, color plan for the home management house.

Public Relations Is Studied By La. Educators

Seeking to discuss and form an active public relations program for high schools in this state, some 200 Louisiana, elementary and secondary school educators met today on the Northwestern State college campus for a one-day workshop in public relations.

The workshop was sponsored by the Louisiana School Superintendents Association, the Louisiana Education Association, and the Louisiana State Department of Education.

Principal addresses during the morning session were made by Dr. John A. Hunter, registrar at LSU, and by N. B. Hackett, field secretary of the LEA. Dr. Hunter noted that schools too often ignore the tax-paying public, which has a right to know what is going on in the schools. Hunter said that the finest public relations consists "in having satisfied customers — a satisfied public."

In the second address, Hackett emphasized that public relations is a two-way program. "Public relations involves much more than publicity and interpretation," he said. A good program will integrate home, school and community and will lead to a better understanding between the school and the community, the field secretary added.

State Superintendent of Education Shelby M. Jackson spoke in the afternoon on the urgent need for better school public relations for the purpose of combating growing misunderstandings about Louisiana school activities. Another afternoon speaker, Mrs. Ann Meridith VanNess, stated that a good public relations program must include planned activities for public and school participation, and well-organized public information techniques.

Two panel discussions, participated in by 18 Louisiana educators, were held during the workshop. The morning panel was entitled: "The People Should Know the Facts About Our Schools," and the afternoon discussion hinged on the subject, "Organizing Public Relations Programs at the Parish and School Levels."

PURPLE JACKETS HOLD REVIEW IN FINE ARTS AUD. WED. NIGHT

Presented in the Fine Arts auditorium last Wednesday evening was the Deep Purple Review, given by the Purple Jackets of Northwestern. This year the Purple Jackets chose the theme "Through the Years," which portrayed the many phases of life which molded our present day heritage. With a background of deep purple each scene was pictures quelly done. On two-pianos, Mary Clark and Darlene Bennett began the program with "Deep Purple."

One of the first civilizations to which we owe part of our heritage was the red man. Sally Jo Foster and Ted Forte accompanied by Mary Clark gave us the simple picture of the Indians' world.

Then came the revolutionary period in which mothers still used the spinning wheel. There were the gay ones also with the minuet, a favorite dance. Margaret Gene Olson was the girl at the spinning wheel and four couples danced. Jim Bob Key and Bill Collins sang solos.

Then the era before the Civil War involving the negro certainly left an ear-mark on the South. Elizabeth Leo, Sherrod Towns, Ted Forte and the Phi Mu Chorus sang several negro spirituals to depict the negroes' feelings.

The Civil War brought heartache to many and split the Union in half. Waltzing couples, portrayed by Mary Ann Cronin. Allen Grant; Mary Clark, Byron McCain; Dorthy Corry, Roger Connell: Earlene Ursery, Jerry Fuller, Sally Jo Foster and Dave Carson, suddenly realized that they would by separating. This was war! MY COUSIN RACHEL

By Daphne du Maurier

After thirteen years of anxious waiting on the part of the readers of Rebecca, the pen in Miss du Maurier's hand again moves to give the world another bewitching and beguiling book, My Cousin Rachel.

Was Rachel innocent or guilty? This question is presented early in the book and remains foremost in the reader's mind throughout the story.

The scene is the Ashley estate on the windswept coast of Cornwall, the time early nineteenth century. The narrator is Philip Ashley, who had lived happily with his uncle, Ambrose Ashley, on the family estate in Cornwall, until his uncle's ill health caused him to take a trip to Italy. There Ambrose met and married his half-English, half-Italian cousin, Rachel ,widow of a man who had died in a duel for her sake. A few years later Ambrose died, leaving an unmailed letter reading, "One thought possesses me, leaving me no peace. Are they trying to poison me?" Were they?

After his uncle's death, Philip, with little short of hatred for Rachel, received her in Cornwall. He fell under the influence of her charm, but sought an unconventional way out when he thought she may have poisoned his beloved uncle.

Miss du Maurier keeps the reader's interest by frequently dropping mysterious hints about Rachel's past.

Was Cousin Rachel really a murderess or was she just a much misjudged woman?

Civil Service Jobs Available To College Seniors

Applications are being sought from senior students in colleges and universities in Louisiana and Mississippi who are interested in investigative work in the Federal Civil Service, according to a statement made by A. J. Leach, Regional Director, Tenth U. S. Civil Service Region, Federal Office Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

The open competitive civil service examination for Investigator (Trainee), $4205 a year, which was announced last December has failed to produce sufficient qualified applicants to meet expected needs of his office, Mr. Leach said. As a result, it has been decided to accept applications for the examination from college seniors who expect to graduate by June 30, 1952.

Senior students who qualify in the examination may receive provisional appointments prior to graduation but they will not be entered on duty until all required college work has been completed.

Civil Service Commission investigators conduct personal investigations for loyalty, suitability and security in connection with Federal employment. Trainee investigators who start at $4205 a year are promoted upon completion of the one-year training period to the position of Investigator, $5060 a year. Appointments are to be made in the Tenth Civil Service Regional Office, New Orleans, and in other localities in Louisiana and Mississippi. The work will involve considerable travel.

In addition to meeting certain experience or education requirements applicants must qualify in a written examination and they must demonstrate in an interview that they possess the characteristics necessary for the proper performance of the duties of an investigator.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 37...THE SWORDFISH

They crossed swords with the wrong man when they engaged this swashbuckling senior in combat! At first, he was foiled by the tricky, "one-puff" . . . "one-sniff" cigarette mildness tests. But he parried their thrusts with this gleaming sword of logic: The only way you can judge mildness is by steady smoking. That's the true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .

Just Rambling

By Elvin Lightsey

The Cleveland Indians are the hottest thing in the grapefruit circuit so far. They copped their first five games and showed good form in so doing. The Boston Red Sox on the other hand are not faring so well. They dropped seven straight before finally winning one. But remember I said they would end up in sixth. It looks good so far, for me that is!

Our Demon baseballers are off to the races, judging from their exhibition games. Thus far we have won 2 and lost 1. Remember last season we lost our first seven in a row, or maybe you would rather not remember. The pitching thus far has been very effective with each hurler turning in a fine performance. The hitting has not been the best but it has been coming through in the pinchs. Maybe we are to be termed "the hitless wonders." Big league pennants have been won by such clubs.

Big time basketball comes into the spotlight again this week as the NCAA championship tourney begins. Kentucky and Kansas seem to hold the inside track. Two All-Americans will be shooting for more honors in this ratrace to see who will represent the United States in the Olympics. They are Clyde Lovellette of Kansas and Cilff Hagan of Kentucky.

Incidentally the coaches of both Kentucky and Kansas have both held coaching clinics at NSC in the past two years. Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky was here in 1950 and coach "Phog" Allen of Kansas was here in 1951. Hats off to Physical Education majors club for bringing in such celebrities for local fans.

Golf, Tennis Team In Season Opener

The Northwestern State College tennis and golf teams will usher in their 1952 season here Tuesday afternoon when they meet the Lamar Tech tennis and golf players of Beaumont, Texas. The golf match will begin at 1:30 p.m. while tennis action is scheduled to start at 2:00.

Each team has just one returning veteran. Roy Gravel is the only letterman on the tennis team while Gilbert Derouen returns for the golfsters.

Gravel, who finished second last year in the Gulf States conference singles, will make a strong bid to capture top honors this year. Fighting for the other positions will be Micheal LeLong Bob Durham, Lucian Spataro, Searle Colsom, Tom Druwett, Sonny Farris, and Tom Young.

Derouen, a senior from Lake Charles, who played in the No. 2 slot last year will move up to No. 1 place and will become captain of the golfers. Striving for the other three positions are one other senior, Robert Adams, and three freshmen, Richard Grant, Bill Stanberry and Paul Ryder.

Coach Havard announced that his netmen will meet top flight competition in their nine matches which include a meet with LSU here. Other Demon opponents are Louisiana College (there), Louisiana Tech (home and home), Southwestern (home and home), and McNeese (home and home).

Coach Brittain stated that his golfers will have seven dual meets. They are March 25, Lamar Tech (here); April 1, Louisiana Tech (here); April 8, Louisiana College (Alexandria); April 15, Southwestern (Lafayette); April 19, Louisiana College (here); April 22, Louisiana Tech (Ruston); April 25, Southwestern, (here).

Northwestern State College baseballers rallied in the last half of the ninth inning here Wednesday afternoon to break a 2-2 deadlock and subdue Alexandria Air Base 3-2. Earlier in the week the Demons halted the Barksdale Raider, 5-2, for their first victory of the '52 season.

Northwestern — 3
Alexandria — 2

In the last half of the ninth frame in the Alexandria second contest, Sammy Booras bunted off the pitcher. A bad throw enabled him to reach second. He advanced to third on a wild pitch. Coach "Cracker" Brown then put in a pinch hitter, Bill Smith, who blasted the ball against the left field fence to score Booras and win the game.

Alexandria Air Force Base went-ahead 1-0 in the second inning. The Demons however aided by two walks given Don Wineman and Bill Gray, pushed across two tallies in the fourth when Johnny Emmons and Artie Ranew singled them home.

The airmen tied the score in the eighth as center-fielder Wassick rallied home on a fielder's choice. This was short-lived though when the Booras-Smith combination clinched the game in the last stanza.

Northwestern — 5
Barksdale — 2

Barksdale opened the scoring with an unearned run in the third inning of the first tilt, but the Demons bounced back with a pair of their own. Robert Briley waited out a walk, and Morris Bruce reached first base on an error. Ed Watkins then singled to score Briley. Bruce tallied when Don Wineman hit into a force play at second base.

Both teams picked up a run in the seventh frame. Barksdale's Joe Bradley singled and came around to score on a fielder's choice, an infield out, and a wild pitch. The Demon's marker came when Sammy Booras circled the bags on a walk, a hit, and an infielder's choice.

The eighth inning saw Ronald Martin and Pat Lyons reach the bases by virtue of two errors. A third boble caused Martin to score. Lyons came home to end the scoring when Pacheco knocka long fly ball.

Cadets Rudy C. Berlin and Billy M. Rowell, second year advanced course students in the ROTC at Northwestern State College will visit the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, New York during the period March 27-30.

Berlin and Rowell will join 112 ROTC students from other colleges at West Point. These students are making the trip in order to become familiar with the life and training of a cadet at the military academy. These future officers of the army and air force should have a variety of information to exchange.

While at West Point Berlin and Rowell will live as cadets. They will have cadet escorts who will take them to classes and to meals. They will live in cadet barracks during their stay at the academy. Also scheduled are military demonstrations by the 1802nd Special Regiment, a tour of the post, and entertainment in the form of movies, athletic events and a hop.

Cadet Berlin is the cadet Lieutenant Colonel of the corps of cadets at NSC and Cadet Rowell as a captain is the commanding officer of Battery C.

Over four week-ends, some 444 senior ROTC students will go to West Point as part of an overall indoctrination program. The visits will add further emphasis to the sesquicentennial observance at the military academy and promote mutual understanding of civilian and regular officer's training programs.

Baptist Students Stage Banquet In Religious Center Last Night

"Echoes From Dixie" was the theme of the anual Baptist Student Union banquet which was staged in the Religious Center last night. The BSU Room was converted into an old Southern mansion of the Deep South for the occasion and the belles and beaus were dressed in keeping with the program motif.

Reverend Perry Webb, Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church in Natchitoches, was master of ceremonies and Rev. E. Lilley, pastor of Westside Baptist Church of the city gave the invocation. All of the Rebels then joined Byron McCain who led them in the National Anthem, "Dixie."

Other well-known artists featured on the program were the Dixie Harmoneers, the Freshman BSU Quartet which is composed of Ray Teal, Jerry McDonald S. J. Westbrook and Eddie Spurgeon. The deep voice of Elizabeth Ann Leo was next heard in the rendition of appropriate southern belle music. "Progress in the South" was the title of the skit which was next on the program.

The out-going BSU Council for 1951-1952 surrendered to the incoming council their "Last Words and Testament." After a delicious meal, Colonel Udell, state BSU Director, was featured as guest speaker. Beware of Pranks! April Food's Day Is Here Tuesday

All of N.S.C.'s practical jokers, who are ridiculed and frowned upon all year long, will be kings for a day, come Tuesday. For of all the 365 days in the year (366 this year), this is the only day that humor and wit are allowed to run their course. The reason: April Fool's Day.

The origin of name and practice of this internationally celebrated day is unknown, yet is believed by many that this day originated in 17th century England when all fools were allowed to celebrate a holiday by order of Charles II. Since it's humble beginning over 300 years ago, All Fool's Day has grown in size and scope until today it is observed in 35 different countries all around the globe. Of course there has been many modifications witnessed since it's small origination, and by this time All Fool's Day probably wouldn't even be recognized by its originators.

Although April's Fool Day has had these many changes in the past years and has had many individuals to speak against it, nevertheless, whenever the calendar rolls around to April First, all people in all lands pack up their cares and woes for one day to celebrate this day of fun and laughter.

CANDIDATES GIVE PLATFORM

Northwestern students will go to the polls April 15 to choose from a field of three a student body president for next year.

Presidential candidates are Jim Yergler, Rudy Berlin, and Leland Langridge. All three will be seniors next year.

Langridge, a history and government major from Shreveport, said in an interview this week that he would give only a portion of his platform now and would make known the remainder at the political rally in the Fine Arts auditorium next Wednesday night.

Langridge stated that he would work for (1) student operation of the student cafe in the field house whenver the cafe could be a profitable project; (2) economy in expenditure of student funds with more student participation in student government; (3) more student participation in selection of the artist series; (4) better student-faculty relationships.

Langridge has for his campaign symbol a white ribbon with two red L's on it.

At present, Langridge is vice-president of student body and was recently executive committee repersentatiev to the Student Federation at Louisiana College. Last year he was vice-president of the Senate.

Jim Yergler, accounting major from Cissna Park, Illinois, in a prepared statement said, "In filing my candidacy for student-body president, I felt that there was a need for a progressive and active student body government here on the hill. Both the college and the student body need such a government — a government that will strive to close the existing gap between faculty and student body and result in amiable contacts that only benefit the student in a more thorough education in the field indicated by his abilities.

"As an independent candidate, I feel that I can come near to accomplishing these objectives. If elected, I pledge myself to strive intelligently, faithfully, and consistently during my period of office to this end rather than waste time striving for the unattainable, though possibly desirable, goals of lesser importance."

Yergler declined to give the particulars of his platform saying he will make them known later.

A three-year leterman in basketball at Northwestern, Yergler has for his campaign symbol a purple ribbon bow tie. A membere of the honor court, Yergler is an officer in the "N" Club and a member of Pi Omego Pi, an honorary business fraternity.

Efforts were made to get the political platform of Rudy Berlin, but because he was gone to West Point for the week, he was not available for comment.

Berlin is a math major from Nederland, Texas.

Must It "Straddle The Fence"....

Are controversial issues which confront the student body of NSC destined to lie only at the bottom of an empty coffee cup in the field house?

For many years now, the Current Sauce, as well as many other college newspapers about the country have shyed away from many major controversial issues which should have been brought into view of the entire student body. Time after time examples of this policy has been seen. Some of the important questions that have been overlooked in the past are: What should be the relationship between the student and the faculty? Are present core requirements really necessary? How many date nights should our girls be allowed? Should the student senate stop giving student awards?

These are only a few of the controversial issues which have confronted the NSC student in the past, but there are many more of equal significance which should have been brought before the students eyes.

Although the editors and staff of the Current Sauce in the past have done a wonderful job with what they've had to work with, yet there is so much more that can be done for the student body. Whereas many times some important issue has come up in student government that could have been supported or refuted, the Current Sauce has chosen to "straddle the fence" and only give bare mention of the topic.

We truthfully believe that the student body want and deserve to have a true picture of all campus activities. Be it from dates to dining hall or from chemistry to campusology, the students should have the complete and whole picture of the issue.

Although many people feel that it is impossible to print eight pages of news, in which controversial issues can be discussed and evaluated, we feel that the editor of the Current Sauce is obligated to give the students the type of news they want, regardless of Circumstances.

It IS possible for the Current Sauce to take a direct stand on controversial issues. It is also possible to print eight pages of news that the entire student body would enjoy.

Do you want these controversial student issues to be discussed and analyzed thoroughly? The answer to this question now lies with you. It can only be answered April 15th at the polls. If I am elected editor of your college publication, the Current Sauce, I shall endeavor to work wholeheartedly to give the students of NSC the type of news they deserve and enjoy. The controversial issues will rise from the depths of that empty coffee cup, and will be exposed to all who care to observe. After all, TRUTH is the greatest force in battling evil.

Our American Heritage

In a few weeks the students of NSC will be going to the polls to elect officers to serve them in their government for the next academic year. Although we have three capable and outstanding young men running for our top campus governmental position, it is, nevertheless, known that only one can be elected. Which of the three will it be to lead through 53?

The important thing in this election is not that you worry about who you are going to vote for, but that you vote. After all, a true picture of the feelings of the entire student body cannot be found unless all members do their share to see that everyone in their dormatory casts his or her ballot. This is a great American heritage that men have fought and died for; let us make use of it April 15th. Listen to the platforms of all three candidates then go to the polls to choose the man you think will do the best job.

You may say, "Oh my one little vote won't mean anything." If you are one of these people remember the proverb, "For the want of a horse shoe a kingdom was lost." Could an election be lost likewise???

By E. G. Smith

Taft withdraws from New Hampshire primary — Ike might come home for the primary races — Kefauver campaign in the Middle West. Everyone knows those headlines. Almost every day Northwesternites pore over the national political situation, and discuss it at length. Almost everyone on the campus has picked his own pet candidate for the Presidency of these United States. Some have even chosen their choice for "Veep" for '52.

How many of the people here on the hill have made their choice for Student Body President? Have YOU chosen YOUR candidate?

Every election tells the same sad story. There is fantic political activity in the Field House, while the rest of the campus is as usual. If this year is as last year, and the year before, about 41% of the students will go to the polling places. The other 59% will not or cannot make a choice. Why? Some students aren't interested in who govenrs them. Some feel that "just one vote" won't make a difference. A few students don't even know that there is an election going on.

Of the 41% of the students who do vote, how many examine the qualifications o ftheir choice for the presidency? This writer believes that not more than 5% of the voting students objectively view the candidates for office. Most students choose on bases such as: "He's a real wit," or, "good dancer," or, "real cute," or some other typical NSC characteristic for a good student body president.

This year will mark the third Student body election that the writer has been privileged to vote in. During the three years that I have observed these elections, qualifications for office seem to be as follows: ability to tell a good joke, social popularity with the opposite sex, be a member of a social organization, and last, but definitely not least, ability to "see eye-to-eye" with the Administration. The fact that a candidate is qualified, and has had some experience, seems to be a minor consideration to the voters.

Most student candidates don't even bother to appeal to the judgement of the voters. Intellectual selection has gone out with the Sanley Steamer and the raccoon coat.

A few days ago, while reclining in my favorite haunt, the Field House, with some acquaintenances of mine, one of the presidential candidates passes, and gave us all a great big hello. A young lady who was seated at my table made the remark that was passing through my mind. "Well, ———— spoke, I guess he's running for president this election." That comment seems to fit the situation exactly. This type of vote-solicitation will continue so long as the students here at Northwestern base their selection of student body officers on popularity.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps received a wonderful surprise this week. The pledges unveiled their pledge project, which was a refrigerator for the sorority house. Both the Fall and Spring pledges worked together on the project and are to be commended for their choice of a refrigerator, which will certainly be useful in the Pi Kap house.

Tuesday night the sorority was guest of Phi Kappa Nu fraternity for a party in the student center. The group enjoyed an afternoon of dancing.

Plans for the sorority formal are progressing nicely. It will be held on April 19.

This afternoon, Pi Kaps and their dates will have a hike and picnic.

Isabel Pearce, Ki Kap alum, visited here this weekend.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

Theta Sigma Upsilon held its Spring formal in the student center last Saturday night, Mar. 22. The theme "Belles and Beaux," was carried out in decoration as well as entertainment. Painted on the mirrow was a Belle and her Beau supposedly dancing to the music of the Demonaires. A wishing well covered with ivy with a background of blue sky bedecked with a moon and stars placed at the side of the dance floor served to set off a silhouette of a Belle and her Beau in a romanic mood which fitted with the atmosphere of the whole dance. At the far end of the dance floor was an arbor scene.

For entertainment Peggy Langley, Frances Griffin and Marcia Douzat did a musical skit titled "Got Get a Man." Kathleen Simmons gave a humorous reading, "Little Brook." Barbar Rainey tapped to "Tea For Two," and the program was concluded with a musical number by Peggy Langley.

The beautifully decorated serving table attracted quite a bit of attention. The table was covered with fluted and ruffled white and pink crepe paper. The centerpiece was a lovely arrangement of pink roses.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Tri Sigma initiated a new member recently, Sue Bellow.

Gervais Aldredge, Mary Ann Cronin, Jean Lyons, Jo Ellen Cagle and Jo Ann Breedlove went to Mississippi Southern this weekend for a spring formal given by the Tri Sigma Chapter there.

Last weekend Tri Sigma's Margaret Gene Lhlson, Helen Thompson, Billie Butts, and Jean Lyons went to Natchez, Mississippi for the annual Pilgrimage and Tableu. They toured the Colonial homes and enjoyed the colorful pageantry of the Tableau.

YWA PLANS PARTY

The Young Women's Auxiliary of Northwestern will have a slumber party tonight in the BSU room. All YWA members are invited to attend enjoy a sleepless night. Myra Gullege, BSU director will chaperone the party.

Don Jones welcomed all the Pi Kaps and introduced Kathleen Ray, Pi Kap's newly elected president, and Liz Seegers, Phi Kap's sweetheart, to hte group.

Kathleen Ray served the guests cake which was decorated in the Pi Kap colors, blue and gold, and Liz Seegers presided at the punch bowl.

The group, also, enjoyed an evening of dancing.

Senate Minutes

Vice-President Marie Tilleux called the Senate to order in the absence of President Rudy Berlin who was out of town. Secretary John Batten called the roll and reported ten senators present. This small figure was enough for a quorum and was lower than the regular Senate meetings usually have.

Vice-President Tilleux called for discussion on a Short Dance to be held Wednesday March 26 in the Student Center sponsored by the Senate and the Demonaires. Committemen were selected to take up admission at the dance which will last from 6:30 until 7:30. A fee of 15 cents for stags and 25 cents for couples will be charged. Senators Patsy Winkler, Donita Gothard, Robert Miller and Marie Tilleux volunteered to be on the Admissions Committee. Norsworthy moved to accept these Senators. Pyle seconded. Passed.

Attention was called to the ticket sales for the Spring Formal and publication of the Student Handbook. John Batten reminded the Suggestions for Arrangement of the Handbook Committee of their meeting after the regular Senate meeting.

Robert Miller moved to adjourn. John Batten seconded. Passed. Vice-President Tilleux adjourned the Student Senate.

CHAMP MERMAID HEWITT
. . . Smooth Splashes of "Intermezzo"

Accompanied by their coach, Jean Maeys the NSC women's swimming team traveld to Dallas, Texas on March 22-23 where they participated in the southwest AAU Women's Indoor Swimming, Diving, and Synchronized Swimming Championship.

Although the team was pitted against some of the best competion in the southwest area, the girls, nevertheless, did quite well by winning a second place in synchronized solo competition and fourth place in the duet competition.

Dothry Hewitt, who swam to the record "Intermezzo," placed second in the solo competition, and missed first by only 3.33 points. The fourth place was won by Freddie Jones and Lyria Lawrence, who performed to the tune "Jalousie."

Synchronized swimming, which is relatively new to the NSC squad since this was their first experience with it, is judged on four phases: Synchronization or the timing of the swimmer's routine to music, composition or the construction of the routine in respect to the interpretation of the music, and showmanship, which is composed of manner of presentation, interpretation of costuming and spectator appeal. The duets were judged on style and execution, which is the degree of difficulty to perform the act.

Dorothy, who placed second out of eight contestants, was topped only by Oklahoma University, who received 183.33 points. Texas State College for Women came in third with 177.33 points.

HAVARD'S TENNISMEN FALL TO LAMAR TECH 6-0 HERE TUESDAY

William (Bill) Havard NSC tennis coach, is probably one of the most scholarly coaches at NSC and probably one of the most underpaid. Mr. Havard serves as tennis coach on an entirely "gratis" and voluntary basis.

Prof. Havard loves the game. He gets a "big kick" out of playing tennis and enjoys coaching the team. He insists that the term "coaching" should be used very carefully when it concerns him and his supervision of the team.

In the first meet of the season Tuesday Havard's netmen lost to Lamara Tech of Beaumont, Tex., 6-0. Things should really pop for the Demons in their next tennis tilt. They meet LSU's netters who downed Lamar Tech 6-0.

Commenting on the Lamar Tech affair, Coach Havard declined to make appologies in true "coachly" fashion. He only said that most of his squad was rather inexperienced and that they would look better later on in the season.

There is only one returning veteran netman — Roy Gravel, who took second place last season in the GSC singles. He should be a strong contender again this year, Coach Havard said.

This coming Tuesday, Northwestern begins the Gulf States Conference baseball season.

In recent years, this has been no occasion for notice. To most of us, the Demon sports season ended with the last basketball game. True, we may remember dimy the sarcastic comment of some teacher on the absence of some member of the class away on a baseball trip. Baseball at Northwestern is a major sport—run like a minor sport.

There are no baseball scholarships.

There is no baseball stadium.

There is no charge for admission to the home games.

There is a baseball coach who has overcome many obstacles in an attempt to revive baseball here at NSC.

There is no professionalism in our baseball. Those who play do so because they want to. They receive only transportation and food on their out of town trips. At home, they eat the same food in the chow hall that we do.

Last year, after a poor start Northwestern finished in the middle of the standings.

This year the team has started well, and Northwestern will be in the running.

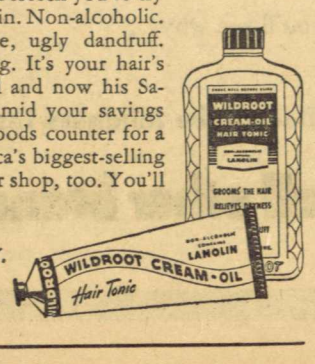

Tuesday afternoon our baseball team takes the field against Tech, on the diamond behind the men's gym. The games with Tech have always been close.

Will you be there?

Nurse Recruitment Week Observed

"Student Nurse Recruitment Week" is being observed this week.

All the Shreveport hospitals and the school of nursing of Northwestern State College are co-operating in sponsoring the week.

Purpose of the recruitment effort is to interest the young women of this area in professional nursing careers and to acquaint them with the opportunities of nursing.

The recruitment committee said the training a young woman receives in nursing will prepare her for many different nursing activities. It will also enlighten her on general health practices that will be of value to her and her family in the future.

The women's bureau of the deparment of labor recently reported that from 200,000 to 250,000 additional nurses will be needed by 1960 if the health demands of the nation are to be met.

The Roystons At NSC Laundry Since 1934

Have you ever wondered, while picking up your laundry, who are the smiling man and woman across the counter. Mr. R. N. Royston who has been at Northwestern since 1934 and his wife, who has been here since 1938, are efficiently running the laundry service after making the transition to the hastily built temporary annex laundry to the dining hall, following the fire loss last October.

Before coming to NSC Mrs. Royston taught school in Natchitoches Parish for several years. The couple have one son and one daughter, both graduates of Northwestern.

Mr. and Mrs. Royston have always shown a very avid interest in the students on the campus. Mr. Royston said, "We hope that when the laundry is placed permanently in the location of what is now North Barracks we will have the opportunity of meeting even more of the boys and girls."

In speaking of his many years of experience in managing the laundry, Mr. Royston observed. "It is very interesting to note how the male to female ratio of students has grown since I began working here. When I first came, there were 700 girls enrolled at Northwestern in comparison to 125 boys. During the war, when Northwestern participated in the Navy program, the number became more equal and has remained fairly consistent ever since."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Royston expressed the enjoyment which they receive from their work, and said that it had always been a pleasure to the students in their work.

3-DAY NSC AQUASHOW SLATED FOR GALA SPLASHOFF APRIL 24

It's almost here — the Northwestern annual Aquatic Show is nearing it's big day. The show will be presented April 24, 25, and 26 at the Nat.

As in all other good things the Aquatic Show requires a great deal of practice and studying. All the members of the Club have shown much interest in the show production. When you witness this spectacular Aqua-show you will appreciate the hard work and skillful thinking that is portrayed.

Look in the Field House, dormitories, and town for publicity concerning the show. There will be poster giving you a preview of this colorful production of "Dreams in Aqua-Time."

Thais Beter is the director of the first number which sets the mood for the show. This number is followed by a solo directed by Houston Davis. Lyria Lawrence will show you her interpretation of a number by directing one you won't want to miss. For those enjoying diving, there will be some synchronized diving performed for you by Jack Gaston and Horace Humble.

Peggy Taylor is the director of a most colorful number consisting of six girls. The Court will follow this number. The King and Queen candidates have been turned in and we promise you a breath-taking event when you see the Court walking down the pool deck. Following this, an adagio trio, directed by Jack Gaston, will make your heart beat faster as you see three skillfull artists gliding through the sparkling water.

A night club number, directed by Harold Laroux, will involve two floor shows . . . one will be the dancing beauties and another will be the clown diving, directed by Hamilton Prestridge. Jane Gaines is the director of a fast little number everyone will like.

As the old saying goes, "Last but not Least," the last number on the program will be a male trio directed by Nelwyn Boydstun. This sounds pretty good, doesn't it? See the show and enjoy the skillfull artists of the waters.

"OLD IKE," ALMOST A TRADITION AT NSC

Isaac Manuel, Sr., the present maintenance man at the men's gymnasium on the Northwestern State College campus, is rounding out 28 years of faithful service. Isaac was employed by Mr. V. L. Roy, Sr., on July 1, 1924, and he came to the campus, where for a number of years he served as a carpenter in general maintenance and construction work. Later, "Ike," as he is called, was told to put away his carpenter tools and join the plumbers. He served on the maintenance staff as a plumbing assistant for several years. He also did general janitorial duty and was a handy man in many ways.

During the spring of 1940, upon completion of the new gymnasium for men, Ike was employed to take over the duties of caring for this fine new structure, and he has been in charge of this building through the present time. He has made hundreds of friends among the students and faculty while working with the department and assisting in many ways with the handling of athletic contests held in and around the men's gymnasium.

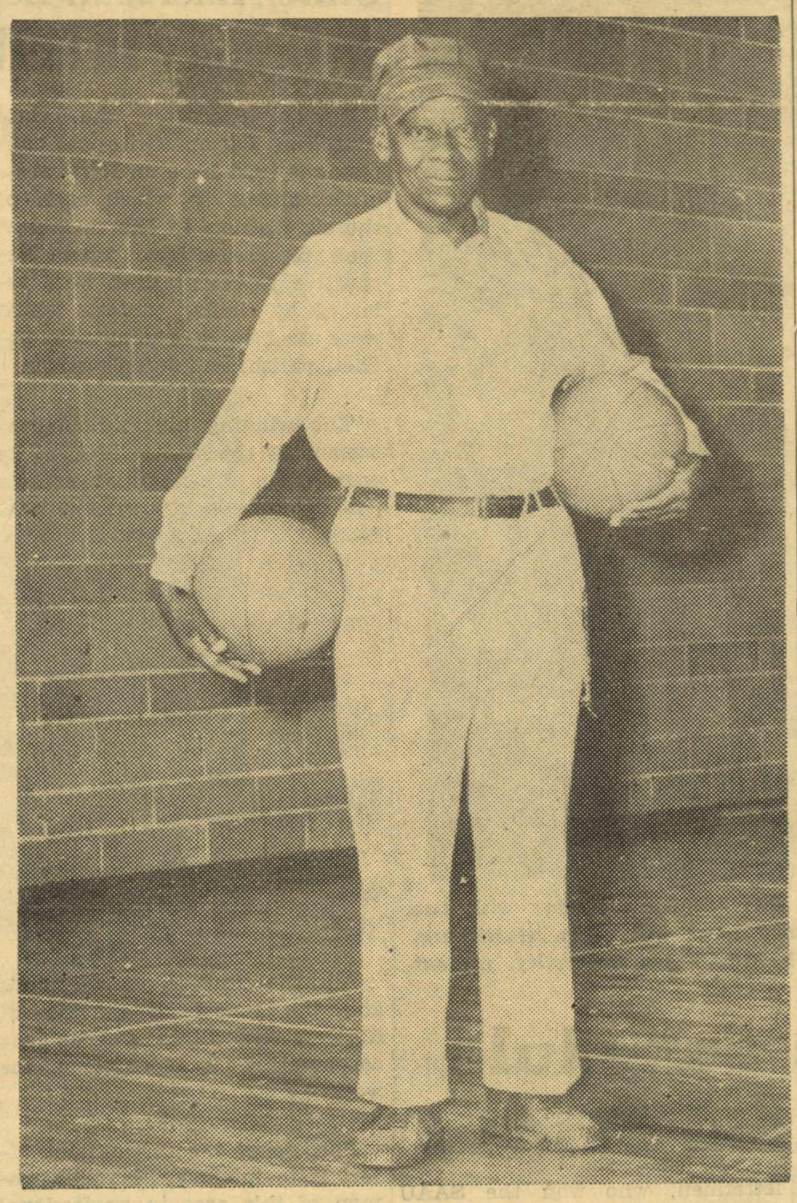

His experience as a carpenter and plumber and his general knowledge of electricity has made him an invaluable person to have around. Mr. Nesom has indicated many times that money could not have purchased the hundreds of services Ike has been called upon to perform. He has been faithful and honest in his dealings with the people with whom he has come in contact, and he is well known throughout this state by men in school work who have known him during their student days at Northwestern.

In his spare time, Isaac, quite often, takes on jobs in carpentry. He has built a number of houses here in Natchitoches, one of which is the one he now owns at 941 Levy Street.

Isaac is happily married and he and his wife Florence have raised a fine family. His daughter, Gloria, is now a junior in Grambling College. She spent one year at Southern University. Isaac Jr., is completing the tenth grade in a local school. The whole family are devout members of the church.

One of Ike's hobbies is fishing. He has spent many hours at this sport and he particularly likes to "set hooks" and fish for catfish. Turtles have always given him a lot of misery in this hobby, and in turn he has dealt them quite a bit of woe. During the past year he caught more than a dozen large turtles weighing from 20 to 35 pounds. His record catch for the year was of the turtle, which must have been a Methuselah — it was hauled by truck to a pair of scales where it weighed in at 60 pounds.

Ike will be 60 years of age on September 3 of this year, and Mr. Nesom and others of the college staff hope that he is not contemplating retirement. His faithful and efficient service will be sorely missed when he does sever connections with the college.

NSC Debate Squad Ranks Good At Enid

The NSC debate team returned from the icy winds and sub-zero temperatures of northern Oklahoma this past weekend after having participated in the Regional Pi Kappa Delta Tourney at Enid.

David Kendrick of Natchitoches and Jim Vorhoff of Abbeville, who received bronz medals, earned a rating of "good" in debate by slashing out victories over Oklahoma A&M, La. College, and Oklahoma Baptist University.

Other members of the squad participating in the tournament were Barbara Robinette of Shreveport, Vera Gabbert of Alexandria, Ida Anne Torrens of Shreveport, and Millie Middleton of Natchitoches.

This meet, which was the official debate tournament for the province of the lower Mississippi, had twenty schools from the four states in the province represented. Since each member school send only two teams as official representatives, the competition in the meet was the best of the year for the NSC squad.

The School Shop journal will carry an article entitled "School Shop Planning by Three Dimension Method," and the other magazine will carry an article which Dr. Robinson called "Origin and Development of Industrial Education in Louisiana up to 1880."

NSC TRACKMAN CLASH TODAY IN SOUTHEASTERN LA. MEET

Northwestern State College track team journeyed to Hammond, La., to tussle with the trackmen from Southeastern and Southwestern Colleges Friday afternoon. It was the initial meet for the Demons.

There are 12 returning lettermen to bolster the squad. These along with a large group of speedy freshmen and transfer students should put the Demons in a contending position for all honors.

Sergeant Shawney then appointed various girls to drill the group. A drill captain will be chosen by him at some future time.

Election of officers was scheduled for next Wednesday's meeting.

COL. BAKER SETS UP AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING ROTC CADET

Lt. Col. James W. Bowman, commanding officer of the Northwestern State college ROTC, announced this week the establishment of a new award to be given annually to an outstanding cadet.

The award — the Baker award — named after its donor, Colonel Thomas A. Baker, USAR, of Natchitoches, will be a watch, presented each year to one cadet of the Second Year Advanced Course who best meets the following requirements based upon the last two years of military and academic work.

(1) Grades in academic subjects exclusive of military science —30 points, (2) Grades in military science — both theoretical and practical—30 points, and (3) Qualities of leadership (to include character, iniative, force, leadership, cooperation, loyalty, industry, military bearing and neatness) — 40 points.

The award will be made for the first time at the end of the spring semester, Colonel Bowman said.

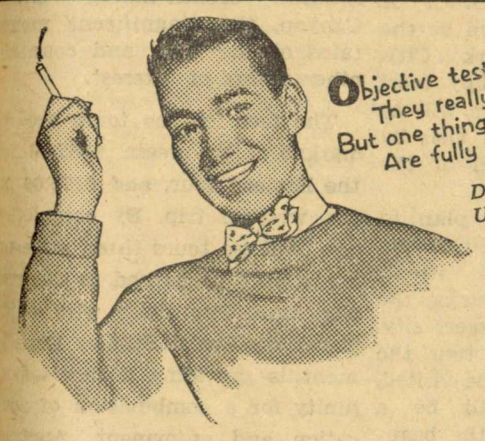

Colonel Baker has been active in military activities since World War I when he served overseas in the Navy. After the war he became a member of the Louisiana National Guard. He served in the Guard until 1941, when he entered active federal service with the rank of captain.

During World War II, after serving with various antiaircraft artillery units in training in the U. S., he was given command of the 559th Antiaircraft Artillery, which he took into combat in the European Theater. His unit was credited with destroying 50 enemy aircraft, some of which were Jets.

He returned to the U. S. in September, 1945, and was separated from the Federal Service as a full colonel. He is the recipient of the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart and the European Theater ribbon with four campaign stars.

In November, 1947, he activated the 2nd Battalion, 199th Infantry Louisiana National Guard and commanded it until 1948. He is now in the active Reserve as a member of the 314 Logistic Command with headquarters in Shreveport.

Colonel Baker is a graduate of Northwestern State College (class of 1925), and has made his home in Natchitoches since 1928. He is married and Mrs. Baker is the former Cora Hill of Natchitoches. They have four children.

Merrill Seriously Wounded Here In Card Game Brawl

N.S.C., fighting publicity director, John Merrill, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday afternoon in the field house by Allan "Dead Eye" Crosby as the former attempted to criticize "Dead Eye's" bridge playing.

Witnesses at the scene stated that Crosby had just made a terrible blunder in the game by playing out of turn. Merrill quickly recognized the error and immediately told "Dead Eye" of his mistake. Although the criticism was given in mild form, Crosby, who takes pride in his excellent bridge strategy, took it as a personnal insult, grabbed a luger pistol out of his vest pocket, and fired three shots into Merrill's left ear.

The other two bridge players "Pair of Factors" Gunlach and "Laughing Boy" Carr, rushed Merrill to the Croker Clinic for treatment.

After the accident occured, Crosby admitted that he was sorry he had fired three shots into Merrill's left ear but that three bullets was all he had in the gun. Merrill, who is resting comfortably today, said that he would not press any charges against "Dead Eye." He said, "After all, what's a few shots among friends."

APRIL FOOL'S DAY

All Happy at NSC Mid-Term Exams End Last Thurs.

Everyone at NSC took a deep breath and sighed today, as they put their papers, pencils, and books away for another nine weeks. Midterm exams were over, and after a week of intensified study, one could for the first time take a breath of relaxation.

Teachers also had a tedious week of grading exams, recording marks, and turning in grades to the registrar's office. But they, too, now wiped their brow with a sigh of relief.

All are happy, students and instructors alike, except for those, of course, who didn't fare too well on their mid-term tests. To those, the Current Sauce extends its sympathy and lends this word of encouragement, "Remember the postman always rings twice." We always have finals coming up in nine weeks where you can redeem yourself. Study now and you'll be prepared then.

They will be accompanied by Miss Mary Esther Roberson, Club Adviser, Dr. Church and Mrs. Baggerly.

Jackson Tourney To Close Season For NSC Debaters

William S. Smith, director of forensics, announced today that the NSC debate squad will close out its 1951-52 schedule Monday when they journey to Jackson Mississippi for the annual Southern Speech Convention and Tournament.

This tournament and convention, which invites almost all colleges and universities south of the Mason-Dixon line to participate, is one of the largest tournaments held anywhere in the nation. The meet extends from Monday through Saturday and includes three different phases of speech activities. Monday through Wednesday is a college debate tournament, Wednesday through Friday, a high school tournament, and Saturday, a debate coach's convention.

The three teams NSC will enter in the tournament are: Senior Men's Division, David Kendrick and Jim Vorhoff; Senior Women's Division, Chick Gabbert and Barbara Robinette; Junior Division, Pat Hankins and Ann Torrens. NSC will also have its full representation in the individual vents. In extemporaneous speaking will be Kendrick, Gabbert, and Torrens; in oratory, Vorhoff and Torrens; and in poetry reading, Kendrick, Vorhoff, Gabbert, and Robinette.

The squad, which will leave Sunday afternoon for the tournament, will be accompanied by two faculty members, John C. Merrill of the Journalism Department and William Smith of the Speech Department.

NSC Band To Present Concert Sunday, April 6

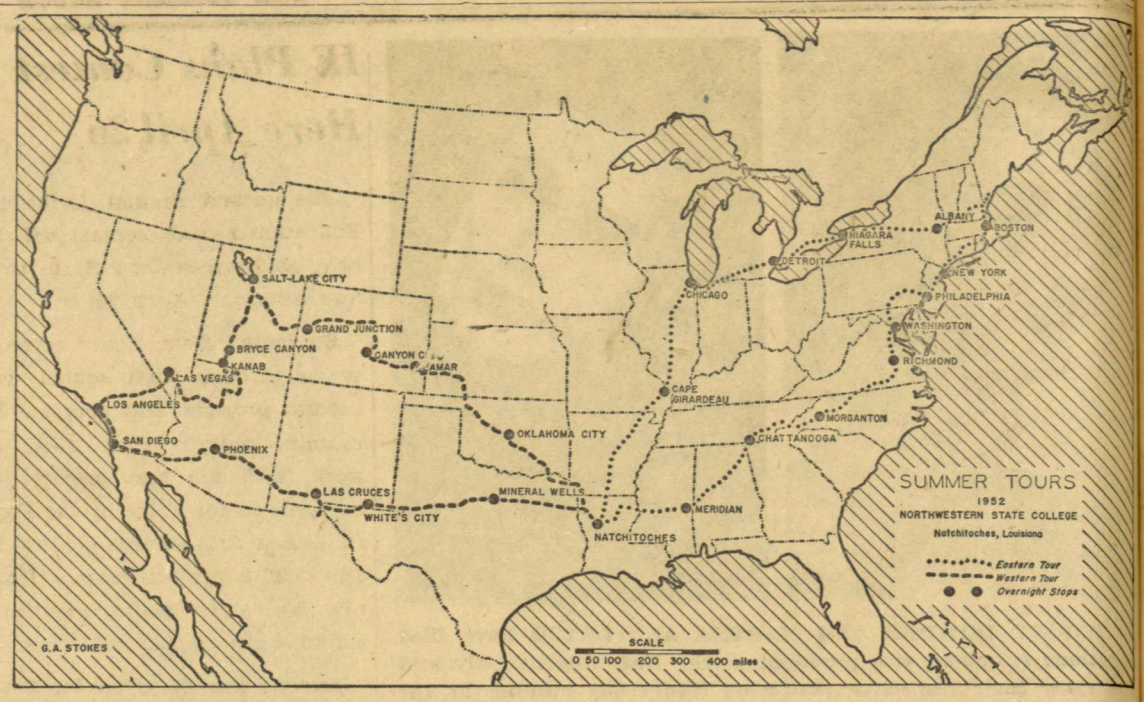

On Sunday afternoon, April 6 at 3 o'clock, the Northwestern State College Concert Band is presenting a concert in the Fine Arts Auditorium. This Concert with honor the clubs and organizations of the community which are striving to make Natchitoches a better place in which to live.

This Community Service Concert is taking the place of the spring concert given by the Concert Band at the college. It is hoped that it will be successful and can be made an annual dedicatory program.

The clubs and organizations will be recognized, the officers presented, each individual program will be outlined, and other interesting facts about the different groups will be brought to the attention of the audience.

"We believe that this will aid in making each organization more fully aware of the activities and purposes of other groups and in general offer a chance for the various community organizations to meet in a group and enjoy what we believe is a varied and delightful program of instrumental music" quoted Prof. Dwight G. Davis, director of the band.

A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to this free concert — Fine Arts Auditorium, April 6 (Sunday), 3 p.m.

Social Studies Tours Not Only Extensive But Very Inexpensive

Extensive plans are well underway for the colorful Eastern and Western Social Studies tours scheduled for late August. The very inexpensive cost of the tour, and the many interesting highlights of the planned travel are attracting many students and faculty members.

One student said, regarding the success of last summers' tour, "I have never seen so many wonderful things, or had an opportunity to enjoy a trip more than the social studies tour. There was so much to see and do, that it seemed almost impossible that we managed to cover as much as we did in three weeks. Every day of it was fun, and everyone enjoyed it very much."

Highlights of the Eastern tour, which will be lead by Professor LeRoi Eversull, will be a historical visit to Richmond, Virginia and surrounding points, visits to Mount Vernon, and a complete tour of Washington, D. C. A climax of the journey will be the wonders of New York City. Planned visits will occupy most of the time, but travelers will be left free to explore and visit by themselves a great deal of the time.

Some of the students plan to secure big league baseball tickets while others plan to attend Broadway productions during the four-day stay in our largest city. Following the New York tour, the old city of Boston will be visited, after which there will be a peaceful drive through the beautiful states of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. Before going westward to Chicago, the travelers will view famous Niagra Falls from the Canadian side.

The opposite tour, lead by Professor George S. Stokes will give students a chance to see the much-written of western part of our country. Those who go on this tour will see illustrious Hollywood, breath-taking Grand Canyon, the magnificent mountains of the west, and countless other points of interest.

The fees for the tours are remarkably low, begin $187.00 for the Eastern tour, and $175.00 for the western trip. By completing one of these tours three semester hours may be earned in Geography 322E. For those who enjoy travel the Social Studies Department is providing a rare opportunity for a combination of education and enjoyment. Application blanks can be secured in the Social Studies offices.

CAMPUS CLOTHESLINE

It seems that many professors here around old NSC have been "griping" about the high income taxes that they had to pay to the government this year. Why it's gotten so bad that Prof Leroi Eversull has decided to spend one night in Washington, D. C. on his Social Studies tour. The reason: He wants to be near his money.

Speaking of income taxes, it was found in a recent nation wide poll that the three all time U. S. best sellers are the Bible, "Your Income Tax" and "Gone With the Wind." If we don't want to go with the wind through income tax deductions, we'd better go back to the Bible.

A good one was overheard the other day in the field house. Barbara Robinette told Jim Hayes, "Why Jim, didn't you know the darkest light always has the highest SCANDAL power."

A young college freshman writes home to his father after his dad had told him if he didn't smoke, he'd make A's. "Dear Dad, If I smoke I'll make B's. If I smoke and drink, I'll make C's. If I smoke, drink, and go out with girls, I'll make D's."

His dad's reply: "You'd better not make an F."

RONALD QUINN, who is presently holding the position of Sophomore class president, was unopposed for 1952-53 vice president of the student body. Ronald is a sophomore from Sarepta.

Almost History

In the golden age of whaling, between 1833 and 1863, America had as many as 675 ships on the seas seeking the great ocean mammal. Today the U.S. flag is not represented in Antarctic whaling fleets, and the only American whalers are two small killer boats which operate from a shore rendering station in California.

Three Desperadoes Apprehended By Local Police

Don "Madman" Glattley was taken into custody early this morning by the Natchitoches police force as he was caught in an attempt to set small bonfires in President Prather's office.

Taken with Glattley were his two associates and accessories to the crime, William "Billy the Kid" Smith of the speech department and Larry "Nero" Fisher of the music department.

The patrolman on duty said he was attracted to the attempted crime by a gruesome fiddling and singing by the madman's counterparts. When questioned, Fisher stated that he wished to fiddle while NSC burned whereas Smith declared he was only singing to add moral encouragement to Glattley's evil deed. Glattley made no comment.

This notorious trio have been suspected of many crimes that have occured in this area. Among those crimes which they are suspected of are the smuggling of dope in from Tiajuana, planning the last Dillinger robbery, and charging the newsboys up town two cents on every nickle for protection.

President Prather danced a jig of glee when he heard about the apprehension of the desperadoes.

SAUCE DANCE WED. NIGHT; BANQUET TO INITIATE FRAT

The Current Sauce will sponsor its annual spring all-college dance Wednesday evening from 8-11:00 in the Student Center. Music will be furnished by the Demonaires.

Preceeding the dance, a banquet will be held in the private dining room of the Student Center for staff members and their dates. Highlight of the banquet will be the initiation of Phi Alpha Epsilon local fraternity for campus journalists.

ALPHA PHI EPSILON

The idea of a local fraternity with no national affiliations to draw the staff membership closer together was suggested by Mr. J. C. Merrill, faculty adviser. The pros and cons of a national organization versus a local group were discussed at length by the present staff and a vote was taken, favoring the local plan.

A committee consisting of Barbara Robinette, Donita Gothard, Joe Saltzman and Lucia Spataro were nominated to draw up a constitution. The constitution is in the final stages and will be presented to the staff for ratification at a meeting Monday evening at 6:30 in the Current Sauce room.

The committee approached Mr. A. G. Alexander, head of the English department concerning a name for the organization. He was given a copy of the code of ethics for journalism from which he worked out the name "Akrevea Philalethea Elefthere" which translated means, Exactness, truthfulness, freedom.

Students who will be invited to become charter members of Phi Alpha Epsilon are Wanna Beth Sanders, Don Finley, Winnie Dowden, Josie Whitehead, Margaret Weber, Chick Gabbert, Sue Tucker, Tommie Jean Tullos, Dallas Roper.

DANCE

The dance from 8-11:00 p.m. will be an informal all-college affair. A program of entertainment will be provided at which time the editor will present an award to that staff member who in his opinion has done most for the paper doing the present year.

The student council will hold absentee voting for those students who cannot be here for the first primary election on Tuesday, April 15. This includes commuters and athletic team which will be out of town that day.

These students will be allowed to cast their ballots with co-ed vice-president Beryl DeLoach on Wednesday, April 9, from 12-1:00 p.m. and from 4-5:00 p.m. in the student council room in the Student Center.

Alexandria Nurses "Pioneer Class"

Seven students completing the three-year nursing course established at Northwestern State College were honored at a luncheon at the Baptist Hospital in Alexandria, March 27.

About sixty persons including the honorees gathered in the hospital dining room where the school colors, purple and white, were featured in the place cards and table decorations. The place cards were miniature diplomats tied with purple ribbon. Purple and lavender larkspur and pearl bush with nandina foilage and pansies formed the centerpiece.

Mr. W. Wilson Turner, hospital administrator, served as toastmaster and introduced the following speakers: Miss Nelwyn Hixon, director of nursing service, Baptist Hospital; Miss Sada Haynes, local director of the Northwestern nursing program, Dr. Robert J. Freeman, and representatives of the graduating class and other students.

These young women are the first to complete the requirements for a diploma in the NSC department of nursing. They received 89 weeks clinical practice at Baptist and eight weeks at Central Louisiana State Hospital. This is the first time that a Louisiana state psychiatric hospital has offered its clinical facilities for the education of nurses in the basic program. In fact, the members of this graduating class have been "first" in so many things that they have been called "The Pioneer Class."

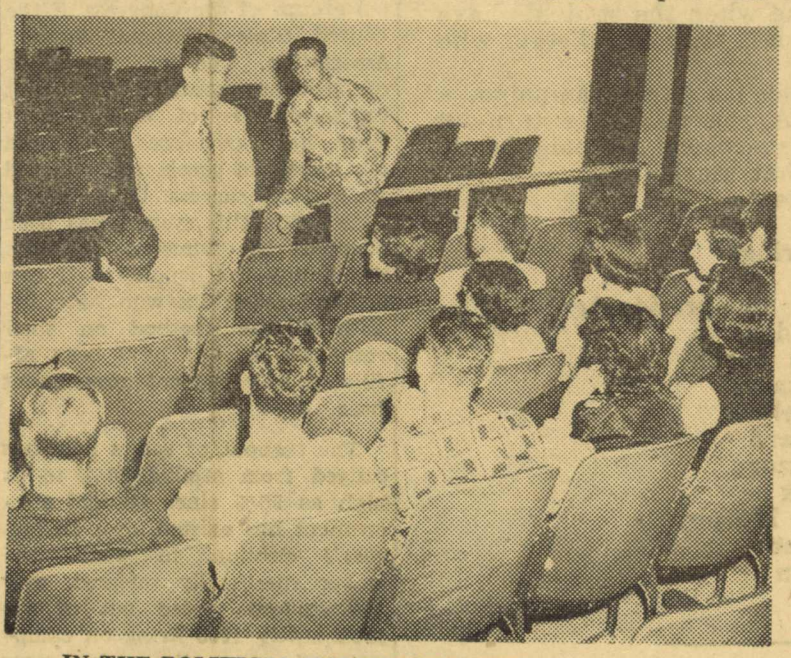

The new nurses took state board examinations in New Orleans April 1-2 in order to become registered to practice as professional nurses. They are Ruth Brossette, Mrs. Fay Gaspard Thiels, Mrs. Yvonne Jenkins Britt, Hazel Ruth Scalfano and Janice Marie Tucker of Alexandria, Henrietta Mae Frank of Kolin and Eleanor Glyn Townsend of Winnfield.

Louise Canafax, Alexandria; Ina Faith Gragg, Lake Charles; Gay New, Lafayette, and Gloria Schumaker, Monroe who are to finish this course in September also took their psychiatric nursing subjects with these graduating students. The above four will be eligible to take Louisiana State board examinations in September.

In addition to the luncheon, the graduating students were given a "farewell" party by the younger students. The group went to a movie together and came back to the nurse's residence for refreshments and entertainment.

Political campaigning ran high last Wednesday night at the rally in the Fine Arts auditorium as all the candidates seeking student body and class offices presented their platforms and qualifications before the students.

Approximately 250 students attended the rally and a very few remained to hear the candidates for the class offices make their speeches.

IN THE POLITICAL RALLY HELD WEDNESDAY in the Fine Arts auditorium, the assembly broke into class groups to hear the platforms of the candidates for class offices. Here we see John Batten addressing members of the sophomore class. Ronald Quinn, student-body officer oversees the meeting.

Don Jones, student body president, presided over the meeting and introduced all the candidates who spoke before the entire assembly.

The climax of the general assembly came as the three candidates for student body president, speaking last on the program, made their speeches. Leland Langridge, senior history and government major, was the first of the presidential aspirants to appear before the students and present his views and qualifications.

Langridge said he would strive for (1) student operation of the student center cafe when profitable, (2) economy in expenditure of student funds, including elimination of National Student Association trip for the president and vice-president, (3) economy for individual students, especially the reduction of costs per student to name band performances, (4) more student participation in selection of artist series program, (5) more disciplinary and judicial action concerning students by students, (6) increased participation in student government, with emphasis on great contact between officers and members of the student body, and (7) better city-student body co-operation.

Langridge was NSC representative to the executive committee of the Student Federation of Louisiana Colleges and Universities this year. In 1951, he was a delegate to the Congress of United States National Student Association, at the University of Minnesota.

Rudy Berlin, junior math major from Nederland, Texas was the next speaker on the program.

Berlin stated that he advocated improved student government and an increase in activity as well as a closer association with the interests of individual students. He said he would work for dormitory improvements, especially better telephone facilities.

Continuing, Berlin pointed out that he would attempt to secure better date-night hours for all the women students and foster more and better social functions of varied types for the entire student-body.

Berlin closed his speech by promising that he would at all times, if elected, be interested in hearing the ideas and/or complaints of all students and constantly work to help each one.

Jim Yergler was the last candidate to speak before the general assembly. He said that he would work for (1) regulations governing girl students, such as curfew hours, date nights, etc., equal to those of other state colleges, (2) increase in the number of telephones in dormitories with special consideration given to locating them conveniently, (3) a definite guidance program to assist students throughout the four year college period, (4) a better student body-faculty understanding of the cut system

Politics...

Below are listed those student-body offices for which there is opposition and the candidates who have filed for them. The date of the first primary is Tuesday, April 15, the day we return from the Easter holidays.

Admittedly this is a bad day for an election, we see it as a test of the student-body and their interest in student government. Thus far, it has been the candidates and the present officers who have carried the brunt of the pre-election work, making posters, arranging for the rally, preparing platforms, having the ballots printed.

Thus far, the students have been asked only for their interest. Now they are being invited to vote and not only to vote but to vote for the candidates of their choice, this choice being the offspring of reason and thought given to the matter.

If there is any one time when the students have a direct say-so, it is now when they can dictate who will go into office.

Up until now it has been a lively campaign, a well-prepared campaign. A representative turn-out at the polls will stamp it a successful campaign. Only the students can give it that mark.

ALL IN FAVOR

We at Northwestern condone cheating. We know it is here; we see it being done daily; we hear of it. Why do we sit idly and allow it to get the best of us?

It must be hard to take advantage of the teacher. We are told that in order to be successful in the art of cheating one must first lose his conscience. Then, with a little nerve and slight of hand, he may proceed to seek, most of the time, the easiest way out in studying for a test.

We are cognizant that many before us have cheated and, in all probability, many after reading this will continue to cheat. This certainly is a poor basis for an excuse. Let's be honest with ourselves and think twice, perhap three times, when faced with the temptation to cheat.

The Honor Court of Northwestern State College takes a stand against cheating. We see no reason for it and realize that it should cease. It is our wish that other campus organizations take a similar stand and that together we may eliminate cheating in our school.

LETTER TO EDITOR

April 3, 1952

Editor, Current Sauce
Northwestern State College
Natchitoches, Louisiana
Dear Sir:

In the last issue of the SAUCE a column appeared entitled "Satan's Satire." On behalf of the present Student Council but particularly in the interests of student officers and councils of past years, I should like to call attention to the falsity of certain statments contained in that column.

At conventions of the Student Federation of Louisiana Colleges and Universities and in discussion groups of the Congress of the United States National Student Association, one of the most conspicuous contributions that representatives of this student body have presented has been our system of precinct voting and its marked success. Once unique with NSC., this system has been adopted by numerous colleges throughout the country — I can offhand recall six who have instituted the method on their campuses since I have been affiliated with student government here.

The turnout of voters here has ranged from around 60% to as high as 95% since student government has existed here. In last year's election, to which the writer specifically referred, over 750 students voted out of approximately 1200 living on campus and commuting who were eligible to vote. That is an overall voting percentage of 62.5%— and the percentage voting among those living on campus is ordinarily 15 to 20 percent higher than the overall avearge. However, this can not be accurately ascertained, since the Registrar's Office no longer keeps a readily available breakdown of enrollment from which the necessary information can be obtained.

I agree with the general comment of the writer on the undesirability of student apathy toward campus elections here; however, either his factual information was obtained from a misinformed party or he made no attempt at all to clarify those statistics. Hence this clarification.

Sincerely,
J. Don Jones

Dear Editor:

The following is addressed solely and specifically to the individual (or individuals, as the case maye be) who has earned for himself a reputation on the "hill" during the last week and a half as a picture -snatcher and poster-grabber.

When the first big picture disappeared from off my poster which was posted in the Field House last week, I didn't say much about it. This probably happens every year. I thought it would be better to laugh the whole thing off. When the second picture disappeared the next day, however, there was just a touch of irony in my grin.

But the worst was yet to come! For the next day my whole poster disappeared. And so did my failing sense of humor. Now I'm not entirely lacking in a sense of humor. I can laugh at a joke — even a very corny one — as long and loudly as anyone else. But this has ceased to be funny and is beginning to verge on the utterly ridiculous.

In the first place it was MY poster and hours of hard work had been spent making it. And in the second place — just what did you want with it? If you did not particularly like it, you might have hurried through the Field House very quickly without even looking in that direction. You could have done that.

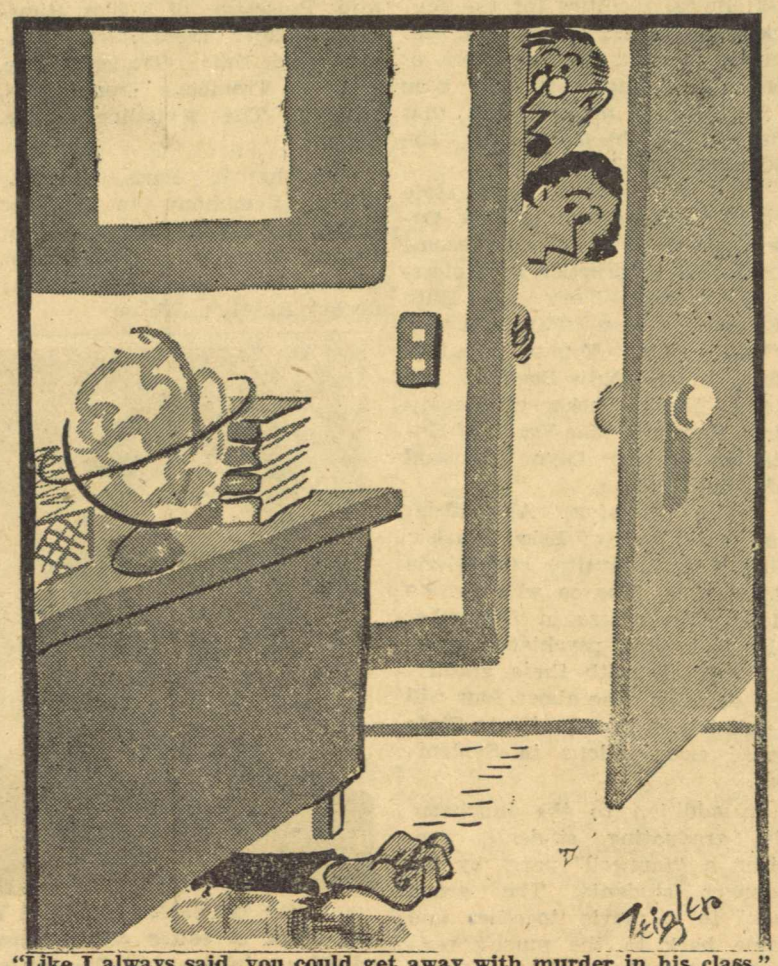

And on the other hand — If you did like it that well, had you waited until after the election I would have given you the thing with my kindest regards.

Recently I posted another poster in the Field House and due to financial restrictions, I was unable to put another picture on it. The numerous ones pasted on it were cut from the "Sauce" and if you just must tear up my picture, I have an extra copy that you may have. But please let the poster just hang there awhile, will you?

It wasn't only my poster that was mishandled. The other candidate for co-ed vice-president is also minus a picture as well as the candidates for secretary and junior class president.

Well, I hope you're having fun. By this time, however, I think you are laughing at your own juvenile joke all by yourself. My parting remark to you is simply —You ought to be ashamed!

Sincerely,
Winnie Dowden

"Like I always said, you could get away with murder in his class."

Council Minutes

The Student Council of Northwestern State College met in a regular meeting Tuesday, April 1, at 7:45 p.m. in Mr. Fulton's office in Caldwell Hall.. Don Jones, president of the student body, presided. All members were present with the exception of Leland Langridge.

Cas Moss reported that he had checked with the registrar on the averages of the various candidates and found that an error had been made by one of the personnel in the registrar's office. James H. "Kit" Carson, candidate for vice-president of the senior class, does not have a "C" average and therefore is ineligible. This leaves only two candidates for that office.

Jones reported that the Dixieland band will play for the political rally April 2. The order of speakers will be: treasurers, secretaries, co-ed vice-presidents, and presidents. The order of speakers for each office was discussed. Ed Bacilla moved that we decide which candidate for each office shall speak first by drawing lots. Ronald Quinn seconded this motion and the Council approved it unanimously. Beryl DeLoach was appointed to secure the public address system for the rally.

Beryl DeLoach reported on the preparations for the election. The ballot boxes are in the process of being prepared and the ballots are in the printers. She asked the Council's opinion as to whether or not we should have absentee voting for those who cannot possibly be here the day of election. Ronald moved that we have absentee voting on Wednesday, April 9, from 12 - 1 p.m. and from 5 p.m. for those who absolutely cannot be here Tuesday for the election. This includes commuters who are not here Tuesdays and any athletic teams which are out of town that day. Ed Bacilla seconded the motion and the Council approved it unanimously.

The next item of discussion was the Student Council banquet. Cas Moss moved that we have the banquet Wednesday night, April 30. Carolyn McLean seconded the motion, and the Council approved it unanimously.

The following committee appointments were made for the SFLCU convention:

Uniform reports, Lowell Starns; publication, the new Current Sauce Editor; faculty advisory, Mr. Fulton and the new President; name band, Don Jones; credit transfer, Sue Tucker; goodwill, Ronald Quinn and student representatives, Leland Langridge or Ed Bacilla.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

SUE TUCKER,
Secretary

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 39...THE FLYCATCHER

He's fast—he's smart—he covers ground—he's a real varsity outfielder! The 'quick-trick' cigarette mildness tests were almost too hot to handle, but he didn't make an error. He realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in slam-bang fashion. Millions of smokers throughout America know, too, there's a thorough way to judge cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

DEMON NINE COPS TWO CONFERENCE TILTS FROM LOUISIANA TECH

The Demons of Northwestern smashed the Bulldogs of Tech 6-2 and 11-4 to sweep both ends of the first conference series, the first such double victory over Tech in recent years.

Douglas Logan went the route in the first contest, letting the visiting Techmen down on three hits, while the Demons turned on the hitting power to blast their way to victory in the second contest played in Ruston.

BOBBY DOVIS LINES A DOUBLE into left field scoring two runs in the first inning of the first Tech encounter which the Demons won 6-2. Tech catcher Farrar and umpire Ety follow the play.

The twin win over Tech, always a real problem in baseball, gives the diamond squad a strong start in the conference race, in which the Demons meet Tech, Centenary, Louisiana College, and Southwestern four times.

NORTHWESTERN 6

LOUISIANA TECH 2

In the first contest, Bobby Davis doubled in the first inning, scoring Don Wineman and Ronald Martin, who had walked, as Northwestern picked up a quick 2-0 lead.

Logan retired the first ten Tech batsmen in order, but the Bulldogs combined two of their three hits with a walk and an error to tie the score in the fourth inning.

In the fifth frame, Jack Maxey, who had just replaced starter Bill Randolph, walked Robert Briley, Logan, and Sammy Booras. Johnny Emmons then connected for a line drive double to clear the bases, and went to third on the throw home. He scored as Martin followed with a single. Logan then held the visitors hitless and scoreless the remainder of the game to become the first NSC hurler to go pitch a complete game this season.

LOUISIANA TECH 4

Travelling to Ruston, big Ken Shaw started for NSC, while Charlie Crabtree began for Tech in what was a wide open hitting contest. The Demons got two hits in the first inning, but failed to score, while the Bulldogs earned a run on three hits. Tech added another in the third frame while Northwestern bounced back with three in the fifth, as Shaw was safe on an error, Booras walked, and Emmons and Martin singled. Don Wineman scored from third after the catch of Ronald Martin's long fly in the seventh, to make the score 4-2.

Tech tied the contest in the seventh frame on a hit batsmen, a walk and an error.

In the Demon half of the eighth inning, relief hurler Jacky King was safe on an error, Don Wineman singled, and Sammy Booras hit into a force play at second. Emmons then walked, and Ronald Martin came up, with the bases loaded, the score tied, and two out. The cleanup hitter then cleared the bases with a triple past the left fielder, to put Northwestern ahead 7-4. The Bulldog defense collapsed in the ninth as the Demons pushed across four more runs on three hits.

King, who came on in the seventh, with one out, received credit for the win, while Crabtree absorbed the loss.

Billy Gray contributed three of the Demons twelve hits in his six tries at the plate, while Winemna, Emmons, and Martin accounted for two a piece in the winning cause. Tech got seven off Shaw, and none off King.

Just Rambling

By Elvin Lightsey

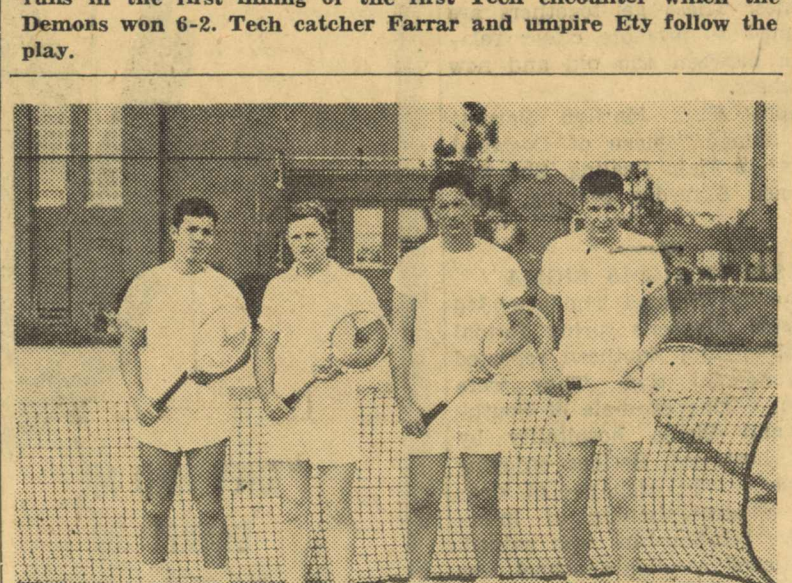

Well the Giants, Yankees and Red Sox got severe jolts to their pennant aspirations this week. The Giants lost Monte Irvin, slugging negro outfielder when he broke his ankle in a game in Denver. The Yankees will lose the services of Jerry Coleman and the Crimson Hose will lose Ted Williams in May to the armed forces.

The Phillies on the other hand get a helping hand very soon when Curt Simmons, terrific southpaw pitcher, will get his discharge. A lot of the scribes seem to think the pennant will go back to Phily this year but the Phils do not have any better with Simmons than the Giants. I will still stick by the Giants with the Phillies and Dodgers fighting over place money.

Without a doubt the Cleveland Indians have the inside track in the junior circuit. The Tribesmen have been getting terrific pitching from their "big four" even in spring training and they will keep it up as was proved last season. The "big four" consists of Bobby Feller, Bobby Lemon (at present has the best record of any pitcher in spring training), Early Wynn, and the big Indian, Mike Garcia. These along with better than average hitting should hang the American League banner over Municipal Stadium in Cleveland.

As a passing hint, watch those Brownies from St. Louis. They could surprise everyone. They had a 12 won and 5 lost record last week in the grapefruit league. Rogers Hornsby may come up with a winner with all his rookies. Remember what Eddie Sawyer did with a bunch of rookies at Philadelphia in 1950.

Our own Demons have started with a bang by copping their first two conference games against our bitter rival, "that bunch from Tech." I called them hitless wonders a couple of weeks back but they looked anything but that Wednesday as they batted Tech pitching for twelve safeties, four of which went for extra bases. Keep it up Demons!!

14th Annual Northwestern Relays On Campus Today

The Fourteenth Annual Northwestern State Relays will get under way this afternoon when approximately 625 athletes from 49 Louisiana high schools and colleges compete against each other in 23 field and track events. The relays will begin at 1 p.m. immediately following an exhibition in precision drilling by the Northwestern ROTC drill team.

High school and college events of the meet will include 120 yard high hurdles, 100 yard dash, 180 yard low hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, mile relay, pole vault, shot put, high jump, running broad jump, 880 yard relay and 440 yard relay. A sprint medley relay will feature college teams only.

Fans can expect to see some records set or broken by outstanding college track stars from Louisiana College, Louisiana Tech, Loyola, Southeastern, Southwestern, Centenary, McNeese and NSC.

Last year's dash champion, Warner of Louisiana College, will compete in the meet. SLI is expected to set the pace in broad jumping with their trio of Lemoine, Heard, and Land who are all hitting the 21 foot mark. Land won this event last year with a 22 foot, ½ inch jump.

In the discus competition, Rocker of Loyola, who is defending title-holder will be pushed by Pyburn of Centenary and Broussard of Southeastern for this year's crown. Prinz of Loyola is a strong ace to capture the high jump. He has been consistently raising himself six foot, 2 inches. Providing the stimulus for him will be Hebert of Southeastern, Lyle of Louisiana Tech, and Byrd of NSC.

In the pole vault event, which is a new addition to the track carnival this year, Roland Hymel of Loyola will be the man to watch, also Johnny Buck of NSC and Ralph Lane of Louisiana College.

The relays shape up to be a tight match between Loyola and Southeastern. Southeastern has a outstanding mile relay team hwile Loyola boost of a fine group in the 440 yard division.

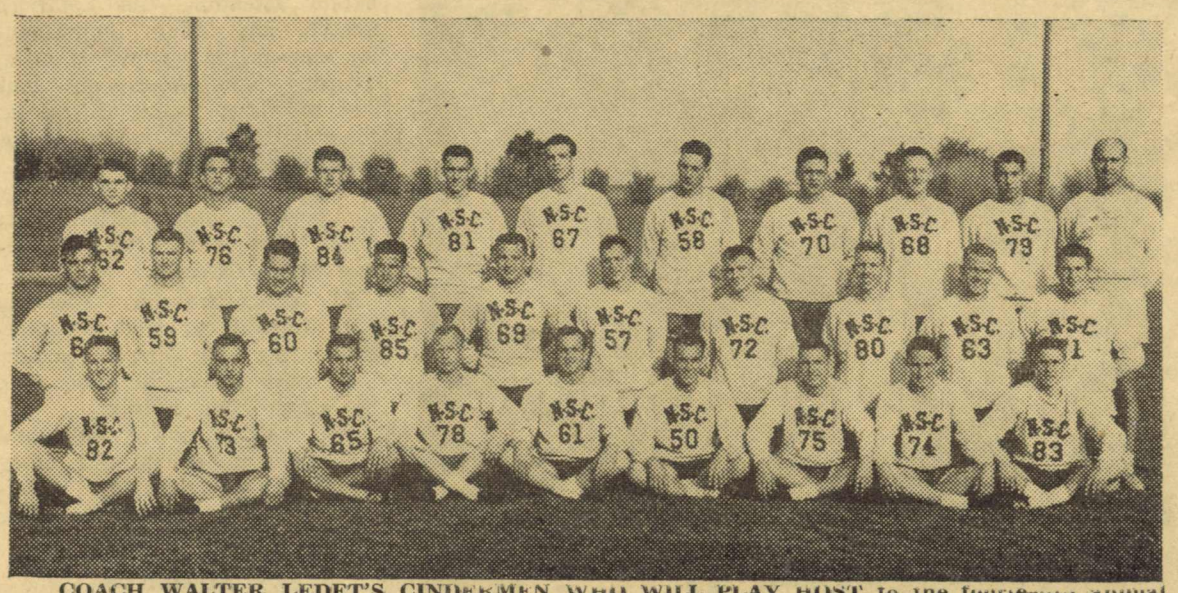

Forty-one high schools will enter a record-breaking 475 runners in this one-day meet. AA and A high schools entered are Fair Park, Bossier City, Byrd, Haynesville, Ouachita, Bolton, LaGrange, Minden, Oakdale, Jonesboro-Hodge, DeRidder, Mansfield, Bastrop, Eunice, Homer, Leesville, and Springhill.

Outstanding track men from these high schools include Roger Hampton of Fair Park and Charles Anderson of Plain Dealing, who have been hailed as two of the best all-round athletes in the state. Hampton, last year's AA and A broad jump champion (21 feet, 10 inches), will throw the shot and discus, enter the broad jump, and run in the 440 yard relay. Anderson will enter the high jump, broad jump, and pole vault. He won all three contests last year.

Byrd high school of Shreveport, Louisiana seems to have the best relay combinations. Also in the meet will be Pelican's two Northwest Rally record holders, M. B. Childress (hurdles,) and Billy Steele (pole vault).

Plaques will be awarded to all winning relay teams and medals will be given to first, second, and third place winners in all events.

ARTISTS SERIES PROGRAM MAY 5 SCHEDULES WALTER CASSEL

Walter Cassel, rising baritone star in the musical world, wlil be presented as a feature of the Artists Series in the Fine Arts auditorium on Monday, May 5, at 8:15 p.m.

In quick succession, radio, the Metropolitan Opera, musical comedy and light opera, the concert stage and most recently the New York City Opera Company, all have acclaimed the deep rich baritone, the manly stage presence and the matinee-idol good looks of Walter Cassel.

Born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and brought up in Omaha, this earnest, hard-working ex-athlete broke the ice in the New York musical world via radio, appearing on such top-flight programs as the Telephone Hour, Ford Sunday Evening Hour, and the Andre Kostelanetz Coca Cola program. Continuing with his studies on the side, his hard work, forceful stage appearance and his rich, glowing voice won him a coveted contract with the Metropolitan Opera, where he remained for several seasons.

Broadening the scope of his activities, the young baritone also sang in musical comedy and operatta, appearing in a long list of favorites. His most recent venture in this field was as the star of the transcontinental tour of Sigmund Romberg's "The Desert Song," which also enjoyed a long and successful run on Broadway.

WALTER CASSEL

His stage successes accelerated the demand for Walter Cassel on the recital stage, and extensive concert tours to all parts of the United States are now the backbone of this talented young artist's activities. The natural beauty of his voice, his sincere artistry, and his strong and winning personality have won for him warm friends and unqualified admirers from coast to coast.

Early Registration For Summer Term To End May 23

Early registration for the summer semester at Northwestern State College began Wednesday, April 23. The new procedure, allowing both presently enrolled and new students to register several weeks prior to the official registration day, was begun last semester at Northwestern.

Purpose of the early registration is to allow the students more time with their advisors to plan courses to be taken. It also alleivates long lines and congestion typical of the previous one and two-day registration.

The period of early registration will end May 23. Regular registration will be held on June 9, and all students who have not previously registered will do so at that time.

Summer semester classes will begin Tuesday, June 10.

"DREAM IN AQUA-TIME" SKIT IN NATATORIUM FINALE TO-NITE

The final performance of the Aquatic club's "Dreams in Aqua-Time will be presented tonight in the Northwestern State College Natatorium.

Two previous performances have had excellent attendance and this final presentation promises to be equally successful.

Dreams in Aqua-Time is an aquatic portrayal of some of everyday dreams. Perhaps one of the most frequent dreams about which everyone thinks was portrayed in the first number on the program "I'll See You In My Dreams" directed by Thais Beter. A good example of our most common thoughts.

And so you dream on — of those, "Golden Dreams," a solo number by Dorothy Hewitt and directed by Houston Davis, of "Dancing In The Dark" directed by Lyria Lawrence and perhaps of "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody" directed by Peggy Taylor.

From these familiar dream pictures our mind wonders to far away places with Paris, Latin America and night clubs and nightmares. Such numbers as "Parisian Perfume" performed by trio Jack Gaston, Dorothy Hewitt and Hamilton Prestridge, "Night Club Capers," directed by Harold Laroux (which is a couple who enter a night club, watch the floor show of chorus girls and hilarious hoodlums, the couple then do a solo to "Blue Tango") "The Red Nightmare," a trio of Mile Torrans, Tony Koonce and Robert Miller, certainly tune our minds to dreams of "Gay Paris" and the like.

To return to restful slumber the final number "Deep Purple" with the entire cast, symbolises just this.

Highlight of the Pervious performances of the Aquatic Show was the presentation of the honor court who are as follows: Betty Goodwin and Jack Gaston, representing Theta Sigma Upsilon; Sue Miller and Hamilton Prestridge, representing Lambda Zeta; Laverne Hopper, representing Delta Sigma Epsilon; Odare Hammett, representing Tri Sigma; Marilyn Barnette, representing Alpha Sigma Alpha, also Sonny Merser, Pat Murphy and Johnny Haynes, representing Caspari; Harold Laroux, representing Sigma Tau Gamma; Emily Chauvin and Robert Sanders, representing Rebel Hall; Bernice Blankenship and Harold McClanahan, representing Air Force; Gene Jensen, Audubon; Earline Usrey and George Bailey, representing Varnado; Louise Vick and Tony Koonce, representing Pi Kappa Sigma.

Ten of the above people will be selected to reign with the King and Queen, who will be presented tonight.

The beautifully designed sketches on the walls of the natatorium, the lighting effects, music and wonderful support of sponsor, Jean Maeys contributed much to the success of the show.

The music was under the supervision of Carolyn Price, scenery under Nelwyn Boydston and Marie Tilleux, and cover design by Marie Tilleux.

"HMS Pinafore" Is Scheduled For May 8-9

"Weigh Anchor!" "Cast Off!" —Nautcial terms will be in abundance May 8 - 9. At 8:15 p.m., the curtain will rise on "H.M.S. Pinafore," a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, in the Fine Arts auditorium.

"Pinafore" will mark the greatest cooperative effort of theatrical productions for the Fine Arts faculty and students of all time.

The cast will include students from the dramatics, speech, chorus, and music departments. The music will be directed by Sherrod Towns. The production will be staged by Don Carr. Choral numbers will be under the supervision of Don Glattly, and Larry Fisher will direct the orchestra. Sterling Minturn is Technical Director, and Ponder Davis is Stage Manager.

The action of the piece is staged aboard His Majesty's Ship Pinafore, and is centered around the romance of the captain's daughter (Beryl DeLoach) and a common sailor Ralph Rackstraw (Benny Ray). Ted Forte is Captain Cochoran. The Ruler of the Queen's Navy, the Right Honorable Sir Joseph Porter, is played by Ponder Davis. Bob Wright portrays Dick Deadeye, the villian, Kay Marie Sonnier is Cousin Hebe, Danny Shehee plays Bill Bobstay, and Elizabeth Leo is Little Buttercup.

PRIOR TO THE CHEERLEARER ELECTIONS, try-outs were held in the Student Center. Here we see John Batten and Jack Sharp putting forth their best efforts. Election was held Wednesday. Chosen to lead the students in yells next year were Tootie Rae and Baby Kay Sonnier and Jack Sharp and John Batten along with two freshmen who will be elected in the fall.

MIRACLE AT CARVILLE
by Betty Martin

"The most beautiful Christmas was when I was nineteen and the world was mine," the author of "Miracle at Carville" begins. That Christmas night the doctor —she had consulted one about some unimportant-looking pink spots — told her parents she had leprosy. "Get her away before she infects the whole city!" The word "leprosy" makes even doctors, who ought to know better, panicky. They got her away — to Carville, Louisiana, the only leprosarium in the United States, and this book is her story from that time on.

The miracle at Carville, reported by Betty Martin, is really two miracles. First is the medical miracle by which she and her husband, after suffering with the disease for many years, were finally cured with the help of two new drugs, Promin and Diasone. That, in itself, is an exciting, suspense-filled account of human hopes, temporary defeat, heartbreak, and final triumph.

There was another miracle at Carville, the National Leprosarium in Louisiana, which is now only a number Public Health Service Hospital. It was a miracle of human courage when there seemed to be no hope, of people facing adversity and making new lives for themselves when everything seemed futile, and of a grim fight against disease that seemed, at first, more likely to be lost than won.

Betty Martin was nineteen when the tell-tale spots of Hansen's disease appeared on her body. On January 15, 1928, she entered Carville. A few months less than twenty years later she left the hospital, cured; but for at least fifteen of those years there seemed to be no hope for her, and even less for Harry, her husband. Yet in those years they led a busy, satisfying life, in which they worked to remove the stigma from this ancient disease. That, too, is the miracle at Carville, the finding of happiness through the helping of others, the fight for an ideal, and the making of a rich, full life where it would seem there was only death.

The story is told with restraint and understanding and should do much to remove the ignorance concerning this dread disease which is clearly pictured, as are the horrible conditions that used to exist at Carville.

Dear Friend,

Congratulations! We would like to personally affront you with our sentiments, but your oily nature of elusiveness prevents us.

The above reference is to your beautiful "lift" or "borrowing" of the food for our Alpha Sig slumber party Saturday night — no muss, no broken bottles, no messy papers — the clean type you are. And we do appreciate it! Don't get us wrong.

What are the pangs of starvation at a slumber party in face of such betterment of humanity by our humble donation of a few "baloney" sandwhices, etc., to your welfare.

To our congratulations we add our best wishes that the food made you very sick. Come to visit us again sometimes when we're there. We promise to feed you well.

With rancor,

SEVEN DEBATERS EARN LETTERS

William S. Smith, director of forensics at NSC announced today that seven varsity debaters will be presented letter sweaters for debate activities during the 1951-52 season. Those receiving sweaters are as follows: David Kendrick, Jim Vorhoff, Pat Hankins, Ann Torrens, Barbara Robinette, Chick Gabbert, Millie Middleton, and Betty Sue Boydstun.

PI KAPPA SIGMA "OLD SOUTH" FORMAL HELD SATURDAY

The Pi Kaps feel the time they spent cutting trees was justly rewarded in the appreciation shown for the beautiful decorations of the Pi Kappa Sigma formal dance held Saturday, April 19. The painted trees with moss draped over them reflected the blue lights and the spirit of the "Old South"perfectly. Mrs. Jean Lee, Pi Kap sponsor, was dressed as a Southern belle and greeted each couple at the door. Music was furnished by the Demonaires, and Tootie Raye Sonnier did a grand job of painting the mirror with moonlit water and stars.

Enttertainment for the evening was provided by Martha Ann and Caroline Glass who, dressed as two little darkies, did a tap dance; John Batten and his boys, Mayo Prudhomme, Jerald Carter, Hardy Rose, and Gordon Young, brought music from their washboards to the tune of "When the Saints Go Marching In" and "Sheik of Arabi," and Pi Kap Joan Erickson brought the program to a close with a romantic ballet which she dedicated to all lovers.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

Following the dance last Saturday night the Pi Kaps returned to the Pi Kap house for a slumber party which really turned out to be a slumber party, for a change. Believe it or not, the girls were all asleep by 3:00 a.m. but they attributed this to the fact that they were rather tired after a strenuous day of decorating.

The Pi Kaps are justly proud of Louise Vick, who is the top one of three girls chosen by popular ballot to represent NSC at the Holiday in Dixie festival. The girls are also proud of Baby Kay and Tootie Raye Sonnier who were recently initiated into Kappa Delta Pi honorary fraternity.

The girls wish to thank their sponsor, Mrs. Jean Lee, for the lovely coffee she gave in their honor Saturday morning, April 19. The Pi Kaps were very honored indeed to have Mrs. Pearl David, our Dean of Women, pour at the coffee.

Welcome alums were Priss Smith, Dee Dee Barmore, Isabel Pearce, and Anne Freeze, who all came for the dance and slumber party.

Big plans are being made for the Pi Kappa Sigma Convention this summer. Kathleen Ray, president, is to be the official representative from Alpha Delta chapter.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

At the weekly meeting last Tuesday the Alpha Sigs made final plans for their dance which is to be Saturday, April 26. After the meeting most of the girls stayed to work on decorations for the dance.

Congratulations go to Margaret Ann Horton, who won the title of Miss Bossier City. She will represent Bossier City at the Holiday in Dixie festival.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

After the installation Audell Peevy, Barbara Rainey's successor, took her position as president. Each new officer was informed of her duties and responsibilities.

After the gay Easter holidays the Theta Sigs met and discussed the plans for their Banquet which is to be May 24. Preparations for a party to be given for the active members have been made. A coke party was the climax of the events of the evening.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Tri Sigma held its annual Founders' Day banquet at the Nakatosh Hotel, Saturday, April 19. Many alums, parents, and friends attended. Congratulations to Jean Lyons for receiving the senior award, to Bobbye Bass for receiving the best scholastic average award.

Congratulations also to Mary Ann Cronin, the new secretary of the band, and Sue Bellew, the new secretary of the student body.

Billie Payne presented to the group at the Tuesday night meeting a large box of candy in honor of her engagement to Bill Daugherty.

Billie Butts flew to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for the holidays to spend an enjoyable first anniversary with her husband.

Gervaie Aldridge and Thelma Ruth Stevens were initiated into Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity, Tuesday, April 22. Doris Bolin and Jo Hubley are the new vice-president and corresponding secretary respectively of AWS.

PHI KAPPA NU

Phi Kappa Nu elected officers recently for the coming year. Those elected were Ronald Quinn, president; Houston Davis, vice-president; Lowell Starnes, recording secretary; Ben Singletary, treasurer; Leland Langridge, corresponding secretary; Joe Saltzman, reporter; George O'Neill, sargeant-at-arms; Eugene Christmas and James Cook, intramural representatives; and Rudy Berlin and Leland Langridge, fraternity representatives.

A weiner roast for Phi Kap members, rushees, and dates was held at Gum Springs last Sunday afternoon. The annual first barbecue is slated for Saturday, May 3 at Gum Springs.

Mr. Davis has acted as judge at two other festivals here in Louisiana this year: at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette and Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge. Demons, Gents Clash Today In GSC Contest

Northwestern meets Centenary this afternoon on the college diamond in a Gulf States conference clash.

The Demons completed the first round of league play with a record of six wins and two losses.

Ronald Martin scattered six Centenary hits while the Demons were bunching eight to down the Gentlemen 7-2 in the first conference clash with the Shreveporters. NSC had opened the season with twin victories over Tech.

The next day, in Shreveport, Douglas Logan's five hitter was good for a 2-1 decision in favor of Northwestern as Johnny Emmons tripled home Sammy Booras in the eighth.

Southwestern next invaded, but had to settle for a split in the two game series as Logan held the defending conference division champs to one run and Emmons homered with one on in the fifteenth inning for a 3-1 triumph. The Bulldogs scored six runs in the first inning to take the first game 11-3.

The Easter holidays found the NSC Diamond squad in Texas, and after three consecutive losses to the weather, Sam Houston State took a 12-4 win in the only night game of the season for Northwestern. Returning home, the Demons dropped a loosely played 7-5 tilt to Northeastern.

Ronald Martin settled down to blank Louisiana College after the second inning, but the Wildcats, playing on their home grounds, picked up three in the first and two in the second frame for a 5-4 upset.

Logan notched his fourth conference win the next day, as Martin put NSC on the road to the 5-3 victory with a two run home run.

Opening the second half of the conference season in Ruston, Tech took a 13-11 slugfest played on a damp field with intermittent showers, and repeated the process in Natchitoches Thursday, catching Logan on an off day for an 11-4 decision.

Martin took over the lead in the home run department from Emmons by a three run blast in the fourth inning that put NSC ahead 3-2, but Tech found the range in the eighth and ninth frames with three circuit drives.

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky . . . for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better . . . proved best-made of all five principal brands. So reach for a Lucky. Enjoy the cigarette that tastes better! Be Happy—Go Lucky! Buy a carton today!

And cramming is the style—

WITH ALL MY HEART
by Margaret Campbell Barnes

It is something of a paradox and a triumph to write a novel about the life and times of King Charles II of England in a way that will emphasize purity and the conjugal life.

Mrs. Barnes has chosen to tell her story from the viewpoint of Catherine of Braganza, who was Charles's loyal queen for all his reign. She builds up the premise that a deep love and devotion existed between the two in spite of frequent separations, frequent infidelities on Charles's part, a difference in religions, and Catherine's unfortunate inability to bear children. There was a group which attempted to promote an official separation between the pair on the grounds that she was unable to give England an heir. In spite of the fact that the separation would thus have been made easy, Charles refused.

Catherine is seen as a warm and attractive person. Strictly brought up, not at all beautiful, she won Charles's respect, if not his ardent love.

Everything is here, of course, from the young Catherin'es wide-eyed preparations for her wedding to the old Catherine, brooding over her lost lover in yet another place, twenty years after Charles's death.

It has all the makings of a bang-up historical novel except the breath of life.

"Somehow Emily, we don't seem to be as close as we used to be."

Marzelle Beaty was elected president; Ophelia LaRue, vice president; Margaret Young, secretary; Judy Sobert, treasurer; Joyce Miller, reporter; and, Bobby Duggan, seargeant-at-arms. At the close of the festival, Saturday evening, the critic judge will meet with the directors and casts of the plays and explain the criteria he has followed in evaluation of the performance, with national Thespian score sheet as the basis for his criteria. A constructive criticism period will follow in which the judge will show how or how not the play has met the standards, and will offer suggestions for the improvement of various performances.

At the close of the Festival, after each of the performances has been discussed as indicated above, the critic judge shall announce the classification of all plays he has judged as follows: SUPERIOR PLAYS (Those with a score of 90% or above as determined by the Thespian Score Sheet), GOOD PLAYS (Those with a score of 70 to 79%.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Tentative plans are being made by the Tri Sigs for their annual spring picnic to be held sometime this month.

Tri Sigma is very proud of Thelma Ruth Stephens and Bea Rumsey who were selected to fill the two vacancies let in the Purple Jackets by the graduation of Ruth Ann Ellender and Louise Harris.

We are equally proud of Doris Bolin, recently elected president of the Euthenics Club and the NSC chapter of YWA, Jo Ellen Cagle who placed second in the "Miss Northwestern" contest, and Annette Cook, Mary Sue Bellew, Bertha Adams, Bea Rumsey, Jeanette Wood, and Jo Ellen Cagle, who were selected as chairmen of various YWCA groups.

In preparation for the redecoration of their living rooms, the Tri Sigmas have been examining a book of wall paper samples, provided by their sponsor, Miss Mouton.

The pledges are all studying very hard for their test which will come soon, so that they will be eligible for initiation sometime this spring.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

The Theta Sig members were honored by a kiddies party which was given by the pledges. The sorority room was very appropriately decorated with ballons and little favors hanging about the room. A maypole with small animals as kiddies, was at one end of the room. Down the center of the room apples were hung for decoration, but mostly for a kiddies apple bitting contest. Everyone was dressed in kiddy outfits which were completed by a large piece of bubble gum which frequently came into view as a huge bubble. The kiddy games were the high lights of the party, and everyone enjoyed the refreshments and favors.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

Highlighting the events of the year for Delta Sigs is the annual banquet honoring their mothers and seniors of the group. The banquet will be held this evening in the private dining room of the Student Center. Miss Jennie Marmande, mistress of ceremonies, will welcome and introduce each guest. Such awards as the ring given for outstanding service, the active and pledge of the year will be presented that night.

The alums will be guests of the actives Monday night at a coke party in the sorority room. Plans for redecoration of the room and future projects will be discussed.

Demons Split Two In Final Series Of Baseball

A two game series with Louisiana College, here Tuesday and at Pineville Wednesday closes out the Demon baseball season.

Northwestern split with Centenary and Southwestern in conference contests, to tighten its hold on second place in the western division.

Left hander Morris Bruce pitched the Demons to wins over both foes, halting the Gents in Shreveport 11-3, and SLI in Lafayette 11-5.

Ronald Martin contributed a three run homer, and Bobby Davis added three hits in five tries to spark an eleven hit attack, as the Demons swamped Centenary in Shreveport.

Back in Natchitoches the next day, the Gents took a 9-7 contest in fourteen innings as the Demons failed to get reliefer Gale Hearn any runs while he was blanking the visitors over six innings.

Journeying to Southwestern, the Demons climbed on Billy Bynum for four runs in the first inning, one in the fifth, and two in the eighth. Another four in the ninth clinched the contest, as Burce held the champions to single markers in the third, fifth, and seventh, then eased up and allowed two in the ninth.

Southwestern copped the second contest 9-4.

Northwestern now has record of eight wins and six losses in gulf states conference play.

Class B Track Meet Is Set Here

Four hundred high school athletes will participate in the state Class "B" high school track meet to be held on the Northwestern State College campus May 2 and 3.

Intramurals

Intramural softball moved into its final round of play before the playoffs during the early part of this week. Three teams thus far have cinched positions in the playoffs while Phi Kap and Rebel Hall are still fighting for the one remaining berth.

The Mustangs are the only undefeated team in the league but there is one game remaining on their schedule. This game is to be played with Rebel Hall; a win for the Mustangs would automatically knock the Rebel Hall crew out of the playoffs.

There is a tie for first place laurels in the American league between Caspari and Sigma Tau. Sigma Tau bounced the Caspari lads 10-2 in the initial game of the season, but were unable to push across enough tallies Tuesday against the Frames to come out on top.

In the American League there remains only one game to be played. This clash will find a team from Brick Shack dueling with the Frames in an attempt for each team to notch its first win. In the National League Rebel Hall will have to face both the Chowhounds and the Mustangs as a final capping of their season.

Scores of the games are:

American League

Sigma Tau 10, Caspari 2

Caspari 7, Brick Shack 0

Caspari 10, Frames 1

Sigma Tau 0, Frames 0

(The above game between Sigma Tau and the Frames was forfeited when neither of the teams showed up).

National League

Mustangs 6, Phi Kap 3

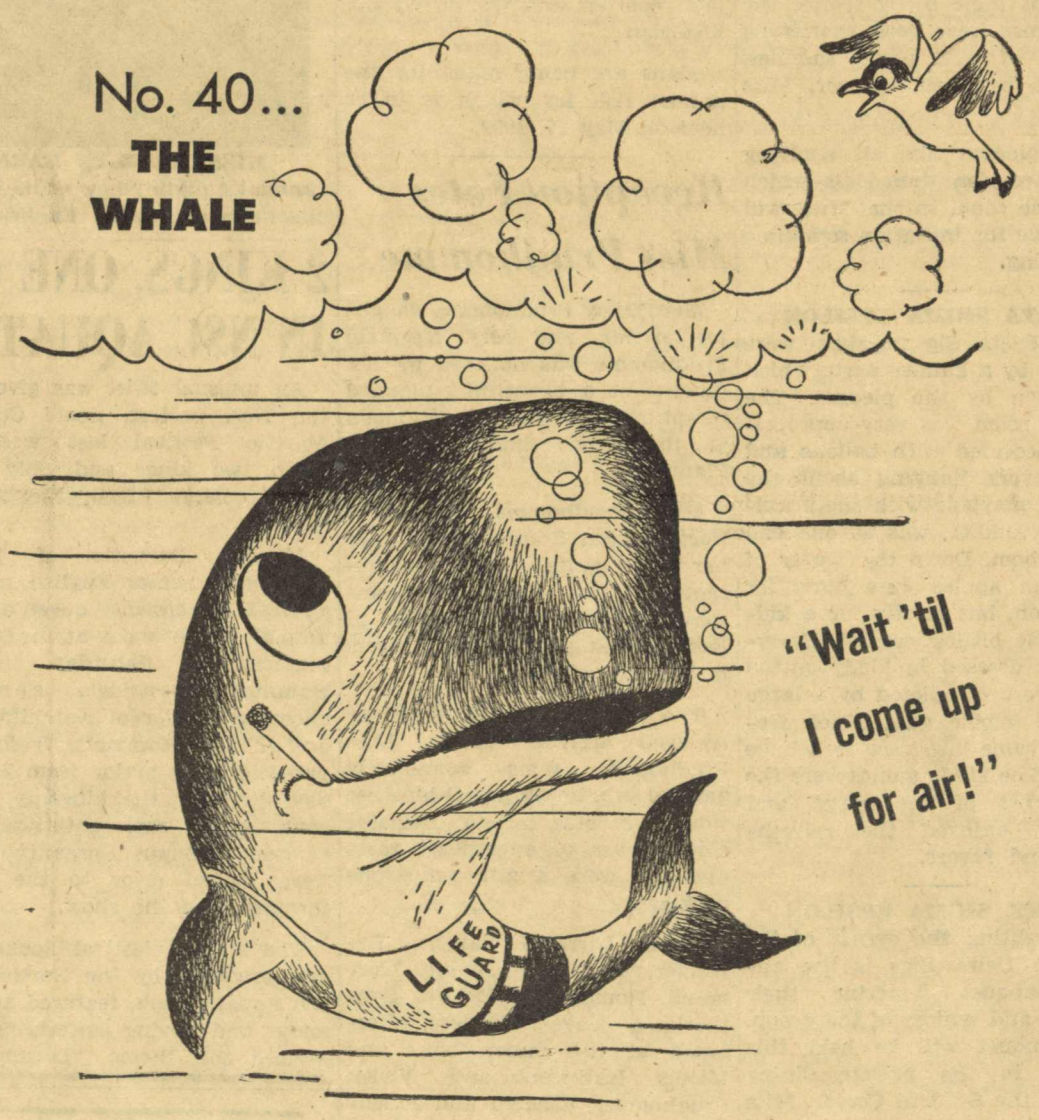

Phi Kap 12, Chowhounds 4

Mustangs 8, Chowhounds 2

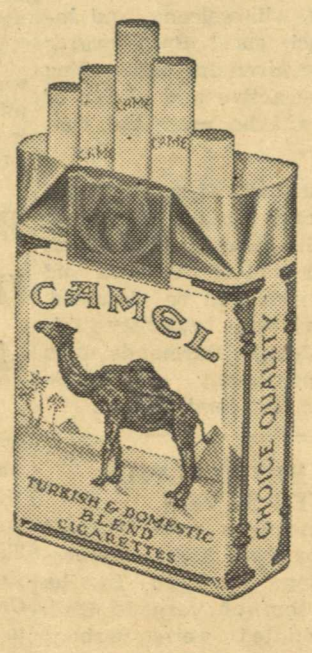

Phi Kap 6, Rebel Hall 5

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 40... THE WHALE

Poor guy was submerged in a veritable sea of cigarette tests! He didn't know whether he should "blow"—or just jettison the whole job! But he fathomed the matter when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in one quick spout! Millions of smokers have found, too, there's a thorough cigarette test!

It's the sensible test ... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why ...

After all the Mildness Tests ...

Kappa Delta Pi Held Initiation April 22

The Gamma Phi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi held its Spring initiation in the living room of the Home Economics Building, April 22. The following were initiated: Dr. Elsie Church of the Mathematics faculty; and eleven students — Gervais Aldredge, Winnie Dowden, Bobby M. Earnest, Charles B. Holloway, Virginia Ann Metcalf, Betty Nix, Glynn Ellen Pennington, Marilyn L. Snoddy, R. D. Skains, Jr., Thelma Ruth Stephens, and Beth Trammel.

The banquet, which followed, was held in the Private Dining Room of the Student Center. Mrs. Ruby Dunkelman, Chairman of the Banquet Committee, was responsible for the beautiful tables and delicious menu. Large flat baskets of spring flowers — further adorned with blue violet tulle bows — and white candles made the tables something lovely to remember.

The president, Katherine Hopkins, presided, charming the members and guests with her ready wit. Mrs. Billy Butts, Vice-President, introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Sallie Farrell of the State Library Department, who contributed to the theme of the year, "The Place of the Library in Education Today," by speaking in an interesting and sprightly manner on the topic, "Education's Poor Relation." The group realized, after her talk, that libraries were greatly in need of more funds.

In addition to honoring the initiates, the purpose of the banquet was to honor one student and two retiring Faculty Members. Jane Walcott, Secretary, announced that the Executive Council, who decides how the award is to be determined, this year decided to present it to the student in Library Education with the highest average. This year's award went to Sallie Harper, whose average, although not the highest in her class, was exceeded by only three persons in the last ten classes. Miss Harper, who was president of Kappa Delta Pi at the time of graduation in January, is now teaching at Collinston, and could not be present to receive the reward in person.

President H. Lee Prather paid beautiful tributes to Mr. Alvin Good, Professor of Sociology, and Mr. A. C. Maddox, Professor of Mathematics and Head of the Mathematics Department, as he presented them with gifts from Gamma Phi Chapter—mahogany book ends, each containing inscribed plates of metal, and metal replicas of the Greek lamp of learning.

The chapter president presented Miss Mamie Bowman, Counselor for the past seventeen years, with a twenty-five dollar United States Savings Bond in recognition of her service.

The officers for next year were introduced: Mrs. Van Woodward, Counselor; Clydie Mae Beacham, President; Winnie Dowden, Vice-President; Thelma Ruth Stephens, Secretary; Bobby M. Earnest, Treasurer; and Gervais Aldredge, Historian-Reporter. Marilyn L. Snoddy will serve as Treasurer during the summer term.

Royal Academy Accepts Kenner's Sculpture For Its Summer Exhibit

A Northwestern State College art teacher who took up art as a hobby and who has been seriously interested in the field only since 1948, has recently received one of the highest tributes which can be paid any artist in the world.

Grant F. Kenner's "Cello Blues," a piece of sculpture (direct carving in Georgia marble), has been accepted by the Royal Academy of Art in London for the annual summer exhibit.

This outstanding work by Kenner is a modern version of a man playing a cello. It was chosen over thousands of art works submitted to the Royal Academy from artists of the world.

Mr. Kenner also had a piece on display in the exhibit last summer, "Torso" which was carved in walnut. Mr. Kenner's "Torso" was the only piece by an American artist on display, and he was selected for his outstanding skill as an artist to be written up in "Who's Who in Art."

Last year 40,000 pieces were submitted to the Royal Academy but only 500 pieces were accepted for display because of limited space. Only the best works are chosen. Pieces for exhibition are selected by a jury of members of the Royal Academy who vote on each work without knowing the name or nationality of the artist.

WHY COMPLAIN, NSC CO-EDS?

In the recent student-body elections a popular platform plank was that of later curfew hours for campus co-eds. After making a check of rules and regulations at other times in the history of the college, we have come to one conclusion: "You never had it so good."

For instance, there was once a rule which read, "Parents cannot send packages of food to the students because it is injurious to their health."

Students from 1885-1903 could go shopping only on Wednesday afternoon from 3 o'clock to sunset.

The students were allowed to attend church at any day service on Sunday, but they had to be accompanied by the president or matron if they went to any Sunday night services, especially if they were escorted by gentlemen.

Written excuses for absences must be signed by the president before the students could return to classes — He would have a full-time job of it now, huh?

Young ladies could not receive a long distance telephone call from anywhere except home. Students were not summoned to answer any other calls, for the dean answered these.

Students were required to attend daily assembles and take part in singing on Tuesday and Wednesday.

In the earliest days all men students boarded in town and no men students were allowed on the campus after 5 p.m. in the afternoon. Normal at that time was surrounded by a high board wall, which was closed and locked at 5 p.m.

The dorm rules then were:

Feather beds and cotton comforts and quilts were not allowed in the dorm.

All dorm girls must provide themselves with umbrellas, rubber over-shoes and rain-coats.

Money in excess of 50 cents must not be kept in the bedrooms at any time.

So when you hear people complaining about their restrictions now, just remember — "you never had it so good."

College Band Presents Second "Pop" Concert

The second "pop" concert of the spring semester was held on the green between the Fine Arts auditorium and the Student Center last Wednesday evening, April 30, at 6:15 p.m. It was well attended. This is the last "pop" concert this semester since the band is now preparing for their trip to Baton Rouge for the Governor's inauguaration on May 13. The band will represent Northwestern State College along with various other groups from the campus. On May 10 the band will also be featured on the Prather Day assembly program.

What Happened

The spring student body elections are now a thing of the past. Whereas the overall venture may be tabbed a success, a very noticeable apathy on the part of those who should have been chiefly concerned marred the final race which witnessed thirty per cent less students going to the polls than had voted in the first two primaries.

What happened! The first two races had publicity, campaigning, rallies and the whole-hearted interest of the present student leaders and the candidates. And the students responded with an eighty per cent turn-out at the polls.

Came the student senate elections and the deadline for filing intentions had to be extended so that enough students would qualifiy for the positions. Twenty-one names appeared on the ballot from which sixteen were elected to office. Where was the interest?

The student senate plays a vital role in campus government. It's work is chiefly legislative and because of this fact, its membership should be representative of as many trends of student opinion as is possible. This representative factor could have been more definitely guaranteed had the students had a greater variety of candidates from whom to choose.

The decrease in the number of students participating in the third election was the natural climax to a race which could have been and, most definitely, should have been more successful than the first two.

We Repeat

The age-old problem of cheating on examinations always seems to reach a climax as the semesters draw to a close.

We as students should have enough pride and integrity to avoid this practice which should conflict with our ideals.

It may well be that this method of getting by is just a spoke in the gigantic whel of moral degradation which seems to be crushing whatever principales we have cherished as our national heritage.

If we are to be responsible leaders in the expectation of being a credit to our God, our fellowmen and our country, then we must lay a foundation that will last. This cannot be done by cheating.

HONOR COURT

In The Library

THE SUDDEN GUEST
by Chistopher La Farge

This novel has three aspects: it is first a story of how a New England spinster lived through two violent storms, the hurricane of 1938 and the lesser storm of 1944; secondly, it is a character study of Carrel Leckton, a typical product of her age and environment; and finally it is a kind of long parable — one peculiarly appropriate to our time — dealing with the responsibility of the single person to the community which holds him, like it or not, in non-cancellable membership.

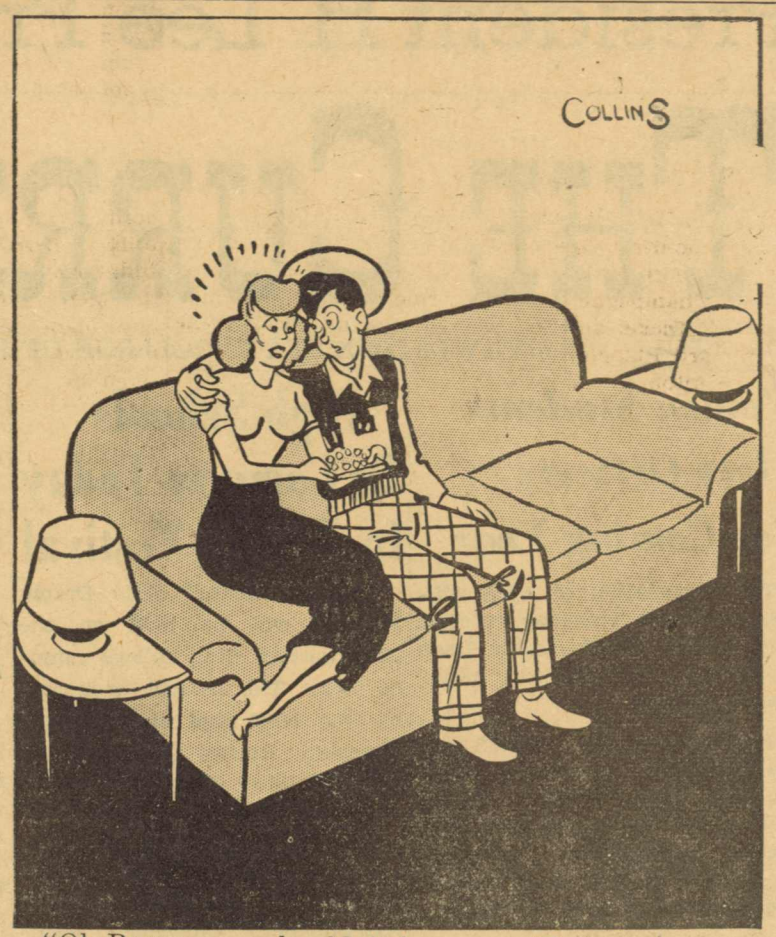

What Mr. La Farge has done—has magnifciently done — is to pour into a single character, to distill over all, all the essential oils of a time and a place in our human history and geography. He has painted a portrait, and his subject, very much one living person, so sums up a host of generically like person we have known that we feel as we do with some of Copley's best pictures, we have surely some time, somewhere met and known Miss Leckton very well.

This novel is valued for its fine fidelity to New England and for its sure deliniation of the battered coast and the coast dwellers. It is valued for its skill in contrast: the contrast in effect of the two great storms — the first, so unexpected, so ruthless; the second, foreseen and doubly dreaded; and above all, the contrast in these New Englanders, these people of Negro, Jewish, Italian, and Yankee blood whose impact cracks the hard shell of Miss Leckton and reveals the heart of the story.

YWCA talent show will be held May 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts auditorium.

Participants in the show are Carondolet, dormitory, Agnes Morris dormitory, Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity and Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

A $10 prize will be awarded the winner. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"YOUR HAIR looks as though it's been in the rein, deer," a campus Caribou told Sheedy. "If you want to horn in on the sororities, it might behoof a man of your elk to try Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's Favorite Hair Tonic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. Grooms hair neatly and naturally all day long. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes moose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test!" Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now no girl wonders whether he's man or moose! If your moose is cooked by unruly hair, collect a little doe and take a taxi-dermist to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hair at the barber shop so your deer won't think you've let herd down. (What she'll say will be moose-ic to your ears!)

EIGHTEEN PLEDGE PHI KAPPA NU

Eighteen boys were recently pledged into Phi Kappa Nu fraternity at special ceremonies held in the frat room. Those who pledged are Wiley Champagne, Clay Brock, S. W. Dickerson, Raymon Collier, Leonard Blanchard, Ben L. Brewton, Alton Allen, Nolan Wells, Glen Gates, Dalton Robinson, Talmadge Lee, Bill Stanbery, Floyd L. Ellerman, Jackson L. Beebe, John E. Thornhill, Rudy Landry, Vernice Wright and Buddy Bass.

Approximately one hundred persons, including Phi Kap alums, members, pledges, and their dates attended the annual spring barbecue which was held at Gum Springs last Saturday afternoon. Mr. William Havard, fraternity sponsor, was chaperon for the affair.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The Tri Sigs are rehearsing madly their skit for the YWCA Variety Show to be presented Monday evening at 7:00. It promises to be ten minutes full of laughs and chuckles.

Congratulations to Jo Ann Breedlove on her recent election to the Student Senate.

Plans are being made by the more "artistic" Tri Sigs to paint the woodwork of their living room, prior to the re-papering of the room.

Further plans for the picnic to be held on May 17 were made. A slumber party following the picnic is also being planned.

Our wishes for a speedy recovery go to Lollie Caskey who is in the infirmary suffering from a case of measles.

Our contestants in the contest for queen of the Poultry Festival are Frances Breedlove, Jo Ann Breedlove, Jo Ellen Cagle, and Joan Evans.

YWCA

YWCA met May 7 on the grounds behind the Religious Center. Mary Sue Bellew led in prayer. The minutes were read by Bobby Collins.

The variety show, softball practice, and commissions were discussed. The meeting closed with the group singing "Blest Be The Tie."

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sigs still find themselves and our house draped in crepe paper and thumb tacks, the remainder of our dance, "I'll See You in My Dreams." The dance, itself, was decorated to give an illusion of dreams, revelling in crepe paper and silver stars. The dream was complete, we thought, with a pasteboard and moss-hung replica of the Chaplain Lake scene in one corner. Entertainment was furnished by the Demonaires, Elizabeth Leo, Mr. Fisher, and Judy Hubley, ending with the presentation of favors while Bennie Ray sang the "Alpha Sig Sweetheart Song."

We are proud, too, to point out Marilyn Barnette, Margaret Horton, and Bernice Dale Blankenship as three outstanding Alpha Sigs. Both Bernice Dale and Marilyn were in the Aquatic court this year, with Marilyn reigning as "Aquatic queen." Recently Marilyn was crowned "Queen of the Dogwood Drive" in Plain Dealing, Louisiana. In addition to these honors, last week she was selected as a member of the court in "Holiday in Dixie."

Margaret Horton was honored this year by being chosen as "Miss Bossier City of 1952." Margaret's awards for this title included, among other things, a trip to Havana, Cuba, and a diamond ring. More? Uh-huh. She was also a member of the "Holiday in Dixie Court" last week.

We are making plans this week for our annual Mother-Daughter-Father banquet to be held May 18. Other plans of the sorority are concerned with a float for the Broiler Festival on May 17.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

Wednesday afternoon "big doings" took place at the Pi Kap house; a ribboning service for Rose McWright was held. The Pi Kappa Sigma's certainly feel lucky to have Rose among their number.

Important plans are being made for the Mother-Daughter banquet to be held Sunday, May 25.

The Pi Kap house is beginning to shine from top to bottom as annual Spring housecleaning gets underway. Even the yard and sidewalk are getting a new "face lifting" job.

All of the P.K.S. are proud of their sisters Patsy Winkler and Louise Vick who were taken into the Purple Jackets. Congratulations also to Eunice Eden who was awarded the Purple Jacket special distinction award for outstanding service to the organization and to Patsy Winkler who received the Purple Jacket award for most outstanding freshman girl of 1951. Good work, girls.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

At the last regular meeting the Theta Sig's planned the theme and appointed the committees for their banquet which is to be at the Nakatosh Hotel, May 24.

Mary Ann Raines Singletary, an alumnae, visited Audell Peavy this week.

Barbara Rainey's husband plans to join her next week.

MISS SCHOONOVER FETED AT SHOWER

Mrs. D. C. Abington, Jr., and Mrs. Cecil P. Davis complimented Miss Mayme Rae Schoonover, N.S.C. student, whose marriage will take place in June, at a lovely miscellaneous shower, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Abington will serve the bride elect as matron of honor.

Mrs. Abington's apartment, the scene of the party, was beautified with artistic arrays of vari colored flowers. The history of Mayme Rae's romance, an interesting game, entertained the guests. Mrs. Don Sibley, winner of the contest, presented the honoree with her prize.

Especially admired was the huge umbrella covered with aqua crepe paper and adorned with pink roses, placed over numerous gifts attractively wrapped and tied. The honor guest opened the gifts and passed them around for all to admire.

Exquisite spring flowers in a wide range of colors formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table. Lime sherbet punch was served from a crystal punch bowl placed at one end of the table and cheese wafers and individual cookies were served.

Sharing the pleasant hours with the hostesses and honor guest were; Mesdames Don Sibley, Kerlin Sutton, Sue Quinn and little Brenda and Misses Sue Miller, Barbara Brittain, Billie Mason, Ann Gillespie, Chick Gabbert, Barbara Robinette, Janell Faris, Loneta Graves and Lelia Lenahan.

HOBBY NIGHT

A hobby night will be held in the Men's gymnasium on Thursday night May 15, 1952 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. It is being sponsored by Recreation 403 class at Northwestern. Among the hobbies being displayed will be gun collections, photography, woodwork, model airplanes, weaving, hooked rugs, painting, drawing astronomy, and pottery.

NSC Host To GSC Track and Field Meet Today; Loyola Favored, Demons, Tech Are Dark Horses

Northwestern State College Demons will play host to the 1952 edition of the Gulf States Conference track and field meet this afternoon and in Demon stadium this evening. The trials will start at 1 o'clock and the finals are slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Ruled as favorites in the meet will be the tracksters from Loyola University in New Orleans. Tabbed as most possible runner-ups are Southeastern and Southwestern. In the dark horse roles will be Northwestern and Louisiana Tech.

Among the 170 athletes from seven different schools will be some of the finest track men in this section of the country. Such men as Loyola's Rocker, who is favored to win the shotput, discus,and javelin, shall make their bid for the outstanding trackmen of the meet. Thus far this season, Rocker has equaled the record in shotput, and has bettered the marks set in the discus and javelin. Bullard of Louisiana College and Broussard of Southeastern will affront Rocker with strong competition in the shotput. In the discus it will be Barnard of Southwestern, Pyburn of Centenary, and Bankston of Louisiana College providing the heaviest obstacles to the Loyola lad. Ranew of Northwestern, Hauth of Loyola and Cassidy of Southwestern will be the strong contenders in the javelin.

There will be many good jumpers competing in the broad jump. The present record of 22 feet 2½ inches will in all probability be broken. Beside the current holder of the record, Varela of Loyola, there should be stiff competitive spirit from Lemoine and Heard of Southwestern, Bice and Emmons of Northwestern, Browning of Southeastern and Lane of Louisiana College.

Providing the better competition in the high jump will be Hebert of Southwestern, who has hit six feet three inches this season. (The record incidentally is six feet one and one-eighths inches). Also in the race will be Prinz, the present record holder, and Nicaud of Loyola, Davis and Byrd of Northwestern, Lytle of Louisiana Tech, and Price of Southwestern.

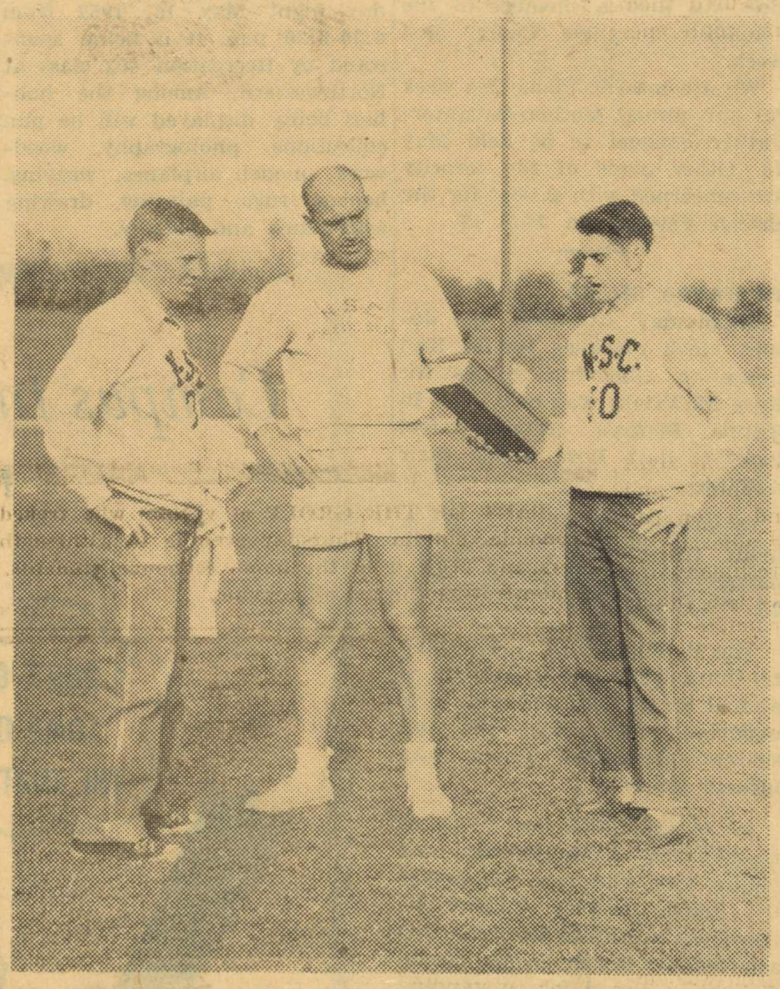

Three men have qualified in previous meets as being capable of breaking the pole vault record of 12 feet 5½ inches. They are Hymel of Loyola, current record holder, Buck of Northwestern, and Lane of Louisiana College.

In the dashes Loyola is expected to dominate with their flurry of 10 second men. Leithman of Loyola has consistently broken the 10 second mark this season. Others expecting to place are Grundmeyer, Derbes, Newman, and Granier, all from Loyola. Competition from the other teams are Shepard of Louisiana Tech, Shuff and Sharp of Southeastern, Bice and Hart of Northwestern, Warner of Louisiana College, and Parker and Francois of Southwestern.

Loyola once again has the outstanding man in the hurdles, Barrodale. His main foes are Gooch and Heard of Southwestern, Walker and Thronberry of Louisiana Tech, Durr and Poole of Northwestern, and Waguespack of Loyola.

Barnett of Southwestern should be able to break the 440 yard dash record of 50.9, as he has constantly done up to this date in the season. Matching speed

Coach Guy 'Blond Baby' Nesom In LSU's 1929 Hall of Fame

Editor's Note: This article appeared in the Friday, April 4, 1952 issue of The Daily Reveille, L.S.U.'s student paper. The article was copied verbatim.

GUY 'Blond Baby' NESOM

Guy Nesom, the blond giant from Tickfaw, who was a bulwark in the Bengal line and whose steady toe was the salvation of the Tigers in many contests, was elected in the Hall of Fame for the year 1929.

He was the stalwart tackle on the grid squads from 1926 thru 1928 and was star weightman in the shot and discuss on the track squads of 1927, 1928 and captain of the 1929 cinder Squad.

In the Ole Miss game in 1926 his educated toe gave the Tigers a 3-0 win on a field goal and his field goal against the Mississippi Aggies in 1927 gave the Bengals a close 9-7 win. He was tied in the SIC with two field goals in 1926 and led the SIC in field goals in 1927 with two.

The big "Blond Baby" broke Southern shotput record at Southwestern relays at Lafayette in 1927 with a 45-foot, 9-inch heave. In the Georgia Tech relays he set the SIC mark in shot put with a heave of 43-feet and threw the discus for a mark of 135-feet, 8-inches. That year Coach Bernie Moore's boys won for the Ole Miss its first title in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference since its organization in 1922.

In the 1929 Southwestern relays Captain Nesom broke the carnival record with a heave of 46-feet, 6-inches. In the Georgia Tech Relays he broke the relay shot record by tossing the iron ball 46-feet, 11-inches.

Nesom was the varsity heavyweight on both the intercollegiate boxing and wrestling teams, and during his senior year he was a member of the varsity basketball squad, playing in a number of games.

A member of Theta Kappa Nu fraternity, he was vice president of the sophomore class and president of the junior class. In 1928 the Arts and Sciences junior was voted the most admired man on the campus. He also was cadet colonel and served on both the student and honor councils.

He received the 1st Kemper Williams Saber, awarded annually to the outstanding cadet officer.

After finishing his career as All-Southern tackle on the Tiger grid team and as peer of Southern Conference weightmen, for three years he returned as line coach in the freshman football

Just Rambling

By Elvin Lightsey

Apparently the Boston Red Sox's poor showing in spring training was no indication of their capabilities since they are the hottest thing in the American League. The formidable New York Yankees are not faring so well thus far but all Yankee patriots will tell you that they won't win 'til the goin' gets rough.

In the National League the dog fight I predicted has already begun. Brooklyn held first until the Giants of New York got hot and moved in. But this was not to stay as two days later the Dodgers climbed back on top of the heap. It seems so far that the Dodgers aren't missing Newcombe and the Giants aren't missing Ervin.

The twin one-hit jobs turned in a week ago was the first in the history of the American League. You remember that one don't you? Bob Feller lost to Bob Cain as both pitched one-hitters. The run came in the first inning off Feller and that was all Cain needed. The hit off Cain came in the seventh and the one off Feller came by the first man up in the ball game. Actually Feller pitched nine innings of no-hit baseball. This was Bob Feller's 13th one hit job and the first one he ever lost.

Art Houtteman, always known as a hard luck pitcher, had another taste of misfortune. He missed a no-run, no-hitter by one out. With two out in the ninth, Simpson of Cleveland got a single to ruin his effort. The Tigers were ahead of Cleveland 13-0 at this point. The bum ought to have struck out and gave it to him.

The Demons finished off a good season in baseball, although with a few breaks going the other way, they could have had a better one. We won 13 and lost 11 over the route. The conference record stands at 10 wins and 6 losses. NSC was the only team in this division to beat Southwestern and we did it twice. Here is how the Demons did against the conference teams: Centenary, 3-1; Louisiana Tech, 2-2; Louisiana College, 3-1; and SLI 2-2.

Johnny Emmons led the hitters with a tremendous .444 average in conference competition. Ronald Martin led in runs batted in with a total of 28 in the 16 conference tilts. Martin was second in batting with a .311 average. Emmons was second in runs batted in with a total of 15. Martin led in home runs with four while Emmons was second with two.

DEMON NINE DEFEATS LACOLLEGE 12-4, 3-1; ENDS SEASON PLAY SECOND IN CONFERENCE

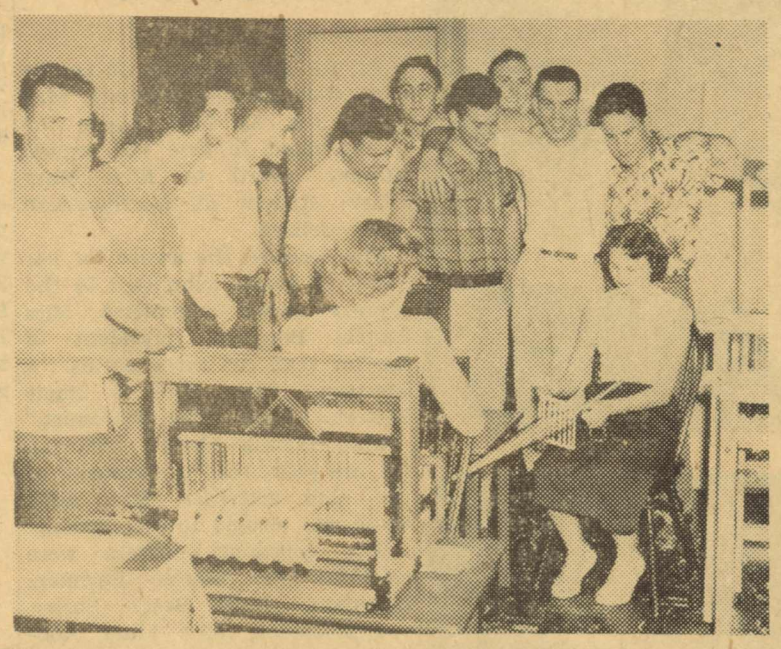

The Demons closed out the spring baseball season by taking a pair of contests from Louisiana College. They beat the Wildcats on the home diamond Tuesday 12-4 and in Alexandria Wednesday 3-1. The wins assured them of second place in conference division play.

Fireballer Jack King had a no hit shutout game until the ninth inning of the first game when he eased up to allow four runs to cross the plate on three hits and three errors. O. D. West slammed a fourbagger in the third inning, his only circuit hit of the season.

Gale Hearn tamed the Wildcats in the second contest. Johnny Emmons blasted the ball for a four bagger, scoring Sammy Booras ahead of him.

The Wildcats left only two runners on the bases in eight frames of the first contest, and King, working behind a ten run lead, struck out the side in the seventh. The Olla freshman fanned 13 and walked two in claiming his second triumph. Don Wineman hit safely four times in five trips to the plate.

Wineman walked in the first inning of the second contest, then moved around to score on singles by Emmons and Martin, and Northwestern added two more on Emmon's smash in the third. Although giving up ten safeties, Hearn had the losers blanked until the ninth, when an infield error brought across an unearned marker. M. D. Ray, who was unable to play most of the season because of a shoulder injury, make up for lost time by leading the Demons at the plate with three hits in four tries. Emmons had three for five.

Track Meet

DeRidder, Logansport, and Pelican garnered first places in "A", "B", and "C" divisions of the Northwest Louisiana District Track and Field meet held on the Northwestern campus last weekend.

In the "A" field the track team from DeRidder amassed 109 points to win over their bracket. Mansfield came second with 70 points and Natchitoches High followed with 31 markers.

The class "B" struggle was much closer and the margin of victory was 12 points. Logansport commanded the lead with 77 tallys while Rosepine latched 65. Marthaville took third with 41 points and Ferriday copped fourth with 25 tallies.

Pelican completely dominated the class "C" division finishing sixty-eight points ahead of their closest opponent. Pelican racked up 104 points and Campti followed with 36. Central was third with 22, and Stonewall and Bryceland tied for fourth with 20 points each.

Many Student To Give Recital

John, an 8th grade student at Many High School, has won three cash prizes in the international recording competition sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

In 1950 John won the high school division in the Shreveport Symphony Concert Contest and was guest soloist with the orchestra in December of that year.

The recital program will include the "Ritual Fire Dance" by re Falla, Chopin's "Raindrop Prelude," Mozart's "Turkish Rondo," and several other well known selections.

with him are Walker and Anderson of Northwestern, Barrios of Southwestern, Riley of Loyola, and Lee of Southeastern.

The half miler who is outstanding in the conference is Davis of Louisiana Tech. Close on his heels should be Burnett and Lee of Southeastern, Clynes of Southwestern, Turner of Northwestern and Fuselier of Loyola.

Davis is also the man favored to take the mile and two mile events, with Burnett and Legette of Southwestern, Clyes of Southwestern and Rider of Northwestern pushing him in the mile. In the two-mile race his main competition wil come from Rider of Northwestern, Legette of Southeastern, McCollister of Louisiana Tech, and Beard of Southwestern. Both Davis and Rider have come near the record in both the mile and two-mile races.

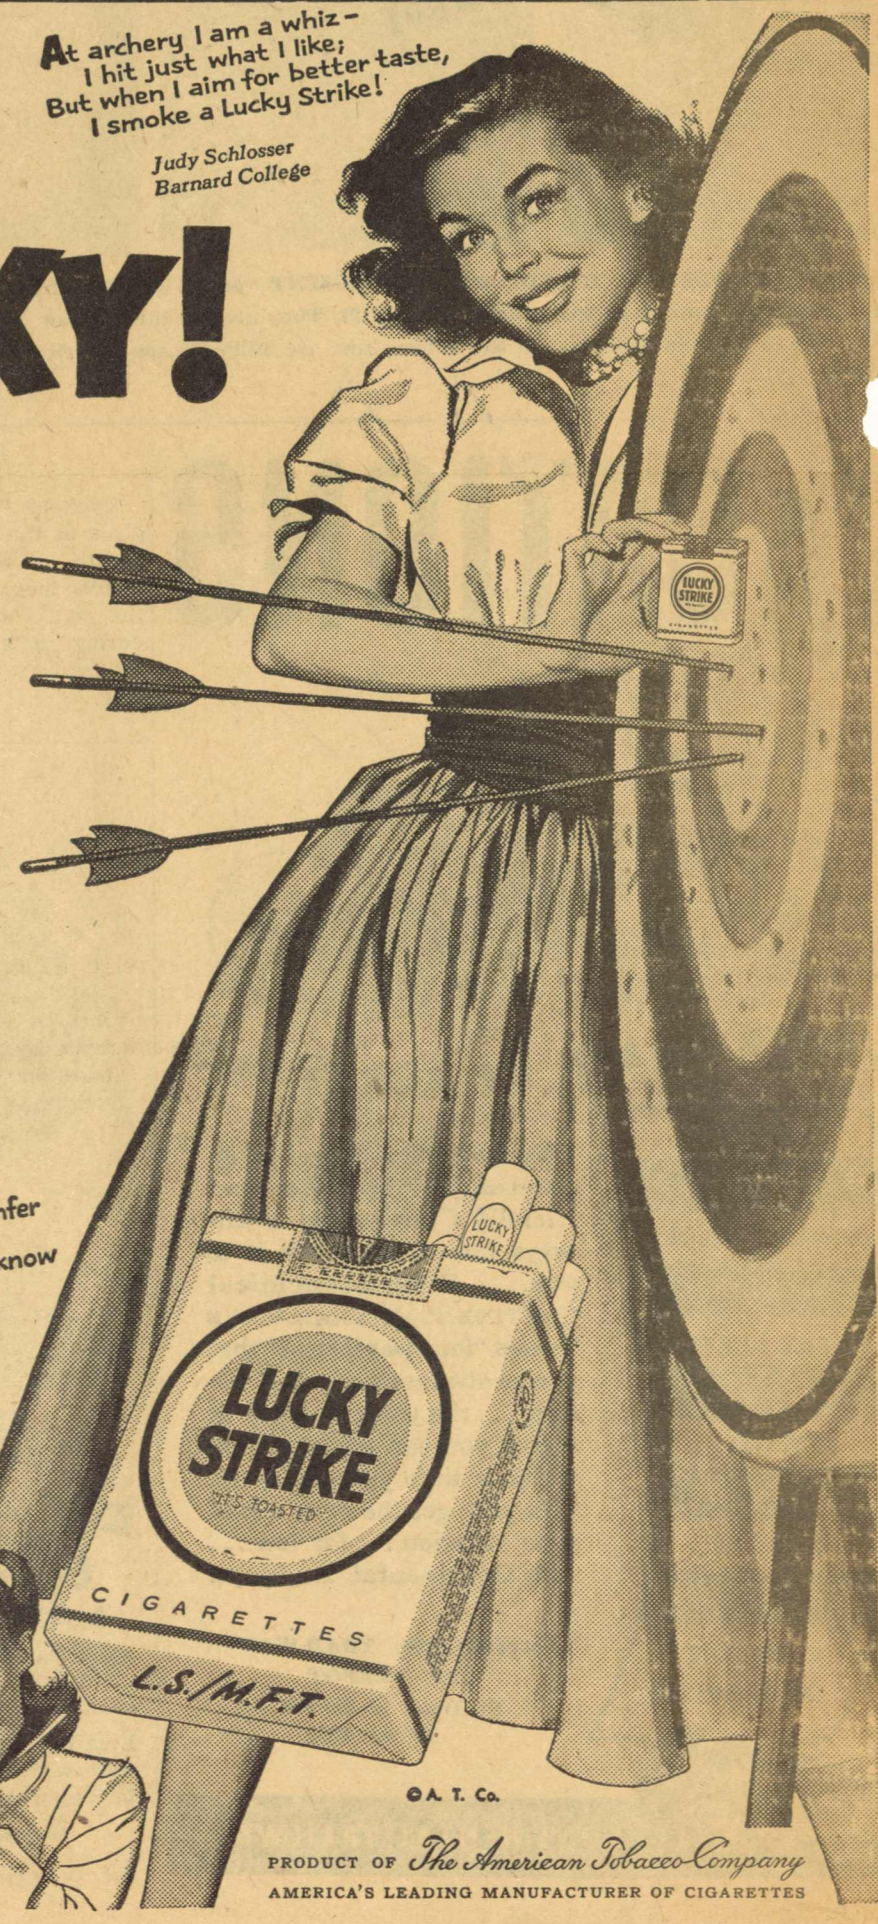

Loyola's fleet dash quintet is expected to take the 440 yard and 880 yard relays, with Southeastern, Southwestern, and Northwestern close behind. In the mile relay the nod goes to the team from Southeastern. This relay quartet has equaled the conference record of 3:26.2. Northwestern and Southwestern are expected to furnish the strongest competition against Southeastern.

The Purple Jack Club was organized in 1927 by President Roy. It is the oldest honor club on the campus, and has over three hundred members in the state of Louisiana. The maximum membership for each year is twenty-one girls.

MODERN DANCE GROUP RECITAL IN FINE ARTS AUD., MAY 21

THE MODERN DANCE WORKSHOP will present its annual spring show Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Fine Arts auditorium. The group is under the direction of Miss Jean Lee of the physical education department. Above we see a portray of a Cuban dance number.

Wednesday, May 21st the Dance Workshop of Northwestern State College will presents its spring production in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited and in keeping with past tradition the admission is free.

An exhibit of dance pictures, hand made percussion instruments, and sketches of stage designs will be on display in the lobby. The group is under the direction of Jean Harper Lee, with stage designs by G. F. Kenner and costume assistance by the Department of Home Economics.

The dance workshop is under the auspices of the Department of Health and Physical Education at Northwestern State College. It is called workshop because it is a working group of students interested in theatrical dance. The students study dance techniques, dance composition, dance philosophy, staging and costume making. The work is available to any student or faculty member for credit or non-credit.

Each year it presents two programs: one given as part of the Christmas Assembly and the major portion presented in the spring of the year. The new work to be presented this year is titled XOCHIPILLI (pronounced Zooche-pele): Patterns of an Old City. Xochipilli is the Aztec name for the God of Dances. The name has a direct bearing on the dance which is a suite of five dances based on Mexican folkways.

A major portion of the dance presentation will be devoted to a Technique Study devised to show the audience actual class work for preparation toward dance composition. "The term "modern dancing" is an ambiguous one because there is nothing modern about dancing. A simple recipe for the enjoyment of modern dancing is to enter the theatre leaving as much of the intellect as possible in the check room with the hat. Do not bring any preconceived idea of what the dancer is to do. When the performance begins, abandon all effort to figure out what it means. Merely relax and let the muscles do the thinking because what we see we interpret in terms of our own muscular experience," says Mrs. Lee.

Local girls appearing in the production are Rosalind Durham and Octavia Sandlin.

Wesley Group Sponsors Retreat

The Wesley Foundation is sponsoring its annual spring retreat for Northwestern students this week-end at Camp Brewer.

Reggie Gates and Gene Dunham from Louisiana State University will be present also.

NSC Represented At Inauguration

The Northwestern band, the Demonettes and the ROTC drill team and a float representing Natchitoches attended the inauguration ceremony of Governor Kennon in Baton Rouge Tuesday.

The group left Natchitoches, above chartered buses, at 5:00 in the morning and arrived in Baton Rouge at approximately 9:00. They, along with the delegation from Ruston and Louisiana Tech were given a police escort from Alexandria to Baton Rouge.

The parade assembled in alphabetical order and the route carried it past the governor's mansion, down the main street of Baton Rouge and past the state capital. The affair lasted about 90 minutes.

During the afternoon, some attended the open house at the governor's mansion, some attended functions planned for the visitors and others went sightseeing through the city and the capital building.

The buses left Baton Rouge at 6:00 Tuesday evening and arrived in Natchitoches at about 11:30 p.m. Enroute home they stopped in LeBeaux and Alexandria.

By Barbara Robinette
Feature Editor

Dr. Kathleen Gillard, new dean of women, expressed her interest in becoming acquainted with the students of Northwestern as soon as possible. "I don't know what I've done to deserve being put down in this beautiful place," she commented in an interview after her arrival Wednesday.

Dean Gillard is planning to teach some classes next fall, including Freshman orientation and possibly some advanced English courses. She received her Ph. D. in English from George Peabody college in 1950.

She is a graduate of Alma college in Michigan. Her graduate work in the field of personnel and guidance was undertaken at Vanderbilt and Columbia universities.

At Southeastern Missouri State college at Cape Girardeau, at Alma college in Michigan, and at Southeastern Oklahoma State college in Durant, she has held the position of dean of women.

She headed the English department at Brenau college in Gainsville, Georgia.

During the war she was the only woman on the faculty of the naval officers training unit at Dennison university in Ohio.

She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, Pi Gamma Mu, and Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary fraternities. Her social sorority in college was Kappa Alpha Theta. At Columbia she was president of the Dean's Club. She was president of the American Association of University Women at Gainsville, Georgia, and Cape Girardeau, Missouri.

She is an associate in the Hazen foundation, a member of the Michigan Historical Society, the AAUW, and the National Association of Deans of Women.

Local Carnival Is Slated For Sat., May 24

Saturday, May 24, is the date set for the traditional Natchitoches Carnival. This is an annual affair, co-sponsored by the Gordon-Peters American Legion Post and Womens Auxiliary.

The river bank of downtown Natchitoches will be a scene of gala colors amid the confusion of bingo games, the throwing of baseballs, fortune telling, and most any event you would expect to find at a circus.

The highlight of the Carnival is the Beauty Contest, at which one of about 20 girls will be presented with a 14 inch "Loving Cup." Judges have not as yet been given standards for judgings in order to assure an un-biased opinion when selecting the winner.

This is a local function, including contestants from the city as well as the college. Each participant will be sponsored by one of the local firms.

There promises to be a mass of excitment and fun, so be sure to attend. This years Carnival Chairman is Mr. Gene Urhbach.

NORTHWESTERN AND NATCHITOCHES's contribution to Governor Kennon's inaugural celebration was a float depicting the early settlement of Natchitoches. Taking part in the them were Sammy Wilson and Mary Gunn, Jolen Walters, Barbara Dickerson. Others in the picture are not identified.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I was wondering why the school didn't send the gym team to the Southwestern AAU meet this year. The captain of the team, John Hicks, had to enter for the Dallas Athletic Club in order to go to the meet.

NSC has won the Southern AAU for the past three years in a row and has won the senior Southwestern AAAU last year. The Junior Southwestern AAU could have been won last year if the coach would have sent a team; as it was three of the team went by themselves and lacked only seven points of winning the Junior meet.

This year the novice and the junior team championships in the Southwestern AAU could have been won had the school entered a team.

The coach said they didn't have enough money, yet this money could have easily been made if the team would have been allowed to give it's home show as it has done in past years. Several shows were given this year.

It is my opinion that the team ought to have been given a chance to represent the school at these meets. In gymnastics the only time the individual has a chance to win a medal is at an AAU meet and they deserve all of these chances they can get.

Yours truly,
Tex Carlyle

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

The Alpha Sigs helped welcome the Broiler Festival last Thursday with a "Slick Chick" float. In the center of the float was a large egg with two Alpha chicks, Jeanette Dowden and Dollie Smith, bursting out of the cracked egg. Also atop the float were Bettye Sue Choate, Camille Rambin, and Mona Grey Miller.

Three Alpha Sigs were entered in the Broiler Festival beauty contest. Marilyn Barnette represented Plain Dealing, Margaret Ann Horton represented Bossier City and Claire Lucius represented Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Now that the house is clean again, we have made preparations for Alpha Sig's annual Mother-Father-Daughter banquet which will be held Sunday noon in the banquet hall of the Nakatosh Hotel.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

After the picnic Saturday, we are planning to give the house a late "spring cleaning."

With the end of school so nearly upon us, we would like to bid "adieu" to our graduating seniors, Margaret Jean Ohlson, Ruth Ann Ellender, Billie Butts, Jean Lyons, Jeanne Oliver, Carolyn McLean, and Theresa Davis.

The pledge tests taken and passed Wednesday made Donna Allen. Peggy Burkes, and Nelda Morrison eligible for initiation next Tuesday night. The remaining pledges, Lollie Caskey, Sue Dupree, Jean Noble, and Jeanette Wood, will take their tests and be initiated early next fall.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Pi Kaps are bubbling over with excitement over the coming marriage of one of their actives, Millie Middleton. Millie will become the bride of Bill Stephens of Kilgore on Sunday, May 25. Two of her sorority sisters will serve her in the wedding. Patsy Winkler will be a bridesmaid and Kathleen Ray will light candles.

Housecleaning in the Pi Kap house will be in full swing Saturday. The girls plan to put the house in tip-top shape.

A Mother-Daughter banquet, at which the seniors will be honored, will be held in the Nakatosh Hotel on Sunday, May 25.

Congratulations go to the following Pi Kaps: Louise Vick for representing Pi Kap in the Broiler Festival and Louise and Patsy Winkler for being called to Purple Jackets and Eunice Eden for receiving the Purple Jacket Award, given to the outstanding member.

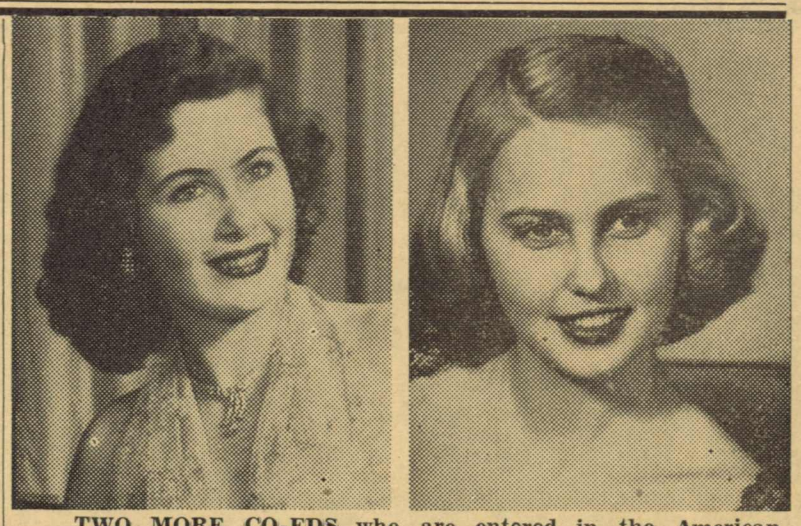

The Pi Kaps have enjoyed a successful year packed full of work and fun.

He's listened to the weak thread of so many shallow claims he's fed-up! His point is—there's a thorough test of cigarette mildness. Millions of smokers throughout America concur.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) you'll see why...

Taus Meet Phi Kap In League Final Monday Afternoon

Softball play in the intramural league will hit its peak Monday when Phi Kap and Sigma Tau battle for top honors in the finals of the play-offs. The Mustang meet a team from Caspari to determine the third and fourth place berths in the league.

Both semi-final games went into extra innings. In the heated contest between Phi Kap and Caspari, the fraternity team racked up five runs in the top of the 12th inning to break a 7-7 tie. Caspari had a chance to come from behind in their half of the inning but failed. Although Bailey of the Mustangs hurled a no-hit game for his team, the Mustangs were unable to hold their one run lead and lost to the Sigma Tau nine 3-2.

Action in the other two intramural sports is progressing very slowly. Pairings for both the golf tournament and the tennis tournament are listed on the bulletin board in the entrance to the Men's gym. Results of matches and scores are also posted.

The YWCA goal to raise money to send a Northwestern student to the European work-study seminar is still far from achieved. Students are invited to contribute to this fund through a booth in the Student Center Monday, May 18. The amount needed to assure the participation of our nominee in this seminar is $390.

Sue Wheat, junior physical education major, is Northwestern's representative for this seminar. Sue has been active in many campus organizations here at Northwestern. She has served on the Wesley Foundation council as recreation chairman and social action chairman. She has also served as program chairman and vice-president of the YWCA, as secretary-treasurer of the junior class, and has been active in the PEM club and the Aquatic club. Sue attended the Student Volunteer Movement conference in Lawrence, Kansas during the Christmas holidays.

This is a project which will not only be a great opportunity for Sue and the YWCA, but which will also be a credit to Northwestern.

In a class D league baseball game in Bristol, Tennessee last week a pitcher pitched a no-run, no-hit game. You ask what is so exciting about that. Well the catch is, he struck out 27 men in a nine inning game. That should set some kind of record for organized baseball, don't you think?

Two of Northwestern athletes did something this semester that is seldom done. Artie Ranew and Johnny Emmons lettered in two sports that go simultaneously. Both Emmons and Ranew earned their letter in baseball by participating throughout the season. Then they each came up and placed in the conference meet in track to earn a letter in that sport. Ranew lettered in basketball and Emmons in football so the Demons possess two three sport lettermen this year.

Sal "the barber" Maglie is still rocking along with a 6-0 record as the Giants from New York attempt to stretch their lead over Brooklyn in the National League. The Giants' top three pitchers, Maglie, Jim Hearn, and Larry Jansen are still undefeated. Among them they have collected 12 of the Giants wins.

The Cleveland Indians are making a habit of beating the New York Yankees in the junior cricuit. They topped the Yanks four in a row before the Champions could recover to win one. The Indians are without a doubt the team to beat in the league. They have the pitching and the hitting. But they always say "you can't beat that ole' Yankee Pride" and its been true for the last three years.

With this edition of the Sauce the editor of this column will "hang up his spikes" as the saying goes. The debates and such I have created with it have all been my pleasure. I hope you have enjoyed reading it as much as I have enjoyed writing it.

Loyola U Wins GSC Meet; Demons, SLI Tie For Second

Loyola University from New Orleans, Louisiana successfully defended its Gulf States Conference track crown last Saturday night on the Northwestern cinders in a meet that saw six past records erased.

Northwestern State College had to come from behind in the last two races of the evening to tie the Southwestern tracksters for second place. Following in order of placing were Southeastern, Louisiana Tech, Louisiana College and Centenary.

The defending champions from the Cresent City captured two first places and one second place in the field events to jump into an early lead.

Ray Rocker of Loyola proved to be the whole show in this competition as he set two new records. His discus throw of 138 feet 7 inches erased the mark set by Peterson of Southeastern in 1949, and his shot put toss of 46 feet 8 inches knocked out the old record of 4 feet 10 inches set by Smith of Louisiana Tech in 1949. In the third event this lad Rocker was nipped by Artie Ranew of Northwestern in the javelin throw.

With the lead given them by Rocker, the crew from New Orleans was able to gardner enough places in the other fields of competition to once again annex the team trophy for their alma mater.

The climax to the tourney, however, did not hold the champions in the spotlight. It proved to be a duel between Northwestern and Southwestern for second place honors. The result rested in the final two races of the meet.

The host team lagged a few points behind the Southwestern group with the two-mile run and the one-mile relay remaining to take place. If Southwestern placed in both, the claim to second place would be theirs. If Northwestern took two first places in these last races, the possible tie would exist.

In the two mile event, Dennis Rider of the Purple and White broke the tape well ahead of the rest of the field to give Northwestern one of their sorely needed first places. Southwestern didn't even place. The mile relay now was the race to determine the outcome of the battle for second honors.

From the sound of the starting gun it was apparent that the mile relay was going to be a race between only two schools, Northwestern and Southwestern. The other entrants were hardly noticeable.

Both team matched stride for stride covering three quarters of the mile. Coming around the bend in the track Walker, the Demon anchor man, pulled out in front. Keeping a slight edge till across the victory line, he brought in the needed points to fix the second place position in a tie. A fitting climax to the 1952 Gulf States Conference Track and Field tournament.

Other records set, besides those of Ray Rocker, were in the 440 yard dash, the 880 yard run, the two-mile race and the broad jump. Three of these four records were made by Demon trackmen.

Murray Walker of Northwestern State ran the 440 yard dash in 50.8 seconds in the qualifying heat, knocking one-tenth of a second off the record set by J. T. Rebler of Southeastern in 1949.

Dennis Rider of the Purple and White ran a 9:58.5 two miles to better the 1951 mark of 10:02.4 set by Bill Casey of Southwestern.

In the broad jump, Jack Bice of Northwestern jumped 22 feet 10 inches. It broke last year's mark of 22 feet 2½ inches set by Frank Varela of Loyola.

In the 880 yard run, Bill Davis of Louisiana Tech turned in a 1:59 time, cutting seven-tenth of a second from the 1949 record of Arceneaux of SLI.

Total points tallied by each team are as follows: Loyola 76, Northwestern and Southwestern (tie) 61¼, Southeastern 52, Louisiana Tech 25, Louisiana College 21¼ and Centenary 3¼.

MEMBERS OF THE MILE RELAY TEAM which edged Southwestern in the final event of the evening of the GSC track meet to throw the Demons into a tie for second place team honors with the Bulldogs. They are Buck Anderson, Waple Liley, Murrel Walker and Murray Walker.

THREE RECORDS WERE BESTED by Demon cindermen in last week's GSC meet here on the campus. Dennis Rider set a new two mile record, Murray Walker knocked one-tenth of a second off the 440 yard dash time and Jack Bice broad jumped a record breaking 22 feet, 10 inches.
